Amy: I sent Jack's jacket back Thursday hoping to send it overnite UPS. But it would have been $45 dollars and I thought that a bit much so I just sent it by regular UPS so you won't get it till Wed. probably since they've designated Tues as a memorial day. I also sent something for Ann by regular post . I'm sorry you had such a bad Wed. apparently because of us but I don't know what you expected. You walk in here like everything was hunky-dory and you know it isn't, the kids know it isn't and we know it isn't. We're not stupid. You ordered us out of your house so we really were afraid to say anything. I was hoping maybe you would at least apologize to Daddy because that has really hurt him. He doesn't understand why you should berate him like that. Apparently you don't know anything about dementia in which a person can do something without realizing what he or she is doing. I have a feeling that we're on the children's list of "bad" people just like their dad so I suppose we won't be seeing much of them any more. I guess we'll get used to it but it will be very difficult. There are two ways of abusing people-physical abuse and then there is verbal abuse which my dear you are so good at. You've gotten rid of Wayne and now you've gotten rid of us. I hope some day you realize what you are doing to this family and your kids! You are going to need help in some way if you go thru with your divorce unless you've got that figured out too. We love you, we love the kids and we love Wayne too. We'll miss him very much. If some day you decide to come down from your high-horse and we can have a reasonable dialogue without any yelling we'll be glad to talk with you and give you some help. Other than that as Rhett Butler said in "Gone With The Wind-" Frankly my dear, I don't give a damn!" I'm 80 years old, I'm tired and looking after Daddy is all I can handle right now. So it's up to you how you want to handle it.

I'm going to try and get a tray for the bottom of the feeder so the birds can perch and the seeds don't fall to the ground.

Candy would like some pictures too but there are a lot of duplicates and since it's so easy these days to reproduce them that shouldn't be a problem I should think. All of our pictures are in a two drawer fireproof file in the office, however the reels we've taken during the years are up on the shelf in the office.

Grandma Rensink wanted you to have the two Japanese figurines on the hall table but I wondered if there was anything else you might be interested in. I know you like old books and we have some of those. The only reason I'm asking is because I want to put it down in writing so there won't be any argument later. Just let me know. Anita gets the dow picture because she helped pay for the restoration and the frame. Candy would like to have Bud's mementos and the shells but I think there are enough that two could share them. I have begun to catalog them. Have over 60 already.

But this morning it doesn't look too bad. I had done so much planting and work outside yesterday and expected to see it all gone this morning. The thunder and lightning last clear past midnight.

It's called chocolate strawberry smoothie. and calls for 2 c. chocolate soy milk, 2 med. bananas (cut up), and 2 c. frozen or fresh strawberries, cut up. Put in blender and serve real cold. I made one for supper tonite and it was good but not cold enough. I think one banana would be enough. Supposed to make 4 cups, if you use 2 bananas.

Hi: What's going on iin New Braunfels? Did Ann get thehelicopter? It's all kind of fuzzy to me. I asked Carole to send itand I guess she did. I'm slowly getting stronger. In fact, I drove our car home from Mossy this afternoon. It sure felt good to get behind the wheel again even if it was in a driving rain. We had it towed in yesterday afternoon and David at the shop told me the battery had cracked open and acid was leaking on the floor. Our battery is under the back seat. He thought this might have happened when Carole tried to jump start the car yesterday. Anyway, we have a car again and can go places if we want to. If that had happened longer ago it would have eaten through the car floor. I think we have a bunch of gremlins in the house that we need to get rid of. If it isn't one thing it's another since we've been sick. I've cut back on the care-givers. Just 7 to 10 in the morning and 7-8 in the evening just to help Dad get to bed. It's nice to have the help but quite expensive. Carole is going to see if Medicare will take care of part of it. Hope everything is o.k. there. Love Mother. Hi Jack and Ann.

Don't work too hard that you let yourself run down. Don't know what the kids would do if you got sick. Has there been much flu in that area?

Hi Mom,

It's been bit busy here recently. I've had a lot to do for work. Jack's had a cold. Ann's finishing up basketball this week and Jack is starting baseball. Now that the rock pile behind the garage is gone, I'm working on a spring garden.

The box from Miles Kimball came yesterday. I'll give the kids the toys for Easter. They'll enjoy them.

Glad you are doing better.

HI; What's going on in the Hill Country? Haven't heard anything lately. Hope you'al are o.k. We're having gorgeous spring weather altho a bit on the cool side but better than the rest of the country or the rest of Texas for that matter. My volunteer peach tree has two blossoms on it. Don't know if that will be it or not. I'd be mighty surprised to get any peaches. Am feeling pretty good. Infact yesterday I almost felt like my "old" self, whtever that is. I baked some cookies and dusted the dusty den.

Also went for a shrt walk. Anita and the kids are coming one day this week to help with a few things. It's spring break for them. Write when you have time. Love , Hope you had a nice Easter. Ours was very quiet. I went to church by myself. Daddy for some reason didn't want to go. I left in the middle of the sermon because it was too drafty for me. Carol was to come over for supper tonite but her a/c went ceflooy and she had to stay home for someone to come and look at it. Turns out the motor is busted. At least that's all so far. Say, I made the most delicious supper tonite from a recipe that Mrs. Hall made for us when we were sick. It was a pot roast with carrots, an onion and unpeeled potato halves. (red potatoes). I had a good supply of au jus in the freezer and used that for the liquid instead of the beef broth and canned beef gravy she used. I made it in the pressure cooker. Do you have one or not? I'm sure it could be made in a slow oven after browning the meat (I floured it) and cook several hours. Anyway it was sooo good. If you notice the bluebonnets and indian paint brush coming out let me know and we'll drive up some Sat. To heck with the gas prices!!

