Neither Founder shall be obligated to maintain any insurance policy, retirement plan or any other third party beneficiary contract in force.

2. Our Trustee's Obligations

Upon a Founder's written request, our Trustee shall deliver to the requesting Founder or the Founder's designee any and all third party beneficiary contracts and related documents which are owned by or deposited with our Trustee pursuant to our trust declaration. Our Trustee shall not be obligated to have any of such documents returned to the Trustee.

Our Trustee shall provide for the safekeeping of any third party beneficiary contract, as well as any documents related thereto, which are deposited with our Trustee. Otherwise, our Trustee shall have no obligation with respect to any third party beneficiary contract, including payment of sums due and payable under such contracts, other than those obligations set forth in this Article.

Section B. Upon the Death of a Founder

Upon a Founder's death, our Trustee shall have authority to and shall make all appropriate elections with respect to any insurance policies, retirement plans and other death benefits which are the separate estate of the deceased Founder. With respect to any insurance policies, retirement plans and other death benefits which are a part of the community estate, our Trustee and the surviving Founder shall have the authority and shall make all appropriate elections consistent with the laws of the state having jurisdiction over such property.

1. Collection of Non-Retirement Death Proceeds

Regarding any life insurance policy, or any other non-retirement death benefit plan, wherein death benefits are made payable to or are owned by our trust, our Trustee shall make every reasonable effort to collect any and all such sums. In collecting such sums, our Trustee may, in its sole and absolute discretion, exercise any settlement option available under the terms of a policy or any other third party beneficiary contract with regard to the interest of the deceased Founder in those policies or death benefit proceeds. However, our Trustee shall not be liable to any beneficiary for the settlement option ultimately selected.

2. Retirement Plan Elections

To the extent of the interest of the deceased Founder, our Trustee shall have the right, in its sole and absolute discretion, to elect to receive any retirement plan death proceeds either in a lump sum or in any other manner permitted by the terms of the particular retirement plan. Such right shall exist and pertain to any retirement plan including, but not limited to, any qualified pension plan, profit sharing plan, Keogh plan and individual retirement account. Our Trustee shall not be liable to any beneficiary for the death benefit election ultimately selected.

Any benefit of any retirement plan which is payable to our trust, including individual retirement accounts that are payable to our trust, may be disclaimed by our Trustee in its sole and absolute discretion. Such disclaimed benefits shall be payable in accordance with such plan.

3. Collection Proceedings

In order to enforce the payment of any death proceeds, our Trustee may institute any legal, equitable, administrative or other proceeding. However, our Trustee need not take any action to enforce any payment until our Trustee, in its sole judgment, has been indemnified to its satisfaction for all expenses and liabilities to which it may be subjected.

Our Trustee is expressly authorized, in its sole and absolute discretion, to adjust, settle and compromise any and all claims that may arise from the collection of any death proceeds. Any decision made by our Trustee pursuant to this Section B.3 shall be binding and conclusive on all beneficiaries.

4. Payor's Liability

Any person or entity which pays any type of death proceeds to our Trustee as beneficiary, shall not be required to inquire into any of the provisions of this trust declaration, nor will they be required to see to the application of any such proceeds by our Trustee. Our Trustee's receipt of death proceeds shall relieve the payor of any further liability as a result of making such payment.

Section C. Special Provisions Pertaining to Tax-Deferred Trust Assets

Since the Founders anticipate that tax-deferred plans such as 401(k) plans, IRA's, SEP's and similar retirement plans and tax-deferred accounts might name this trust as the designated beneficiary in the event of the death of the Founders, the following provisions will hereby apply in all respects with regard to the assets and proceeds of such plans, notwithstanding that other provisions in this Agreement are in conflict with the following provisions:

1. Minimum Distribution

It is the purpose and intent of the Founders that this trust will qualify as a "designated beneficiary" pursuant to Section 401(a)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code and the term "Minimum Required Distribution" shall mean such mandatory distributions as are required to qualify this trust pursuant to the said Section 401(a)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code.

2. Distribution Restrictions

Notwithstanding any other provision in this trust declaration, and except as provided in this Article, the Trustee may not distribute to or for the benefit of the estate of either Founder, any charity or any other non-individual beneficiary, any benefits payable to this trust under any qualified retirement plan, individual retirement account or other retirement arrangement subject to the "Minimum Required Distribution Rules" of Section 401(a)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code, or other comparable provisions of law. It is the intent of the Founders that all such retirement benefits be distributed to or held only for individual beneficiaries within the meaning of Section 401(a)(9) and applicable regulations. This paragraph shall not apply to any charitable bequest which is specifically directed to be funded with assets other than those encompassed by this provision.

3. Exclusion of Older Adopted "Descendants"

Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or state law, the class of the Founders' (or any other persons) "issue" or "descendants" shall not include an individual who is the Founders' (or such persons') "issue" or "descendants" by virtue of legal adoption if such individual (i) was so adopted after the Required Beginning Date of a Founder or a Founder's death, whichever occurs first, and (ii) is older than the oldest beneficiary of this trust who was a living member of said class on the earlier of said dates. The "Required Beginning Date," for purposes of this paragraph means April 1 of the year following the year in which the plan participant reaches 70½, or, if later, the date on which this trust is first named as a beneficiary of any retirement plan, benefit or arrangement subject to the "Minimum Distribution Rules" of Section 401(a)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code. The said Section 401(a)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code is incorporated by reference in this trust declaration for all purposes, together with applicable treasury regulations pertaining thereto.

4. Payment of Estate Taxes of Plan Participant

Except as required by state law, the trustee shall not use any plan benefits to pay a plan participant's estate taxes.

5. Delivery of Trust to Plan Administrator

If the Founders have not previously done so, the Trustee shall deliver a copy of this trust declaration to any plan administrator within the time limits required by applicable statute, as well as final and proposed treasury regulations.

6. Distribution to the Beneficiaries

Notwithstanding any other provision contained in this trust declaration to the contrary, the Trustee shall withdraw from the individual retirement account or other retirement plan payable to the trust, and distribute directly to the beneficiaries named herein, each year, the Minimum Required Distribution for such year based on the oldest beneficiary's life expectancy. After the death of a beneficiary, the Trustee shall pay income of the trust and such Minimum Required Distribution to the descendants of such deceased or remainder beneficiary, as specified in Article X of this trust declaration.

7. Distribution of More Than the Minimum Distribution

The Trustee is authorized in its sole and absolute discretion, to distribute to the beneficiary and contingent beneficiaries more than the Minimum Required Distribution if deemed necessary and appropriate prior to the mandatory distributions of trust assets provided in Article X of this trust declaration.

Article VI

For So Long As We Both Shall Live

Section A. Our Use of Income and Assets

While we are both living, the net income of the trust is to be paid at least monthly to us, or to be used for our benefit. Any unused income will be accumulated and added to the principal assets of this trust.

While we are both living, we shall have the absolute right, either individually or jointly, to add to the trust property at any time.

While we are both living, we shall each have the right to withdraw, use or benefit from all or any part of our own separate property and our respective interests in any community property. However, the surviving spouse will be entitled to the use and benefit of the deceased spouse's interest as provided in this trust declaration.

Either of us, individually, may make gifts of our separate property contributed to the trust or may make gifts of our interests or shares in the trust itself to the extent permitted by law, including our community property interests. Neither of us shall have the power to direct our Trustee to make gifts of any trust principal or income. If any such gift is made directly to a third party, such gift shall be deemed to have first been distributed directly to either or both of us and then distributed as a gift from either or both of us to such third party.

Section B. If One or Both of Us Are Disabled

If one or both of us should become disabled, our Trustee shall provide to both of us, and to any person deemed by our Trustee to be dependent on either or both of us, such portions of income and principal from each of our respective interests in separate property and from our respective one-half interests in our community property, as deemed necessary or advisable in its sole discretion, for our health, education, maintenance and support, as well as for the health, education, maintenance and support of any person deemed by our Trustee to be dependent on either or both of us.

Our Trustee's discretion may include the payment of insurance premiums pursuant to contracts for insurance owned by one of us or by our trust. Premiums paid on a separate property policy shall be paid out of separate property funds of the owner of that policy.

During any period that one or both of us are disabled, it is the intention of each of us that we be cared for in our residence or in the private residence of another who is dear to us. It is our preference that neither of us be admitted to a convalescent care facility or similar facility unless our condition mandates such placement.

Valid obligations of either of us which are confirmed by our Trustee shall be provided for by our Trustee from such portions of income and principal from each of our separate property accounts and from our respective one-half interests in our community accounts, as deemed necessary or advisable in our Trustee's sole discretion.

If, prior to the disability of either one or both of us, one or both of us were making regular lifetime gifts to our children for purposes of estate tax planning, then our Trustee shall continue such gifting program to our children; provided, however, no such gifts shall be made until our support and obligations have been provided for.

Section C. Income Tax Matters

If any interest or share in the trust is irrevocable for so long as one or both of us are living, and if the Trustee of the trust is classified as subordinate or related to either of us, the distribution of trust corpus to the beneficiary of an irrevocable share, to the extent of his or her share or interest alone, will be limited to discretionary distributions necessary or appropriate to provide for the beneficiary's health, education, maintenance and support, and this standard shall be construed and limited according to the requirements of Section 674(b)(5)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Section D. Residence Homestead

Pursuant to Section 11.13 of the Texas Property Tax Code, a qualifying trust may claim the statutory homestead exemption provided by the said Texas Property Tax Code as well as other provisions of Texas law. In order to comply with the said Texas Property Tax Code provisions, the Founders hereby agree as follows:

1. Our residence shall be owned by us through a beneficial interest in this qualifying trust;
2. Our residence shall be designed or adapted for human residence;

3. Such property shall at all times be used as our residence;
4. Such property will be occupied by us as Founders or Trustors of this trust as a result of our beneficial interest in this qualifying trust;
5. By separate deed of our residential property, we have conveyed our interest in such real property to this qualifying trust and are therefore qualified as "Trustors" pursuant to the said Code;
6. This revocable intervivos trust is a "Qualifying Trust" in that we specifically provide that as Trustors of the trust we have the right to use and occupy as our principal residence the residential property rent free and without charge except for taxes and other costs and expenses which may be specified in this instrument. Such right to use and occupation shall be for life or until the date the trust is revoked or terminated by an instrument that describes the property with sufficient certainty to identify it and is recorded in the real property records of the county in which the property is located; and
7. This trust has acquired the property in an instrument of title that
 - a. describes the property with sufficient certainty to identify it and the interest acquired;
 - b. is recorded in the real property records of the county in which the property is located; and
 - c. is executed by one or both of us as Trustors or by our personal representatives.

Article VII

Upon the Death of One of Us

Section A. Settlement of Affairs

Upon the death of the first Founder to die, our Trustee is authorized, but not directed, to pay the following expenses, claims and liabilities which are attributable to the first Founder to die:

Funeral, burial and expenses of last illness

Statutory or court-ordered allowances for qualifying family members

Expenses of administration of the estate

Legally enforceable claims against the deceased Founder or the deceased Founder's estate

Taxes occasioned by death

Any payment authorized above is discretionary. No claim or right to payment may be enforced against this trust by virtue of such discretionary authority.

1. Deceased Founder's Probate Estate

Payments authorized under this Section shall be paid only to the extent that the probate assets (other than real estate, tangible personal property or property that, in our Trustee's judgment, is not readily marketable) are insufficient to make these payments. However, if our trust holds United States Treasury Bonds which are eligible for redemption at par in payment of the federal estate tax, our Trustee shall redeem such bonds to the extent necessary to pay federal estate tax as a result of a death.

Payments authorized under this Section may be made by our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, either directly to the appropriate persons or institutions or to the personal representative of the deceased Founder's probate estate. If our Trustee makes payments directly to the personal representative of the deceased Founder's probate estate, our Trustee shall not have any duty to see to the application of such payments. Any written statement of the deceased Founder's personal representative regarding material facts relating to these payments may be relied upon by our Trustee.

As an addition to our trust, our Trustee is authorized to purchase and retain in the form received any property which is a part of the deceased Founder's probate estate. In addition, our Trustee may make loans to the deceased Founder's probate estate with or without security. Our Trustee shall not be liable for any loss suffered by our trust as a result of the exercise of the powers granted in this paragraph.

Our Trustee shall be under no obligation to examine the records or accounts of the personal representative of the deceased Founder's probate estate and is authorized to accept distributions from the personal representative of the deceased Founder's probate estate without audit.

2. Exempt Property Excluded

Our Trustee shall not use any property in making any payments pursuant to this Section to the extent that such property is not included in the deceased Founder's gross estate for federal estate tax purposes. However, if our Trustee makes the determination, in its sole and absolute discretion, that other non-exempt property is not available for payments authorized under this Section, it may then use such exempt property where it is not economically prudent to use non-exempt property for the payment of such expenses.

3. Apportionment of Payments

Except as otherwise specifically provided in this trust declaration, all expenses and claims, and all estate, inheritance and death taxes, excluding any generation-skipping transfer tax, resulting from the death of a Founder shall be paid without apportionment and without reimbursement from any person.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in our trust, no death taxes payable as a result of the death of the first Founder to die shall be allocated to or paid from the Survivor's Trust or from any assets passing to the surviving Founder and qualifying for the federal estate tax marital deduction unless our Trustee has first used all other assets available to our Trustee.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in our trust declaration, estate, inheritance and death taxes assessed with regard to property passing outside of our trust or outside of our probate estates, but included in the gross estate of a Founder for federal estate tax purposes, shall be chargeable against the persons receiving such property.

Section B. Division and Distribution of Trust Property

Our Trustee shall divide the remaining trust property into two separate trusts upon the death of the first one of us to die. The resulting trusts shall be known as the Survivor's Trust and the Decedent's Trust.

1. Creation of the Survivor's Trust

The Survivor's Trust shall consist of the surviving Founder's interest in the community portion of the trust property, if any, and his or her separate portion of the trust property. In addition, the Survivor's Trust shall be the fractional share of the deceased Founder's trust property as follows:

a. Numerator of the Fractional Share

The numerator of the fractional share shall be the smallest amount which, if allowed as a marital deduction, would result in the least possible federal estate tax being payable as a result of the deceased Founder's death, after allowing for the unified credit against federal estate tax (after taking into account adjusted taxable gifts, if any) as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes, and the credit for state death taxes (but only to the extent that the use of this credit does not require an increase in the state death taxes paid).

The numerator shall be reduced by the value, for federal estate tax purposes, of any interest in property that qualifies for the federal estate tax marital deduction and which passes or has passed from the deceased Founder to the surviving Founder other than under this Article.

b. Denominator of the Fractional Share

The denominator of the fractional share shall consist of the value, as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes, of all of the deceased Founder's trust property under this agreement.

2. Creation of the Decedent's Trust

The Decedent's Trust shall consist of the balance of the trust property.

Section C. Valuation of Property Distributed to the Survivor's Trust

Our Trustee shall use those values as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes in making any computation which is necessary to determine the amount distributed to the Survivor's Trust. On the dates of distribution, the fair market value of all of the deceased Founder's property shall in no event be less than the amount of the Survivor's Trust as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes.

Section D. Conversion of Nonproductive Property

The surviving Founder shall at any time have the absolute right to compel our Trustee to convert nonproductive property held as an asset of the Survivor's Trust to productive property. Such right exists notwithstanding any contrary term in this agreement. The surviving Founder shall exercise this right by directing our Trustee in writing to convert such property.

Section E. Survivor's Right to Refuse Property or Powers Granted

With respect to property passing to the surviving Founder or for the surviving Founder's benefit, any portion of any interest in such property or power may be disclaimed by the surviving Founder within the time and under the conditions permitted by law with regard to disclaimers.

Any interest disclaimed by the surviving Founder with respect to any portion of the Survivor's Trust shall be added to the Decedent's Trust. Any interest disclaimed by the surviving Founder with respect to any portion of the Decedent's Trust shall be disposed of under the appropriate provisions of this agreement as though the surviving Founder had predeceased the first Founder to die.

Any disclaimer exercised must be an irrevocable and unqualified refusal to accept any portion of such interest in the property or power disclaimed. Such disclaimer must be delivered to our Trustee in writing.

Section F. Allocation of Trust Property

Subject to the conditions of Section B.1 of this Article, our Trustee shall have the complete authority to make allocations of the deceased Founder's trust property between the Survivor's and Decedent's Trusts.

Our Trustee may make allocations in cash or its equivalent, in kind, in undivided interests, or in any proportion thereof between the two trusts. Our Trustee may also, in its sole discretion, allocate such assets in kind based on the date of distribution values, rather than an undivided interest in each and every asset.

Our Trustee shall not allocate any property or assets, or proceeds from such property or assets, to the Survivor's Trust which would not qualify for the federal estate tax marital deduction in the deceased Founder's estate.

Our Trustee shall not allocate any policies of life insurance insuring the life of the surviving Founder to the Survivor's Trust that are the sole and separate property of the deceased Founder.

To the extent that there are insufficient assets qualifying for the marital deduction to fully fund this Survivor's Trust, the amount of the funding to the Survivor's Trust shall be reduced accordingly.

Our Trustee shall consider the tax consequences of allocating property subject to foreign death tax, property on which a tax credit is available, or property which is income in respect of a decedent under applicable tax laws prior to allocating the deceased Founder's property to the Survivor's Trust.

Section G. Distributions from Retirement Plan to the Survivor's Trust

If Retirement Plan distributions are included in the Survivor's Trust, or in any Survivor's Trust Share, our Trustee shall comply with the following guidelines.

1. Form of Distribution

Our Trustee may elect to receive distributions from any pension, profit sharing, individual retirement account, or other retirement plan ("Retirement Plan") for which our Trust, or any subtrust provided for herein, is named as beneficiary, in installments or in a lump sum.

2. Income Requirement

Our Trustee shall elect to receive distributions from a Retirement Plan payable to the Survivor's Trust or any Survivor's Trust Share in compliance with the minimum distribution rules of the Internal Revenue Code if applicable and also so that at least all income earned by the Retirement Plan each calendar year is distributed to the Trust and allocated to trust income during the year. If distributions from the Retirement Plan total less than all income earned by the Retirement Plan for a calendar year, our Trustee shall demand additional distributions equal to at least the shortfall so that the surviving Founder will receive all income earned by the Retirement Plan at least annually. The surviving Founder shall have full power, in such surviving Founder's discretion, to compel our Trustee to demand such distributions and to compel the Retirement Plan Trustee to convert any nonproductive property to productive property.

3. Retirement Plan Expenses

In calculating "all income earned by the Retirement Plan," our Trustee shall allocate all Retirement Plan expenses, including income taxes and Trustee's fees, that are attributable to principal distributions so that all income distributions from the Retirement Plan are not reduced.

Article VIII

Administration of the Survivor's Trust

Section A. Creation of Two Survivor's Shares

The property passing to the Survivor's Trust shall be divided into two shares. Both shares shall collectively constitute the Survivor's Trust.

1. Survivor's Share One

Our Trustee shall allocate all of the surviving Founder's separate portion of the trust property and all of the surviving Founder's community portion of the trust property, if any, to Survivor's Share One.

2. Survivor's Share Two

Survivor's Share Two shall consist of the balance, if any, of the property passing to the Survivor's Trust.

If any allocation under this Article results only in the funding of Survivor's Share One, our Trustee shall administer this agreement as if Survivor's Share Two did not exist. The funding of Survivor's Share One, when Survivor's Share Two does not exist, shall be referred to only as the Survivor's Trust and no designation shall be necessary.

Separate accounts shall be maintained for Survivor's Share One and Survivor's Share Two. Our Trustee may, however, hold the separate shares as a common fund for administrative convenience.

Section B. Administration of Survivor's Share One

Our Trustee shall administer Survivor's Share One for the surviving Founder's benefit as follows:

1. The Surviving Founder's Right to Income

Our Trustee shall pay to or apply for the surviving Founder's benefit, at least monthly during the surviving Founder's lifetime, all of the net income from Survivor's Share One.

2. The Surviving Founder's Right to Withdraw Principal

Our Trustee shall pay to or apply for the surviving Founder's benefit such amounts from the principal of Survivor's Share One as the surviving Founder may at any time request in writing.

No limitation shall be placed on the surviving Founder as to either the amount of or reason for such invasion of principal.

3. Principal Distributions in Our Trustee's Discretion

Our Trustee may also distribute to or for the surviving Founder's benefit as much of the principal of Survivor's Share One as our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall consider necessary or advisable for the surviving Founder's education, health, maintenance, and support.

Our Trustee shall take into consideration, to the extent that our Trustee deems advisable, any income or resources of the surviving Founder which are outside of the trust and are known to our Trustee.

4. The Surviving Founder's General Power of Appointment

The surviving Founder shall have the unlimited and unrestricted general power to appoint either (i) by a valid last will and testament; (ii) by a valid living trust agreement; or (iii) by a written exercise of power of appointment, the entire principal and any accrued and undistributed net income of Survivor's Share One as it exists at the surviving Founder's death. In exercising this general power of appointment, the surviving Founder shall specifically refer to this power.

The surviving Founder shall have the sole and exclusive right to exercise the general power of appointment.

This general power of appointment specifically grants to the surviving Founder the right to appoint property to the surviving Founder's own estate. It also specifically grants to the surviving Founder the right to appoint the property among persons, corporations, or other entities in equal or unequal proportions, and on such terms and conditions, whether outright or in trust, as the surviving Founder may elect.

Section C. Administration of Survivor's Share Two

Our Trustee shall administer Survivor's Share Two for the surviving Founder's benefit as follows:

1. The Surviving Founder's Right to Income

Our Trustee shall pay to or apply for the surviving Founder's benefit, at least monthly during the surviving Founder's lifetime, all of the net income from Survivor's Share Two.

The surviving Founder shall have the unlimited and unrestricted general power to appoint either (i) by a valid last will and testament; (ii) by a valid living trust agreement; or (iii) by a written exercise of power of appointment, any accrued and undistributed net income of Survivor's Share Two. In exercising this general power of appointment, the surviving Founder shall specifically refer to this power.

The surviving Founder shall have the sole and exclusive right to exercise the general power of appointment.

This general power of appointment specifically grants to the surviving Founder the right to appoint property to the surviving Founder's own estate. It also specifically grants to the surviving Founder the right to appoint the property among persons, corporations, or other entities in equal or unequal proportions, and on such terms and conditions, whether outright or in trust, as the surviving Founder may elect.

2. Principal Distributions in Our Trustee's Discretion

Our Trustee may also distribute to or for the surviving Founder's benefit as much of the principal of Survivor's Share Two as our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall consider necessary or advisable for the education, health, maintenance, and support of the surviving Founder.

Our Trustee shall take into consideration, to the extent that our Trustee deems advisable, any income or resources of the surviving Founder which are outside of the trust and are known to our Trustee.

It is our desire, to the extent that it is economically prudent, that principal distributions be made from Survivor's Share One until it is exhausted, and only thereafter from the principal of Survivor's Share Two.

3. The Surviving Founder's Limited Testamentary Power of Appointment

The surviving Founder shall have the limited testamentary power to appoint to or for the benefit of our descendants, either (i) by a valid last will and testament; (ii) by a valid living trust agreement; or (iii) by a written exercise of power of appointment, all or any portion of the principal of Survivor's Share Two as it exists at the surviving Founder's death.

The surviving Founder may make distributions among our descendants in equal or unequal amounts, and on such terms and conditions, either outright or in trust, as the surviving Founder shall determine.

This power shall not be exercised in favor of the surviving Founder's estate, the creditors of the surviving Founder's estate, or in any manner which would result in any economic benefit to the surviving Founder.

Section D. Administration of Both Survivor's Shares at Surviving Founder's Death

Both Survivor's Share One and Survivor's Share Two shall terminate at the surviving Founder's death. Our Trustee shall administer the unappointed balance or remainder of both shares as follows:

1. The Surviving Founder's Final Expenses

Our Trustee may, in its sole and absolute discretion, pay for the following expenses:

Expenses of the last illness, funeral, and burial of the surviving Founder.

Legally enforceable claims against the surviving Founder or the surviving Founder's estate.

Expenses of administering the surviving Founder's estate.

Any inheritance, estate, or other death taxes payable by reason of the surviving Founder's death, together with interest and penalties thereon.

Statutory or court-ordered allowances for qualifying family members.

The payments authorized under this Section are discretionary, and no claims or right to payment by third parties may be enforced against the trust by virtue of such discretionary authority.

Our Trustee shall be indemnified from the trust property for any damages sustained by our Trustee as a result of its exercising, in good faith, the authority granted it under this Section.

It is our desire that, to the extent possible, any payments authorized under this Section be paid from the surviving Founder's probate estate before any payments are made pursuant to this Section.

2. Redemption of Treasury Bonds

If the Survivor's Trust holds United States Treasury Bonds eligible for redemption in payment of the federal estate tax, our Trustee shall redeem the bonds to the extent necessary to pay any federal estate tax due by reason of the surviving Founder's death.

3. Coordination with the Personal Representative

This Paragraph shall be utilized to help facilitate the coordination between the personal representative of the surviving Founder's probate estate and our Trustee with respect to any property owned by the surviving Founder outside of this trust agreement at the surviving Founder's death.

a. Authorized Payments

Our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may elect to pay the payments authorized under this Section either directly to the appropriate persons or institutions or to the surviving Founder's personal representative.

Our Trustee may rely upon the written statements of the surviving Founder's personal representative as to all material facts relating to these payments; our Trustee shall not have any duty to see to the application of such payments.

b. Purchase of Assets and Loans

Our Trustee is authorized to purchase and retain in the form received, as an addition to the trust, any property which is a part of the surviving Founder's probate estate. In addition, our Trustee may make loans, with or without security, to the surviving Founder's probate estate. Our Trustee shall not be liable for any loss suffered by the trust as a result of the exercise of the powers granted in this paragraph.

c. Distributions from the Personal Representative

Our Trustee is authorized to accept distributions from the surviving Founder's personal representative without audit and our Trustee shall be under no obligation to examine the records or accounts of the personal representative.

4. Trustee's Authority to Make Tax Elections

Our Trustee may exercise any available elections with regard to state or federal income, inheritance, estate, succession, or gift tax law.

a. Alternate Valuation Date

The authority granted our Trustee in this Paragraph includes the right to elect any alternate valuation date for federal estate or state estate or inheritance tax purposes.

b. Deduction of Administration Expenses

The authority granted our Trustee in this Paragraph shall include the right to elect whether all or any parts of the administration expenses of the surviving Founder's estate are to be used as estate tax deductions or income tax deductions.

No compensating adjustments need be made between income and principal as a result of such elections unless our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall determine otherwise, or unless required by law.

c. Taxes and Returns

Our Trustee may also sign tax returns; pay any taxes, interest, or penalties with regard to taxes; and apply for and collect tax refunds and interest thereon.

Section E. Subsequent Administration of the Survivor's Trust

The unappointed balance or remainder of Survivor's Share One and Survivor's Share Two shall be administered as provided in Article X.

