Hi: I spent the whole night in bed last night. The first time in over 6 months! For me that's real progress. I usually ended up sleeping an hour or two then ending up in the chair or the sofa with interruptions every few hours. That really takes a toll on one's body! So cross your fingers and hope this continues. I feel like a different person this morning. I'm meeting with Candace at Vacek's office Wed. Am getting letters from Fleming and Dr. White stating that Daddy can no longer handle financial or legal matters. Have the one from Dr. White and Odie, Dr. Fleming's secretary said she would have him write one. Vasek's office were going to put me with some new guy and I blew my stack so Candace said she would meet with me. I don't want to be pushed on to every new guy they bring in. Your mother is getting feisty in her old age!