I received a telephone call last evening from an individual identifying himself as an AT&T Service Technician (could also be Telus) who was conducting a test on the telephone lines. He stated that to complete the test I should touch nine(9), zero(0), the pound sign (#), and then hang up.

Luckily, I was suspicious and refused.

Upon contacting the telephone company, I was informed that by pushing 90#, you give the requesting individual full access to your telephone line, which enables them to place long distance calls billed to your home phone number.

I was further informed that this scam has been originating from many local jails/prisons

DO NOT press 90# for ANYONE.

I'm afraid we won't be able to stay to hear the kids play at the festival but maybe they could play for us at home. We'll go home about two unless you have to be there earlier. We couldn't have been in N.B. because we were both laid up with the respiratory flu and I had pneumonia. You must have been thinking of someone else. I also had Carole send Ann's helicopter. She first sent it to the wrong adress and had to correct that. So we couldn't have been at your house in Feb. So the last time we saw you and the children was at Christmas time.

I agree with you. I think they're doing those kids a disservice. The Mormon Church should take care of things like that. I wonder why they haven't. I feel sorry for the kids and their mothers. There is a sect in S.Dakota that we have visited when Daddy did some consultation for them. They're a lot like the Amish. Wear long dresses and pretty much keep to themselves but they are very good farmers and raise pigs by modern methods including raised floors. I don't think they believe in polygamy tho'. They're more an offshoot of the Amish. Kids don't go to high school, just the eighth grade. I think they're conscientious objectors also. Very nice people. Eat in a big dining room together.

Amy Tschirhart <at-home3@att.net> wrote:

Everyone is waiting to see what affect it has on home schooling. I think it is a tragic situation for the kids in the sect. But people should compare it to the number of children that are abused that go to public school. That number is much greater than the number of children at the Mormon compound.

I think they should increase the penalty for the men they catch that have "wives" under the age of 18. Lock them away for 20 to 50 years, perhaps.

Nelva Brunsting <elmernelva@sbcglobal.net> wrote:

You are right. I vaguely recall coming to your place after Christmas. It must have been in early January because we got sick about Jan. 18. Is this ruckus with the Mormon sect and their schooling going to have an effect on home-schooling?

Hi: Would you like to know how I ended our 62nd anniversary? Well, I'm going to tell you anyway. Sat. nite, about 7 I started having a terrible pain in my lower abdomen, or gut if you will, and I mean terrible. It didn't go away so finally I decided there was nothing left to do except go to the ER at Mem. City. The last place I wanted to go on a Sat. nite. I called Carole and Carl, fortunately they happened to be home and both came over to the ER. Fortunately for me it wasn't as crowded as when Dad had his fall. Carl took Elmer back home with the idea he would go the bed and Carl would stay till I got back. Daddy had other ideas and wanted to talk. He and Carl finally fell asleep in their chairs but Dad greeted me at the door at 2 in the morning. Yes, it took that long. They took x-rays and a catscan. I had to drink about a quart of some orange stuff before the catscan and then wait an hour and a half before they could take the picture and then someone had to read it. The upshot of it all is that they couldn't find a thing wrong with my stomach. Everything was clear but I still have a slight infection in my lower left lung so the doc gave me some antibiotic for 6 days. Carole got someone from Cameo caregivers to be here at 7 in the morning and help out. You have never seen such a big woman. Her name was Mary, she was black and about as big around as she was tall, and had gold caps on her front teeth. But she was very sweet. I finally dismissed her at lunchtime after she had gone after my prescription. There really wasn't anything for her to do because I was feeling good. Good thing you sent those roses. They're doing double duty. You should see them. They're gorgeous. I took a couple of pics and will take more now that they're more open. Well, that's about it from hot Houston.

Hi Mom,

I asked Ann what she wanted for her birthday, but she couldn't think of anything in particular. She likes clothes. Maybe a cute purse, jammies, flip-flops, summer tops. She wears a size 10 and her shoe size is a 3. If Hobby Lobby has a rock tumbler, I think she would like that. She loves rocks and sparkly stones.

If you know where to buy computer games, I think she would like "Ratatoille". I think that's how you spell it. It's based on that movie by Disney where the rat knows how to cook. We've got the movie and it is really cute. I think she likes the game.

I know she would LOVE a baseball glove for a left handed person. I guess that would be a glove she could wear on her right hand. She always has to take Jack's glove off her hand before she throws.

I hope this helps.

Amy

Hi: Is it hot enough for you? Has Ann mentioned anything special she would like to have for her birthday? Give me some suggestions if you will. I counted at least 52 tomatoes on our 6 plants the other day and so far the birds and bugs have left them alone. Some are just beginning to turn pink. Still trying to locate t-shirts with Lance Berkman's name and number on them. I went shopping at Dillard's the other day for the first time since late Dec. I guess and discovered I'm still a one stop shopper. I was plenty ready to call it quits after that. However, I have felt much better since then. In fact, I walked around to the new house behind us yesterday and asked the workmen to move their stupid compressor that they are using. They had it practically against the back fence. They did so and we've had peace ever since. Boy, that was annoying when the thing would go on and off all day. The sound went right through the house.

I'll look for a glove for Ann. I know her frustration. I had to do the same thing when I was a kid. I guess I used Bud's glove. I'm having a little problem finding Astro t-shirts for them but I have two more leads. Academy had the striped Astro tops but they were polyester and looked very hot. The t-shirts are cotton. Also I have ordered a book for Ann and Jack called "Window Boy". It's written by Mrs. Bill White, the mayor's wife and looks like a very good story. It's due in in about a week. I think they'll be able to read it for themselves.