Article IX

Administration of the Decedent's Trust

Section A. Use of Income and Principal

During the lifetime of the surviving Founder, our Trustee shall pay to or apply for the benefit of the surviving Founder all net income and such portions of principal from the Decedent's Trust according to the following guidelines:

1. NET INCOME shall be paid in convenient installments, at least monthly.
2. PRINCIPAL
 - a. The surviving Founder shall have the noncumulative right to withdraw in any calendar year amounts not to exceed $5,000.00.
 - b. In addition, on the last day of any calendar year, the surviving Founder may withdraw an amount by which five percent (5%) of the then market value of the principal of the Decedent's Trust exceeds principal amounts previously withdrawn in that year pursuant to Section A.2.a. of this Article.
 - c. Our Trustee may also distribute any amount of principal deemed necessary, in our Trustee's sole and absolute discretion, for the health, education, maintenance and support of the surviving Founder and our descendants.

Section B. Guidelines for All Distributions

At all times, our Trustee shall give primary consideration to the surviving Founder's health, education, maintenance and support, and thereafter to our descendant's health, education, maintenance and support.

If the surviving Founder has the power to remove a Trustee of the Decedent's Trust, our Trustee shall not distribute any of the principal of the Decedent's Trust that would in any manner discharge the surviving Founder's legal obligation to a beneficiary of the Decedent's Trust. If the surviving Founder is disabled, our Trustee shall ignore this restriction during the period of the surviving Founder's disability, and the surviving Founder shall not have the power to remove a Trustee of the Decedent's Trust.

Section C. Guidelines for Discretionary Distributions

Before making discretionary distributions of principal from the Decedent's Trust to the surviving Founder, our Trustee shall preferably exhaust the Survivor's Trust.

Before making discretionary distributions pursuant to this Article, our Trustee shall consider income or other resources which are available outside of the Decedent's Trust to any beneficiary. Distributions need not be made to all Decedent's Trust beneficiaries and may be to the complete exclusion of some beneficiaries. Distributions may be made in equal or unequal amounts according to the respective needs of the Decedent's Trust beneficiaries and shall not be charged against a beneficiary's ultimate share of trust property.

Section D. Termination of the Decedent's Trust

When the surviving Founder dies, the Decedent's Trust shall terminate and our Trustee shall administer the balance of the Decedent's Trust according to the following guidelines and in the following order:

1. The surviving Founder shall have the limited testamentary power to appoint all of the undistributed principal and income of the Decedent's Trust among our descendants only (but only to the extent such undistributed principal and income have not been transferred or assigned to the Decedent's Trust by virtue of a disclaimer executed by the surviving Founder). Any such appointment may be in any proportion and on such terms and conditions as the surviving Founder may elect. The surviving Founder shall not have the right or power to appoint any portion of the Decedent's Trust in favor of the surviving Founder's estate, creditors of the surviving Founder's estate, or in any manner which would result in any economic benefit to the surviving Founder. The right to exercise this limited testamentary power of appointment is the sole and exclusive right of the surviving Founder. Our Trustee shall distribute the

Section C. Administration of the Share of a Descendant of a Deceased Beneficiary

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions as to the disposition of a trust share upon the death of a beneficiary, each share set aside for a deceased beneficiary who has then living descendants shall be divided into as many shares as shall be necessary to create shares for each then living descendant of such deceased beneficiary on a per stirpes basis. For example, if a deceased beneficiary has a deceased child who leaves children, then the share that would have passed to such deceased child shall be shared equally among his or her living children on a per stirpes basis. Each such share shall be held in trust to be administered as follows:

1. Distribution of Trust Income

Our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall pay to or apply for the benefit of any descendant of a deceased beneficiary as much of the net income from his or her trust share as our Trustee deems advisable for the health, education, maintenance and support of such descendant.

2. Distribution of Trust Principal

Our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall pay to or apply for the benefit of any descendant of a deceased beneficiary as much of the principal from his or her trust share as our Trustee deems advisable for the health, education, maintenance and support of such descendant.

When such descendant reaches the age of 30 or if, on the creation of his or her trust share, he or she has already attained the age of 30, thereafter, upon the written request of such descendant delivered to our Trustee, our Trustee shall distribute an amount not greater than fifty percent of the accumulated net income and principal, as it is then constituted, free of trust. If more than one written request for distribution is made by such descendant, our Trustee shall not cumulatively distribute to such descendant, in response to all such requests, more than fifty percent of the accumulated income and principal of the trust as it existed on the date of the first request for a distribution made under this paragraph by such descendant or fifty percent of the total trust funds remaining at the date of any subsequent request, whichever is the lesser amount.

When such descendant reaches the age of 40 or if, on the creation of his or her trust share, he or she has already attained the age of 40, thereafter, upon the written request of such descendant delivered to our Trustee, our Trustee shall distribute the balance of the accumulated net income and principal of such trust share, as it is then constituted to such descendant, free of trust. Undistributed funds shall continue to be held in trust.

If a descendant of a deceased beneficiary should die before the complete distribution of such trust share, the trust share shall terminate and our Trustee shall distribute the balance of the trust share to the surviving descendants of such descendant, share and share alike, per stirpes. If such descendant of a deceased beneficiary dies with no surviving descendants, then such share shall terminate and be distributed to the remaining descendants of the deceased beneficiary, share and share alike, per stirpes. If there are no descendants of such deceased beneficiary, our Trustee shall distribute the balance of the trust share to our then living descendants, per stirpes. In the event we have no then living descendants, our Trustee shall distribute the balance of the accumulated income and principal of the trust share as provided in Section G of this Article.

Our Trustee shall administer and distribute each such share according to the provisions of Article XI, Section D.

Section D. Subsequent Children

Notwithstanding the provisions of this Article wherein beneficiaries are named, if, subsequent to the creation of this trust declaration, we have additional children or legally adopt children who are under the age of 18, each such child shall be included among the beneficiaries named in this Article and an equal trust share shall be created for each such beneficiary.

Our Trustee shall administer and distribute each such share according to the provisions of Article XI, Section D.

Section E. Guidelines for Discretionary Distributions

Whenever we have given our Trustee any discretionary authority over the distribution of income or principal to any named beneficiary, our Trustee shall be liberal in exercising such discretion and shall give such beneficiary assistance for any opportunity or expense deemed by our Trustee to be in the best interest of such beneficiary. However, before making discretionary distributions, our Trustee shall take into consideration any additional sources of income and principal available to such beneficiary which exist outside of this agreement and are known to our Trustee, and the future probable needs of such beneficiary.

Section F. Guidelines for All Distributions

Whenever any provision of this Article authorizes or requires a distribution to any beneficiary, then our Trustee shall retain such distribution in trust at such beneficiary's written request. Our Trustee shall pay to or apply for the benefit of the beneficiary such amounts of income and principal as the beneficiary may at any time request in writing. No limitations shall be placed upon the beneficiary regarding withdrawals from his or her respective trust share. In addition, our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, may distribute to or apply for the benefit of the beneficiary as much of the principal and income of the beneficiary's trust share as our Trustee deems advisable, in its sole and absolute discretion, for the health, education, maintenance and support of the beneficiary.

Section G. Ultimate Distribution

If at any time there is no person, corporation or other entity entitled to receive all or any part of the trust property of one of us, it shall be distributed as follows:

| Beneficiary | Share% |
|--|---------------|
| CENTRAL COLLEGE OF IOWA
Pella, Iowa | 100% |

If the CENTRAL COLLEGE OF IOWA, Pella, Iowa, is no longer in existence at the date of distribution, but has designated a successor, such successor shall receive such beneficiary's share. However, if no such successor has been designated, the share of such beneficiary shall pass one-half to those persons who would be the wife Founder's heirs as if she had died intestate, unmarried, owning such property and the balance shall pass to those persons who would be the husband Founder's heirs as if he had died intestate, unmarried, owning such property.

The distribution of trust property, for purposes of this Section, shall be determined by the laws of descent and distribution for intestate estates in the State of Texas as such laws are in effect at the time of any distribution under this Article.

Article XI

Protection of Beneficial Interests

Section A. Protection of the Interests of Our Beneficiaries

No beneficiary will have the power to anticipate, encumber or transfer any interest in the trust. No part of the trust will be liable for or charged with any debts, contracts, liabilities or torts of a beneficiary or subject to seizure or other process by any creditor of a beneficiary.

Section B. Unproductive or Underproductive Assets

A beneficiary who is then entitled to the income of the trust, or the income of any other trust established or continued pursuant to this trust declaration, will have the authority to issue a written directive to the Trustee to convert trust property which does not produce an income, or which is underproductive, into property which is income producing or which will provide a greater income to the trust.

Upon actual receipt of an income beneficiary's written directive, the Trustee will reasonably and prudently proceed to convert unproductive or underproductive property into property which will produce a reasonable and safe rate of return. The Trustee may do so by selling the unproductive or underproductive asset upon such terms and conditions as are prudent and reasonable under all circumstances which may then exist (including the acceptance of an income or interest bearing obligation as the whole or a part of the sales price), and investing the proceeds of the sale in income producing instruments or obligations.

Notwithstanding these requirements, a trust beneficiary cannot direct the Trustee to invest or reinvest trust property in a trust investment which is speculative in nature or which, in result, would violate the spendthrift provisions of this trust declaration.

Section C. No Contest of Our Trust

The Founders vest in the Trustee the authority to construe this trust instrument and to resolve all matters pertaining to disputed issues or controverted claims. Founders do not want to burden this trust with the cost of a litigated proceeding to resolve questions of law or fact unless the proceeding is originated by the Trustee or with the Trustee's written permission.

Any person, agency or organization who shall originate (or who shall cause to be instituted) a judicial proceeding to construe or contest this trust instrument, or any will which requires distribution of property to this trust, or to resolve any claim or controversy in the nature of reimbursement, or seeking to impress a constructive or resulting trust, or alleging any other theory which, if assumed as true, would enlarge (or originate) a claimant's interest in this trust or in the Founders' estates, without the Trustee's written permission, shall forfeit any amount to which that person, agency or organization is or may be entitled and the interest of any such litigant or contestant shall pass as if he or she or it had predeceased us, regardless of whether or not such contestant is a named beneficiary.

These directions shall apply even though the person, agency or organization shall be found by a court of law to have originated the judicial proceeding in good faith and with probable cause and even though the proceedings may seek nothing more than to construe the application of this no contest provision.

This requirement is to be limited, even to the exclusion thereof, in the event it operates to deny the benefits of the federal estate tax or federal gift tax marital deduction.

Section D. Our Trustee's Authority to Keep Property in Trust

Unless this trust declaration provides otherwise, if any trust property becomes distributable to a beneficiary when the beneficiary is under 21 years of age, or when the beneficiary is under any form of legal disability, as defined in Article XIII, our Trustee shall retain that beneficiary's share in a separate trust until he or she attains 21 years of age, or until his or her legal disability has ceased, to be administered and distributed as follows:

1. Distributions of Trust Income and Principal

Our Trustee shall pay to or apply for the benefit of the beneficiary as much of the net income and principal of the trust as our Trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, deems necessary or advisable for the beneficiary's health, education, maintenance and support. No guardian or custodian of a beneficiary shall have any control or interposition over our Trustee.

In making any distributions of income and principal under this Section, our Trustee shall be mindful of, and take into consideration to the extent it deems necessary, any additional sources of income and principal available to the beneficiary which arise outside of this agreement.

Any net income not distributed to a beneficiary shall be accumulated and added to principal.

2. Methods of Distribution

Distributions to an incompetent or disabled beneficiary, or a minor beneficiary, may be made in any of the following ways as in the Trustee's opinion will be most beneficial to the interests of the beneficiary:

- (a) Directly to such beneficiary;
- (b) To his or her parent, guardian or legal representative;
- (c) To a custodian for said beneficiary under any Uniform Gifts to Minors Act and/or Gifts of Securities to Minors Act in the jurisdiction of residence of such beneficiary;
- (d) To any person with whom he or she is residing;
- (e) To some near relative or close friend; or
- (f) By the Trustee using such payment directly for the benefit of such beneficiary, including payments made to or for the benefit of any person or persons whom said beneficiary has a legal obligation to support;
- (g) To persons, corporations or other entities for the use and benefit of the beneficiary;
- (h) To an account in a commercial bank or savings institution in the name of the beneficiary, or in a form reserving the title, management and custody of the account to a suitable person, corporation or other entity for the use and benefit of the beneficiary; or
- (i) In any prudent form of annuity purchased for the use and benefit of the beneficiary.

The Trustee may instead, in the Trustee's sole discretion, hold such income or corpus for the account of such beneficiary as custodian. A receipt from a beneficiary or from his parent, guardian, legal representative, relative or close friend or other person described above shall be a sufficient discharge to the Trustee from any liability for making said payments.

The Trustee is likewise authorized to consult with and act upon the advice of the parent, guardian, custodian or legal representative of any beneficiary who is either an incompetent or a minor with respect to any and all matters which may arise under this trust and as it concerns the rights or interests of said beneficiary.

All statements, accounts, documents, releases, notices or other written instruments, including but not limited to, written instruments concerning the resignation or replacement of any Trustee or Trustees, required to be delivered to or executed by such beneficiary, may be delivered to or executed by the parent, guardian, custodian or legal representative of said incompetent or minor beneficiary, and when so delivered or executed shall be binding upon said incompetent or minor beneficiary, and shall be of the same force and effect as though delivered to or executed by a beneficiary acting under no legal disability.

3. Termination and Ultimate Distribution

Our Trustee shall distribute the trust property to a beneficiary:

When he or she attains 21 years of age, or

When he or she ceases to be disabled.

Section E. Application to Founders

Notwithstanding anything in this agreement to the contrary, this Article shall not apply to, modify or affect the surviving Founder's right to receive the net income from the Survivor's Trust as set forth and provided for in this agreement.

Article XII

Our Trustees' Powers and Authority

Section A. Applicability of Texas Trust Code and Other Statutes

The Trustee shall have the powers, duties, and liabilities set forth in this declaration and as more specifically stated in this Article, as well as such powers, duties and liabilities set forth in the Texas Trust Code, and all other applicable state and federal statutes, as now enacted and as hereafter amended, except to the extent the same may be inconsistent with the provisions of this declaration, in which case the provisions of this declaration shall govern.

Section B. Powers to Be Exercised in the Best Interests of the Beneficiaries

The Trustee shall exercise the following administrative and investment powers without the order of any court, as the Trustee determines in its sole and absolute discretion to be in the best interests of the beneficiaries.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this agreement, the Trustee shall not exercise any power in a manner inconsistent with the beneficiaries' right to the beneficial enjoyment of the trust property in accordance with the general principles of the law of trusts.

The Trustee may perform every act reasonably necessary to administer each and every share or trust created under this agreement.

Section C. General Investment and Management Powers

The Trustee is authorized to invest in such investments as the Trustee deems proper and prudent, even if such investments fail to constitute properly diversified trust investments or for any other reason could be considered to be improper trust investments. The Trustee's investment authority is intended to be quite broad, and shall include, but is not limited to, all authority that follows.

In addition, the Trustee is granted the authority to exercise any managerial powers of an individual with respect to matters affecting a trust, it being our intention to grant broad managerial discretion to the Trustee that is consistent with the management and administration of a trust, including the following managerial authorities.

Originally Contributed Properties

The Trustee may continue to hold and maintain all assets originally contributed to any trust.

Additional Properties

The Trustee is authorized to receive additional trust property, whether by gift, will, or otherwise, either from us, from either of us, or from any other person, corporation, or entity.

Upon receipt of any additional property, the Trustee shall administer and distribute the same as part of the trust property.

The Trustee may retain, without liability for depreciation or loss resulting from such retention, all property constituting the trust estate at the time of its creation or thereafter received from other sources.

The foregoing shall be acceptable even though such property may not be of the character prescribed by law for the investment of trust funds or may result in inadequate diversification of the trust property.

Securities Powers

The Trustee may invest and reinvest in such classes of stocks, bonds, securities, commodities, options, metals, or other property real or personal, as it shall determine.

The Trustee is authorized to buy, sell, and trade in securities of any nature, including short sales on margin. The Trustee may maintain and operate margin accounts with brokers, and may pledge any securities held or purchased by other Trustees with such brokers as securities for loans and advances made to the Trustee.

The Trustee may retain, exercise, or sell rights of conversion or subscription with respect to any securities held as part of the trust property.

The Trustee may vote or refrain from voting at corporate meetings either in person or by proxy, whether general or limited, and with or without substitutions.

Investment of Cash Assets

A corporate entity serving as Trustee may deposit trust funds with itself as either a permanent or temporary investment, and may place trust funds under its administration in common trust funds established and maintained by such corporate trustee or its affiliate. In determining where to invest cash resources, the Trustee may consider all factors, including facility of access and security of funds invested, as well as the stated rate of return.

Unproductive or Wasting Assets

Except as otherwise provided in this agreement, the Trustee may receive, acquire and maintain assets that may constitute unproductive, underproductive or wasting assets if the Trustee believes it is reasonable to do so. Upon the sale or disposition of any such asset, the Trustee need not make an allocation of any portion of the principal element of such sale proceeds to the income beneficiaries of the trust.

Personal Residence and Furnishings of Personal Residence

To the extent that the personal residence that we occupied at the date of the death of the first of us to die and any furnishings of such residence become part of a trust estate, the Trustee is authorized to continue to retain and use, to distribute in kind, or to sell any such assets should the Trustee believe the retention, use, distribution or sale of such assets would be beneficial to the survivor of us.

Mineral Properties

The Trustee shall have the power to acquire, exchange, maintain or sell mineral interests, and to make oil, gas and mineral leases covering any lands or mineral interests forming a part of a trust estate, including leases for periods extending beyond the duration of the trust.

The Trustee may pool or unitize any or all of the lands, mineral leaseholds or mineral interests of a trust with others for the purpose of developing and producing oil, gas or other minerals, and may make leases or assignments containing the right to pool or unitize.

The Trustee may enter into contracts and agreements relating to the installation or operation of absorption, repressuring and other processing plants, may drill or contract for the drilling of wells for oil, gas or other minerals, may enter into, renew and extend operating agreements and exploration contracts, may engage in secondary and tertiary recovery operations, may make "bottom hole" or "dry hole" contributions, and may deal otherwise with respect to mineral properties as an individual owner might deal with his own properties.

The Trustee may enter into contracts, conveyances and other agreements or transfers deemed necessary or desirable to carry out these powers, including division orders, oil, gas or other hydrocarbon sales contracts, processing agreements, and other contracts relating to the processing, handling, treating, transporting and marketing of oil, gas or other mineral production.

Any lease or other agreement may have a duration that the Trustee deems reasonable, even though extending beyond the duration of any trust created in this agreement.

The Trustee may drill, test, explore, mine, develop, and otherwise exploit any and all oil, gas, coal, and other mineral interests, and may select, employ, utilize, or participate in any business form, including partnerships, joint ventures, co-owners' groups, syndicates, and corporations, for the purpose of acquiring, holding, exploiting, developing, operating, or disposing of oil, gas, coal, and other mineral interests.

The Trustee may employ the services of consultants or outside specialists in connection with the evaluation, management, acquisition, disposition, or development of any mineral interests, and may pay the cost of such services from the principal or income of the trust property.

The Trustee may use the general assets of the trusts created under this agreement for the purposes of acquiring, holding, managing, developing, pooling, unitizing, repressuring, or disposing of any mineral interests.

The term "mineral" shall mean minerals of whatever kind and wherever located, whether surface or subsurface deposits, including (without limitation) coal, lignite and other hydrocarbons, iron ore, and uranium.

Power to Enter Into or Continue Business Activities

The Trustee shall have the authority to enter into, engage in, expand, carry on, terminate and liquidate any and all business activities, whether in proprietary, general or limited partnership, joint venture or corporate form, with such persons and entities as the Trustee deems proper. This power pertains to business activities in progress at the date of our deaths, and to business opportunities arising thereafter. Business activities conducted by the Trustee should be related to the administration and investment of the trust estate, for it is not our intention to convert any trust into an entity that would be taxable as an association for federal tax purposes.

Banking Authority

The Trustee is authorized to establish and maintain bank accounts of all types in one or more banking institutions that the Trustee may choose.

Corporate Activities

The Trustee may form, reorganize or dissolve corporations, and may exercise all rights of a stockholder, including the right to vote for or against mergers, consolidations and liquidations, and to act with or without substitution. An individual serving as Trustee may elect himself as an officer or director of a corporation owned in part or in whole by a trust created by this declaration, and a corporate entity serving as Trustee may elect one of its officers to such a position, and in each such instance the person so elected may be paid reasonable compensation for services rendered to such corporation in such capacity. The Trustee may retain, exercise or sell rights of conversion or subscription to any securities held as part of the trust property.

Agricultural Powers

The Trustee may retain, sell, acquire, and continue any farm or ranching operation whether as a sole proprietorship, partnership, or corporation.

The Trustee may engage in the production, harvesting, and marketing of both farm and ranch products either by operating directly or with management agencies, hired labor, tenants, or sharecroppers.

The Trustee may engage and participate in any government farm program, whether state or federally sponsored.

The Trustee may purchase or rent machinery, equipment, livestock, poultry, feed, and seed.

The Trustee may improve and repair all farm and ranch properties; construct buildings, fences, and drainage facilities; acquire, retain, improve, and dispose of wells, water rights, ditch rights, and priorities of any nature.

The Trustee may, in general, do all things customary or desirable to operate a farm or ranch operation for the benefit of the beneficiaries of the various trusts created under this agreement.

Real Estate

The Trustee may purchase or sell real property, and may exchange, partition, subdivide, develop, manage, and improve real property. The Trustee may grant or acquire easements, may impose deed restrictions, may adjust boundaries, may raze existing improvements, and may dedicate land or rights in land for public use. The Trustee may construct, repair, alter, remodel, demolish or abandon improvements. The Trustee may take any other action reasonably necessary for the preservation of real estate and fixtures comprising a part of the trust property or the income therefrom.

Authority to Sell or Lease and Other Dispositive Powers

The Trustee may sell, lease or grant options to lease trust property without the consent or ratification of any court, remainderman, or third party, including the authority to lease beyond the anticipated term of a trust, upon such terms and for such consideration as the Trustee deems appropriate. The Trustee may make such contracts, deeds, leases, and other instruments it deems proper under the circumstances, and may deal with the trust property in all other ways in which a natural person could deal with his or her property.

Warranties and Covenants

The Trustee may convey properties with such covenants and warranties of title (general or special) as the Trustee deems appropriate.

Trustee's Compensation

The Trustee shall pay itself reasonable compensation for its services as fiduciary as provided in this agreement.

Employment and Delegation of Authority to Agents

The Trustee may employ and compensate, and may discharge, such advisors and agents as the Trustee deems proper, and may delegate to an agent such authorities (including discretionary authorities) as the Trustee deems appropriate, by duly executed powers of attorney or otherwise.

Power to Release or Abandon Property or Rights, and to Pursue Claims

The Trustee may release, compromise or abandon claims or rights to property for such consideration (including no consideration) as the Trustee determines to be appropriate when the Trustee determines it is prudent to do so. The Trustee is authorized to institute suit on behalf of and to defend suits brought against a trust estate, and to accept deeds in lieu of foreclosure.

Nominal Title and Use of Nominees

With or without disclosing fiduciary capacity, the Trustee may acquire title to property in the name of the Trustee or in the name of one or more nominees, and may allow its nominees to take possession of trust assets with or without direct custodial supervision by the Trustee.

Power to Lend Money and Guarantee Obligations

The Trustee may lend money to any person, to any business entity, to an estate, or to any trust, if the Trustee deems the loan to be in the best interests of the trust beneficiaries, provided that any such loan (except loans to beneficiaries) shall be adequately secured and shall bear a reasonable rate of interest.

The Trustee, in the Trustee's discretion, may endorse, guarantee, become the surety of or otherwise become obligated for or with respect to the debts or other obligations of any person or legal entity, whether with or without consideration, when the Trustee believes such actions advance the purposes of any trust created hereunder.

The Trustee may make loans from a beneficiary's trust share to or for the benefit of such a beneficiary on an unsecured basis, and for such rate of interest as the Trustee deems appropriate, when in the Trustee's judgment, such loan would be consistent with the purposes of such trust.

Power to Borrow

The Trustee may assume the payment of and renew and extend any indebtedness previously created by either or both Founders, and the Trustee may create new indebtedness and raise money by any means, including margin trading in securities, when the Trustee believes such borrowing will be beneficial to the trust estate.

The Trustee is authorized to secure the payment of each such indebtedness, and all renewals, extensions and refinancing of same, by pledge, mortgage, deed of trust or other encumbrance covering and binding all or any part of the trust estate of a trust.

The Trustee may loan its own monies to a trust and may charge and recover the then usual and customary rate of interest thereon when, in the discretion of Trustee, it is prudent to do so.

Payment of Indebtedness and Settlement Costs

The Trustee may in its sole discretion pay the funeral and burial expenses, expenses of the last illness, and valid claims and expenses of an income beneficiary of any trust created under this agreement.

Funeral and burial expenses shall include, but not be limited to, the cost of memorials of all types and memorial services of such kind as the Trustee shall approve. Valid claims and expenses shall include, but not be limited to, all state and federal death taxes.

The payments shall be paid from the assets of the trust or trusts from which the beneficiary was receiving income.

Transactions Between the Trustee and Our Personal Representatives

The Trustee is authorized to accept from our personal representatives, upon the termination or during the administration of our respective probate estates, if any, assets delivered by our personal representatives to the Trustee on the basis of the accounting submitted by the personal representatives, without requiring an audit or other independent accounting of the acts of our personal representatives, and the Trustee shall not have liability for the acts or omissions of our personal representatives. The foregoing shall not limit the right of our Trustee to request an accounting from our personal representatives and our personal representatives shall, upon request from the Trustee, furnish a complete accounting for their actions.

The Trustee shall have the power to purchase property from our estates at its fair market value, as determined by our personal representatives and by our Trustee, and to the extent required to permit such purchase of assets and to permit loans from the Trustee to our estate, we specifically waive application of the provisions of Section 352 of the Texas Probate Code and Sections 113.053 and 113.054 of the Texas Trust Code.

Commingling Trust Estates

For the purpose of convenience with regard to the administration and investment of the trust property, the Trustee may hold the several trusts created under this agreement as a common fund.

The Trustee may make joint investments with respect to the funds comprising the trust property.

The Trustee may enter into any transaction authorized by this Article with fiduciaries of other trusts or estates in which any beneficiary hereunder has an interest, even though such fiduciaries are also Trustees under this agreement.

Addition of Accumulated Income to Principal

The Trustee shall, on a convenient periodic basis, add the accumulated undistributed income of any trust which does not provide for mandatory income distributions to specified beneficiaries, and which does not require that any undistributed income be maintained separately for ultimate distribution to specified beneficiaries, to the principal of such trust.

Distributions Not Treated as Advancements

No distributions to a beneficiary of any trust created hereunder shall be treated as an advancement against the beneficiary's share of such trust unless the distribution is specially so treated on the Trustee's records at the time of the distribution or unless the Trustee gives notice of such fact to the beneficiary at the time of the distribution. If the Trustee has the discretion to make distributions from a trust to more than one beneficiary, the Trustee ordinarily should not treat distributions to any particular beneficiary as an advancement of that beneficiary's share of the trust unless an event has occurred causing the termination of such trust.

Tax Elections

The Trustee may exercise any available elections regarding state or federal income, inheritance, estate, succession or gift tax law including the right to elect any alternate valuation date for federal estate or inheritance tax purposes, the right to elect whether all or any parts of the administration of a deceased Founder's estate are to be used as estate tax deductions or income tax deductions, the right to make compensating adjustments between income and principal as a result of such elections if necessary, and the right to elect to have trust property qualify for the federal estate tax marital deduction as qualified terminable interest property under the appropriate provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and its regulations. The Trustee may also sign tax returns; pay any taxes, interest or penalties with regard to taxes; apply for and collect tax refunds thereon.

The Trustee is authorized to make elections available under applicable tax laws as the Trustee determines, in its discretion, to be advisable even though such elections may affect the interests of trust beneficiaries. The Trustee need not, but may, in its sole discretion, make equitable adjustments of the interests of the trust beneficiaries in light of the effect of such elections.

Transactions in Which the Trustee Has A Direct or Indirect Interest

We expressly waive prohibitions existing under the common law and the Texas Trust Code that might otherwise prohibit a person or entity who is serving as a Trustee from engaging in transactions with himself or itself personally, so long as the consideration exchanged in any such transaction is fair and reasonable to the trust created by this declaration. Specifically, we authorize the Trustee (a) to buy or sell trust property from or to an individual or entity serving as a Trustee, or from or to a relative, employee, business associate or affiliate of such individual serving as Trustee; (b) to sell or exchange and to transact other business activities involving properties of one trust with another trust under the control of the Trustee; and (c) to sell or purchase from a trust the stock, bonds, obligations or other securities of the Trustee or its affiliate.

Notwithstanding the general powers conferred upon the Trustee, or anything to the contrary contained in this agreement, no individual Trustee shall exercise or participate in the exercise of discretion with respect to the distribution of trust income or principal to or for the benefit of such Trustee.

No individual Trustee shall exercise or participate in the exercise of such discretionary power with respect to distributions to any person or persons such Trustee is legally obligated to support as to that support obligation.

Section D. Apportionment of Receipts and Expenses Between Income and Principal

The Trustee shall have the power, exercisable in such Trustee's reasonable and sole discretion, to determine what is principal or income of a trust or trust share. The Trustee shall pay from income or principal all of the reasonable expenses attributable to the administration of the respective trusts created in this agreement. The Trustee shall have the power to establish a reasonable reserve for depreciation or depletion and to fund the same by appropriate charges against income of the trust estate. For purposes of determining an appropriate reserve for depreciable or depletable assets, the Trustee may (but need not) adopt the depreciation or depletion allowance available for federal income tax purposes.

Section E. Records, Books of Account and Reports

The Trustee shall promptly set up and thereafter maintain, or cause to be set up and maintained, proper books of account which shall accurately reflect the true financial condition of the trust estate. Such books of account shall at all reasonable times be open for inspection or audit only by current, mandatory income beneficiaries, their parent or court appointed guardians, and the duly authorized agents, attorneys, representatives and auditors of each, at the expense of the beneficiary making such inspection or audit.

The Trustee shall make a written financial report, at least semi-annually, to each beneficiary of the trust who is entitled to receive a present, mandatory income distribution, unless such beneficiary, or such beneficiary's parent or legal guardian, has executed a written waiver of the right to receive such a report. The Trustee shall not be obligated to provide financial reports to a beneficiary who is less than eighteen years old if such reports are being provided to a parent of such beneficiary. Such reports shall be submitted to the parent or guardian of a minor beneficiary, or to the guardian or other legal representative of any incapacitated beneficiary.

The first financial report shall identify all property initially received by the Trustee. The first report and each subsequent report shall include a statement of all property on hand at the end of such accounting period, of all property that has come to the knowledge or possession of the Trustee that has not been previously listed as property of the trust, of all known liabilities, of all receipts and disbursements during such period (including a statement as to whether the receipt or disbursement is of income or principal), and of such other facts as the Trustee deems necessary to furnish in order to provide adequate information as to the condition of the trust estate.

Except as otherwise provided in this declaration, should any person interested in a trust estate request an accounting for the Trustee's actions that is more extensive or more frequent than the accounting normally to be rendered, the Trustee may require such person to pay the additional costs incurred in preparing the same before complying with such request.

Section F. Trustee's Liability

No person or entity serving as Trustee without compensation shall be liable for any error of judgment or mistake of fact or law or for ordinary negligence, but shall be liable for acts involving willful misconduct, gross negligence or bad faith.

Unless otherwise provided, no person or entity serving as Trustee who is receiving compensation for his or its services hereunder shall be liable for any loss which may occur as a result of any actions taken or not taken by the Trustee if such person or entity has exercised the reasonable care, skill and prudence generally exercised by a compensated fiduciary with respect to the administration, investment, and management of similar estates.

No person or entity serving as Trustee shall be liable for the acts, omissions or defaults of any other person or entity serving as Trustee, agent or other person to whom duties may be properly delegated hereunder (except that each corporate trustee shall be liable for the acts, omissions and defaults of its officers and regular employees) if such agent or other person was engaged with reasonable care.

Unless a Trustee shall expressly contract and bind himself or itself individually, no Trustee shall incur any personal liability to any person or legal entity dealing with the Trustee in the administration of a trust. The Trustee shall be entitled to reimbursement from the properties of a trust for any liability or expense, whether in contract, tort or otherwise, incurred by the Trustee in the proper administration of a trust.

The Trustee shall be indemnified from the trust property for any damages sustained by the Trustee as a result of its exercising, in good faith, any of the authorities granted it under this trust declaration.

Section G. Duty of Third Parties Dealing with Trustee

No person dealing with the Trustee shall be responsible for the application of any assets delivered to the Trustee, and the receipt of the Trustee shall be a full discharge to the extent of the property delivered. No purchaser from or other person dealing with the Trustee, and no issuer or transfer agent of any securities to which any dealing with the Trustee shall relate, shall be under any duty to ascertain the power of the Trustee to purchase, sell, exchange, transfer, encumber or otherwise in any manner deal with any property held by the Trustee. No person dealing with the Trustee in good faith shall be under any duty to see that the terms of a trust are complied with or to inquire into the validity or propriety of any act of the Trustee.

Section H. Division and Distribution of Trust Estate

When the Trustee is required to divide or make distribution from a trust estate, in whole or in part, such division or distribution may be made by the Trustee in cash or in kind, or partly in cash and partly in kind, and the Trustee may assign or apportion to the distributees undivided interests in any assets then constituting a part of such trust estate. The Trustee may encumber property, may sell property, and may make non-pro-rata distributions when the Trustee believes it is practical or desirable and equitable to do so in order to effectuate a trust distribution regardless of the income tax basis of any asset.

If non-pro-rata distributions are to be made, the Trustee should attempt to allocate the tax basis of the assets distributed in an equitable manner among the beneficiaries of the trust, but the Trustee may at all times rely upon the written agreement of the trust beneficiaries as to the apportionment of assets. To the extent non-pro-rata distributions are made and the tax basis of the assets so distributed is not uniformly apportioned among beneficiaries, the Trustee may, but need not, make any equitable adjustments among such beneficiaries as a result of such nonuniformity in basis.

Section I. Life Insurance

The Trustee shall have the powers with regard to life insurance as set forth in this Section I, except as otherwise provided in this agreement.

The Trustee may purchase, accept, hold, and deal with as owner, policies of insurance on both Founders' individual or joint lives, the life of any trust beneficiary, or on the life of any person in whom any trust beneficiary has an insurable interest.

The Trustee shall have the power to execute or cancel any automatic premium loan agreement with respect to any policy, and shall have the power to elect or cancel any automatic premium loan provision in a life insurance policy.

The Trustee may borrow money with which to pay premiums due on any policy either from the company issuing the policy or from any other source and may assign any such policy as security for the loan.

The Trustee shall have the power to exercise any option contained in a policy with regard to any dividend or share of surplus apportioned to the policy, to reduce the amount of a policy or convert or exchange the policy, or to surrender a policy at any time for its cash value.

The Trustee may elect any paid-up insurance or any extended-term insurance nonforfeiture option contained in a policy.

The Trustee shall have the power to sell policies at their fair market value to the insured or to anyone having an insurable interest in the policies.

The Trustee shall have the right to exercise any other right, option, or benefit contained in a policy or permitted by the insurance company issuing that policy.

Upon termination of any trust created under this agreement, the Trustee shall have the power to transfer and assign the policies held by the trust as a distribution of trust property.

Section J. Insured Trustee's Authority

Any individual Trustee under this agreement, other than either Founder, is prohibited from exercising any power conferred on the owner of any policy which insures the life of such individual Trustee and which is held as part of the trust property.

If the Trustee holds any such policy or policies as a part of the trust property, the powers conferred on the owner of such a policy shall be exercised only by the other then acting Trustee.

If the insured Trustee is the only then acting Trustee, then such powers shall be exercised by a substitute Trustee designated pursuant to the provisions of this agreement dealing with the trusteeship.

If any rule of law or court decision construes the ability of the insured Trustee to name a substitute Trustee as an incident of ownership, the substitution process shall be implemented by a majority of the then current mandatory and discretionary income beneficiaries, excluding the insured Trustee if the insured Trustee is a beneficiary.

Section K. Estimated Income Tax Payment Allocation

The Trustee, in its sole discretion, may elect or not elect to treat all or any portion of federal estimated taxes paid by any trust to be treated as a payment made by any one or more beneficiaries of such trust who are entitled to receive current distributions of income or principal from such trust. The election need not be made in a pro rata manner among all beneficiaries of the trust.

If there is an individual serving as a co-trustee who is a beneficiary of a trust created by this declaration, that individual may not take part in any decision to treat any trust estimated income tax payment as a payment by such individual.

In exercising or choosing not to exercise the discretion granted in this paragraph, the Trustee shall not be liable to any beneficiary or to any other persons directly or indirectly for any action or inaction so taken except for its willful fraud or gross negligence.

Section L. Merger of Trusts

If at any time the Trustee determines it would be in the best interest of the beneficiary or beneficiaries of any trust created by this declaration to transfer or merge all of the assets held in such trust with any other trust created either by trust instrument or by will for the benefit of the same beneficiary or beneficiaries and under substantially similar trusts, terms and conditions, the Trustee under this declaration, after giving not less than thirty days advance written notice to its beneficiaries, is authorized to transfer to or merge all of the assets held under the trust created by this declaration to such other substantially similar trust, and to terminate the trust created under this declaration regardless of whether the Trustee under this declaration also is acting as the trustee of such other trust.

The Trustee under this declaration shall not be subject to liability for delegation of its duties for any such transfer to a substantially similar trust having a different person or entity serving as trustee, and shall have no further liability with respect to trust assets properly delivered to the trustee of any such other substantially similar trust. Similarly, the Trustee of any trust created by this declaration is authorized to receive from the trustee of any other substantially similar trust the assets held under such other trust.

Section M. Termination and Distribution of Small Trust

If, in the discretionary judgment of the person(s) or entity serving as Trustee, other than a surviving Founder acting as Trustee, any trust shall at any time be a size which, in the Trustee's sole judgment, shall make it inadvisable or unnecessary to continue such trust, then the Trustee may distribute the trust estate of such trust to its beneficiaries in proportion to their respective presumptive interests in such trust at the time of such termination.

If either or both of us are a beneficiary of a trust terminated pursuant to this paragraph and are surviving at the date of such termination, the Trustee (other than a surviving Founder acting as Trustee) shall distribute the assets of such terminated trust to both of us or the survivor of us. The Trustee shall not be liable either for terminating or for refusing to terminate a trust as authorized by this paragraph.

Section N. Elimination of Duty to Create Identical Trusts

If the provisions of this trust direct the Trustee to hold any portion of its trust estate at its termination as the trust estate of a new trust for the benefit of any person or persons who already are beneficiaries of an existing identical trust, that portion of the terminating trust shall be added to the existing identical trust, and no new trust shall be created.

Section O. Powers of Trustee Subsequent to an Event of Termination

The Trustee shall have a reasonable period of time after the occurrence of an event of termination in which to wind up the administration of a trust and to make a distribution of its assets. During this period of time the Trustee shall continue to have and shall exercise all powers granted herein to the Trustee or conferred upon the Trustee by law until all provisions of this declaration are fully executed.

Section P. Requesting Financial Information of Trust Beneficiaries

In exercising its discretion to make any discretionary distributions to the beneficiaries of any trust created hereunder, the Trustee is authorized to request any financial information, including prior federal income tax returns, from the respective beneficiaries that the Trustee deems necessary in order to exercise its discretion in accordance with the provisions for making such distributions under this declaration.

Section Q. Retirement Plan Elections

Except as otherwise provided in this trust declaration, the Trustee may receive or disclaim any and all proceeds from retirement plans, including, but not limited to, qualified pension, profit sharing, Keogh, individual retirement accounts, or any other form or type of plan. The Trustee may make such elections and exercise options as provided in such plan, without liability to any beneficiary for the election made or option elected. Any disclaimed proceeds or benefits shall be paid in accordance with the terms, conditions, and directives set forth in the subject plan.

Section R. Qualification as a Qualified Subchapter S Trust

If any stock of an S corporation becomes distributable to a trust created under this agreement, and such trust is not a qualified Subchapter S trust, the Trustee may implement any of the following alternatives with respect to the S corporation stock:

1. A Sole Beneficiary

Where the original trust is for a sole beneficiary, the Trustee may create for that beneficiary a separate trust that qualifies as a Subchapter S trust, and then distribute such stock to the newly created trust.

2. Multiple Beneficiaries

Where the original trust is for multiple beneficiaries, the Trustee may divide the trust into separate trusts for each of the beneficiaries. Each newly created trust shall hold that beneficiary's pro rata share of the S corporation stock, and shall qualify as a Subchapter S trust.

3. Outright Distribution

If circumstances prevent the Trustee from accomplishing the first two alternatives under this paragraph, the Trustee may, in its sole and absolute discretion, distribute such stock to the beneficiaries as if the trust had terminated, while continuing to hold any other non-S corporation property in trust.

Each newly created S corporation trust shall have mandatory distributions of income and shall not provide for powers of appointment that can be exercised by the beneficiary during the beneficiary's lifetime. In all other respects, the newly created trusts shall be as consistent as possible with the original trusts and still qualify as Subchapter S trusts.

The Trustee may take any action necessary with regard to S corporations, including making any elections required to qualify stock as S corporation stock, and may sign all required tax returns and forms.

Article XIII

Definitions

For purposes of this trust declaration, the following words and phrases shall be defined as follows:

1. Adopted and Afterborn Persons. Persons who are legally adopted while they are under 18 years of age shall be treated for all purposes under this agreement as though they were the naturally born children of their adopting parents.

A child in gestation who is later born alive shall be considered a child in being throughout the period of gestation.

2. Descendants. The term "descendants" means the lawful lineal blood descendants of the person or persons to whom reference is made. A descendant in gestation who is later born alive shall be considered a descendant in being throughout the period of gestation. An adopted person, and all persons who are the descendants by blood or by legal adoption while under the age of 18 years of such adopted person, shall be considered descendants of the adopting parents as well as the adopting parents' ancestors.

3. Education. As used in this trust, "education" shall include:

Any course of study or instruction at an accredited college or university granting undergraduate or graduate degrees.

Any course of study or instruction at any institution for specialized, vocational or professional training.

Any curriculum offered by any institution that is recognized for purposes of receiving financial assistance from any state or federal agency or program.

Any course of study or instruction which may be useful in preparing a beneficiary for any vocation consistent with the beneficiary's abilities and interests.

Distributions for education may include tuition, fees, books, supplies, living expenses, travel and spending money to the extent that they are reasonable.

4. Founders. The term "Founders" means the "grantors", "trustors", "settlor" or any other name given to the makers of this trust either by law or by popular usage.
5. Heirs at Law. Whenever a Trustee, or a legal advisor to the Trustee, is called upon to determine the heirs at law of the Founders, or any other person beneficially interested in this trust, the determination will be made to identify those individuals, other than creditors, who would receive the personal property of a decedent upon his or her death as determined in accordance with the laws of intestate succession of the State of Texas, United States of America, and further determined as if the Founders of this trust had predeceased the person or persons so named or described.
6. Incompetence or Disability. A Founder, Trustee or beneficiary will be considered "incompetent", "disabled" or "legally incapacitated" if he or she is incapacitated to an extent which makes it impossible or impractical for him or her to give prompt and intelligent consideration to their property or financial matters.

The Trustee may rely on a judicial declaration of incompetency by a court of competent jurisdiction, or the Trustee may rely upon the written opinion of two licensed physicians as to the disability of any Founder, Trustee or beneficiary and may utilize such written opinion as conclusive evidence of such incompetence or disability in any dealings with third parties.

In addition, if a guardian, conservator or other personal representative of a Founder, Trustee or beneficiary has been appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction, then such Founder, Trustee or beneficiary will be considered incompetent or disabled.

7. Minor and Adult Beneficiary. The term "minor beneficiary" identifies a beneficiary who is less than 21 years of age. The term "adult beneficiary" identifies a beneficiary who is 21 years of age or older.
8. Per Stirpes Distributions. Whenever a distribution is to be made to a person's descendants, per stirpes, the distributable assets are to be divided into as many shares as there are then living children of such person and deceased children of such person who left then living descendants. Each then living child shall receive one share and the share of each deceased child shall be divided among such child's then living descendants in the same manner.
9. Personal Representative. For the purposes of this agreement, the term "personal representative" shall include an executor, administrator, guardian, custodian, conservator, Trustee or any other form of personal representative.

10. Power of Appointment or Qualified Beneficiary Designation. Whenever this trust declaration gives a trust beneficiary the power or authority to appoint a beneficiary of the trust, the designation must be in writing and be acknowledged in the form required of acknowledgements by Texas law or exercised by a will executed with the formalities required by law of the trust beneficiary's residence.

The designation must clearly evidence the intent of the trust beneficiary to exercise a power of appointment; and, the written beneficiary designation must have been delivered to the Trustee prior to the trust beneficiary's death or, if exercised by will, must subsequently be admitted to probate no matter the time interval.

The term of this trust may be extended if the qualified beneficiary designation requires that a beneficiary's interest remain in trust, or the trust may be divided and be held as a separate trust which is governed by the terms of this trust declaration.

11. Relative or Relatives. Reference to a "relative" or "relatives" will identify any person or persons related to the Founders by blood or lawful adoption in any degree.
12. Trust. "Trust" means the trust created by this trust declaration as well as any trusts created in it.
13. Trust Fund. The terms "trust fund", "trust property" or "trust assets" mean all property comprising: the initial contribution of corpus to the trust; all property paid or transferred to, or otherwise vested in, the Trustee as additions to the corpus of this trust; accumulated income, if any, whether or not added to the corpus of this trust; and, the investments and reinvestment of the trust property, including the increase and decrease in the values thereof as determined from time to time. The terms "corpus", "principal" and "assets" are used interchangeably.
14. Trustee. All references to "Trustee" shall refer to the original Trustees, if serving in such capacity, as well as our successor Trustees who are then serving in such capacity, under this trust declaration. For convenience, the term "Trustee", used in the singular, will mean and identify multiple Trustees serving and acting pursuant to the directions of this trust declaration. The term "corporate Trustee" will identify a banking or trust corporation with trust powers.

Article XIV

Miscellaneous Matters

Section A. Distribution of Personal Belongings by Memorandum

Each of us may have certain items of tangible personal property which have been transferred to the trust or otherwise subject to the Trustee's control which we wish to give to particular individuals while we are living or at the time of our respective deaths.

The term "personal belongings" or "tangible personal property" will mean and identify personal wearing apparel, jewelry, household furnishings and equipment, books, albums, art work, entertainment and sports equipment and all items of decoration or adornment.

Each spouse may, at any time and from time to time, deliver to the Trustee written, signed and dated instructions as to any living or post-mortem gifts of his or her personal belongings and the Trustee shall be authorized and bound to make disposition of these items as a spouse has reasonably directed in any such instructions which may be in the form of a Memorandum of Distribution or a love letter from either of us to the intended recipients of such items.

If there are conflicting instructions at the time of our deaths, then the instructions bearing the latest date shall be controlling. All such instructions are hereby incorporated by reference into this declaration.

Section B. Special Bequests

Unless otherwise provided in this trust document, or in any amendment, or in a document exercising a power to appoint the beneficiaries of this trust, if property given as a special bequest or gift is subject to a mortgage or other security interest, the designated recipient of the property will take the asset subject to the obligation and the recipient's assumption of the indebtedness upon distribution of the asset to the recipient.

The obligation to be assumed shall be the principal balance of the indebtedness on the date of death, and the trust shall be entitled to reimbursement or offset for principal and interest payments paid by the trust to date of distribution.

Section C. The Rule Against Perpetuities

In no event will the term of this trust continue for a term greater than 21 years after the death of the last survivor of the Founders and all relatives of the Founders living on the effective date of this trust declaration.

Any continuation of the trust by the qualified exercise of a power of appointment will be construed as the creation of a separate trust and an extension of the rule against perpetuities to the extent permitted by law. A court of competent jurisdiction is to liberally construe and apply this provision to validate an interest consistent with the Founders' intent and may reform or construe an interest according to the doctrine of cy pres.

Section D. Jurisdiction

The jurisdiction of this trust will be the State of Texas. Any issue of law or fact pertaining to the creation, continuation, administration and termination of the trust, or any other matter incident to this trust, is to be determined with reference to the specific directions in the trust declaration and then under the laws of the State of Texas.

If an Article or Section of this trust declaration is in conflict with a prohibition of state law or federal law, the Article or Section, or the trust declaration as a whole, is to be construed in a manner which will cause it to be in compliance with state and federal law and in a manner which will result in the least amount of taxes and estate settlement costs.

Section E. Dissolution of Our Marriage

If our marriage is dissolved at any time, each spouse shall be deemed to have predeceased the other for purposes of distributions under this agreement. It is our intent that our respective property held in our trust shall not be used for the benefit of the other spouse upon the dissolution of our marriage.

Section F. Maintaining Property in Trust

If, on the termination of any separate trust created under this agreement, a final distribution is to be made to a beneficiary for whom our Trustee holds a trust created under this agreement, such distribution shall be added to such trust rather than being distributed.

The property that is added to the trust shall be treated for purposes of administration as though it had been an original part of the trust.

Section G. Survival

Except as otherwise provided in this trust declaration, for the purpose of vesting in the event two or more persons who have an interest in the trust die within a short time of one another, one must have survived the other for a period of at least 90 days as a condition to vesting.

Section H. Simultaneous Death

In the event that the Co-Founders shall die simultaneously, or if there is insufficient evidence to establish that Co-Founders died other than simultaneously, it is deemed that the spouse owning the greater share of the separate property in this trust or passing into this trust due to the death of the Co-Founders, as defined for federal estate tax purposes, shall have predeceased the other Co-Founder, notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, and the provisions of this trust shall be construed on such assumption.

Section I. Changing the Trust Situs

After the death or disability of one of us, the situs of this agreement may be changed by the unanimous consent of all of the beneficiaries then eligible to receive mandatory or discretionary distributions of net income under this agreement.

If such consent is obtained, the beneficiaries shall notify our Trustee in writing of such change of trust situs, and shall, if necessary, designate a successor corporate fiduciary in the new situs. This notice shall constitute removal of the current Trustee, if appropriate, and any successor corporate Trustee shall assume its duties as provided under this agreement.

A change in situs under this Section shall be final and binding, and shall not be subject to judicial review.

Section J. Construction

Unless the context requires otherwise, words denoting the singular may be construed as denoting the plural, and words of the plural may be construed as denoting the singular. Words of one gender may be construed as denoting another gender as is appropriate within such context.

Section K. Headings of Articles, Sections and Paragraphs

The headings of Articles, Sections and Paragraphs used within this agreement are included solely for the convenience and reference of the reader. They shall have no significance in the interpretation or construction of this agreement.

Section L. Notices

All notices required to be given in this agreement shall be made in writing by either:

Personally delivering notice to the party requiring it, and securing a written receipt, or

Mailing notice by certified United States mail, return receipt requested, to the last known address of the party requiring notice.

The effective date of the notice shall be the date of the written receipt or the date of the return receipt, if received, or if not, the date it would have normally been received via certified mail, provided there is evidence of mailing.

Section M. Delivery

For purposes of this agreement "delivery" shall mean:

Personal delivery to any party, or

Delivery by certified United States mail, return receipt requested, to the party making delivery.

The effective date of delivery shall be the date of personal delivery or the date of the return receipt, if received, or if not, the date it would have normally been received via certified mail, provided there is evidence of mailing.

Section N. Duplicate Originals

This agreement may be executed in several counterparts; each counterpart shall be considered a duplicate original agreement.

Section O. Severability

If any provision of this agreement is declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid for any reason, such invalidity shall not affect the remaining provisions of this agreement. The remaining provisions shall be fully severable, and this agreement shall be construed and enforced as if the invalid provision had never been included in this agreement.

Section P. Gender, Plural Usage

The use of personal pronouns, such as he, she or it are to be construed in context. The term "person" will include a non-person, such as a corporation, trust, partnership or other entity as is appropriate in context. The identification of person in the plural will include the singular and vice versa, as is appropriate in context.

Section Q. Special Election for Qualified Terminable Interest Property

For the purpose of identifying the "transferor" in allocating a GST exemption, the estate of a deceased spouse, or the Trustee of this trust, may elect to treat all of the property which passes in trust to a surviving spouse for which a marital deduction is allowed, by reason of Section 2056(b)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code, as if the election to be treated as qualified terminable interest property had not been made.

Reference to the "special election for qualified terminable interest property" will mean and identify the election provided by Section 2652(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The term "GST exemption" or "GST exemption amount" is the dollar amount of property which may pass as generation skipping transfer under Subtitle B, Chapter 13, of the Internal Revenue Code 1986 (entitled "Tax On Generation-Skipping Transfers") which is exempt from the generation skipping tax.

Section R. Generation Skipping Transfers

Our Trustee, in the Trustee's sole discretion, may allocate or assist either Founders' personal representatives or trustees in the allocation of any remaining portion of either Founder's GST exemptions to any property as to which such Founder is the transferor, including any property transferred by such Founder during life as to which such Founder did not make an allocation prior to his or her death and/or among any generation skipping transfers (as defined in Section 2611 of the Internal Revenue Code) resulting under this trust declaration and/or that may later occur with respect to any trust established under this trust declaration, and the Trustee shall never be liable to any person by reason of such allocation, if it is made in good faith and without gross negligence. The Trustee may, in the Trustee's sole discretion, set apart, to constitute two separate trusts, any property which would otherwise have been allocated to any trust created hereunder and which would have had an inclusion ratio, as defined in Section 2642(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code, of neither one hundred percent nor zero so that one such trust has an inclusion ratio of one hundred percent and the other such trust has an inclusion ratio of zero. If either Founder's personal representative or trustee and/or the Trustee exercises the special election provided by Section 2652(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, as to any share of either Founder's property that is to be held in trust under this trust declaration, then the Trustee is authorized, in the Trustee's sole discretion, to set apart property constituting such share in a separate trust so that its inclusion ratio of such trust is zero.