I got the book I orderd for the kids. I'm reading it now and I think they'll like it. But if they don't know anything about Winston Churchill or cerebral palsy you might enlighten them on it. He has imaginary talks with Winston because he has become his hero and the boy has cerebral palsy. I first got it mixed up with cystic fibrosis and couldn't understand why the boy had a problem talking but c.p. is completely different. Haven't received the shirts yet. Will send the two together I think. Will send Ann's birthday present tomorrow. Ryan said they don't make gloves with fingers anymore. p.s. The shirts just got here. They may be a bit large but they're all cotton so maybe they'll shrink a little. Look nice. Now just so Lance gets back to hitting home runs.

HI: Well, after much thinking I guess we'll take a look at the houses. I asked Carl yesterday and he said go for it!. Right now Daddy doesn't seem to care. He's always saying he wants to get out of here but I really don't know what he means. It scares the bejibbers out of me in a way because I'm going to have to handle everything by myself. Carl said the first thing would be to get approved for a loan. He thought the 299 one was the better one and we should consider that one. What does N.B. have in the way of retirement homes in case that should become necessary. Of course, we'd have to change doctors too which might be a big hassle altho' as rarely as we see some of them we could probably drive in. We'll just let me know what transpires.

Boy, there are a lot of homes in N.B. for sale. Found the one at 2571 on the internet but not the other. Sometimes it seems like just the right thing to do and other times the thought of moving and changing addresses for doctors etc. seems overwhelming. But every time I look in the back yard at that behemoth that was built there I want to leave.

Carole seems to think you might like to have my "old" high chair. I don't know why but you are welcome to it. I'm sure Marta would not want it because it doesn't meet up with modern safety standards but all you have to do is tie a towel around the baby to hold it in. Also I have two incomplete sets of children's encyclopedias that I bought at MAM when I worked there. I think there is a volume missing from each one. Could you use those or anyone you know use them.? Maybe sometime when you have the time you could drive in and take a look at some of these things. Carole thinks I want to get rid of some valuable stuff but I don't know what's valuable about Daddy's old trike that doesn't even have rubber wheels on anymore or a covering on the seat. It's just a piece of old metal. She says there wouldn't be any antiques in the country if I had my way. Maybe not. I just want to get rid of some of that stuff. Goodness knows what's in the attic next to the east bedroom. I know Dad's old train tracks that are nailed to a board are in there. The cars are on a shelf in Carole's room. She also thinks you would probably like some of Dad's tools.

I just messed up the e-mail that I just wrote so I'll have to start over I guess. Daddy is at Heartland "skilled " nursing facility. He's reponding quite well to the physical therapy they're giving him altho' he'll have to be able to walk with a walker before he can come home I'm sure. Then we can continue therapy from here. The phones are up again and the current is on so that's a big help. I don't know why you couldn't get thru on the cell phone except they cut out sometimes. I'm rather tired but I'm getting a few things done at home. The worst was the stench from the little freezer. I guess some meat and ice cream had turned bad and fallen on the bottom. When it defrosted it started smelling. I thought it was the cleaning rags but it was the freezer all the time, so I got that cleaning out yesterdaay evening but you can still smell it a bit. I have all the windos open this morning because it nice and cool outside.

Hi Mom,

I've been trying to call your home and cell phones since this morning, but always get a busy signal. Just checking to see how you are doing. Carol emailed and said that Daddy fell. How is he? We'll be in Austin today. If you get this before 6 pm, could you call my cell phone? 830-822-2388.

Is there anything in particular that Jack would like for his birthday? I had one thing picked out but I can't find the catalogue anymore. There is one thing that I thought was rather interesting, a football that has a guage in it that shows how far you throw it. Do the kids still want Digs? I got another sample mag called Discover. If they like reading about the solar system, blood cells and Egyptian pyramids I think they would enjoy it. Maybe you got the sample too. Let me know as soon as possible about his gift.

I got the you-know-what for Jack but I wonder since his birthday is only about a week away from Thanksgiving if he would mind if I keep them here till you'al come. It would save mailing expense and also if they did not fit or whatever we could exchange them here or you could at New Braunfels. They didn't have black. Does he prefer leather soles.? All the kids ones had sort of a rubber sole. Won't make marks on the floor. Checked it out.
I'll send his card with something in it for his bank.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU TOO!! Hope it is a good year for you and the children. Can't be anything but up for us I would think. I'm taking these sessions at the pulmonary rehab and I think they're working. I went outside this afternoon and fed the pansies that are blooming, etc. It was really nice even tho' the sun wasn't shining at the moment. Did I thank you for the gifts, especially the umbrella! The cinnamon bread is almost gone. I've been having it for breakfast. Well, here's to 2009!!!!

I used to have prints from his tropical series and I gave Kevan and Andy a framed print of crack the whip when they were small. Tell Jack we used to play crack the whip at school.

Happy to help. I'll try to go through it each time I come. We've got a windy, cold day here. The sun is shining, so it's nice outside. But you just about get knocked over by the gusts!

We went back to a school schedule this week. I knew it was time because over New Year's Jack was looking for something to do and he said, "Mom, can I please do some school work?" Ha! I thought that was encouraging.

We did a study on Winslow Homer this week. The kids enjoyed looking at his paintings. I had them each select a painting and they had to make up a story about what the people in the painting were doing. Jack's favorite is "Snap the Whip". Ann picked a painting of a woman teaching several children in a one-room school house. I'll try to remember to get their stories off their computer and email them to you.

This week we are studying the Greeks. Should be fun!

Hope you all are doing well.
Love, Amy

They did some lab work on his and said he is severely dehydrated, has a urinary infection again and his white blood count was a little high. Carol and Robert are still there. If I wrote you saying they were going to insert a feeding tube in Daddy, forget it. Dr. Mauk instead found a restriction in the lower part of his esophagus and his stomach had shrunk so they stretched both back somewhat(I don't know how much) but tonight instead of being on a liquid diet Carol said he can eat regular food albeit not large pieces but he ate most of his dinner she said. She's very good at feeding him. They want to watch him for a few days I guess before they send him home . If it works it will certainly make it easier to find foods for him. There is someone staying with him night and day. Shimeka stays at night and Robert during the day or Tino. Tino is so nice and careful with Dad. The nurses love him because he knows just what to do. He was a Navy corpman. Robert is very good too. Both are just great to have help us. All for now. Love, Mother Grampa is doing pretty good although he's not saying much these days. Are you kids going to have a garden this year? It's kind of fun to watch vegetables grow. Do you still see road runners walk across your lawn? I really enjoyed seeing them when I was at your house. There used to be a cartoon on tv that had a road runner and a fox (I think) in it. The bird was always getting the best of the fox! Don't grow up too fast Ann and Jack. Come see us when you can. I don't think Grampa can travel anymore or we would come to see you. Love, Grandma B.

Hi Mom,

Jack had a great baseball game today. He got to play 3rd base, left field, center field and pitcher. He made one run and got a couple of guys out when he was playing 3rd. The coach put him in as pitcher for the last inning and he struck two batters out. The third batter hit a pop fly that the 2nd baseman caught, and that was the end of the game! Jack's team won 14 - 13.

He's got a game this Thursday at 5:45 pm and on Saturday at 5 pm. His games the following two weeks are at the same times. You are welcome to come up any time if you'd like to see him play.

Hope your surgery goes well.

Love,
Amy

HI: Just thought I'd tell you I had the cataract surgery yesterday morning and it went well. The only hitch was that I had to wait a little over two hours in a cold waiting room before they called me in. I was supposed to be there at 8:30 and I was but it was after 9:30 before I got in. This made my blood pressure a little high so they waited a little before the surgery. I still got home by 12:30 tho' Robert took me. No pain whatsoever. I was supposed to go in for a follow-up this morning but we had a doozy of a storm last night and the streets were impassable this morning. Now I'm going in Thur. afternoon. By that time I should be able to drive myself. We must have had over 5 or 6 inches during the night. It sounded like a roaring waterfall outside most of the time. And thunder and lightning like you wouldn't believe. All this between 3:30 a.m. and 8 this morning. The sun peeked out awhile ago but has disappeared again so maybe we're in for more. Carl couldn't even get out of his house this morning. So that's all from Houston. How did you fare? p.s. Saw your telephone message yesterday. My eye is doing great. I couldn't go in because of the flooded streets Monday so went in Thurs. He said I'm ahead of schedule. Have to go back May 11, I think, and they will see what changes I need in my glasses. I may be able to go without sometime, except for some reading glasses, maybe. Saw on the tv last evening that a number of houses just east of Town and Country got flooded Tues. in Fonn Villas and Frostwood. Blame it on the runoff from Memorial City and I agree with them. It's nothing but concrete over there. I don't know if they can get any compensation or not. Probably not. Those are very nice houses there. Some houses in this are, 1 street down had problems too. I saw a big oriental rug laying on the driveway drying out and several houses on this block had their sewers back up. Thank goodness we live near the end of the block. p.s. I saw a rosebreasted grosbeak at our feeder one day last week. I guess he was migrating thru. Gorgeous bird.

We saw a painted bunting at our feeder yesterday. The colors were beautiful! Hope we see more of them.

We're "enjoying" the flu season here. I'm able to stay home and get a few things done that needed to be done. The kids have re-discovered a box of old toys and videos. Some people think the county officials over-reacted by closing everything down, but yesterday the paper reported that they have nine new cases of swine flu at the Seguin High School so they shut that down too. A doctor in New Braunfels said that until this week they really didn't know how contagious the flu was or how severe this strain would be. They were concerned because so many people were dying in Mexico. Today they said that the strain in the US isn't as bad, so I guess all the hub-bub will be settling down soon.

Is Ann still going to get her ears pierced for her birthday? Inquiring minds what to know. Another question- can you get "Cherrybrook Kitchen" cake products at your grocery store? It's new and the mixes say- peanut free, dairy free, egg free, and nut free. They make frosting mixes too. I bought a box and thought I'd try it. You can use oil instead of melted margarine. They have yellow and choc. cake. Is Ann going to have a birthday party? I might try to come down that day if all is well.

Amazing striped icebergs

Icebergs in the Antarctic area sometimes have stripes, formed by layers of snow that react to different conditions .