Section S. Elective Deductions

A Trustee will have the discretionary authority to claim any obligation, expense, cost or loss as a deduction against either estate tax or income tax, or to make any election provided by Texas law, the Internal Revenue Code, or other applicable law, and the Trustee's decision will be conclusive and binding upon all interested parties and shall be effective without obligation to make an equitable adjustment or apportionment between or among the beneficiaries of this trust or the estate of a deceased beneficiary.

We, ELMER H. BRUNSTING and NELVA E. BRUNSTING, attest that we execute this trust declaration and the terms thereof will bind us, our successors and assigns, our heirs and personal representatives, and any Trustee of this trust. Our Trustees

Section B. Our Successor Trustees

Each of the original Trustees will have the right to appoint their own successor or successors to serve as Trustees in the event that such original Trustee ceases to serve by reason of death, disability or for any reason, and may specify any conditions upon succession and service as may be permitted by law. Such appointment, together with any specified conditions, must be in writing.

If an original Trustee does not appoint a successor, the remaining original Trustee or Trustees then serving will continue to serve alone.

If both of the original Trustees fail or cease to serve by reason of death, disability or for any reason without having appointed a successor or successors, then the following individuals or entities will serve as Co-Trustees:

CARL HENRY BRUNSTING and CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS

CARL HENRY BRUNSTING and CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS shall each have the authority to appoint his or her own successor Trustee by appointment in writing.

If a successor Co-Trustee should fail or cease to serve by reason of death, disability or for any other reason, then the remaining successor Co-Trustee shall serve alone. However, if neither successor Co-Trustee is able or willing to serve, then THE FROST NATIONAL BANK shall serve as sole successor Trustee.

Successor Trustees will have the authority vested in the original Trustees under this trust document, subject to any lawful limitations or qualifications upon the service of a successor imposed by any Trustee in a written document appointing a successor.

A successor Trustee will not be obliged to examine the records, accounts and acts of the previous Trustee or Trustees, nor will a successor Trustee in any way or manner be responsible for any act or omission to act on the part of any previous Trustee.

PLAINTIFF’S FIRST AMENDED PETITION

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

COMES NOW Plaintiff, Carl Henry Brunsting, Independent Executor of the estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Nelva E. Brunsting and files this First Amended Petition against Defendants, Candace L. Kunz-Freed, Individually (“Freed”) and Vacek & Freed, PLLC f/k/a The Vacek Law Firm, PLLC (the “Law Firm”) (collectively, the “Defendants”), and in support thereof would show the Court the following:

I.

DISCOVERY CONTROL PLAN

1. Plaintiff intends to conduct discovery under Level 2 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

II. PARTIES

2. Plaintiff is the duly appointed personal representative of the estates of both his father, Elmer H. Brunsting (“Elmer”),¹ and his mother, Nelva E. Brunsting (“Nelva”).²

3. Defendant Freed is an attorney licensed to practice law in the State of Texas who can be served at her principal place of business, 11777 Katy Freeway, Suite 300, Houston, Texas 77079.

4. Defendant Law Firm is a professional limited liability company formed under the laws of the State of Texas for the practice of law which can be served through its registered agent, Albert E. Vacek, Jr., at 11777 Katy Freeway, Suite 300, Houston, Texas 77079. Defendant Law Firm is believed to be the successor to the Law Offices of Albert E. Vacek, Jr., P.C.

5. Other parties and entities involved in the facts relevant to this petition but who are not named as defendants herein include the following:

- a. The Brunsting Family Living Trust was created in 1996 by Elmer and Nelva based on the advice of the Law Firm. The trust instrument was prepared by the Law Firm. The Brunsting Family Living Trust, any amendments thereto, and the trusts created pursuant to its terms are collectively referred to herein as the “Family Trust”. Plaintiff was to be the successor trustee of the Family Trust until that was changed through documents prepared by the Defendants at a time when it is believed Nelva was either misled about what she was signing, unduly influenced to sign it, or did not have the capacity to sign it.
- b. Anita Kay Brunsting f/k/a/ Anita Kay Riley (“Anita”) is Plaintiff’s sister. Anita became trustee of the Family Trust through documents prepared by Defendants at a time when it is believed Nelva was either misled about what she was signing, unduly influenced to sign it, or did not have the capacity to sign it. During that same period, Anita was named to act on Nelva’s behalf in a power of attorney prepared by Defendants.
- c. Amy Ruth Brunsting f/k/a/ Amy Ruth Tschirhart (“Amy”) is Plaintiff’s sister. Amy became trustee of the Family Trust through documents prepared by ¹Elmer died on April 1, 2009. Plaintiff qualified as Independent Executor of his estate on August 28, 2012.

²Nelva died on November 11, 2011. Plaintiff qualified as Independent Executor of her estate on August 28, 2012.

Defendants at a time when it is believed Nelva was either misled about what she was signing, unduly influenced to sign it, or did not have the capacity to sign it (Anita and Amy in their capacity as trustees of the Family Trust are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the “Current Trustees”).

- d. Carole Ann Brunsting (“Carole”) is Plaintiff’s sister, the party named in Nelva’s health care power of attorney prepared by Defendants, and the party made a joint signatory on a bank account which received significant transfers from the Family Trust after Anita became trustee of the Family Trust. According to Carole, that arrangement was Freed’s idea.
- e. Candace Louise Curtis (“Candy”) is Plaintiff’s sister. Candy and Carl were the only beneficiaries of the Family Trust whose rights were diminished by the changes implemented by the Defendants at a time when it is believed Nelva was either misled about what she was signing, unduly influenced to sign it, or did not have the capacity to sign it.

III. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6. This Court has jurisdiction and venue over this case because all of the Defendants maintain their principal places of business in Harris County, Texas, and the acts and omissions giving rise to Plaintiff’s claims occurred in Harris County, Texas. The damages being sought by Plaintiff exceed the minimum jurisdictional limits of the court.

7. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code §15.002(a)(1), and (3) because all of the Defendants have their principal office in Harris County, Texas; Elmer and Nelva resided in Harris County, Texas; and all, or substantially all, of the acts and omissions giving rise to Plaintiff’s claims occurred in Harris County, Texas.

IV. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

8. This is a case involving Defendants’ negligence, breach of fiduciary duty and other acts or omissions in their representation of Elmer and Nelva, both individually and in their capacities as trustees of the Family Trust. Defendants’ actions constitute negligent misrepresentation, negligence per se, deceptive trade practices, conversion, fraud, commercial bribery, breaches of their fiduciary duties, as well as aiding and abetting, assisting and encouraging repeated breaches of fiduciary duty. Alternatively, a conspiracy existed between Defendants, and the Current Trustees for that unlawful purpose.

9. The Defendants assisted the Current Trustees in implementing a scheme to change the terms of the Family Trust, to ultimately remove Nelva from her position as trustee of the Family Trust, and to improperly remove assets from Elmer and Nelva's estates and from the Family Trust. Because of the actions of the Defendants, the Current Trustees were able to alter Elmer and Nelva's wishes, resulting in the improper transfer of assets to Anita, Amy, and Carole, all to Plaintiff's detriment.

10. Despite the Law Firm's representations to Elmer and Nelva that the Family Trust would preserve their plans for their estate, Defendants took direction from the Current Trustees, while representing Nelva, with the result being just the opposite. It is believed that Defendants not only failed to inform Nelva that they had established a relationship with the Current Trustees which put them in a conflict of interest with regard to their representation of Nelva's interests but that Defendants actually ignored that conflict of interest and their obligations to Nelva and assisted the Current Trustees in changing the terms of the Family Trust in ways which it is believed that Nelva did not have capacity to change and/or did not understand or want. Defendants also took steps to undermine and even remove Nelva's control of her own assets, of the assets of Elmer's estate, and of the Family Trust assets, thereby placing those assets at risk of loss to Anita, Amy, and Carole and facilitating the loss which actually occurred.

11. Moreover, it is believed that Defendants assisted the Current Trustees in various ways intended to prevent Nelva from even understanding that documents were being prepared by Defendants at the Current Trustee's request, why those documents were being prepared, and what the impact of the documents would be. It is believed that in assisting the Current Trustees in obtaining their improper objectives, Defendants, among other things:

- a. failed to address Nelva's lack of capacity to make changes to the Family Trust and her power of attorney,
- b. failed to address the undue influence being exercised over Nelva by the Current Trustees,
- c. planned for and prepared documents without explaining the impact of those documents to Nelva and without obtaining reasonable input directly from Nelva,
- d. instead discussed changes to the terms of the Family Trust, and ultimately changes to Nelva's control over the Family Trust with the Current Trustees, with some, but not all, of Nelva's children, and to the exclusion of Nelva,
- e. facilitated signatures by Nelva in circumstances which allowed there to be confusion about what was being signed and which failed to insure that Nelva signed documents with consent, with proper capacity, and with knowledge and understanding of what she was signing,
- f. failed to properly advise Elmer and Nelva on the terms of the Family Trust and the proper administration of the Family Trust,
- g. failed to insure that documents being prepared and arrangements being made in cooperation with the Current Trustees were not being used to improperly remove assets to the improper benefit of Anita, Amy, and Carole,
- h. failed to protect Nelva's rights, both individually and as trustee of the Family Trust,
- i. preferred the rights of the Current Trustees to those of Nelva and it is believed even suggested methods of undermining Nelva's rights and wishes to the Current Trustees so as to accomplish the objectives of the Current Trustees,
- j. failed to refuse the representation of the Current Trustees so as to prevent a conflict of interest and failed to advise Nelva that Defendants' role in advising the Current Trustees was in direct conflict with Defendants' role as Nelva's counsel,
- k. failed to take steps to inform Nelva of the objectives of the Current Trustees or to otherwise prevent those objectives,

- l. failed to take steps to prevent the Current Trustees and Carole from converting assets belonging to Nelva, Elmer's estate, or the Family Trust, and even facilitated the conversion of assets, and
- m. failed to require the Current Trustees to administer the Family Trust properly, in keeping with the terms of the Family Trust, and in the best interests of the beneficiaries, including Nelva.

12. Defendants' knowledge of the Nelva's lack of consent to the actions taken by Defendants is evident from, among other things, the apparent existence of documents which were not signed in Freed's presence but were made to appear as if they were, Nelva's refusal to sign documents prepared at the request of the Current Trustees, and Defendants' involvement in arranging and participating in discussions behind Nelva's back.

13. With Defendants' assistance, Nelva's power of attorney was changed, the terms of the Family Trust were changed, Nelva was ultimately removed as trustee of the Family Trust, and the Current Trustees and Carole improperly obtained control of assets belonging to Nelva, Elmer's estate, and the Family Trust of which Nelva was still a beneficiary. Thereafter, the Current Trustees and Carole were in a position to take those assets for their own benefit, and they did so, either in the form of alleged but improper expenses, improper trustee fees, other improper payments for their benefit, and unexplained and improper transfers. Once Nelva was removed as trustee of the Family Trust, the Defendants continued to claim to be representing the Current Trustees but failed to insure that the Family Trust was properly administered and that the assets of the Family Trust were properly preserved for the benefit of the beneficiaries, including Nelva.

V. ATTORNEY-CLIENT RELATIONSHIP

14. At all times material hereto, Freed was a partner, shareholder, representative, agent and/or associate attorney engaged in the practice of law at the Law Firm. All of the specific acts complained of herein are attributable to Freed's conduct while associated with the Law Firm as a partner, agent, servant, representative and/or employee. Freed's liability and responsibility is vicarious and joint and several. Plaintiff further pleads the legal theory of respondeat superior as between Freed and the Law Firm.

15. Also, at all times material hereto, the Law Firm, whether acting directly, or indirectly or vicariously through its partners, agents, servants, representatives and/or employees, acted as legal counsel for Elmer and Nelva, both individually and as trustees of the Family Trust. Therefore, as the Law Firm's clients, Elmer and Nelva were entitled to absolute fidelity from all of the Defendants because of the fiduciary duty owed to them by Defendants. Plaintiff, as the personal representative of Elmer and Nelva's estates, is the successor to Elmer and Nelva's rights for purposes of establishing privity with Defendants.

VI. CAUSES OF ACTION

A. Negligence

16. Defendants' actions as described herein constitute negligence. Of course, nothing Elmer or Nelva did, or failed to do, caused or in any way contributed to cause the occurrences that resulted in the losses and damages complained about herein. To the extent Defendants did not properly, adequately, and/or timely understand the terms of the Family Trust or other documents Defendants themselves prepared or to the extent Defendants failed to apply the applicable Texas law as it related to their representation of and responsibilities to Elmer and Nelva, Defendants' acts or omissions set out herein constitute violations of the applicable standard of care for reasonably prudent and competent attorneys practicing law in Texas.

17. But for Defendants' actions as set forth herein, the damages complained of herein would not have been suffered. Thus, Defendants' conduct was a proximate and/or producing cause of losses and damages suffered by Plaintiff. Those damages exceed the jurisdictional limits of this court.

B. Negligence Per Se – Violation of Texas Penal Code § 32.43; Commercial Bribery

18. Additionally, without waiving any of the foregoing, Defendants' acts are a violation of Penal Code Section 32.43. Specifically, that statute, in pertinent part, states:

- (b) A person who is a fiduciary commits an offense if, without the consent of his beneficiary, intentionally or knowingly solicits, accepts or agrees to accept any benefit from another person on agreement or understanding that the benefit will influence the conduct of the fiduciary in relation to the affairs of his beneficiary.
- (c) A person commits an offense if he offers, confers, or agrees to confer any benefit, the acceptance of which is an offense under Subsection (b).

19. Defendants' actions fall squarely within the statutory definition of commercial bribery set forth above. Defendants, while aware of their fiduciary duties to Nelva and with knowledge of applicable Texas law, violated subsection (b) above by accepting and/or agreeing to accept payments from the Current Trustees for changes made which directly impacted Nelva's rights, and by agreeing to continue to represent the Current Trustees after facilitating Nelva's removal as trustee of the Family Trust. This violation of this section of the Penal Code forms an additional basis for Plaintiff's assertion that such acts constitute negligence per se.

C. Negligence Per Se – Violation of Texas Penal Code §7.02(a)(2) & (3); Criminal Responsibility for Conduct of Another

20. The Current Trustees also violated Section 32.45 of the Texas Penal Code (misapplication of Fiduciary Property). Pursuant to section 32.45, a violation occurs when a trustee intentionally, knowingly or recklessly misapplies property he holds as a fiduciary in a manner that involves substantial risk of loss to the owner of the property or to a person for whose benefit the Nelva. Those representations supplied false information for Elmer and Nelva's guidance. Defendants did not exercise reasonable care or competence in making the representations or in obtaining or communicating information described herein. Elmer and Nelva had no choice but to rely on the representations to their detriment, and Elmer and Nelva were in the identifiable class of people who would be expected to rely on such representations.

25. Specifically, Defendants represented, among other things, that Elmer and Nelva's plan for their estate would be protected, and Defendants negligently failed to disclose to Nelva that the Current Trustees were changing that plan in ways Nelva did not know, understand, or approve. Defendants also failed to disclose to Nelva that Defendants were representing the interests of the Current Trustees, rather than Nelva's interests. The circumstances described herein indicate Defendants knew their representations were false and that there were failures to properly disclose relevant information to Nelva. Representations to Elmer and Nelva to the contrary and the lack of disclosure to Nelva amount to misrepresentations of facts and law material to Defendants' representation of Elmer and Nelva.

26. But for Defendants' actions, the damages sought herein would not have been sustained. Those damages are in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court.

E. Breach of Fiduciary Duty

27. Defendants, acting for the benefit of Elmer and Nelva, owed them duties to act with loyalty and utmost good faith, to act with perfect candor, to act with integrity of the strictest kind, to be fair and honest in dealing with them, to provide full disclosure to them of all circumstances concerning their representation of Elmer and Nelva's interests, and to act without concealment or deception—no matter how slight. Defendants breached these duties owed to Elmer and Nelva through, among other things, the actions described herein. Instead of protecting or benefitting their original property is held. The Current Trustees' actions involved substantial risk of loss for Nelva and the Family Trust, and ultimately that risk became reality.

21. Defendants' actions violate Section 7.02(a)(2) & (3) of the Texas Penal Code in that they acted with the intent to assist the commission of the Current Trustees' violation of Section 32.45 of the Texas Penal Code and aided or attempted to aid in the Current Trustees' violation of that section. Additionally, the Defendants, having a legal duty to prevent the Current Trustees from violating Section 32.45 of the Texas Penal Code, acted instead with the intent to assist the Current Trustees in violating Section 32.45 of the Texas Penal Code and failed to make a reasonable effort to prevent the commission of the offense.

22. These statutes are designed to protect a class of persons to which Nelva, the Family Trust, and its beneficiaries, including Nelva, belong against the type of injury suffered. The language of the statutes set out a clear prohibition from dealing inappropriately with property held by a fiduciary or assisting another in doing so. The Defendants did just that in assisting or allowing the Current Trustees to improperly obtain control of and misuse assets owned by Nelva or the Family Trust. As a result, the statutes are of the type that impose tort liability because they codify the duties owed by parties such as Defendants when dealing with fiduciaries and fiduciaries' obligations.

23. The Defendants' violation of these statutes was without legal excuse as all attorneys are charged with knowledge of the law. The Defendants' breach of the duty imposed by these statutes proximately caused injury to Plaintiff because it resulted in the depletion of Nelva's assets or of the Family Trusts' assets. This conduct also amounts to negligence per se.

D. Negligent Misrepresentation

24. In the alternative and without waiving any of the foregoing, Defendants are liable for damages based on negligent misrepresentation. Defendants made representations to Elmer and clients, Defendants took on the representation of the Current Trustees and made it possible for the Current Trustees to enrich themselves and Carole at Nelva's expense. In doing so, Defendants benefitted by being compensated for their actions and by taking up the representation of the Current Trustees which apparently continues to this day. Thus, both Defendants' interests and the interests of Defendants' new clients, the Current Trustees, were placed above Nelva's interests, resulting in a breach of Defendants' fiduciary duties.

F. Aiding & Abetting Current Trustees' Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

28. Alternatively, and without waiving any of the foregoing, Defendants are liable under all three doctrines of aiding and abetting a breach of fiduciary duty and the Current Trustees' violation of certain Penal Code statutes described herein by: (1) assisting and encouraging; (2) assisting and participating; and (3) concert of action. The Current Trustees and Anita acting under Nelva's power of attorney were the primary actors who committed torts and crimes which amount to breaches of fiduciary duties as described herein. Defendants had knowledge of the Current Trustees' tortious/criminal conduct and had the intent to assist them in committing those acts.

29. The Current Trustees' acts and omissions constitute breaches of fiduciary duty. A fiduciary relationship existed between the Current Trustees and the Family Trust and its beneficiaries, including Nelva. An additional fiduciary relationship was also created because of Anita's appointment in the power of attorney also prepared by Defendants for execution by Nelva. The Current Trustees, and Anita acting under Nelva's power of attorney, breached their fiduciary duties through, among other things, acts of self-dealing; concealing material facts about their disbursement of assets belonging to Nelva, Elmer's estate, and/or the Family Trust; and making unauthorized disbursements of such assets to or for the benefit of themselves and their children, to Carole, and to Defendants, all to Plaintiff's financial detriment. Defendants assisted and/or participated in those breaches of fiduciary duty.

a. Assisting & Encouraging

30. Defendants gave the primary actors assistance and encouragement in committing the torts by, among other things, drafting the instruments which gave the Current Trustees and Anita control of the assets, drafting instruments which were used to improperly transfer those assets, assisting in obtaining Nelva's signature on documents and/or notarizing such documents, and advising the Current Trustees about such actions. This assistance and encouragement was a substantial factor in causing the breach of fiduciary duty because Defendants' voluntary assistance provided the very apparatus that allowed the Current Trustees and Anita to take unfair advantage of Nelva, Elmer's Estate, the Family Trust, and its beneficiaries, including Nelva.

b. Assisting & Participating

31. Defendants' actions alleged herein also constitute aiding and abetting the Current Trustees' and Anita's breaches of fiduciary duties by assisting and participating in those breach of trust and fiduciary duties. Defendants substantially assisted the Current Trustees and Anita in their actions to take control from Nelva and to then improperly disburse the assets over which the Current Trustees and Anita had assumed control from Nelva. Defendants' assistance and participation, separate from the Current Trustees' acts, breached Defendants' duties to Nelva. Defendants, by virtue of their purported representation of the Current Trustees and the other actions described herein, violated their duties as Nelva's legal counsel.

c. Concert of Action

32. Defendants are also liable for aiding and abetting the Current Trustees' and Anita's tortious conduct by their concert of action. Defendants' actions in helping the Current Trustees and Anita obtain control was not only likely to cause damage, it did cause damage by resulting in changes to the terms of the Family Trust and Nelva's power of attorney without Nelva's effective consent and, thereafter, resulting in improper disbursements to or for the benefit of Amy, Anita, and Carole. Defendants' actions in assuming the Current Trustees' representation when it was in conflict with Nelva's representation was intentional and/or grossly negligent. Defendants' own acts, along with the Current Trustees' and Anita's acts, caused the damages sustained by Plaintiff which are in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court.

G. Fraud

33. In the alternative and without waiving any of the foregoing, Plaintiff will show that Defendants' acts and omissions constituted fraud in that Defendants made material misrepresentations or omissions which included, among others, that Elmer and Nelva's plan for their estate would be protected, as well as Defendants' failure to disclose to Nelva that the Current Trustees were changing that plan in ways Nelva did not know, understand, or approve. Defendants also failed to disclose to Nelva that Defendants were representing the interests of the Current Trustees, rather than Nelva's interests. The circumstances described herein indicate Defendants knew that the representations were false and that there were failures to properly disclose relevant information to Nelva. Representations to Elmer and Nelva to the contrary and the lack of disclosure to Nelva amount to misrepresentation of facts and law material to Defendants' representation of Elmer and Nelva. Defendants either made those misrepresentations or omissions with knowledge of their falsity or made them recklessly without any knowledge of the truth and as a positive assertion. The misrepresentations and omissions were made with the intention that they should be acted on by Elmer and Nelva, and, indeed, Elmer and Nelva were compelled to rely on the misrepresentations or omissions. As a result, Elmer and Nelva suffered damages in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court.

34. All of the foregoing acts or failures to disclose were a proximate cause of Plaintiff's damages which are in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court.

H. Conversion

35. Defendants' actions constitute conversion of assets to which Elmer's estate and Nelva had a superior legal right. Those actions are the proximate cause of the damages specified herein which are in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court.

I. Conspiracy

36. Defendants' actions further constitute conspiracy to commit fraud and/or breach of fiduciary duty. Defendants and the Current Trustees were a combination of two or more persons. The object of the combination was to accomplish an unlawful purpose. Specifically, the object of the combination was to commit the breaches of fiduciary duty described herein.

37. The Current Trustees, Anita, and the Defendants had a meeting of the minds and had knowledge of the object and purpose of the conspiracy. The Current Trustees and Anita committed unlawful, overt acts to further the conspiracy by breaching their fiduciary obligations to Nelva, the Family Trust, and the beneficiaries of the Family Trust, including Nelva. Defendants committed overt acts to further the conspiracy by taking the improper actions they took to place the Current Trustees and Anita in a position of control and then to assist in the improper transfer of assets to or for the benefit of Amy, Anita, and Carole. As a proximate result of the wrongful acts underlying the conspiracy, Plaintiff suffered damages in excess of the jurisdictional limits of this court.

J. Deceptive Trade Practices

38. Defendants are liable under the Texas Deceptive Trade and Practices Act (hereinafter “DTPA”) because (i) Elmer and Nelva were consumers, (ii) Defendants violated specific provisions of the DTPA, and (iii) the violations were a producing cause of Plaintiff’s damages.

39. An express misrepresentation constitutes an unconscionable action or course of action that cannot be characterized as advice, judgment, or opinion, and thus violates Section 17.49(c)(3) of the DTPA. Defendants violated the DTPA by the actions described herein while accepting representation of and payment from Elmer and Nelva and thereafter facilitating the Current Trustees’ improper actions.

40. Defendants’ knowledge of the language of the Family Trusts, Elmer and Nelva’s wishes, and Nelva’s lack of understanding or consent to the changes sought by the Current Trustees, shows that Defendants’ conduct, described herein, was committed knowingly and intentionally as those terms are defined by TEX. BUS. & COM. CODE ANN. Section 17.46 et seq. Accordingly, Defendants are liable to Plaintiff for additional damages as provided by the DTPA, including treble damages and reasonable attorney’s fees necessary to bring this cause of action, all of which are being sought herein.

VII. TOLLING, FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT, AND DISCOVERY RULE

41. Plaintiff would show that suit has been brought within the applicable statutory limitations periods. Such cause of action does not accrue until such time as there has been a legal injury and Plaintiff has brought suit within the applicable limitations of the time that Plaintiff suffered a legal injury, as that term is described in law.

42. Because Defendants fraudulently concealed information related to their involvement as described herein and/or failed to disclose same to Elmer, Nelva, or Plaintiff, this action has been brought within the applicable period of limitations based upon when the injured parties learned, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence, could have learned of the actions.

43. To the extent any party pleads the statute of limitations as a defense, Plaintiff hereby asserts the discovery rule and would show that suit was filed within two years of Plaintiff's knowledge of such facts as would lead a reasonably prudent person to discover the Defendants' wrongful acts.

44. Further, Elmer's and Nelva's deaths resulted in a tolling of the statute of limitations, pursuant to Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code §16.062.

VIII. DAMAGES

A. Actual Damages

45. Regarding the causes of action and conduct alleged above, Plaintiff has sustained actual losses which were proximately caused by the joint conduct of Defendants. Plaintiff's damages exceed the minimum jurisdictional limits of this court. After completion of discovery, Plaintiff will amend the pleadings in order to indicate more specifically the type and amount of damages suffered.

B. Forfeiture of Fees

46. Defendants' breaches of fiduciary duty and violations of the Texas Penal Code legally deprive them of any right to a fee. Nonetheless, Defendants received fees for their services. Therefore, as additional damages, Plaintiff is entitled to a return of all fees actually collected by Defendants in their representation of Elmer, Nelva, or the Family Trust.

C. Treble Damages

47. As previously stated herein, Plaintiff seeks a money judgment as allowed by the DTPA, including treble damages.

D. Punitive Damages

48. Plaintiff seeks to recover punitive damages from Defendants, taking into consideration the nature of the wrong, the character of the conduct involved, the degree of Defendants' culpability, the situation and sensibilities of the parties concerned, the extent to which such conduct offends a public sense of justice and propriety, and Defendants' net worth. Additionally, Plaintiff will also show by clear and convincing evidence that Defendants acted with malice because their acts and omissions were either with a specific intent to substantially cause damage to Elmer and Nelva, or, when viewed objectively from the standpoint of Defendants at the time of the occurrences in question, involved an extreme degree of risk, considering the probability and magnitude of harm to Elmer and Nelva. Defendants had actual, subjective awareness of the risk involved, but nevertheless proceeded with conscious indifference to the rights, safety, or welfare of Elmer and Nelva. Thus, Plaintiff requests that the fact finder determine an appropriate punitive damages award.

E. Attorney's Fees

49. Because of Defendants' violation of the DTPA, the Trusts are entitled to reasonable attorney's fees necessary to prosecute this action. A reasonable attorney's fee recovery, including appellate fees, should be assessed against the Defendants. Plaintiff is also entitled to recover attorney's fees against Defendants pursuant to Tex. Prop. Code Ann. §114.064.

IX. INTEREST AND CONDITIONS

50. Plaintiff is entitled to prejudgment interest.

51. All conditions precedent to Plaintiff's right to recover have been performed or have occurred. The 60 day pre-suit notice normally required by Tex. Bus. & Comm. Code §17.505(a) is not required because it is impracticable in light of the potential argument that certain limitations periods are nearing expiration.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that Defendants be cited to appear and answer herein and that, after a trial on the merits, the Court grant the relief sought herein and award such other and further relief, both legal and equitable, to which Plaintiff is entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

PETITION FOR DECLARATORY JUDGMENT, FOR AN ACCOUNTING,

 INJUNCTIVE RELIEF, TOGETHER WITH REQUEST FOR DISCLOSURES

APR 10 2013 ka

04102013:0818:10049

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

COMES NOW Plaintiff, CARL HENRY BRUNSTING, individually and as Independent Executor of the estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Nelva E. Brunsting, filing his Petition for Declaratory Judgment, for Accounting, for Damages, for Imposition of a Constructive Trust, and for Injunctive Relief, together with Request for Disclosures, and in support thereof would show the Court as follows:

I.

Discovery Control Plan

1. Plaintiff intends to conduct discovery under Level 2 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure.

II.

Parties

2. Plaintiff is the duly appointed personal representative of the estates of both his father, Elmer H. Brunsting (“Elmer”),¹ and his mother, Nelva E. Brunsting (“Nelva”).² These estates are collectively referred to herein as the “Estates.” In his individual capacity, Plaintiff is referred to herein as “Carl.” Carl was previously a successor trustee of the Brunsting Family Living Trust created on October 10, 1996 and restated on January 12, 2005 (the “Family Trust”). Carl is a beneficiary of the Family Trust and the other trusts created by its terms. Elmer was a trustee and a beneficiary of the Family Trust, and Nelva was also a trustee and beneficiary of the Family Trust and its successor trusts. The successor trusts of the Family Trust resulted pursuant to the terms of the ¹Elmer died on April 1, 2009. Plaintiff qualified as Independent Executor of his estate on August 28, 2012.

²Nelva died on November 11, 2011. Plaintiff qualified as Independent Executor of her estate on August 28, 2012.

04102013:0818:P0050

Family Trust upon Elmer's death. Those successor trusts are the Elmer H. Brunsting Decedent's Trust ("Elmer's Decedent's Trust") and the Nelva E. Brunsting Survivor's Trust ("Nelva's Survivor's Trust"). Those are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the "Successor Trusts." Carl is also the beneficiary, but not the trustee, of the Carl Henry Brunsting Personal Asset Trust ("Carl's Trust") which was created pursuant to the terms of the Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment signed on 8/25/10 (the "8/25/10 QBD"). As will be further discussed herein, Plaintiff believes the 8/25/10 QBD was the result of undue influence, was done when Nelva lacked capacity and/or was created by deception so that Nelva did not understand or consent to the document. In fact, it is far from clear what documents Nelva even signed or knew existed.

3. Defendant Anita Kay Brunsting f/k/a/ Anita Kay Riley is Carl's sister. It is believed that Anita's counsel will accept service, but, if not, Anita can be served with process at her home at 203 Bloomingdale Circle, Victoria, Victoria County, Texas 77904. In her individual capacity and when acting pursuant to the power of attorney purportedly executed by Nelva on August 25, 2010 ("8/25/10 POA"), this Defendant will be referred to herein as "Anita." Anita was named as a successor trustee under the terms of the tainted 8/25/10 QBD. Pursuant to the terms of that document, upon Nelva's death, Anita was to become co-trustee of the Family Trust and the Successor Trusts. On December 21, 2010, however, Nelva purportedly signed a resignation of her position as trustee and appointed Anita to be her successor even before her death. From that point until her mother's death on November 11, 2011, Anita acted as the sole trustee of the Family Trust and the Successor Trusts. As will be discussed herein, Plaintiff believes Anita convinced Nelva to resign from her trustee position and to appoint Anita as her replacement through improper means and for improper purposes. The terms of the tainted 8/25/10 QBD made Anita co-trustee of Carl's Trust.

Anita is also beneficiary and trustee of the Anita Kay Brunsting Personal Asset Trust (“Anita’s Trust”).

4. Defendant Amy Ruth Brunsting f/k/a/ Amy Ruth Tschirhart (“Amy”) is Carl’s sister.

It is believed that Amy’s counsel will accept service, but, if not, Amy can be served with process at her home at 2582 Country Ledge, New Braunfels, Comal County, Texas 78132. Pursuant to the terms of the tainted 8/25/10 QBD, Amy became a co-trustee of the Family Trust and the Successor Trusts upon Nelva’s death. Anita and Amy in their capacity as trustees of the Family Trusts and the Successor Trusts are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the “Current Trustees”. Amy is also the beneficiary and the trustee of the Amy Ruth Brunsting Personal Asset Trust (“Amy’s Trust”). The terms of the tainted 8/25/10 QBD also made Amy co-trustee of Carl’s Trust.

5. Defendant Carole Ann Brunsting (“Carole”) is Carl’s sister. Carole may be served with process either at her home at 5822 Jason St., Houston, Harris County, Texas 77074 or at her place of employment at Cameron’s offices at 1333 West Loop South, Suite 1700, Houston, Texas 77027. Carole was named in Nelva’s health care power of attorney and was made a joint signatory on Nelva’s bank account when Anita took over as trustee. Carole is also the beneficiary and trustee of the Carole Ann Brunsting Personal Asset Trust (“Carole’s Trust”).

6. Candace Louise Curtis (“Candy”) is Carl’s sister. Candy is named in this action only because these claims impact her rights as a beneficiary of various trusts. Plaintiff does not seek to recover any damages from Candy, and it is anticipated that Candy will waive service of process. Candy and Carl were the only Brunsting siblings whose right to be trustees of their own trusts after Nelva died were extinguished by the changes implemented in the tainted 8/25/10 QBD. Candy is the beneficiary of the Candace Louise Curtis Personal Asset Trust (“Candy’s Trust”) of which Anita and Amy are the co-trustees.

III.

Jurisdiction

7. Plaintiff brings this cause of action pursuant to Chapters 37 of the Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code and Chapter 115 of the Texas Property Code. More specifically, Plaintiff brings this proceeding to:

- (a) establish, construe the terms of, and determine the rights and liabilities of the parties under the Family Trust, the Successor Trusts, and the trusts purportedly created pursuant to the terms of the tainted 8/25/10 QBD;
- (b) require an accounting of all the trusts and other transactions resulting from Anita, Amy, and Carole's exercise of control over Elmer and Nelva's remaining assets, however held;
- (c) determine damages resulting from Anita, Amy, and Carole's wrongful acts, including, but not limited to, numerous breaches of fiduciary duties;
- (d) impose a constructive trust over assets wrongfully transferred, as well as anything of value obtained through the use of assets wrongfully transferred;
- (e) obtain injunctive relief to preserve Elmer and Nelva's assets, however held, until the records concerning the transfers of assets can be examined and appropriate remedies can be sought so that the improper transfers can be reversed and the assets can be properly allocated and distributed.

Venue

8. Venue in this cause is in Harris County, Texas, pursuant to Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code §15.002(a)(1) because all, or substantially all, of the acts giving rise to Plaintiff's claims occurred in Harris County, Texas.

V.

Background Facts

9. On October 10, 1996, Elmer and Nelva established the Family Trust. The Family Trust was restated on January 12, 2005. The Family Trust was initially revocable, but only until the death of either Elmer or Nelva. Thus, when Elmer died on April 1, 2009, the Family Trust became irrevocable. At that point, the Family Trust's assets were to be divided between Elmer's Decedent's Trust and Nelva's Survivor's Trust pursuant to Article VII of the Family Trust.

10. At some point, Anita and Amy implemented a plan to take over their parents' remaining assets and divide the spoils. That plan was made feasible when Carl became seriously ill with encephalitis in July, 2010. Carl had been an obstacle to Anita and Amy's plans, so they seized the opportunity to become even more aggressive in controlling their mother's actions. Carole's initial resistance to Anita and Amy's scheme was apparently eliminated through transfers of assets to which she was not entitled.

11. Anita and Amy carried out their plan of replacing their mother's wishes with their own with the help of Nelva's own legal counsel. The result was the tainted 8/25/10 QBD. Through bullying and deception, that document was executed without regard to Nelva's capacity and notwithstanding Nelva's apparent lack of understanding, knowledge, or consent to what was occurring. The 8/25/10 QBD removed Carl from his successor trustee roles. At that time all prior powers of attorney were revoked and replaced with one giving Anita control of her mother's affairs. During the same period, Nelva's safe deposit box to which Carl had access was closed and a new one opened giving Anita access instead. Anita and Amy apparently determined which documents would be prepared, regardless of whether Nelva agreed with or even knew what they were doing. The only document which Anita and Amy wanted but seem to have been unsuccessful in implementing was a document intended to exclude Carl's daughter and granddaughter from inheriting through Nelva.

12. Perhaps because it became too difficult to even pretend to be obtaining Nelva's signature on documents needed to take all the steps Defendants wanted to take, or because Anita, Amy, and Carole did not want to wait for Nelva's death to begin using her assets for their own purposes, other steps were taken to obtain complete control of Nelva's assets, however held. Anita and Amy's continued efforts resulted in Nelva's purported resignation as trustee and purported appointment of Anita as substitute trustee of the Family Trust and the Successor Trusts on December 21, 2010. Thereafter, Anita used her position as trustee to repeatedly transfer assets for her own benefit and that of her children, for Amy's benefit and the benefit of Amy's children, and for Carole's benefit. Anita disregarded the terms of the Family Trust as she saw fit. For example, Anita began paying herself an exorbitant trustee's fee. Anita also began paying her own credit card bills, as well as other personal expenses, such as payments for her children's automobiles and educational expenses, from the Family Trust and Successor Trusts' accounts.

13. On December 31, 2010, an account was established, allegedly for Nelva's benefit to be used on day to day expenses but on which Carole was a signatory. Over the next year, more than $150,000 was transferred from trust accounts by Anita and spent by Carole on what appears to be predominantly items for Carole's own benefit. At the same time, Anita was draining the other accounts owned by Elmer's estate, Nelva, or the Successor Trusts, at least in part for her own purposes and/or other improper purposes.

14. On March 24, 2011, Anita divided the more than 4,000 shares of Exxon Mobile stock purportedly owned by the Family Trust between Elmer's Decedent's Trust and Nelva's Survivor's Trust. Then on May 9, 2011, Anita transferred 1,120 shares of that stock from Nelva's Survivor's Trust to Amy. On June 13, 2011, Anita transferred 160 shares from Nelva's Survivor's Trust to herself, and on June 15, 2011, Anita transferred 160 shares from Nelva's Survivor's Trust to Candy. An finally, on June 15, 2011, Anita transferred 1,325 shares from Elmer's Decedent's Trust to Carole. No shares were transferred to Carl, despite Anita's knowledge of Carl's serious health crisis and large medical expenses. In fact, Carl's family was not even informed of the transfers of stock and did not learn about them until after Nelva's death.

15. On June 14, 2011, Anita also transferred 135 shares of Chevron stock purportedly owned by Nelva's Survivor's Trust to each of her two children and to each of Amy's two children. No similar gift was made to either Carl's daughter or granddaughter or to Candy's two sons. Moreover, Carl's entire family was excluded from conversations addressing the status of the Brunsting estate, changes in the trusts, and Nelva's removal from involvement with and control over the trusts. Instead of assisting with Carl's medical bills, it is believed that trust assets were used to hire investigators to follow Carl's wife of 30 years and that a GPS tracking device was even placed on Carl's wife's car without her consent, at the apparent direction of Anita and Amy.

16. On Nelva's death on November 11, 2011, Amy joined Anita as co-trustee of the Family Trust, Elmer's Decedent's Trust, and Nelva's Survivor's Trust. Assets were to be divided equally into separate trusts for each of the Brunsting children upon Nelva's death. Until the tainted 8/25/10 QBD, each of the Brunsting children would have been trustee of their own trusts, but in the tainted 8/25/10 QBD, both Carl and Candy were removed as trustees of their own trusts. Instead, Anita and Amy were named co-trustees of both Carl's Trust and Candy's Trust.

17. Of course, by the time of Nelva's death, the remaining assets had already been plundered. Indeed, two days before Nelva died, Anita even closed the safe deposit box used by Nelva and no inventory of its contents have ever been provided although it had been where valuable items and documents had been kept. A number of valuable items remain unaccounted for after Nelva's death, such as a significant amount of savings bonds which it is believed either Anita, Amy, or Carole have not admitted they discovered and kept. Likewise, no effort was made to value, preserve, inventory, and properly divide personal property.

18. Of course, many things have not been accounted for or properly shared with Plaintiff. Plaintiff has not, for example, been provided with a copy of the lease of the most valuable asset his parents owned, a multimillion dollar farm in Iowa. To the extent information has been provided because Plaintiff has sought it and even filed a pre-suit discovery action to obtain it, that information has made it clear the plundering started long ago and only court intervention or complete dissipation of the assets will stop it. Apparently the Current Trustees believe the division of assets should be made based on the terms of the tainted 8/25/10 QBD, and without taking into consideration what Anita, Amy & Carole have already taken.

V.

Construction of Trust and Suit for Declaratory Judgment

19. The 8/25/10 QBD contains a broad in terrorem clause providing that a party forfeits their interest in the resulting trust if contesting its provisions. Plaintiff asserts that the in terrorem clause is overly broad and void as against public policy because it prohibits the trust beneficiaries from questioning any of the circumstances surrounding the Current Trustees' improper actions in this case, thereby preventing them from protecting their interests.

20. In addition, Plaintiff seeks declaratory relief construing the validity, terms, responsibilities, and obligations of the various documents signed or purportedly signed by Elmer and Nelva. In other words, Plaintiff also asks this Court to determine Plaintiff's rights and Defendants' responsibilities.

21. If the Court fails to find that the in terrorem clause is void as against public policy to the extent it prohibits beneficiaries from questioning the actions resulting in the QBDs and the actions supposedly taken under its terms, Plaintiff asks, in the alternative, that the Court construe the documents at issue herein and declare that Plaintiff's actions in filing and pursuing this action do not violate the in terrorem clause.

22. Plaintiff, in fact, seeks to determine and enforce his partents' intent and to further the purposes of that intent. In doing so, Plaintiff was required to bring this action requesting declaratory relief and an accounting. Such actions would not constitute a contest even if the provision were not void because it is against public policy.

23. Plaintiff further asserts that he had just cause to bring this lawsuit and that he has brought the action in good faith. Therefore, no forfeiture should result from the action.

VI.

Demand for Trust Accounting

24. Defendants have provided insufficient, conflicting, and unsupported information to Plaintiff accounting for the assets and transactions concerning the Family Trust, Elmer's Decedent's Trust, and Nelva's Survivor's Trust.

09/20/13 09:18:00 AM

25. The Texas Trust Code and the trust indentures require the Current Trustees to keep complete and accurate books of account with regard to the trusts, trust property and all transactions pertaining thereto and to provide the appropriate information to the beneficiaries, but they have failed to do so. Plaintiff, therefore, requests that this Court order Defendants to account for the administration of all the trusts.

VII.

Breach of Fiduciary Duties

26. Defendants have breached their duties as fiduciaries, both because of their formal positions as trustees of the various trusts, as agents for Nelva, and/or because of their family relationship to their parents and their brother. Carole also had fiduciary duties to Plaintiff, particularly after becoming a signatory on Nelva's account. Not only is the family relationship one involving a high degree of trust, influence, and confidence, but in this particular case, the fiduciary obligations were magnified because of the dominance on the part of the fiduciaries and the weakness and dependence on the part of the parties to whom Defendants owed fiduciary duties. They have breached their responsibilities by, among other things, transferring valuable property without receiving appropriate consideration and taking assets for their own benefit and use and in violation of their duties and the trust instruments themselves. Breaches of fiduciary duty by Defendants include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. failing to keep and provide clear, regular, accurate, and complete accountings of assets;
- b. resisting accountings of property and transactions;
- c. failing to abide by the terms of the various trust instruments;
- d. failing to preserve property and to prevent losses of property;

04102013:0818:P0059

- e. conveying property in ways which were detrimental and in violation of their obligations;
- f. entering into transactions which were not in the best interests of persons and trusts to whom they owed fiduciary obligations;
- g. becoming involved in matters in which Anita, Amy, and Carole represented interests which conflicted with those of their parents, Carl, and the trusts and their beneficiaries, including Nelva;
- h. failing to be loyal to their family members and the trust beneficiaries and to take actions based upon the best interests of Nelva, Carl, and the trusts;
- i. failing to deal impartially, fairly, and equally with Nelva, Carl, and the trusts;
- j. failing to prevent transfers, gifts, or removal of assets;
- k. failing to make appropriate and equal distributions;
- l. failing to adequately inform the beneficiaries about assets and transactions and beneficiaries' rights;
- m. misrepresenting or allowing misrepresentations concerning assets and transactions and beneficiaries' rights;
- n. failing to prevent transactions which were detrimental to their family members and the trusts;
- o. allowing the payment of inappropriate amounts from assets they purportedly held as fiduciaries; and
- p. failing to follow and otherwise enforce the terms of the trust instruments.

27. In connection with actions by Defendants with regard to transactions involving self-dealing, Defendants, acting in a fiduciary capacity have the burden of establishing the propriety of those transactions. Defendants must prove those transactions were fair and equitable to Plaintiff, and the transactions at issue in this case clearly were not.

28. As a result of Defendants' various actions described herein, Plaintiff has been damaged in an amount in excess of the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

29. Because Defendants' actions were committed willfully and maliciously, Plaintiff also requests that exemplary damages be awarded against Defendants in a sum that exceeds the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

VIII.

Conversion

30. Defendants' actions constitute conversion of property to which Plaintiff had a superior right, and as a result of such conversion, Plaintiff has been damaged in an amount in excess of the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

31. Because Defendants' conversion was committed willfully and maliciously, Plaintiff requests that exemplary damages be awarded against Defendants in a sum that exceeds the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

IX.

Negligence

32. Defendants had a duty to Plaintiff to use reasonable care to protect his interests in the capacities specified herein. Defendants failed to exercise such reasonable care, in that they allowed assets rightfully belonging to Elmer's estate, Nelva, and the various trusts of which Plaintiff was a beneficiary to be wrongfully removed, thereby improperly taking them or preventing their distribution to Plaintiff. As a result of Defendants' negligence, Plaintiff has been damaged in amounts in excess of the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

04102013:0818:POB

33. Defendants' actions constituted gross negligence in that Defendants had actual, subjective awareness of the risk involved, but nevertheless proceeded with conscious indifference to Plaintiff's rights. Accordingly, Plaintiff requests that exemplary damages be awarded against Defendants in a sum that exceeds the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

X.

Tortious Interference with Inheritance

34. Defendants' actions constitute tortious interference with Carl's inheritance rights.

35. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' tortious interference with Carl's inheritance rights, Carl has been damaged in an amount in excess of the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

36. Defendants' various actions were committed willfully, maliciously, and with the intent to conceal the true nature of the estate and the trusts to Carl's detriment. Accordingly, Carl requests that exemplary damages be awarded against Defendants in a sum that exceeds the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

XI.

Constructive Trust

37. Plaintiff seeks the imposition of a constructive trust over the assets to which he is entitled, including all property improperly transferred by Anita and Amy, including, but not limited to, the property received by Anita, Amy, Carole, and their insiders or related entities, as well as the profits Defendants received as a result of the transfer of those assets. Plaintiff also seeks the imposition of a constructive trust over the assets of Anita, Amy, and Carole's Trusts to the extent needed to reverse the improper transfers. Plaintiff thus requests a distribution of those assets in the amount lawfully due the Plaintiff, together with all interest accrued from the time such distribution should have been made.

XII.

Civil Conspiracy

38. Defendants combined to accomplish the unlawful objectives of facilitating the breach of duties to Plaintiff, as well as the commission of fraud and fraudulent concealment. Such actions by Defendants amount to a civil conspiracy.

39. As a direct and proximate result of the civil conspiracy between the Defendants, Plaintiff has been damaged in an amount in excess of the minimum jurisdictional limits of this Court.

40. Defendants' actions in furtherance of the civil conspiracy were taken willfully and maliciously, all to the detriment of Plaintiff. Accordingly, Plaintiff requests that exemplary damages be awarded against Defendants in a sum that exceeds the minimum jurisdictional limits of the Court.

XIII.

Fraudulent Concealment

41. Plaintiff was not aware of Defendants' wrongful actions. That is because Defendants took affirmative steps to deceive Nelva and Plaintiff and to conceal their wrongful actions from Nelva and Plaintiff. As a result of this affirmative deception by Defendants and Nelva and Plaintiff's reasonable reliance on that deception, Plaintiff did not know of these claims in this action until well after his mother's death on November 11, 2011, and, in fact, Plaintiff still does not know the full extent of his claims.

XIV.

Discovery Rule

42. Plaintiff affirmatively pleads the discovery rule and asserts that his claims have been brought within the required periods from the date when he knew, or reasonably should have known, that his claims had accrued.

XV.

Tolling of Limitations

43. Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code Ann. §16.062 tolls the limitations period for Plaintiff because of Elmer and Nelva's deaths.

XVI.

Conditions Precedent

44. All conditions precedent to the recovery of the relief sought hereunder have occurred or have been performed. Plaintiff is prosecuting this action in good faith and with just cause for the purpose of determining and protecting the assets of the trusts.

XVII.

Prejudgment Interest

45. Plaintiff is also entitled to prejudgment interest on his claims.

XVIII.

Request for Attorneys' Fees

46. Plaintiff requests that he be allowed to recover his fees and expenses for this action pursuant to Tex. Civ. Prac. Rem. Code Ann. §37.009. Plaintiff further requests that this Court award Plaintiff his costs and reasonable and necessary attorney's fees which had to be incurred prior to and in connection with this matter pursuant to Tex. Prop. Code Ann. §114.064. Plaintiff also seeks awards for any appellate fees that may be required in connection with this action.

XIX.

Request for Injunctive Relief

47. Plaintiff also seeks injunctive relief. The expedited consideration of this request is essential due to the need to preserve the information concerning these trusts and the assets in these trusts. Plaintiff asks for an Order preventing Defendants and their agents from destroying, hiding or transferring the records and assets of the Family Trust, the Successor Trusts, and any trust created pursuant to the terms of the 8/25/10 QBD, or taking any other steps normally afforded to parties in Defendants' purported positions with regard to such trusts or the property Defendants have received which would result in a loss or secretion of the property, which would remove property from this Court's jurisdiction or control, or which would frustrate this Court in its exercise of jurisdiction or control, or thwart the purposes of the trust instruments by depriving Plaintiff of his rights.

48. Plaintiff further requests the Court direct Defendants to refrain from conducting any business or entering into any transactions on behalf of the trusts without the prior written consent of Plaintiff during the pendency of this action.

49. Defendants' previous conduct has indicated to Plaintiff that Defendants do not intend to provide Plaintiff with the assets of the trust to which he is entitled, and that unless appropriate orders are issued by this Court, Defendants will make additional transfers to avoid Plaintiff's rights and this Court's authority. Plaintiff will suffer irreparable harm, damage, and injury unless Defendants, their relatives, partners, agents, servants, attorneys, accountants, employees, assigns, representatives and those persons in active concert or in participation with them are ordered by this Court to secure and preserve all documents and other information concerning the trusts wherever it may now be located. Plaintiff requests that Defendants be further ordered to refrain from taking any action with regard to the assets formerly or presently owned by Elmer, Nelva, or any of the trusts, moving or transferring any such assets, changing any positions of authority or exercising any powers or rights afforded to them as a result of the trusts, or applicable law. If orders are not entered as requested, Plaintiff will be irreparably harmed because assets can be further transferred, secreted or otherwise disbursed, and Defendants' prior actions while in control of these assets indicates they will indeed take those steps because they have already taken similar steps.

50. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law to preserve the assets at issue, and the loss of assets would be irreparable because if the assets are transferred or sold, the cash received in such a transaction could be even more easily be lost, hidden, or removed from this Court's control by Defendants, or if spent, will be lost to Plaintiff.

51. Defendants' previous conduct has indicated to Plaintiff that Defendants do not intend to provide Plaintiff with assets or income from the Trust, and Defendants and those acting in concert with them will continue to transfer assets in an attempt to avoid Plaintiff's rights. Unless appropriate orders are issued by this Court, nothing will prevent Defendants and those acting in concert with them will from continuing with their prior course of improper conduct. Therefore, Plaintiff will suffer irreparable harm, damage, and injury unless Defendants and their relatives, partners, agents, attorneys, employees, and those persons in active concert or in participation with them are ordered by this Court to cease all disbursements and transfers of assets from Elmer, Nelva, and the trusts, as well as from the assets they have already taken from Elmer, Nelva, and the trusts.

XXI.

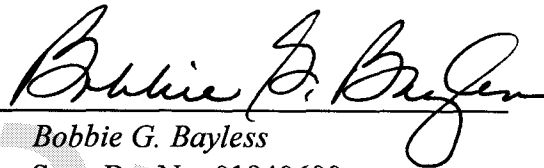

Plaintiff's Requests for Disclosures to Defendants

52. Pursuant to Rule 194, T.R.C.P., the Defendants are requested to disclose, within fifty (50) days of service of this request, the information or material described in Rule 194.2 (a) - (1).

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that the parties listed above be cited to appear and answer, and that on final hearing this Court declare the rights, duties and liabilities of the parties to the Trust and enter a judgment as sought by Plaintiff and for such other and further relief to which Plaintiff may show himself justly entitled.

III. BACKGROUND

Elmer and Nelva Brunsting created the Brunsting Family Trust, and placed essentially all of their assets into this Trust, of which they were the trustees. The Trust became irrevocable and not subject to amendment upon Elmer's death in 2009, at which time Nelva became the sole trustee of the two trusts into which the Family Trust was divided: the Decedent's Trust and the Survivor's Trust. She also became the sole beneficiary of the Survivor's Trust and the primary beneficiary of the Decedent's Trust.