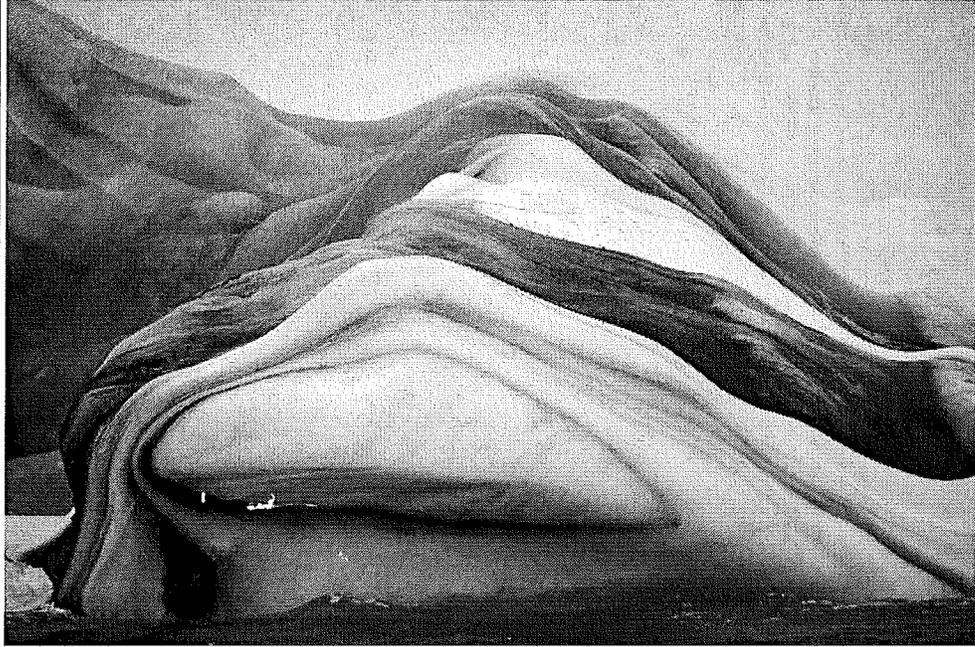

Blue stripes are often created when a crevice in the ice sheet fills up with meltwater and freezes so quickly that no bubbles form .

When an iceberg falls into the sea, a layer of salty seawater can freeze to the underside . If this is rich in algae, it can form a green stripe .

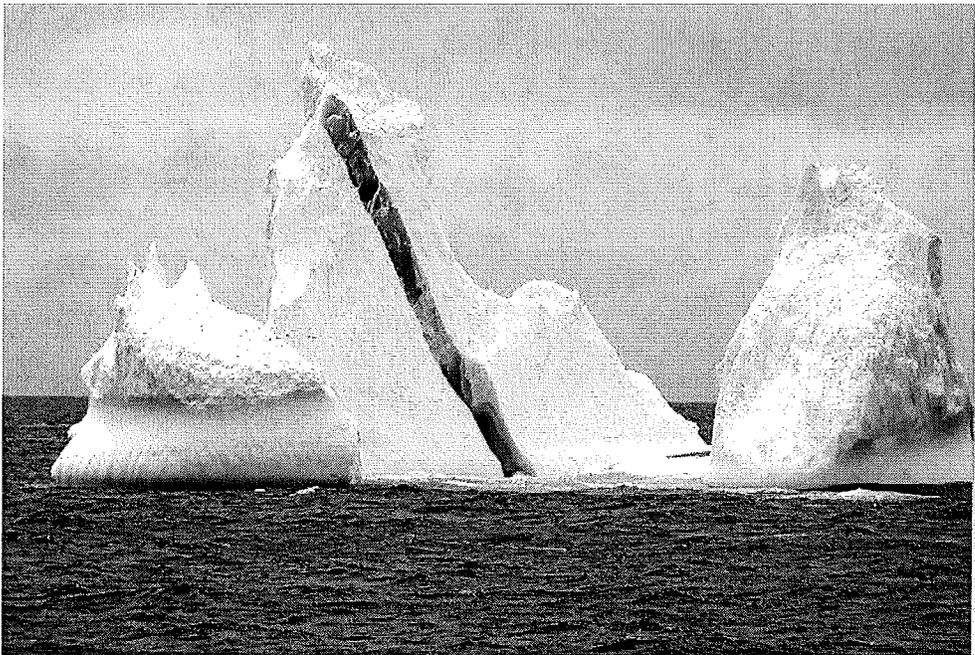

Brown, black and yellow lines are caused by sediment, picked up when the ice sheet grinds downhill towards the sea ..

Antarctica Frozen Wave Pixs - Nature is amazing!

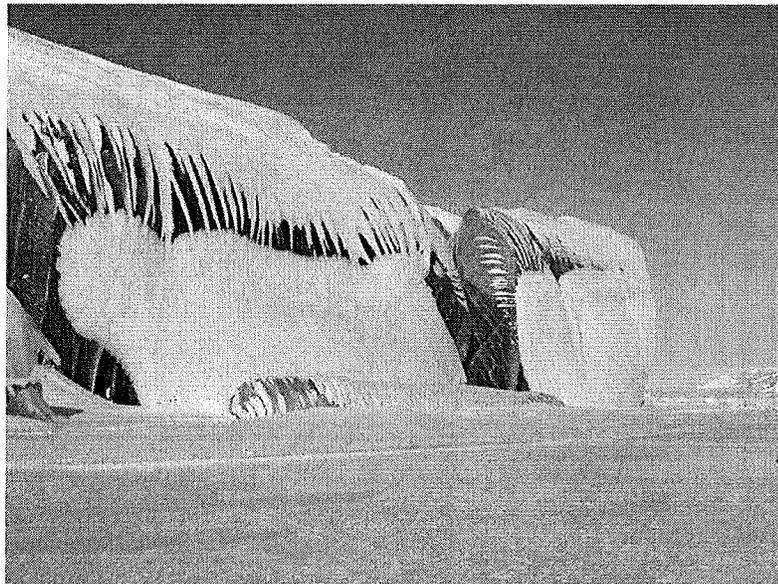

The water froze the instant the wave broke through the ice .. That's what it is like in Anmtarctica where it is the coldest weather in decades . Water freezes the instant it comes in contact with the air . The temperature of the water is already some degrees below freezing .

Just look at how the wave froze in mid-air!!!

Hi Mom,

Thanks for the check for the kids. I'll put it in their college accounts. It was 107 degrees here today!! The grass sounds like dry, rumped newspapers when you walk on it. =(
Hope it's cooler there.