In 2010, Defendants Anita and Amy began taking steps to control the Trust assets and garner a larger share than their siblings. To that end, they caused Nelva to execute a Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment in June of 2010 in which she exercised her power of appointment over all the property held in the Nelva E. Brunsting Survivor's Trust as well as in the Elmer H. Brunsting Decedent's Trust. The June exercise of Power of Appointment went on to ratify and confirm all the other provisions of the Trust. Two months later, they caused Nelva to execute a second Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment, in which she attempted to exercise the very same power of appointment she had exercised in June without revoking the prior exercise – instead she ratified and confirmed the June 2010 Power of Appointment. This second Qualified Beneficiary Designation purports to remove Candy and Carl as the trustees of their own trusts, while not subjecting Amy and Anita to that same fate, and contains paragraphs of self-serving no-contest provisions.

Seemingly because the future power she had obtained for herself was insufficient, Anita had Nelva resign as Trustee in December of 2010, in Anita's favor. As Trustee, Anita made numerous transfers that far exceeded the scope of her powers. She conveyed to Carole 1,325 shares of Exxon stock out of the Decedent's Trust, and gave 1,120 shares of Exxon to Amy out of the Survivor's

Trust, plus 270 shares of Chevron stock (held in the names of Amy's children). To herself she transferred 160 shares of Exxon, plus 405 shares of Chevron (270 shares she placed in the name of her children). Anita also paid herself thousands of dollars in the form of gifts, fees and reimbursements, and did the same for both Amy and Carole.

Carole not only received hundreds of thousands dollars worth of stock and cash distributions, she also had access to a bank account that Anita funded with Trust monies and used that bank account for her own purposes. She routinely charged this Trust account for her personal groceries, gasoline, and other expenses despite not being a present income beneficiary of the Trust.

IV. CAUSES OF ACTION

Breach of Fiduciary Duty. Defendants Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting are Co-Trustees of the Trust and owed to Plaintiff a fiduciary duty, which includes : (1) a duty of loyalty and utmost good faith; (2) a duty of candor; (3) a duty to refrain from self-dealing; (4) a duty to act with integrity of the strictest kind; (5) a duty of fair, honest dealing; and (6) a duty of full disclosure. Defendants have violated this duty by engaging in self-dealing, by failing to disclose the existence of assets to Plaintiff, by failing to account to Plaintiffs for Trust assets and income, by failing to place Plaintiff's interests ahead of their own, and by making distributions that deviate from the strict language of the Trust. Defendants Anita breached this duty during Nelva's life by engaging in self-dealing and taking actions not permitted by the terms of the Trust, and thus is liable to the Estate and derivatively to Plaintiff for these breaches. Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages, together with pre- and post-judgment interest and costs of court.

Fraud. Defendants Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting made misrepresentations of material facts with the intent that Plaintiff rely upon them, and Plaintiff did rely upon such misrepresentations to her detriment. Such misrepresentations included statements regarding the Trust, Trust assets, and her right to receive both information and Trust assets. On information and belief, Defendants made fraudulent misrepresentations to Nelva Brunsting upon which she relied to her detriment and to the ultimate detriment of her Estate. Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages, together with pre- and post-judgment interest both on behalf of herself, and on behalf of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased.

Constructive Fraud. Constructive fraud exists when a breach of a legal or equitable duty occurs that has a tendency to deceive others and violate their confidence. As a result of Defendants' fiduciary relationship with Plaintiff and with Nelva Brunsting, Defendants owed Plaintiff and Nelva Brunsting legal duties. The breaches of the fiduciary duties discussed above and incorporated herein by reference constitute constructive fraud, which caused injury to both Nelva Brunsting's Estate and Plaintiff. Plaintiff seeks actual damages, as well as, punitive damages individually and on behalf of Nelva Brunsting's Estate.

Money Had and Received. Defendants Anita, Amy and Carole have taken money that belongs in equity and good conscience to the Trust and derivatively to Plaintiff, and have done so with malice and through fraud, in part by representing that transfers to them were valid reimbursements. Plaintiff seeks her actual damages, exemplary damages, pre- and post-judgment interest and court costs.

Conversion. Defendants Anita, Amy and Carole have converted assets that belong to Plaintiff as beneficiary of the Brunsting Family Trust, assets that belong to the Brunsting Family Trust, and assets that belonged to Nelva Brunsting and that should be a part of her Estate. Defendants have wrongfully and with malice exercised dominion and control over these assets, and has damaged Plaintiff, the Brunsting Family Trust, as well as the Estate of Nelva Brunsting by so doing. Plaintiff seeks actual damages, exemplary damages, pre- and post-judgment interest and court costs, both individually and on behalf of the Decedent's Estate.

Tortious Interference with Inheritance Rights. A cause of action for tortious interference with inheritance rights exists when a defendant by fraud, duress, or other tortious means intentionally prevents another from receiving from a third person an inheritance or gift that he would otherwise have received. Defendants Amy, Anita, and Carole, herein breached their fiduciary duties and converted funds that would have passed to Plaintiff through the Brunsting Family Trust, and in doing so tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's inheritance rights. Plaintiff seeks actual damages as well as punitive damages.

Declaratory Judgment Action. The Brunsting Family Trust was created by Nelva and Elmer Brunsting, and became irrevocable upon the death of Elmer Brunsting. After his death, Nelva executed both the June and August Qualified Beneficiary Designations and Exercises of Testamentary Power of Appointment ("Modification Documents"), which attempted to change the terms of the then-irrevocable Trust. The Modification Documents fail because they attempted to change the terms of the Trust. Assuming without admitting that the June Modification Document is a valid Power of Appointment, then the August Modification Document fails because Nelva had already effectively appointed all of the Trust property in June; she never revoked that Power of Appointment, but actually affirmed it. Upon information and belief, Nelva did not understand what she was signing when she signed the Modification Documents, and signed them as a result of undue influence and/or duress. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the Modification Documents are not valid, and further that the in terrorem clause contained therein is overly broad, against public policy and not capable of enforcement. Plaintiff further seeks a declaration as to her rights under the Brunsting Family Trust. Plaintiff contends and will show that she has brought her action in good faith.

powers that Anita held as Trustee. Those rights and powers did not allow her to transfer out the shares of Exxon and Chevron stock. Her duties as a Trustee prevented her from distributing Trust Assets to some beneficiaries to the detriment and for the purpose of harming other beneficiaries. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the distributions of Chevron Stock and Exxon Stock to Amy, Anita and Carole are void because Anita as Trustee exceeded the scope of her power in making those gifts.

Unjust Enrichment. Defendants Amy, Anita and Carole have all been unjustly enriched by their receipt of Chevron Stock, Exxon Stock, and cash from the Trust. None were entitled to the distributions of stock, and a majority of the cash transfers were for purposes not authorized under the scope of the Trust Agreement nor of the purposes they alleged to be for. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the Defendants were unjustly enriched, and seeks the imposition of a constructive trust on the remaining Chevron Stock and Exxon Stock that remains in their possession, as well as on any cash or proceeds from the sale of said stock and on any cash distributions from the Trust.

Conspiracy. Upon information and belief, Defendants Anita, Amy and Carole all conspired to make improper withdrawals and distributions from the Trust, to decrease Plaintiff's inheritance and interest in the Trust, to enrich themselves at the expense of the Trust and other beneficiaries, and to conceal the impropriety of their actions. They should be found jointly and severally liable for the decrease in the Trust, and should be required to disgorge their ill-gotten gains.

Demand for Accounting. Plaintiff seeks a formal accounting from Defendants in compliance with the Texas Property Code.

V. JURY DEMAND

Plaintiff hereby makes her demand for a jury trial in this matter.

02132015:1439:P0044

VI. PRAYER

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that upon final trial in this matter, she will take judgment for her actual and exemplary damages, actual and exemplary damages will be awarded to her and to the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, that pre- and post-judgment interest and costs of court will be assessed against the Defendants, and that she be granted such other and further relief to which she may show herself justly entitled.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 4:16-cv-01969
(Alfred H. Bennett)

CANDACE KUNZ-FREED,
ALBERT VACEK, JR, ET AL

Defendant Amy Brunsting’s Rule 12(b)(6)
Motion to Dismiss for Plaintiff’s Failure to State a Claim

Plaintiffs sued me, defendant, Amy Brunsting, along with two state judges, a court reporter, and eleven attorneys for alleged RICO violations. The complaint should be dismissed because the plaintiffs fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Plaintiffs allege that I am involved in a racketeering enterprise in a probate case pending in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, under C. A. No. 412,249-401, Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased. Nelva Brunsting was my mother. Plaintiffs allege that I conspired with two state judges, a court reporter, numerous attorneys (including attorney Jason Ostrom who was hired by the plaintiff Candace Brunsting) in a “secret society” to engage in illegal wiretapping, theft, extortion, forgery, wire fraud, and fraudulent transfer of securities as part of a racketeering group they refer to as “Harris County Tomb Raiders” and “the Probate Mafia”. Plaintiffs claim that they were harmed by this alleged conspiracy. I know of no conspiracy, nor have I ever conspired with anyone regarding any of these matters. Plaintiffs have provided no facts to support their complaints.

Plaintiffs claim that I intercepted, recorded, possessed, concealed, manipulated, and disseminated illegal wiretap recordings of conversations made on my mother’s telephone line. I have been told that these are recorded phone messages that were found on my mother's answering machine. It is my understanding that these recordings were made while my mother was alive. I have never heard any of these recordings and my mother never discussed them with me. I have never possessed any of these recordings. Plaintiffs fail to provide facts to show that I possessed or in any way handled these recordings.

Plaintiffs claim that my answers to Plaintiff Curtis' interrogatories posed in her lawsuit against me in the Harris County Probate Court contained extortion threats. I have no idea what she is referring to. I made no threats against Plaintiff Curtis or anyone else in my replies to her questions.

Plaintiffs refer to a "heinous extortion instrument", but I believe they are referring to the qualified beneficiary trust (QBT) agreement that was executed by my mother, not by me. This document was executed before I became a trustee. I did not become a trustee until after the death of my mother, and I had no involvement with or authority over my mother's financial or trust matters while she was living. I had no involvement in the preparation of the QBT. After reading the QBT, I could not find any language in the document that could be used to extort the plaintiffs. There are no facts to show that I took or extorted anything from the plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs allege that attorney Bernard Matthews and I filed a false affidavit in a suit that Candace Curtis filed against me and others (Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Brunsting et al., No. 4:12-cv-00592). The suit was a lis pendens filed by Plaintiff Curtis to prevent the sale of our mother's home. Mother passed away on November 11, 2011. After her death, her home was appraised and put up for sale. In 2012 a buyer offered us more than the appraised value, so we accepted the offer. The transaction was handled by a reputable title company. I did not file any false affidavits during this proceeding or any other proceeding. Plaintiffs provide no information of the document in question, and they provide no facts regarding this claim.

Finally, I have never met nor spoken to one of the plaintiffs, Rik Munson. I have never corresponded with him prior to the filing of this suit. I have no business or personal contracts with or obligations to Rik Munson. Said plaintiff has not provided an explanation of how I caused him any harm.

Plaintiffs' claims are vague, conclusory, and based entirely on inference and speculation.

Prayer

I pray that the Court grant my motion to dismiss for plaintiffs' failure to state a claim and for such other and further relief, general and specific, legal and equitable, to which I may be entitled to receive.

Respectfully submitted,

CANDACE KUNZ-FREED,
ALBERT VACEK, JR., ET AL

Defendants Mendel’s & Featherston’s Rule 12(b)(6)
Motion to Dismiss for Plaintiffs’ Failure to State a Claim

I. Summary of the Argument

1.1. The Texas doctrine of attorney immunity bars plaintiffs’ claims. It is undisputed that defendants Mendel and Featherston have: (a) never had an attorney/client relationship with either of the plaintiffs; and (b) only served as attorneys in the defense of co-trustee Anita Brunsting. See Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 348 (5TH Cir. 2016).

1.2. The complaint does not provide defendants with fair notice of plaintiffs’ claims. Plaintiffs allege that defendants were part of an entity that violated the RICO statute and enumerate several predicate acts allegedly engaged in by defendants, but do so through inference, speculation, and conclusive statements. Such vague statements fail to place defendants on notice of how the entity is alleged to have operated, how the predicate acts furthered the larger conspiracy, or how the defendants knew that these acts would further any conspiracy. By way of example and not as a limitation, Mr. Featherston is alleged to have engaged in illegal wiretapping, the occurrence of which was inferred by the plaintiffs based on the production of voicemail recordings and nothing more. One problem, among others, is that Mr. Featherston’s alleged wiretaps predate his involvement with the case.

II. Nature of the Case

2.1. The pro se plaintiffs are Candace Louise Curtis and Rik Wayne Munson. Defendants are Stephen A. Mendel and Bradley E. Featherston, among others. Messrs. Mendel and Featherston are attorneys licensed by the State Bar of Texas. Mr. Mendel is current counsel for Co-Trustee Anita Brunsting. Mr. Featherston is a former associate attorney of Mr. Mendel, and previously assisted Mr. Mendel with the defense of Co-Trustee Anita Brunsting.

2.2. In addition to suing Messrs. Mendel and Featherston, plaintiffs sued nine (9) other attorneys, two (2) probate judges, and a court reporter for violations of the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act (RICO).

2.3. Plaintiffs alleged that all of the defendants were part of a conspiracy in which several Houston area law firms and Harris County Probate Court No. 4 worked in concert to defraud heirs of their inheritances in order to enrich themselves. Plaintiffs' dubbed this alleged entity as the "Harris County Tomb Raiders, a/k/a the Probate Mafia."

2.4. Plaintiffs allege that they were harmed by the Tomb Raiders through its involvement in a related probate case pending in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, under C.A. No. 412249-401, Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased. In particular, Mr. Featherston allegedly committed acts of illegal wiretapping and extortion in furtherance of the conspiracy. Both Messrs. Mendel and Featherston were allegedly involved in a conspiracy within the larger conspiracy to induce plaintiff Curtis to sign away valuable trust interests through extortion by way of a "sham mediation."

2.5. For the Court's benefit, plaintiff Curtis and her siblings participated in a mediation in August 2014. No other mediation has occurred. Since Messrs. Mendel and Featherston did not make an appearance as counsel of record until November 2014, it is impossible for them to be involved in a "sham mediation."

2.6. In Spring 2016, the Probate Court ordered a mediation among the parties, and that mediation was scheduled for July 2016, but the mediation never occurred. As such, assuming arguendo that a mediation is a course of conduct not protected by the Texas attorney immunity doctrine, it is impossible for Messrs. Mendel and Featherston to participate in a sham mediation that never occurred.

III. Argument

3.1. A court has the authority to dismiss a suit for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted if the complaint does not provide fair notice of the claim and does not state factual allegations showing the right to relief is plausible. See Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009); Bell Alt. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555-56 & n.3 (2007).

3.2. A careful reading of the plaintiffs claims against Messrs. Mendel and Featherston show that those claims are all related to their roles as attorneys in the defense of Co-Trustee Anita Brunsting. As such, the claims are barred as a matter of law by the Texas attorney immunity doctrine. Troice, 816 F.3d at 348. The Texas attorney immunity doctrine provides true immunity from suit and is not merely an affirmative defense. Id. at 346. Dismissal is, therefore, warranted regardless of the merits of the alleged conduct. Id. at 348-49.

3.3. More specifically, the plaintiffs' allege that Mr. Featherston engaged in wiretapping and theft/extortion, and that both Messrs. Mendel and Featherston were involved in a conspiracy to commit theft/extortion, all of which were done in furtherance of the larger RICO conspiracy. However, the actions underlying these claims are: (1) arguing in the probate court or through judicially filed instruments for the admissibility of voicemail recordings, which is alleged as "wiretapping;" (2) arguing in the probate court or through judicially filed instruments that claims for trust distributions violated the no-contest clause of the Qualified Beneficiary Trust ("QBT"), which is alleged as "theft/extortion;" and (3) arguing in the probate court or through judicially filed instruments that the parties should mediate, which is the "conspiracy to commit theft/extortion."

3.4. Each alleged act as to Messrs. Mendel and Featherston is the kind of conduct that an attorney normally engages and is expected to engage when representing a client and is entirely covered by attorney immunity. See Troice, 816 F.3d at 348 (the defendant attorney sent letters to the SEC regarding jurisdiction, communicated with the SEC about document discovery and the legitimacy of his client's business, stated that certain witnesses would provide more relevant testimony than others in a deposition, and represented one of his client's executives in a deposition). Because all of the plaintiffs' claims derive from conduct covered by attorney immunity, the complaint fails to state a claim for which relief may be granted and should be dismissed for this reason alone.

3.5. Yet, the plaintiffs' claims can be dismissed for a second reason, which is that the claims fail to provide Messrs. Mendel and Featherston with fair notice of what they allegedly did wrong. Ruvio v. Wells Fargo Bank N.A., 766 F.3d 87, 90-91 (1ST Cir. 2014); Brooks v. Ross, 578 F.3d 574, 581-82 (7TH Cir. 2009). A complaint that provides only labels and conclusions or formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action is insufficient to show grounds for the plaintiff to be entitled to relief. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678; Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555 & n.3; Brooks, 578 F.3d at 581.

3.6. In addressing their claim that a broad RICO type conspiracy exists between the defendant law firms and the probate court, the plaintiffs describe the alleged "entity" as "a secret society . . . associated together for the purpose of carrying out an ongoing criminal theft enterprise . . . through a multi-faceted campaign of lies, fraud, threats, and official corruption in furtherance of a conspiracy involving a pattern of racketeering activity . . ." This description is repeated with slight variations throughout the complaint and appears to have been crafted by combining several definitions taken from 18 U.S.C. § 1961, and a vague list of types of alleged actions taken by those involved in the conspiracy in furtherance of the same. There is not a single fact of what Messrs. Mendel and Featherston said that were lies or threats, no facts to show fraud, nor any factual explanation as to how Messrs. Mendel and Featherston could commit official corruption when neither is a government official.

3.7. Likewise, the plaintiffs cannot describe a single fact as to how Messrs. Mendel and Featherston used the “entity” to syphon “off the assets of our elders . . . through . . . schemes and artifices” as part of a plan which they refer to as “Involuntary Redistribution of Assets.” There are no facts to show how this alleged scheme works, whom are the elders, the types of assets that are being syphoned off, the value of the assets allegedly being syphoned, nor how much Messrs. Mendel and Featherston wrongfully received.

3.8. The plaintiffs admit that “the specific quid pro quo profit sharing is unknown” to them, but insist that proof of “a reciprocal stream-of-benefits necessarily flows from the fact of the in-concert activities of the co-conspirators.” Nebulous rhetoric, conclusory statements, and unsupported presumptions do not constitute facts and, therefore, are insufficient to sustain a claim against Messrs. Mendel and Featherston.

3.9. When plaintiffs attempt to describe overt acts in furtherance of the conspiracy by particular defendants they are similarly vague and conclusory. As previously indicated, the plaintiffs claim that Mr. Featherston engaged in illegal wiretapping in furtherance of the conspiracy. The basis for this claim is that Mr. Featherston argued in court or through judicial instruments for the admissibility of recordings of telephone conversations between Curtis’ brother, Carl Brunsting and their mother, Nelva Brunsting.

3.10. The plaintiffs’ main argument that these recordings were obtained via an illegal wiretapping device seems to be the existence of the recordings of private conversations that, they believe, could only be obtained by wiretapping Carl's telephone. However, in reality, the recordings are nothing more than recorded messages from Nelva Brunsting's answering machine that were produced during discovery in the underlying probate case. Producing 2011 recordings made by others as required the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure does not mean the attorney producing the recordings in 2014 or thereafter engaged in wiretapping.

3.11. Plaintiffs further allege that Mr. Featherston, along with other defendant attorneys, provided evidence that such wiretapping occurred by arguing that the recordings were admissible. Plaintiffs argue that Mr. Featherston implied that he knew the nature of the "device," its ability to record accurately, and the qualifications of its operator by arguing for the recordings' admissibility. What the plaintiffs fail to explain is why any "device" attached to Carl Brunsting's telephone would be necessary when the recordings were available from the decedent's answering machine, or how Mr. Featherston was involved with the use of such a device.

3.12. Plaintiffs also fail to account for the fact that the recordings in question were made in Spring 2011, more than three (3) years before Mr. Featherston was even involved with the probate case. Absent any facts, much less specific facts, the plaintiffs' claims are based entirely on speculation and inference and do not state a claim to which the defendants may or should have to respond.

3.13. Plaintiffs also claim that Mr. Featherston engaged in state law theft and/or federal law extortion by asserting that plaintiff Curtis' and Carl Brunsting's applications for interim distributions violated the no-contest clause of the QBT. The QBT was prepared by defendant Alfred Vacek, Jr. in August 2010 at the request of his now deceased client, Nelva Brunsting. Neither Mr. Featherston, nor Mr. Mendel, nor their client, Co-Trustee Anita Brunsting, were involved with the drafting of the QBT in any way. As such, unless a court of competent jurisdiction declares the QBT invalid, Messrs. Mendel and Featherston and their client have the right to make any argument they so desire with regard to the enforceability of the provisions of the QBT, and such arguments cannot, as a matter of law, constitute predicate RICO acts.

3.14. Notwithstanding the fact that the plaintiffs lack a judicial determination that the no-contest clause is not enforceable, the plaintiffs claim the QBT is an “extortion instrument” being used to “instill fear of economic harm” in plaintiff Curtis and Carl Brunsting. Plaintiffs’ description of both the purpose of the “extortion instrument” and its alleged use to harm plaintiffs is vague and conclusory in that it does not explain how or when any threats were made, the nature of the threats, which specific defendants made the threats, or give any indication as to how Mr. Featherston was supposed to have known of the threats so that his objection would become part of a wider conspiracy to extort anything from plaintiffs. Without such additional information, the complaint fails to state a claim to which the defendant can provide an answer.

3.15. Finally, plaintiffs’ allege that Messrs. Mendel and Featherston, along with several other attorneys, engaged in a conspiracy, in support of the larger conspiracy, to commit theft and extortion through a “sham mediation” in which plaintiff Curtis was coerced into signing away valuable inheritance rights. Leaving aside whether the mediation in question was or was not a “sham,” the plaintiffs only make a bare assertion that it was.

3.16. The larger problem with this claim is that there were two (2) mediations in the case in question. The plaintiffs argue that the first mediation was tainted by threats, intimidation, and a “thug mediator,” but never explain how the first mediation was a “sham mediation.” Furthermore, the plaintiffs fail to explain how a second mediation that never occurred was a sham mediation, or how there can be liability for something that never occurred.

IV. Prayer

Defendants Mendel and Featherston pray that the Court grant their motion to dismiss for plaintiffs' failure to state a claim and for such other and further relief, general and special, legal and equitable, to which it may be entitled to receive.

Respectfully Submitted,

Civil Action No. 4:16-cv-01969

DEFENDANT JILL WILLARD YOUNG’S MOTION TO STRIKE PLAINTIFFS’ “ADDENDUM OF MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF RICO COMPLAINT”

On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a frivolous, 64-page “Verified Complaint” consisting of facially preposterous criminal accusations, blatant mischaracterizations of fact, and boilerplate recitations of law that are plainly insufficient to survive dismissal (the “Complaint”). On September 15, 2016, Defendant Jill Young filed her Motion to Dismiss. After the filing of Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss, Plaintiffs filed a thirty-one page long “Addendum of Memorandum in Support of Rico Complaint,” with more than 1,400 pages of attached “exhibits” (the “Addendum”). See DKT. 26.

Ms. Young now files this Motion to Strike the Addendum, because it has no legal effect. And even if it were effective, it does not change the merits of Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss, which should be granted.

I. The “Addendum” has no Legal Effect.

The Addendum—filed after Ms. Young was served with the Original Complaint and after she filed her 12(b)(6) Motion to Dismiss—has no legal effect. It is not a “pleading” under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Specifically, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 7(a) says:

Only these pleadings are allowed:

- (1) a complaint;
- (2) an answer to a complaint;
- (3) an answer to a counterclaim designated as a counterclaim;
- (4) an answer to a crossclaim;
- (5) a third-party complaint;
- (6) an answer to a third-party complaint; and
- (7) if the court orders one, a reply to an answer.

See Fed. R. Civ. P. 7(a). And although a party can amend its complaint as a matter of course after the filing of a responsive pleading, the Addendum cannot be an amended complaint, because it alleges no causes of action against Ms. Young.

Because the Addendum is not a complaint, it is not a valid pleading under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and it should be struck.

II. The “Addendum” does not change the merits of Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss.

Even if the Addendum were treated as Plaintiffs’ Complaint (or some portion of Plaintiffs’ Complaint), it does not change the merits of Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss. The Addendum only refers to Ms. Young in four places, in paragraphs 96, 97, 99, and 107. See Addendum, at ¶¶ 96, 97, 99, and 107. In full, those paragraphs state:

96. The only matter properly before the court on September 10, 2015 was whether or not Mr. Lester should have the authority to retain Jill Willard Young to assist him in his administration obligations to the estate.

97. Neither individual Plaintiff Candace Curtis nor individual Plaintiff Carl Brunsting was in attendance September 10, 2015, as neither is party to the estate litigation and neither objected to Mr. Lester retaining Jill Young to assist with his fiduciary duty to evaluate the estate’s claims. That was the only issue properly before the Court on September 10, 2015 and did not include the matters Mr. Spielman states were discussed and where there was apparently an agreement made to treat the Gregory Lester report as if it were a jury verdict before it was even written.

99. The inescapable conclusion here is that there were improper discussions outside of the presence of the Plaintiffs who were prejudiced by those discussions, involving matters not properly before the Court, wherein there were agreements made between the Court, Jill Willard Young, Neal Spielman, Bradley Featherston, Stephen Mendel and Gregory Lester to produce a fictitious report. They all apparently agreed to follow the as of yet unwritten report as if it were factual, that the false report would be used to further the extortion plot, that mediation would be forced upon Plaintiffs, that the costs of litigation for Plaintiff Curtis would be exacerbated, that there would be extended delay and, that another crony had been hand selected to act first as mediator and then as arbiter. First to “unentrench” Plaintiff Curtis from her stand upon rights and reliance upon the rule of law in the face of this all too obvious public corruption conspiracy and second, to deprive Plaintiff of substantive due process and access to the Court.

107. Mr. Spielman confessed on March 9, 2016 that the attorneys conspired at the hearing on application to retain Jill Young, with the probate Court Judges, the Court’s crony administrator Gregory Lester, and Jill Young, entering into an illicit agreement to produce a fictitious “report” and to subsequently treat the fiction as if it were the equivalent of a jury verdict, and this all occurred before the “Report” was even written.

Id.

These “allegations” fail for three reasons. First, they are so implausible that they cannot form the basis for a valid complaint. Second, the assertions—even if somehow true—fail to raise a RICO claim. Third, the allegations are barred by Texas’s attorney immunity doctrine—which constitute an absolute bar on suits relating to actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.

A. Plaintiffs’ Addendum, like the Complaint, is too implausible to state a valid claim for relief.

Plaintiffs’ Addendum, like the Complaint, fails to satisfy the plausibility requirements of Rule 12. It is also frivolous and delusional—a separate ground for dismissal.

1. Plaintiffs' Addendum fails to satisfy Rule 12.

Under Rule 12, to properly assert a well-pleaded complaint, Plaintiffs must plead enough facts “to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 547 (2007)). Plaintiffs’ claim is only “facially plausible” if they plead facts that allow the court to “draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Id. Further, the Court is not bound to accept as true legal conclusions couched as factual allegations. Id. at 678–79 (holding that a complaint “does not unlock the doors of discovery for a plaintiff armed with nothing more than conclusions”). And “where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has alleged—but it has not ‘show[n]’—‘that the pleader is entitled to relief.’” Id. at 679.

Here, Plaintiffs’ Addendum states only vague, speculative, and implausible allegations against Ms. Young that are insufficient to form the basis of a well-pleaded Complaint. Plaintiffs ask the Court to infer from the fact that Plaintiffs chose not to attend a hearing that the other attendees at the hearing conspired to fabricate the report of the temporary administrator.¹ The implausible leap that Plaintiffs ask this Court merely to assume is not permitted by Rule 12.

2. Plaintiffs' Addendum, like the Complaint, is frivolous and delusional.

As stated in Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss, this Court has “inherent authority to dismiss a pro se litigant's frivolous or malicious complaint” See Campbell v. Brender, 3:10-CV-325-B, 2010 WL 4363396, at *4 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 25, 2010) (“District Courts have the inherent authority to dismiss a pro se litigant's frivolous or malicious complaint sua sponte even when the plaintiff has paid the requiring filing fee.”); see also Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 & 328 (1989) (holding that a complaint is “frivolous” and should be dismissed when the factual allegations are “fanciful,” “fantastic,” or “delusional”). To determine “whether a plaintiff’s complaint is frivolous, district courts must determine whether the facts alleged are ‘clearly baseless,’ meaning that the allegations are ‘fanciful,’ ‘fantastic,’ or ‘delusional.’” Campbell v. Brender, 3:10-CV-325-B, 2010 WL 4363396, at *5 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 25, 2010) (citing Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 32–33 (1992)).

¹ See, e.g., Addendum, DKT. 26, at ¶ 99 (“The inescapable conclusion here is that there were improper discussions outside of the presence of the Plaintiffs . . . to produce a fictitious report. They all apparently agreed to follow the as of yet unwritten report as if it were factual, that the false report would be used to further the extortion plot, that mediation would be forced upon Plaintiffs, that the costs of litigation for Plaintiff Curtis would be exacerbated, that there would be extended delay and, that another crony had been hand selected to act first as mediator and then as arbiter.”).

Like in their Complaint, Plaintiffs’ Addendum alleges a bizarre conspiracy theory where practicing litigants, attorneys, and judges plotted against Plaintiffs in open court, apparently making agreements designed to diminish the value of probate estates. Other courts in this Circuit have held that almost identical allegations made by pro se litigants should be dismissed and were sanctionable. See, e.g., Whitehead v. White & Case, LLP, 12-CV-0399, 2012 WL 1795151, at *2 (W.D. La. Apr. 19, 2012), report and recommendation adopted, 12-CV-0399, 2012 WL 1795148 (W.D. La. May 16, 2012) (dismissing a pro se plaintiff’s conspiracy claims against judges, magistrate judges, attorneys and law firms, as “frivolous and vexatious” and sanctioning the pro se plaintiff). The Addendum does nothing to remedy the fanciful allegations contained in the Complaint; it merely compounds the impropriety of Plaintiffs’ delusions.

B. Plaintiffs’ Addendum fails to state facts sufficient to assert a RICO claim against Ms. Young.

None of Plaintiffs’ allegations against Ms. Young are sufficient to state a RICO claim.²

² As shown in Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss, Plaintiffs have alleged numerous causes of action for which they have no private right of action. See Motion to Dismiss, DKT. 25, at pp. 13–15. The only cause of action they assert that they could actually pursue is their RICO claim.

First, none of the allegations actually assert that Ms. Young committed any wrongful act whatsoever. Instead, Plaintiffs complain of Ms. Young's retention as attorney for the temporary administrator. But the Plaintiffs have no right to dictate who the temporary administrator will retain as counsel.

And none of these allegations show that Plaintiffs have been injured by a violation of RICO. See Allstate Ins. Co. v. Plambeck, 802 F.3d 665, 676 (5th Cir. 2015) (holding that a RICO plaintiff must show he has standing to sue and that, to plead standing, a plaintiff "must show that the [RICO] violation was a but-for and proximate cause of the injury"); Anza v. Ideal Steel Supply Corp., 547 U.S. 459, 460 (2006) ("When a court evaluates a RICO claim for proximate causation, the central question it must ask is whether the alleged violation led directly to the plaintiff's injuries.").

But most crucially, the Plaintiffs' Addendum still fails to assert the "pattern of racketeering activity," that is required to allege a RICO claim. Word of Faith World Outreach Ctr. Church, Inc. v. Sawyer, 90 F.3d 118, 122 (5th Cir. 1996). The only assertion made in the Addendum against Ms. Young is that she somehow conspired with the Probate Court itself to act as attorney to a temporary administrator who submitted a false report. See Addendum, at ¶¶ 97, 99, and 107. This is not a "pattern of racketeering activity." Abraham v. Singh, 480 F.3d 351, 355 (5th Cir. 2007) (holding that racketeering activity must "consist[] of two or more predicate criminal acts" listed in 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)).

And even if Plaintiffs' fallacious assertions were true, Plaintiffs allege nothing more than the "garden-variety tort" of common law fraud, which is insufficient to state a RICO claim. See St. Germain v. Howard, 556 F.3d 261, 263 (5th Cir. 2009) (holding plaintiffs pled facts showing nothing more than "violations of the rules of professional responsibility," not "the requisite predicate criminal acts under RICO”); Fleet Credit Corp. v. Sion, 893 F.2d 441, 445 (1st Cir. 1990) (“[A]cts of common law fraud that do not implicate the mails (or the wires) do not constitute ‘racketeering activity’”).

C. Plaintiffs’ Addendum cannot avoid Texas’s attorney immunity doctrine.

Finally, Plaintiffs’ Addendum makes no difference because Plaintiffs still cannot avoid the effect of Texas’s attorney immunity doctrine. Under Texas law, “attorneys are immune from civil liability to non-clients ‘for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.’” Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) (quoting Alpert v. Crain, Caton & James, P.C., 178 S.W.3d 398, 405 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2005, pet. denied)).

Here, the only facts alleged by Plaintiffs relate to conduct Plaintiffs allege occurred when Ms. Young was acting as attorney for Temporary Administrator Lester. See Addendum, at ¶¶ 96, 97, 99, and 107. And “[e]ven conduct that is ‘wrongful in the context of the underlying suit’ is not actionable if it is ‘part of the discharge of the lawyer’s duties in representing his or her client.’” Id. (quoting Toles v. Toles, 113 S.W.3d 899, 910-11 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2003, no pet.)). And a plaintiff cannot evade attorney immunity by simply “labeling an attorney’s conduct ‘fraudulent.’” Id. at 483 (quoting Alpert, 178 S.W.3d at 406). Instead, the only exceptions to an attorney’s “true immunity from suit” are if an attorney engages in conduct that is “entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney,” or if the conduct “does not involve the provision of legal services and would thus fall outside the scope of client representation.” Byrd, 467 S.W.3d at 482 (quoting Poole v. Hous. & T.C. Ry. Co., 58 Tex. 134, 137 (1882)).

Here, there are no allegations that Ms. Young engaged in any conduct that was “entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney.” Id. at 482. Nor do Plaintiffs allege Ms. Young was engaging in conduct that did not involve the provision of legal services. Id. Thus, Plaintiffs' Addendum makes no difference, and this suit against Ms. Young should be dismissed.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, this Court should strike the Plaintiffs' Addendum. In the alternative, Plaintiffs' Addendum does not change the merits of Ms. Young's Motion to Dismiss, and the Court should dismiss Plaintiffs' claims against Ms. Young with prejudice.

DEFENDANT NEAL SPIELMAN’S MOTION TO DISMISS

Defendant Neal Spielman (“Spielman”) files this Motion to Dismiss seeking the dismissal of all claims asserted by Plaintiffs against him. In support thereof, Defendant would respectfully show the Court the following:

I.

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

This case stems from “conspiracy” claims and other allegations against lawyers, judges, and court personnel involved in a bitterly contested probate matter in Harris County Probate Court No. 4. The Plaintiffs “claims,” which are nearly incomprehensible are nothing more than incredible conspiracy theories suggesting that the Harris County Probate Court is the home of a nefarious, shadowy syndicate with designs on stealing “familial wealth.” The Plaintiffs Original Complaint has alleged Spielman and other Defendants for (1) violations of the Racketeer Influence Corrupt Organization Act (“RICO”), 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c) and conspiracy to violate the same; (2) conspiracy to commit Honest Services Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1346; (3) conspiracy to commit Mail Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1341; (4) conspiracy to commit Wire Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1343; (5) Hobbes Act Extortion 15 U.S.C. §1951(b)(2); (6) conspiracy to obstruct justice, 18 U.S.C.

§371; and state law theft, Texas Penal Codes 31.02 & 31.03. Despite the litany of allegations, Plaintiffs have failed to plead any facts suggesting any wrongdoing by Spielman. See Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (holding that a claim should be dismissed as implausible if it does not “plead factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged”). For this reason, Plaintiffs’ Original Complaint against Spielman should be dismissed with prejudice.

II. BACKGROUND

Plaintiffs’ suit arises from a case pending in Harris County Probate Court Number 4, Cause No. 412.249-401, Carl Henry Brunsting et al. v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al., (“the Probate Matter”). The Probate Matter involves a dispute between the Brunsting siblings over the administration over their late parents’ estate. Rather than litigate their claims in the proper forum—Probate Court No. 4—Plaintiffs have filed this suit, naming every person remotely involved with the Probate Matter—including the judge, court personnel, Defendant Spielman, and “99 Jane and John Does”—in an apparent attempt to avoid participating in the court-ordered mediation in the Probate Matter.¹

Spielman is attorney of record for Amy Brunsting in the Probate Matter. See Plaintiffs’ Verified Complaint for Damages. Plaintiffs appear to have asserted only one claim specifically against Spielman: that Spielman “obstructed justice” by assenting to the postponement of a summary judgment hearing, somehow depriving Curtis access to the courts and other due process rights. See Plaintiffs’ Verified Complaint for Damages ¶131. Besides this one specific act, the remainder of Plaintiffs’ allegations against Spielman consists of unintelligible and boilerplate criminal “conspiracy” claims and allegations against all Defendants. Without anything more, the Plaintiffs have not pleaded facts to support a claim for relief, nor can their claims be cured through a new pleading. Therefore, the Court should dismiss this claim with prejudice. Carroll v. Fort James Corp. 470 F.3d 1171, 1177 (5th Cir. 2006).

III. ARGUMENTS AND AUTHORITIES

A. Plaintiffs' Claims Are Barred by "Attorney Immunity" Doctrine.

Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed pursuant to the "Attorney Immunity Doctrine". Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) ("[A]ttorneys are immune from civil liability to non-clients for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation."). More so, in Texas, "attorney immunity is properly characterized as a true immunity from suit." Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 346-48 (5th Cir. 2016). This immunity "not only insulates the [attorney] from liability, but also prevents the [attorney] from being exposed to discovery and/or trial." Id. At 346. The only exceptions to attorney immunity is if the attorney engages in conduct that is "entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney," or if the conduction "does not involve the provision of legal services and would thus fall outside the scope of client representation." Byrd, 467 S.W.3d at 482.

It is undisputed fact that Spielman was acting at all times as the attorney for Amy Brunsting. In Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages, they state "[d]efendant Amy Brunsting is proximately related to Harris County Probate Court . . . through her attorney, Defendant Neal Spielman and co-conspirator Defendant Candace Kuntz-Freed." See ¶ 27 (emphasis added). The facts the Plaintiffs allege as forming the basis of her claims against Spielman arise from the discharge of Spielman's duties in representing Amy Brunsting. There are no allegations in the Plaintiffs' pleadings that would suggest Spielman's conduct fell into any exception to the attorney immunity doctrine. Thus, as Spielman's conduct is immune from suit, Plaintiffs' claims must be dismissed.²

B. Plaintiffs' Claims Should be Dismissed Pursuant to Federal Rule 12(b)(6) for Failure to State a Claim.

The remainder of Plaintiffs' claims against Spielman should be dismissed because the Complaint fails to allege facts supporting any valid claims for relief. Plaintiffs complaints are simply conclusory allegations of law, inferences unsupported by facts, or formulaic recitations of elements. These types of complaints are not sufficient to defeat a 12(b)(6) motion. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (holding that a claim should be dismissed as implausible if it does not plead factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged").

In order to defeat a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, Plaintiffs must plead enough facts to "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 547 (2007)). A claim is "facially plausible" if the facts plead allow the court to draw reasonable inferences about the alleged liability of the defendants. Id. Here, the Plaintiffs' allegations facially fail to meet this standard. In the RICO complaint against Spielman, Plaintiffs allege simply:

[Spielman and others] did at various times unlawfully, willfully and knowingly combine, conspire and agree with each other to violate 18 U.S.C. Section 1962(c), by participating, directly and indirectly, in the conduct of the affairs of that enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity involving multiple predicate acts within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. §1961(1) in violation of 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) and (d) to wit[.]

Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages, ¶59.

² Alternatively, Plaintiffs' claims are barred by lack of attorney-client privity. Barcelo v. Elliott, 923 S.W.2d 575, 577 (Tex. 1996).

Each of the Plaintiffs claims against Spielman follow the same formulaic pattern. See ¶¶ 121, 122, 124, 131, 132, 139. As the Plaintiffs' claims have not met the "fair notice" pleading standards Rule 12(b)(6), these claims should be dismissed.

C. Plaintiffs' Fail to Plead Particular Acts of Fraud.

Federal Rule 9(b) requires a heightened pleading standard when the claims allege acts of fraud. See FRCP 9(b). The Federal Rules requires plaintiffs to plead allegations of fraud "with particularity." ABC Arbitrage Plaintiffs Grp. V. Tchuruk, 291 F.3d 336, 350 (5th Cir. 2002) (to satisfy the particularity standard, a party must "specific the statements contended to be fraudulent, identify the speaker, state when and where the statements were made, and explain why the statements were fraudulent") (internal quotations and citations omitted). The Plaintiffs plead, inter alia, that Spielman was part of an over-arching conspiracy, (referred to alternatively as "the Enterprise," the "Harris County Tomb Raiders," the "Probate Mafia", and the "Probate Cabal") whose purpose was to commit acts of fraud to "judicially kidnap and rob the elderly, our most vulnerable citizens of their freedom, dignity, fundamental human and civil rights and property accumulated throughout a lifetime, often also robbing heirs and beneficiaries of familiar relations and inheritance expectancies." See Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages ¶¶ 59-71. As these pleadings require the heightened standard, Plaintiff's allegations are facially insufficient and should be dismissed.

D. Plaintiffs' Fail to Plead Particular Conduct of the Defendant.

The pleading requirements under the Rule 9(b) also require that claimants allege specific and separate allegations against each defendant. See Unimobil 84, Inc. v. Spurney, 797 F.2d 214, 217 (5th Cir. 1986)(affirming dismissal of fraud claim for not stating with particularity "what representations each defendant made"). It is "impermissible to make general allegations that lump all defendants together, rather, the complaint must segregate the alleged wrongdoing of No. 1 from another.”). In re Parkcentral Glob. Litig., 884 F. Supp. 2d 464, 471 (N.D. Tex. 2012).

Here, Plaintiffs’ complaints consist of generalized allegations concerning “conspiracies” and “enterprises.” The claims do not differentiate between what acts each member committed nor what role each defendant played. Nothing in the pleadings is informative enough to prepare a proper defense. Without discernible, specific acts alleged against the Defendants, the Plaintiffs have failed to meet the pleading standards required by the Federal Rules.

E. Plaintiffs Lack Privity With Defendant Spielman to Maintain a Suit.

Plaintiff’s claims against Spielman arise from his role as an attorney for Amy Brunsting. Texas law dictates that an attorney only owes a duty of care to a person with whom the attorney has a professional attorney-client relationship. Barcelo v. Elliott, 923 S.W.2d 575, 577 (Tex. 1996). A non-client may not maintain a suit for the negligence of another’s attorney. See Gillespie v. Scherr, 987 S.W.2d 129 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1998, pet. denied). Spielman and Plaintiffs have never had an attorney-client relationship; the Plaintiffs themselves do not dispute this fact. Without a relationship of “privity” between the attorney and the claimants, the claimant is not a proper party to sue. The rationale between the “privity” required to obtain standing is, that without it, attorneys would be subject to endless liability. Barcelo, 923 S.W.3d at 577. Texas has uniformly applied the doctrine of a “privity barrier” in estate planning contexts. Id. At 579.

Because Spielman and Plaintiffs never had an attorney-client relationship, nor do Plaintiffs allege an attorney-client relationship existed, they do not have standing to sue Spielman. Therefore, the Plaintiffs’ claims must be dismissed.

IV.
CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, Defendant Neal Spielman requests that this Court grant Defendant's Motion to Dismiss on all claims with prejudice.

DEFENDANT NEAL SPIELMAN’S MOTION TO DISMISS BASED ON LACK OF SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION

Defendant Neal Spielman (“Spielman”) files this Motion to Dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) seeking the dismissal of all claims asserted by Plaintiffs against him. In support thereof, Defendant would respectfully show the Court the following:

I.
SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

This case stems from “conspiracy” claims and other allegations against lawyers, judges, and court personnel involved in a bitterly contested probate matter in Harris County Probate Court No. 4. The Plaintiffs’ “claims,” which are nearly incomprehensible are nothing more than incredible conspiracy theories suggesting that the Harris County Probate Court is the home of a nefarious, shadowy syndicate with designs on stealing “familial wealth.” The Plaintiffs’ Original Complaint has alleged Spielman and other Defendants for (1) violations of the Racketeer Influence Corrupt Organization Act (“RICO”), 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c) and conspiracy to violate the same; (2) conspiracy to commit Honest Services Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1346; (3) conspiracy to commit Mail Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1341; (4) conspiracy to commit Wire Fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1343; (5) Hobbes Act Extortion 15 U.S.C. §1951(b)(2); (6) conspiracy to obstruct justice, 18 U.S.C.

§371; and state law theft, Texas Penal Codes 31.02 & 31.03. Despite the litany of allegations, Plaintiffs have failed to plead any facts which would impart standing upon the Plaintiffs. See Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 559 (1992) (holding that plaintiff lacked standing where the failed to allege “imminent” injury-in-fact). For this reason, Plaintiffs’ Original Complaint against Spielman should be dismissed with prejudice.

II. BACKGROUND

Plaintiffs’ suit arises from a case pending in Harris County Probate Court Number 4, Cause No. 412.249-401, Carl Henry Brunsting et al. v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al., (“the Probate Matter”). The Probate Matter involves a dispute between the Brunsting siblings over the administration over their late parents’ estate. Rather than litigate their claims in the proper forum—Probate Court No. 4—Plaintiffs have filed this suit, naming every person remotely involved with the Probate Matter—including the judge, court personnel, Defendant Spielman, and “99 Jane and John Does”—in an apparent attempt to avoid participating in the court-ordered mediation in the Probate Matter.¹

Prior to landing in Probate Court, Plaintiff Curtis first attempted to bring the claims that form this basis of the instant suit in federal court. In that suit, Cause No. 4:12-cv-00592, in the Southern District of Texas, Plaintiff made similar allegations as alleged in the present complaint, namely: conspiracy, fraud, elder abuse, undue influence, false instruments, breach of fiduciary duty, tortious interference with fiduciary obligations, among others. Ultimately, at Plaintiff Curtis’ request the case was remanded to the probate proceeding in Probate Court No. 4, where it remains pending. The claims pending in the Probate Matter contain substantially the same parties and issues.

¹ In the Plaintiffs’ Verified Complaint for Damages, Plaintiff Curtis has characterized the pending mediation of the probate matter as “predetermined by the personal interests of enterprise acolytes and not by law.” See ¶¶ 113-115.

Spielman is attorney of record for Amy Brunsting in the Probate Matter. See Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages. Plaintiffs appear to have asserted only one claim specifically against Spielman: that Spielman "obstructed justice" by assenting to the postponement of a summary judgment hearing, somehow depriving Curtis access to the courts and other due process rights. See Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages ¶131. Besides this one specific act, the remainder of Plaintiffs' allegations against Spielman consists of unintelligible and boilerplate criminal "conspiracy" claims and allegations against all Defendants. Without anything more, the Plaintiffs have not pleaded facts to support a claim for relief or that they even have standing to assert claims against Spielman. Therefore, the Court should dismiss this claim with prejudice. Carroll v. Fort James Corp. 470 F.3d 1171, 1177 (5th Cir. 2006).

III. ARGUMENTS AND AUTHORITIES

Defendant Spielman moves to dismiss this complaint pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Plaintiffs have the burden of showing subject matter jurisdiction, and this Court must determine whether it has subject matter jurisdiction before addressing the merits of the complaint. See Steel Co. v. Citizens for a Better Env't, 523 U.S. 83, 94-95, 104 (1998).

Plaintiffs Lack Proper Standing to Assert Their Claims.

A plaintiff will have standing to file suit if it can demonstrate (1) an "injury in fact"—a harm that is concrete and actual, not merely conjectural or hypothetical;² (2) causation between the injury and defendant's conduct, and (3) redressability by a favorable decision of the court. Summers v. Earth Island Inst., 555 U.S. 488, 493 (2009). Because these are not merely pleading requirements, but rather an indispensable part of the plaintiff's case, each element must be supported in the same way as any other matter in which the plaintiff bears the burden of proof, i.e., with the manner and degree of evidence required at that stage of litigation. See Lujan v. National Wildlife Federation, 497 U.S. 871, 883-889 (1990).

Here, the Plaintiffs cannot provide proof of any of the required elements of standing. Plaintiffs cannot show any injury-in-fact from the conduct alleged in their Complaint. Nor is there a showing of causation between Spielman's conduct and any injury alleged by Plaintiffs.

Plaintiff Curtis' claims suggest that as a result of some action of Spielman, she has been deprived of the "enjoyment of her beneficial interests" as a beneficiary of the Brunsting Family Trust. See Plaintiffs Verified Complaint for Damages, ¶ 213. Plaintiff has not pleaded any facts that can demonstrate how any action of Spielman has injured her status as a beneficiary of the Brunsting Family Trust. Spielman has had no involvement in the drafting of estate planning documents in this matter. In fact, Curtis is still entitled to collect her share of the inheritance of the Brunsting Family Trust. More so, Texas has never recognized tortious interference with inheritance as a cognizable cause of action. See Anderson v. Archer, 03-13-00790-CV, 2016 WL 589017 (Tex. App.—Austin Mar. 2, 2016, no pet. h.) ("In short, we agree with the Amarillo Court of Appeals that 'neither this Court, the courts in Valdez, Clark, and Russell, nor the trial court below can legitimately recognize, in the first instance, a cause of action for tortuously interfering with one's inheritance.' We also agree with the Amarillo court's assessment that neither the Legislature nor Texas Supreme Court has done so, or at least not yet. Absent legislative or supreme court recognition of the existence of a cause of action, we, as an intermediate appellate court, will not be the first to do so.).

Plaintiff Munson's "injuries" are facially conjectural and hypothetical. Munson, who is neither a party to any of the prior lawsuits nor a beneficiary under the Brunsting Family Trust, alleges that he has been “diverted away from other productive pursuits.” See Plaintiffs Verified Complaint for Damages, ¶ 216. Without a demonstration of concrete, actual harm, his claims—like Curtis’s claims—must fail, and Plaintiffs’ claims should be dismissed.

IV.
CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, Defendant Neal Spielman requests that this Court grant Defendant’s Motion to Dismiss on all claims with prejudice.

Respectfully submitted,

Introduction

1. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a complaint into the Southern District of Texas, individually and as private attorneys general, alleging a public corruption conspiracy under the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act at 18 U.S.C. §§1961-1968 and the right of claims provided at 18 U.S.C. §1964(c). (Dkt 1)

2. On September 14, 2016, Defendant Jill Willard Young filed a motion to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt 25)

3. On September 15, 2016, Plaintiffs filed an Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26)¹ as a factual supplement to the RICO complaint. (Dkt 1).
4. Plaintiffs move the Court to take judicial notice, pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201, that the Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26) and the exhibits attached thereto and referred to therein, are docket entries 115 through 120 in closely related Case 4:12-cv-0592. (See NOTICE of Related Case this Court's Docket (Dkt 12))
5. Plaintiffs hereby incorporate by reference the "Standards of Review", "Contextual Summary", "History of the Controversy", and "History of the Litigation" (Dkt 33 sections I, II, III and IV) from Plaintiffs' response to the Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants Vacek & Freed (Dkts 19 & 20) as if fully restated herein.

The Issues

- a. Defendant Jill Willard Young claims:

Plaintiffs' allegations appear to relate to a probate matter in Harris County Probate Court, which the Plaintiffs call "Curtis v. Brunsting" (see Complaint ¶ 110), although no cause number is ever mentioned and no court is ever identified.

- b. Defendant claims:

Plaintiffs fail to plead facts sufficient to satisfy Rule 9(b)

- c. Defendant Claims:

In reality, their Complaint is a bizarre, conspiracy-theory-laden attempt to seek revenge for being on the losing end of trust and estate determinations that have already been fully litigated in Texas state court.

- d. Defendant claims Plaintiffs' Complaint reads more like "an excerpt from the DaVinci Code, rattling off fantastical assertions with no connection to plausible facts or valid causes of action".

¹ Case 4:12-cv-0592 Filed TXSD August 3, 2016 docket entry's 115, 117, 119, 120

e. Defendant takes exception to the descriptive labels acquired by plaintiffs as terms given to the complained of conduct by ordinary laypersons who have previously experienced the probate court version of the administration of justice.

f. Jill Willard Young claims that her only connection to Plaintiff Curtis involved the “estate of Nelva Brunsting”.

The only matter in which Ms. Young was ever involved with Plaintiff Curtis was In re: Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, No. 412.249 (Harris County Probate Court No. 4) (the “Brunsting matter”). In the Brunsting matter, Ms. Young was attorney for Greg Lester, who had been appointed by Probate Court No. 4 as temporary administrator, to assist Mr. Lester in preparing a written report to the Court.

g. The Motion then says:

All of the actions taken by Ms. Young in that matter were in her role as attorney to Mr. Lester. Ms. Young never had a fiduciary relationship with either Plaintiff, and she did not represent any other party in the Brunsting matter. Plaintiffs make no allegations to the contrary.

h. Ms. Young then claims immunity.