For what it's worth-I found this old substitute suggestions from Heloise that might be helpful sometime. No sour cream? (this won't apply to youAmy) mix 1 cup plain yogurt with 1 Tbl. vinegar. No baking powder? For each tsp needed, mix 1/4 tsp. baking soda and 1/2 tsp. cr. of tartar. No cornstarch? For each tablespoon needed use 2 Tbl. all-purpose flour. No unsweetened baking chocolate? For one square, mix 3 Tbl. unsweetend cocoa powder and 1 Tbl. cooking oil of shortening. Tha-tha-that's all folks!!

Yes, we saw fireworks from Lakeside Country Club. Drove to the Rummel Creek shopping center as we usually do. Was going to pick up Mrs. Roberts but Kathy was here and brought her over. I got there at 8 and it was already full. I got one of the last parking spaces. Carol came too. It was great-warm but there was a nice breeze most of the time. This year we were entertained by a band, I think from the Houston Symphony-patriotic songs of course. And they served lemonade, watermelon, hot dogs. I took Evelyn back to Treemont, Kathy went back to Round Rock. She had to take her youngest daughter to see her father the next morning. She and Carol yakked while Evelyn and I visited. Turned the Roberts and we were in K.C. at the same time. Nice way to end the 4th!

Hi Mom,

We just got back from watching fireworks. There was a restaurant sign near the place we sat. It had the time and temperature on it. At 9:30 at night, it was 99 degrees!! The wind was blowing a hot wind on us. It felt like we were sitting in a chimney!

Hope you had a happy (and cooler) 4th!

Hi Mom,

We got a little shower on Monday, but nothing since then. But it was enough to turn the grass a little green the next day.

Sorry to hear about the compressor. I can't believe it cost that much! That's almost as much as a small car!

Ann and Jack are doing Vacation Bible School at church this week. They have about 700 kids attending. It's always a lot of fun. Ann has one more week and she can take out her earrings and put the new ones in.

There is a ceramics shop in town where you can paint your own piece and they will fire it for you. I took Ann and Jack there and they each made a bank. Ann made a pink piggy bank and she painted daisies on the sides. Jack made an Aggie football helmet with his initials on the back. They had a lot of fun and want to go back. I saw a Christmas tree there with the real colored lights on the ends. I think Grandma used to have one like it that she made. I always liked going and painting the ceramics with her in the summer.

Hope you have a nice weekend.

Love,
Amy

Have had several nice rains the past 2 days, particularly today. I drove home from Edw. Jones in pelting rain that sounded almost like hail on the windows. How about you? Candy. Is the economic problem in Calif. affecting you in any way? Hope not but it really sounds serious.! Up in Iowa near Sheldon one reporter saw a piece of hail as big as a grapefruit. Fourtnately, it didn't hail at Hospers or Hull so the crops are o.k. Had to put out $7000 plus for a new compressor yesterday. I figured something was wrong with it and called John Moore. It was leaking freon and had several other problems so now I'm good for a numbers of years. Apparently they are not going to make any more Freon like they're making now. It's going to cheaper and more energy efficient. I hope.

Boy! I feel sorry for you'al in the San Antonio and Austin area. You've had 36 days with temps over 100, as if you didn't already know that. Tonite I saw on the nite's news that one man in Houston has put in artificial grass. It's expensive but he doesn't have to water or mow his lawn anymore. Apparently, there are over 30 different types of artificial grass. It's about $10 bucks a square ft. It's different than the turf on athletic fields. Comes in different colors too! Hope you are managing to stay cool and that your air conditioning keeps running. They say El Nina or El nino with bring some relief later towards fall. Big help!!

Sure hope you are getting some rain these days. The newspaper has had a lot of pics of the dried up lake beds including Lake Travis where they're finding cars and other things hat were dumped there in past years. I guess the farmers in that area lost their corn crop because of the drought. I imagine your paper has a lot on the drought too. Incidentally, is your paper shrinking? Some mornings The Chronicle is hardly worth picking up./ They've combined several sections on one page so that you don't know what you are reading. We've had several nice rains the last few days but the trouble is when the sun comes out it's doubly humid. No sprinkling bans yet. I think we get our water from the lakes up north but I could be mistaken. Hi to the kids.!!

Wow!! You really had a vacation. I'm surprised it wasn't dier where you were. I remember when you and I went camping there and I got claustaphobia (?) when it rained and the tip of my sleeping bag sagged or did we have a dual sleeping bag? Anyway, I slept outside the rest of the night. Dad and I were at Ft. Davis one time. I found a few shards and some metal letters that must have been on something. We didn't get to see the telescope because it was cloudy that night and was shut down. Must have been a funtrip for the kids.

Hi Mom,

The kids and I just got back from vacation. We went camping and went to Carlsbad Caverns: It was wonderful to get away. We had beautiful weather for the trip. I think the highest temperature we had was around 95, and one night it got down to 63! Felt great.

We went to the Guadalupe Montains on Monday and camped overnight. In the morning, we went to Carlsbad. I never imagined how huge those caverns are! We took the elevator down 750 feet to get to the guided tour. After lunch, we walked the path from the surface opening all the way down the 750 feet. It was incredible.

On Wednesday, we went to the Davis Mountains to camp. We stopped at the McDonald Observatory. That is a facinating place to visit. The telescopes are amazing. Then we went to Fort Davis, where they had soldiers stationed during and after the Civil War. That was very interesting.

We were going to come home on Thursday, but as we drove past the entrance to Big Bend National Park on the way home, Jack said, "Hey, Mom, we have enough food for another day of camping." So we turned around and went camping one more night. It was so nice to be there.

We took the Window Trail hike in the afternoon. After walking for an hour, you reach the end of the trail. There is a gorgeous view and some cool springs to dip your toes in. On the way back, we met a photographer who told us there was a bear along the path about 1/2 a mile away. We walked back, stopping and listening for the bear all the way. Jack found him in the bushes about 15 feet from us! It was a medium-sized black bear. He sat there munching on his berries for a few seconds, then decided the didn't liked to be stared at. He took off down the path in front of us! It was amazing and terrifying at the same time. When we reported the sighting to the ranger station, we were told that they haven't had a bear attack in many years, so that made me feel a little bit better.

It seems rather quiet now that we're home. And dry. It was green and cool everywhere we travelled. It's still hot and dry here.

Hope you are doing well. I'm sending you a couple of pictures of the trip.

Love,
Amy

That list you sent me was hilarious. I forwarded it to Jane. I also forwarded to you the pics of the village in Holland or rather The Netherlands. Carl looked it up on the map or something and said it's 35 kilometers from the village of Brunsting. John Moederzoon's wife, Marge, used to be our broker when they lived in Houston. Now they live on Lake Travis and she's retired, I think. They're from The Netherlands originally. The name of the village is Giethoorn. A guttaral Githoorn.

Hi Mom,

I think Anita read the books. My kids have seen the movies and read two of the books. The BBC made the books into a series of movies and they were very good. And a few years ago, I think Disney made two of the books into movies. They were also very good, but a bit wilder (louder, more violent). We have the first one on DVD. Do you know if you were watching the Disney one or one on PBS? I don't think I would go to see Avatar either. It looks gross.

Ann and Jack's ice bowls froze again last night and stayed frozen until about 3 pm today. It was sunny, but incredibly cold out. Haven't seen any birds around here either.

Hi: I have a question. Didn't you or Anita read The Chronicles of Narnia? Maybe both of you did. Anyway I caught it on TV this afternoon. I don't know if it was the original cast or not, but the children all had English accents. I didn't see the very first part-I was just looking for something to watch. This was entitled Chronicles of Narnia The wardrobe. The little girl Susan, I believe, opens the wardrobe door and enters into another land. There are 4 children, all siblings. I don't know who they're living with. Anyway, there's a faun that Susan meets and the land of Narnia and animals (some gross from the white witch's country. The lion is king of Narnia, I guess.

The white witch kills him but he comes back to life (sounds like the resurrection). There's a war between the white witch and the kingdom of Narnia (all of whom inhabitants are centaurs). Anyway, did you take the kids to see the movie? I would think they would be scared out of their pants. I thought some of the creatures were absolutely gross. The other girl's name was Lucy and the oldest boy was Peter (a typical English name. I think the second boy was Timothy or something like that.) There's a new movie out (Avatar) that is supposed to have some sort of religious message to it also. I've seen the ads and don't plan to see it.

I didn't see any smoke but heard fire engines and thought at first there was an accident on the fireway. Sat on the patio and watched a helicopter circle around and around. Didn't know until the evening news that it was the buick shop. Apparently no new cars were damaged. think it was more of a repair shop for buicks. I don't think Chapelwood does any work in Haiti but I'm sure it will take up a collection or something. I donated online. The sad thing is some of the stuff and people from here are not getting. A response group at Ellington Field was finally dismantled because they did not get a call and a bunch of clothing collected last week at some community center is just sitting in boxes waiting to be sent over. I guess there is no real order over there as yet. I think they should just abandon Haiti and move the people elsewhere but where is the big question.

Hi Mom,

Did you hear the fire engines for the fire at the Lincoln dealership that caught on fire? The news said it was a huge blaze.

We had beautiful weather here today. The kids got to play with their friends most of the day because it was Martin Luther King day and the public school was out. (I forgot about the holiday, so Ann and Jack did school in the morning. Oh well!)

Does Chapelwood do any mission work in Haiti? Our church does so they are pretty concerned about the earthquake. The people from church that have been over there say that it was really bad before the earthquake and they can't imagine how incredibly bad it must be now. Very sad.

Jack just came in the room and he says "Hi!" Hope you have a good week.

Love, Amy

Hi: Carl called this morning and said Mrta is going to the doctor today and he may want her to go to the hospital. He'll know by tonite what she will do. The question is do you want to come in Friday if she's in the hospital? Of course, if she is she won't be at her shower on Sat. either I'll try to let you know this evening.

I saw this on the internet the other day. Thought it rather interesting. The article said we use too much soap in our washing of clothes, etc. Sometimes it's best to use just plain water and that it's the agitation not the soap that cleans clothes. Anyway, here's the recipe.

Homemade detergent

I don't know whats going on with my computer but I'll try again.

4 cups water
1/3 bar cheap soap, grated
1/2 c washing soda (not baking)
1/2 c Borax (20 Mule team)
5 gal. bucket for mixing
3 gal. water

Mix grated soap in a pan with 4 c. water. Heat on low til soap is completely dissolved.
Add hot water/soap mixture to 3 gal. water in 5 gal. bucket, stirring in washing soda and borax, and continue stirring till mixture is complete. Let mix stand for 24 hours.
This is a recipe for homemade washing detergent.

hi" Enjoyed hearing from you. The weather is gorgeous but we really need the rain. It always stays north of I-10.. Remember to spray your peach trees with Neem if you don't want those pock marks in them. I might just drive up some Sat. or other convenient day just to get out of town. I'm bored. My upside down tomato died but I have a couple of others that are doing well. Sounds like the kids are as busy as you are. Congratulate them for me on their karate prizes.

Hi Mom,

How are you doing? We've been keeping busy. Jack's playing baseball. He's had games or practice about every other day for several weeks. I know he enjoys it, but I won't be too sad to see the end of the season in May.

The kids just had a choir concert this evening. They are in the Texas Lutheran University Children's Choir. It was fabulous! I made a video of it, so you can see it next time we come.

They had a karate tournament two weekends ago. Jack won two first place medals and Ann one a second place medal. They really have improved a lot this year. They have a belt test next week Saturday so they can earn another stripe on their belt.

We planted a garden. It has tomatoes, peppers, peas, beans, zucchini, and cucumbers. It's been growing like gang busters with all the rain we've had. My two peach trees are bent over with all the fruit that is on them. Can't wait until it's ripe.

I'm trying to wrapped up classes for the school year. Most of the class I teach are on the last chapter of the book. They've got one more test and then they prepare for final exams. I'm also teaching an SAT prep class and an Advance Placement Chemistry prep class on the weekends, so I've been a little busier than usual.

What have you been up to recently? Hope the weather there is gorgeous.

Love,
Amy

We went to Mother Goose Park and I was expecting Carl. I have a picture of me on a dinosaur statue. Did we go to the Museum in Rapid City? I may drive up on Sat. if you are going to be home. I am very bored. Thought I'd try to take Carol along but I think she has school in the morning.

Hi Earlybird! Thanks for the Mother's Day bouquet. I think it's one of the most beautiful I've ever seen. Tulips and roses in a kind of ruby pink! Absolutely gorgeous. The reason I hesitate in going to Mt. Rushmore is that I apparently still have a lung infection (I'm seeing Dr. Pohil next Thursday and I'm to have a biopsy on my liver (they're supposed to call me today on an app't). Apparently it has a little bump on it. If it isn't one thing it's another. The thing is I feel best when I'm behind the wheel of a car. I guess it's because there is no effort to it. I don't see any shortcut up there other than going the way we go to Iowa, at least to Sioux City where we could get on 90 and head straight for Rapid City. I'd love to see Mt. Rushmore-it's been so many years since we were up there. I guess you kids have never seen it, have you?

Hi: Thanks again for the peaches, bread and banana bread and the delicious lunch! Do you know about dipping peaches in hot water for a few seconds and then in ice cold water and then the skins will slip right off. Works great! I'll try to get to target for A's present. Probably will be the purse if they have it. Hope you had a good time at the pool party.

Hi: I need a little more clarification on Ann/s present. I found a hot pink wallet with a snap on top and then more of a pursewith a handle. I found some other purses at other stores but I think you said she wanted the one from Target. I didn;t know I could find Target online til Carole told me. We're having a doozie of a rain right now(Sunday afternoon) with thunder and everything. I discovered about your peaches that I should let them be for about a week. I had a bowlful left today and they peeled beautifully and tasted delicious! By-the-way, how do I pull up messages that inadvertently got deleted and that I want to read. I guess there is a way. Maybe I'll just call Carol. She should now how to do it.

Hi: Have you ever heard of a writer, Robyn O'Brien? She's an analyst, researcher and mother of 4 children. She has written a book "The Unhealthy Truth. How our foods are making us sick." I saw part of the program on Channel 8 last night. I always wondered you never heard of allergies when I was a child. Now I know they didn't add anything like Fructose etc. to foods until later. Thje U.S. is the only country that allows additives to food before they are o.k.ed for use. The companies say they haven't been proved to be harmful yet. All other countries ban foods with fructose, aspartamime, yellow no. 5, and genetic modified foods. So you may be on to something. She came across as a very sensible woman. Has done so much research on the subject. I'm going to see if I can find the book. Other countries like England, France, New Zealand, etc. do not allow modified foods or treated milk to be sold in their country. But she said more and more stores are carrying milkd that doesn't have RBGH (growth hormone) in it. Carol got me a quart of milk the other day in a glass bottle and sure enough it said the milk is from Jersey cows who are treated with RBGH. It's given to them so they produce more milk. Mac and Cheese has the yellow # 5 in it but I don't think you use it. I always make my own., Anyway that's the scoop from here. p.s I think I'll pass on Tues. even tho' I'd love to come. I'm having the back yard turned back into grass where I used to have a garden. The man (Nicolas) called this morning and said they were out of grass where he buys (Cowboy) (we used to buy it there too) and they'll have some more Mon. or Tues. to I'd better stick around. He's a magician!!!!!! It looks better already and he's such a nice man and works to hard. He helps Suhendras too when they need him. That's how I got to know him. Well, I have to go to a funeral at one so I's better get ready. So long. Mother

Say, I've been thinking. I think you should write a cookbook or suggestion book on where to find foods or items that can be used in making foods for children that are allergic to things as Ann is. For instance, where and what chocolate to make chocolate chip cookies. And the recipe for the bread you make for Ann. Or even what foods have corn syrup in them. It would be handy for grandmas or mothers who just now are discovering allergies in their kids. How to make catsup for an allergic child, etc. I'll bet a lot of people would like such a book. Mother

Hi Mom,

Thank you for the $13,000. I was going to talk to you about it when I saw you at Thanksgiving, but Anita told me she talked to you today. Thank you also for the $500. I'm making ends meet, but the extra travel to Houston each month has added expenses I didn't plan for and the $500 will help to make that up.

I'll see you Wednesday evening and I'll be there for Thanksgiving. I mailed a Thanksgiving card to Tino today to thank him for all the work he does. We really appreciate him. I mailed it to your address, so if you get a yellow envelope addressed to him, please give it to him.

Love,
Amy