Plaintiffs’ claims should be dismissed with prejudice. First, Ms. Young, as attorney only for Mr. Lester, is entitled to immunity from suit under Texas law. See Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) (“[A]ttorneys are immune from civil liability to non-clients for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.”) (emphasis added).

i. Ms. Young attaches as her only exhibit (Dkt 25-A) a copy of the Order appointing Gregory Lester Temporary Administrator for the “estate of Nelva Brunsting No 412249”.

Plaintiffs' Argument

6. Defendant's Rule 12(b)(6) Motion attempts to offer a set of facts inapposite to those of the complaint and although Defendant may offer a different view of the facts under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) by providing affidavits and other evidentiary support, Defendant has not done so and may not do so in a Rule12(b)(6) motion.

7. Ms. Young is charged with in-concert aiding and abetting for her role in manufacturing a vacuously fraudulent report as part of an extortion conspiracy with a primary objective of stealing assets from the Brunsting trusts under an estate litigation pretext.

8. The Privity and Texas Attorney Immunity Doctrines are regularly used as shields for the criminal racketeering alleged in the RICO complaint.

Curtis v. Brunsting in the Southern District of Texas and the Fifth Circuit

Plaintiffs' allegations appear to relate to a probate matter in Harris County Probate Court, which the Plaintiffs call "Curtis v. Brunsting" (see Complaint ¶ 110), although no cause number is ever mentioned and no court is ever identified.

9. Defendant Jill Willard Young, participated in the attempt to eliminate Curtis v Brunsting from the probate record. There is a reason for that. Plaintiffs' certificate of closely related case (Dkt 12) cites to the first filed lawsuit relating to the Brunsting trusts. Other than the case in point, 4:16-cv-01969, Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-0592 is the only related lawsuit filed in a court of competent jurisdiction, as hereinafter more fully appears.

10. The events leading up to this RICO lawsuit are unique, in that the underlying unresolved federal lawsuit, Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592, is its own federal Fifth Circuit case law authority, Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406. The only real distinctions between Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592 and Curtis v Kunz-Freed et al., 4:16-cv-01969, are location in the chronology of events, the nature of the federal jurisdiction invoked, the number of actors involved, the volume of information available, and the remedies pursued.

11. Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita and Amy Brunsting 4:12-cv-592 was filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas on February 27, 2012, and dismissed sua sponte under the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction on March 8, 2012. Curtis filed a timely notice of appeal and the matter went to the Fifth Circuit for review.

12. On January 9, 2013, the Circuit Court issued a unanimous opinion with Order for Reverse and Remand, No. 12-20164, holding the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction does not apply to an inter vivos trust not in the custody of a state court, Curtis V. Brunsting 704 F.3d 406.

13. On January 29, 2013, Carl Brunsting, as Executor of the estate of Nelva Brunsting, filed suit against attorney Candace Kunz-Freed and Vacek & Freed P.L.L.C. in the Harris County District Court, raising claims exclusively related to the Brunsting trusts then in the custody of the federal court.²

14. Upon returned to the U.S. District Court Curtis immediately petitioned for a protective order. A hearing was held April 9, 2013 (Dkt 26-7 E289-E342) and an injunction was issued. (Dkt 26-2 E5-E9)

15. Also on April 9, 2013, after the federal injunction was issued, Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed suit in the Harris County Probate Court advancing Brunsting trust related claims similar to those already pending in the federal Court, styled “Carl Henry Brunsting individually and as Executor for the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting”. (Dkt 33-9 E188-E207)

16. The Probate cases are:

a. Harris County Probate Case 412248 Carl Henry Brunsting executor of the estate of Elmer H. Brunsting, vs Amy, Anita and Carole Brunsting, filed April 9, 2013.

b. Harris County Probate Case 412249 Carl Henry Brunsting executor of the estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, vs Amy, Anita and Carole Brunsting, filed April 9, 2013.

² No. 2013-05455; Carl Henry Brunsting v. Candace Freed & Vacek & Freed; 164th Judicial District Court of Harris County, TX

c. Harris County Probate Case 412249-401 Carl Henry Brunsting Individually vs Amy, Anita and Carole Brunsting, filed April 9, 2013.

d. Harris County Probate No. 412249-402 on remand from the federal Court 4:12-cv-0592. The only docket entries in the probate court with the heading of Curtis v Brunsting are a notice of the original federal petition³ and a notice of injunction and report of special master⁴ and each is covered with a heading page of “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”.

The Losing End of Fully Litigated Determinations in Texas State Court

17. Defendant alleges Plaintiffs' claims are:

frivolous, delusional, and implausible”... bizarre, conspiracy-theory-laden attempt to seek revenge for being on the losing end of trust and estate determinations that have already been fully litigated in Texas state court.

18. Counsel violates ethics rules when he files a pleading making knowingly disingenuous claims regarding the record of state court proceedings. Defendants do not, because they cannot point to the record in any proceeding where Plaintiffs have been on the losing end of any fully litigated state court determinations, because no such events exist in the record. There is a plausible explanation for that.

19. The state probate court absolutely refused to resolve any substantive issues on the merits, due to their awareness of a well-known phenomenon called “Complete Absence of Jurisdiction”.

20. Defendant’s knowledge of that simple fact explains the entire in-concert attempt to avoid ruling on the merits of any pleading and the character of the Gregory Lester Report.

⁴ 2015-02-06 PBT-2015-47630

21. Defendant would love to argue, as they do against all of the probate cabal's victims (Exhibit 1 attached), that Plaintiffs are disgruntled losers seeking vengeance, or that they are asking a federal court to review state court judgments when, in fact, no rulings were ever entered against Curtis because no state court has been invoked as a "Court of Competent Jurisdiction" and these defendant legal professionals all know it.

The Vacuously Indefensible Report of Jill Willard Young and Gregory Lester

The Order Granting Authority to Retain Counsel

22. The Order granting authority to retain Jill Young (Exhibit 2 attached) was for the sole purpose of performing the Duties defined in the Order appointing Gregory Lester Temporary Administrator. (Dkt 25-A) as Counsel for Applicant, to perform such legal services on behalf of the Estate as are necessary and reasonable, including assisting Applicant in carrying out his fiduciary responsibilities.

23. The Report of Temporary Administrator, filed January 14, 2016, (Dkt 26-9) never mentions the Wills of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting, which is where one would logically think to begin an honest investigation into the veracity of claims brought in the name of a "decedent's estate". The Wills (Exhibits 3 and 4 attached) make clear that the only heir in fact to either estate is "the trust", a matter commented on in the Fifth Circuit Opinion. (Dkt 34-4)

24. The "Report" does not give a history of any litigation, does not mention the estate of Elmer Brunsting, Harris County Probate No. 412248 (Will filed April 2, 2012), does not mention the estate of Nelva Brunsting, Harris County Probate No. 412249 (Will filed April 2, 2012), even though the Report is filed under the 412249 case number and the Order (Dkt 25-A) specifically authorized investigation and reporting on the efficacy of the "estate" claims.

a. The “Report” also does not mention the Petition in Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-00592, or Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406, or the 164th Judicial District Court of Harris County No. 2013-05455 “estate of Nelva Brunsting” v Candace Kunz-Freed and Vacek and Freed, or that Carl Brunsting brought his complaint individually and as executor of the estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting in the probate Court, nor that the estate claims are virtually identical to those that had been pending in the Southern District of Texas since February of 2012.

b. The “Report” does not mention the federal injunction, does not mention the gap in activity in the “estate cases between April 5, 2013’s “Drop Orders” (Exhibits 5 and 6), the Inventory (Exhibit 7 attached), or the federal remand of May 2014 (Dkt 33-7 and 33-8), or the applications for letters dated October 17, 2014 (Exhibit 8 attached).

c. The “Report” does refer to Jason Ostrom’s alleged “2nd Amended Complaint” filed in the probate court under the heading of “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”. (Dkt 34-9)

25. Plaintiffs would again ask the Court to review Dkt 34-10 which is credible evidence of “bizarre” that actually exists, although the signed version appears to have been replaced with the unsigned version in the public record.⁵ (Exhibit A9 attached)

Defendant’s Exhibit A

26. Defendant's Exhibit A (Dkt 25-A) is the Order Appointing Temporary Administrator Gregory Lester. In the Order the Probate Court found that it had jurisdiction and venue over the Decedent’s Estate and authorized Mr. Lester to review the claims brought by the “estate” against 1) Candace Freed 2) Anita Kay Brunsting, 3) Amy Ruth Brunsting, and 4) Carole Ann Brunsting. The Order does not grant any authority to examine the claims brought by Plaintiff Carl Brunsting or Plaintiff Candace Curtis individually. None-the-less the report states:

⁵ Harris County Clerk public website case access

Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis have filed claims against Anita Kay Brunsting, Amy Ruth Brunsting (previously Tschirhart) and Carole Ann Brunsting in the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased, pending in Harris County Probate Court Number Four (4) under Cause Number 412,249 (hereinafter referred to as the "Probate Court Claims").

27. While the "Report" specifically avoids any mention of the TXSD case of Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-00592, it exhibits the Report of the Special Master with the federal case number listed across the top of every page referring to it thusly:

"This REPORT OF MASTER that was prepared in the case filed in the Southern District of Texas federal court case has the details of the Trust's income, expenses and distributions of stock. A copy of this report is attached hereto as the sixth exhibit."

28. The only exhibits in the "Report" are trust and not estate related instruments and there can be no plausible denial that the "Report" was nothing but a vehicle for threatening Plaintiff Curtis with injury to property rights if she did not agree to enter into a mediated settlement agreement. (See Dkt 26 pgs 3-31 and transcript of March 9, 2016 Dkt 26-16)

29. The Report exhibits include:

- a. The 2005 Restatement to the Brunsting Family inter vivos trust, Pg 11-97;
- b. The 2007 Amendment to the Brunsting Family inter vivos trust, Pg 98-99;
- c. The alleged December 21, 2010 appointment of successor trustees to the Brunsting Family inter vivos trusts, Pg 100-105;

Probate Mafia and Harris County Tomb Raiders

30. Plaintiff Curtis' original petition filed February 27, 2012, was dismissed under the probate exception and that is what sent Plaintiff on a journey to the Fifth Circuit. Anyone researching the Probate Exception will invariably be exposed to the "Probate Mafia". (Exhibit 10 attached)

31. Harris County Tomb Raiders is a term first observed by Plaintiffs in a recorded video of a hearing before the Texas Senate Committee on the Judiciary, October 11, 2006⁷, where one witness, a Robert Alpert⁸, gave an account of his experience in the Harris County Probate Court. His testimony contained remarkably similar descriptions of the means and methods complained of in the present complaint, a full ten full years later, and nothing appears to have changed. Where exactly Tomb Raiders was mentioned in the testimony Plaintiffs do not recall, as there are 12 recordings available and they cover a seven and one-half hour hearing session.

In Concert Aiding and Abetting

32. As previously stated, Ms. Young is charged with in concert aiding and abetting a conspiracy to loot the Brunsting trusts, that is fully documented on the Public record. A particular participant's part in the conspiracy does not have to be of great magnitude, but only a manifest part of the symphony of sound produced by the other instruments in concert.

33. The elements of aiding and abetting are 1) that the accused had specific intent to facilitate the commission of a crime by another; 2) That the accused had the requisite intent of the underlying substantive offense; 3) That the accused assisted or participated in the commission of the underlying substantive offense; and 4) That someone committed the underlying offense.⁹

34. Defendant Jill Willard Young does not offer exhibits to support her proclaimed vision of the facts she proffers. She does not exhibit her motion for permission for Greg Lester to retain her law firm (Exhibit 11), nor the order appointing her to “assist” Mr. Lester (Exhibit 2) and definitely not the report she assisted Mr. Lester in producing (Dkt 26-9).

Prosecuting State and Local Corruption

35. All of the states and most local governments have criminal statutes or codes which criminalize various aspects of corruption.

36. While there is no federal statute which is aimed specifically at state and local corruption, there are three statutes which have been generally utilized by federal prosecutors to prosecute state and local officials for acts of corruption. They are the mail and wire fraud statute, the Hobbs Act, and the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (“RICO”).

Hobbs Act – 18 USC §1951

37. The Hobbs Act, by its express language, makes it a crime to obstruct, delay, or affect commerce by robbery or extortion.

38. However, the statute, by a series of judicial decisions including a United States Supreme Court decision (See, United States v. Evans, 504 U.S. 255 [1992]), has been extended to cover practices best characterized as bribery. In that regard, all that has to be shown is that a public official has obtained a payment to which he was not entitled, knowing that the payment was made in return for official acts. This results in making the Hobbs Act similar to 18 USC

⁹ United States Attorney’s » Criminal Resource Manual » CRM 2000 - 2500 » Criminal Resource Manual 2401-2499 CRM 2474

§201, insofar as it covers bribery of a federal official. However, the statute would not cover mere receipt of gratuities, as under 18 USC §201, which is covered by the mail and wire fraud statutes.

39. While the Hobbs Act is limited to conduct that “obstructs, delays or affects interstate commerce [commerce between two or more states],” this requirement is hardly any requirement at all, since all that is needed is a small or practically negligible effect.

40. A Hobbs Act violation may serve as the foundation for RICO offenses.

Mail and Wire Fraud – 18 USC §§1341 (Mail), 1343 (Wire)

41. The mail and wire fraud statutes were enacted as anti-fraud statutes, designed to combat, as criminal, the common law crime of larceny by trick. Even though the statutes’ terms do not specifically embrace corruption, they are extensively used to prosecute acts of public corruption.

42. For mail fraud, the prosecutor must prove only (a) a scheme to defraud, and (b) the mailing of a letter for the purpose of executing the scheme; and for wire fraud, the prosecutor must prove only (a) a scheme to defraud, and (b) the use of interstate wire communications in furtherance of the scheme. For purposes of the statute, the requisite mailing can be done through the postal service or a private carrier, and the requisite wire communications include radio transmissions, telephone calls and e-mails. Significantly, the requisite mailing or wiring need not itself contain any fraudulent information and may be entirely innocent. However, they must be shown to be at least a “step” in the scheme. (Schmuck v. United States, 489 U.S. 705, 712 [1989]).

43. With respect to the statutes’ use in public corruption cases, a fraudulent scheme includes “a scheme . . . to deprive another of the intangible right of honest services.” (18 USC

44. A typical “honest services” corruption case arises in two situations. First, “bribery” where the public official was paid for a particular decision or action, which includes a pattern of gratuities over a period of time to obtain favorable action. Secondly, “failure to disclose” a conflict of interest, resulting in personal enrichment, which encompasses circumstances where the official has an express or implied duty to inform others of the official’s personal relationship to the matter at hand, even though no public harm occurred or there was no misuse of office.

45. As to the “conflict of interest” situation, the basis for its condemnation is that “[w]hen an official fails to disclose a personal interest in a matter over which he has decision-making power, the public is deprived of its right either to disinterested decision making itself or, as the case may be, to full disclosure as to the official’s potential motivation behind an official act.” (United States v. Sawyer, 85 F3d 713, 724 [1st Cir. 1966]). Notably, a person who holds no public office but participates substantially in the operation of government, e.g., a political party leader, may be subject to prosecution under an “honest services” theory. (See, United States v. Margiotta, 688 F.2d 108 [2d Cir. 1982]).

Federal Conspiracy Laws

46. Federal conspiracy laws rest on the belief that criminal schemes are equally or more reprehensible than are the substantive offenses to which they are devoted. The Supreme Court has explained that a “collective criminal agreement—[a] partnership in crime—presents a greater potential threat to the public than individual delicts. Concerted action both increases the likelihood that the criminal object will be successfully attained and decreases the probability that the individuals involved will depart from their path of criminality.”¹⁰ Moreover, observed the Court, “[g]roup association for criminal purposes often, if not normally, makes possible the attainment of ends more complex than those which one criminal could accomplish. Nor is the danger of a conspiratorial group limited to the particular end toward which it has embarked.”¹¹ Finally, “[c]ombination in crime makes more likely the commission of crimes unrelated to the original purpose for which the group was formed.”¹² In sum, “the danger which a conspiracy generates is not confined to the substantive offense which is the immediate aim of the enterprise.”¹³ Congress and the courts have fashioned federal conspiracy law accordingly.¹⁴

Conclusion

47. Ms. Young drafted the motion asking to be appointed to “assist Mr. Lester in his fiduciary duties” (Exhibit 11 attached) and admits to participating in the production of the “Gregory Lester Report” (Dkt 26-9 E394-E403) but seeks to hide her participation in the conduct of the affairs of the enterprise as “attorney” conduct entitling Ms. Young to impunity.

There have long been contrary views, e.g., Sayre, Criminal Conspiracy, 35 HARVARD LAW REVIEW 393, 393 (1922) (“A doctrine so vague in its outlines and uncertain in its fundamental nature as criminal conspiracy lends no strength or glory to the law; it is a veritable quicksand of shifting opinion and ill-considered thought”); Hyde v. United States, 222 U.S. 347, 387 (1912) (Holmes, J, with Lurton, Hughes 7 Lamarr, JJ.) (dissenting) (“And as wherever two or more have united for the commission of a crime there is a conspiracy, the opening to oppression thus made is very wide indeed. It is even wider if success should be held not to merge the conspiracy in the crime intended and achieved”), both quoted in substantial part in Katyal, Conspiracy Theory, 112 YALE LAW JOURNAL 1307, 1310 n. 6 (2003)

¹⁴ Federal prosecutors have used, and been encouraged to use, the law available to them, Harrison v. United States, 7 F.2d 259, 263 (2d Cir. 1925) (“[C]onspiracy, that darling of the modern prosecutor’s nursery”); United States v. Reynolds, 919 F.2d 435, 439 (7th Cir. 1990) (“[P]rosecutors seem to have conspiracy on their word processors as Count I”); Chesney, Terrorism, Criminal Prosecution, and the Preventive Detention Debate, 50 SOUTH TEXAS LAW REVIEW 669, 684 (2009) (“What options do prosecutors have in the terrorism-prevention scenario when [other charges] are unavailable for lack of evidence linking the suspect to a designated foreign terrorist organization? One possibility is conspiracy liability”).

48. It necessarily follows that an independent report on the efficacy of the estate claims would have revealed a complete absence of jurisdiction over the very things the report speaks to.

49. Where there is no court of competent jurisdiction, there is no judge and no litigation, and consequently Defendant's immunity claims collapse under the weight of the complete absence of jurisdiction in any state court. (See Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406, 409-410 and Lexis HN 6)

50. All of the Defendants are accused of violating 18 U.S.C. 1962(c), which prohibits participation in the conduct of the affairs of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity affecting interstate commerce, and 18 U.S.C. 1962(d), conspiracy to violate 18 U.S.C. 1962(c).

51. Jill Willard Young's participation is directly related to the fraudulent report of Gregory Lester, used to promote their substantive resolution avoidance and mediated settlement diversion scheme, which can only be explained by these Defendants' knowledge of the Court's complete want of jurisdiction.

52. Defendant Jill Willard Young was present at the September 10, 2015 hearing, that plaintiffs have been unable to obtain a transcript of.

53. However, Defendant Neal Spielman's March 9, 2016 diatribe, (Dkt 26-16) referring to the September 10, 2015 hearing, evidences the "Report" to be the product of the Defendants' own dictation and, while the report admits "I was told" as a source for information, The report never mentions who told Lester what to write.

54. These lawyer Defendants, in concert, attempted to conceal Curtis v. Brunsting in the probate record as if it was the "estate of Nelva Brunsting" and then, knowing there was no authority to determine any matters related to the Brunsting trusts they all conspired together to avoid rulings on the merits and to attempt to intimidate the non-participant into attending a “mediation” where she could be further impressed with the threat to her property interests if she did not rollover on her rights and surrender property by settlement agreement.

55. Defendant attempts to deceive this Court into believing the underlying matter is related to an inheritance or an expectancy, but Plaintiff Curtis is an equitable property owner whose property interest was fully vested at the creation of the family trusts in 1996 and the death of Elmer Brunsting and Nelva Brunsting elevated her to a property owner with a primary right of consideration under the undisturbed terms of the irrevocable trusts.

56. Plaintiff Curtis’ trust property has been withheld and that property continues to be illicitly held hostage to attorney fees and absolution ransoms Plaintiff does not owe.

57. Plaintiff Curtis and her domestic partner Plaintiff Munson have incurred substantial expense, expended efforts and suffered constant character attacks, been forced to divert quality time and capital assets away from local and domestic concerns in a productive life, to defend her property interests in Texas for more than 4 and one-half years, and the participants in the involuntary wealth redistribution scheme claim Plaintiffs have suffered no tangible injury.

58. Defendant also claims that some of the predicate acts do not provide a private right of claims, but that is not what 18 U.S.C. §1964(c) says about injury suffered as direct and proximate result of a pattern of racketeering activity involving such acts.

59. The only subject of the Jill Willard Young/Gregory Lester report is not the estate but the money cow trust, not properly in the custody of any state court.

60. There is not a single mention of the wills, the pour over provisions, the identity of the only heir, the inventory containing only an old car, or the “estate claims”, and it does not mention the drop orders or any other “estate” related matters, yet seeks to legitimize “estate claims” involving only the beneficiaries of the “heir-in-fact” trust.

61. Candace Curtis and her siblings are beneficiaries of “the trust” and, therefore, derivatively the only real parties in interest.

62. In essence, the “decedent’s estate” is suing “heirs in fact” (trust beneficiaries) in probate court, for trespasses committed against the “heir in fact” (trust) during the lifetime of the decedent.

63. Plaintiff Curtis’ federal petition was amended by Defendant Ostrom to join Plaintiff Carl Brunsting, to pollute diversity, in order to affect a remand to state court, where Plaintiff Curtis could be consolidated as a “defendant” in the “estate” lawsuit involving only the trust.

64. Any award from the estate lawsuits would belong to the “heir in fact” (trust), minus attorney and appointee fees from years of litigation involving an estate with no assets, in a court with no subject matter jurisdiction, whose judgments would all be void ab initio and would in any event guarantee a successful reversal on appeal by either party, with no resolution in sight forever and ever, while Anita, Amy, and their attorneys hold disposition of the trust hostage.

65. This is indeed a bazaar conspiracy theory but it is not a box office thriller. It is a reality embedded in the public record and one need look no further than the public record for the evidence that supports Plaintiffs’ claims.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs respectfully move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Motion to Dismiss filed by Defendant Jill Willard Young August 14, 2016. (Dkt 25)

Respectfully submitted, October 2, 2016.

Civil Action No. 4:16-cv-01969

DEFENDANT JILL WILLARD YOUNG’S MOTION FOR SANCTIONS

On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a frivolous, 64-page “Verified Complaint” consisting of facially preposterous criminal accusations, blatant mischaracterizations of fact, and boilerplate recitations of law that are plainly insufficient to survive dismissal. On September 15, 2016, Defendant Young filed her Motion to Dismiss. And on September 27, 2016, Defendant Young sent Plaintiffs a letter, informing them that, in accordance with the safe-harbor procedure of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11, she would be filing this Motion for Sanctions on October 19, 2016, if Plaintiffs did not dismiss their Complaint against her with prejudice. But Plaintiffs have ignored Ms. Young’s letter and Motions.

Plaintiffs’ frivolous pleadings meaninglessly and wrongfully denigrate the reputation of Ms. Young, a prominent, hard-working Houston lawyer. Despite opportunities to nonsuit their meritless suit, Plaintiffs have refused to do so. Thus, Plaintiffs should be required to reimburse Ms. Young’s attorney’s fees pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11.

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

Filing a RICO action in federal court is not a proper substitute for appealing an unfavorable ruling, nor is it an appropriate means of seeking revenge against opposing and court-appointed counsel. See Chapman & Cole v. Itel Container Int'l B.V., 865 F.2d 676, 685 (5th Cir. 1989) (“[I]t should be noted that an attorney’s responsibility to conduct a reasonable pre-filing investigation is particularly important in RICO claims.”) (emphasis added). Because the claims asserted by Plaintiffs are both legally and factually frivolous, Ms. Young should be awarded attorneys’ fees and costs under Fed. R. Civ. P. 11.

I. The Rule 11 Standard

Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b), by presenting the Court a signed pleading, an “unrepresented party certifies that to the best of the person’s knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances” that:

- (1) it is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of litigation;
- (2) the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for extending, modifying, or reversing existing law or for establishing new law;
- (3) the factual contentions have evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, will likely have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(1)-(3). “Compliance with these affirmative duties is measured as of the time that the document is signed.” Childs v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 29 F.3d 1018, 1024 (5th Cir. 1994). And whether a pleading meets this requirements is measured “by an objective, not subjective, standard of reasonableness under the circumstances.” Thomas v. Capital Sec. Servs., Inc., 836 F.2d 866, 873 (5th Cir. 1988).

“[I]f, after notice and a reasonable opportunity to respond, the court determines that Rule 11(b) has been violated, the court may impose an appropriate sanction on any attorney, law firm, or party that violated the rule or is responsible for the violation.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(c)(1); see also Fed. R. Civ. P. 11 Advisory Committee Notes (“Even though it is the attorney whose signature violates the rule, it may be appropriate under the circumstances of the case to impose a sanction on the client.”).

II. Plaintiffs have violated Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(2) by filing legally frivolous claims.

Plaintiffs have ignored longstanding attorney immunity doctrines, have alleged six causes of action for which they have no private cause of action, and failed to plead facts showing even the most basic elements of their RICO “claim.”

A. Plaintiffs ignore attorney immunity.

Plaintiffs have ignored long-established immunity doctrines that protect attorneys from suit by opposing parties and non-clients. Indeed, the affirmative defense of immunity is apparent on the face of the Complaint.

Under Texas law, it is settled that “attorneys are immune from civil liability . . . ‘for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.’” Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) (quoting Alpert v. Crain, Caton & James, P.C., 178 S.W.3d 398, 405 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2005, pet. denied)). The only exceptions to this rule of immunity are if an attorney engages in conduct that is “entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney,” or if the conduct “does not involve the provision of legal services and would thus fall outside the scope of client representation.” Id. at 482 (quoting Poole v. Hous. & T.C. Ry. Co., 58 Tex. 134, 137 (1882)). However, a plaintiff cannot evade attorney immunity by simply “labeling an attorney’s conduct ‘fraudulent.’” Id. at 483 (quoting Alpert, 178 S.W.3d at 406).

In this case, Plaintiffs have not pled any facts showing Ms. Young, who served as counsel for the Temporary Administrator in the underlying lawsuit, took any actions outside the normal discharge of her duties in representing her client. See Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 348 (5th Cir. 2016) (attorney’s conduct in sending a letter, participating in discovery, and communicating with SEC about client were “classic examples of an attorney’s conduct in representing his client”).

B. Plaintiffs plead claims for which there exists no private right of action.

Plaintiffs allege three causes of action for “honest services,” along with causes of action for wire fraud, fraud under 18 USC § 1001, and violation of the Hobbs Act. See Complaint, at ¶¶ 121–123. But those are criminal causes of action that cannot be pursued by a private plaintiff. See Motion to Dismiss [DKT. 25], at pp. 13–16.

C. Plaintiffs’ accusations are baseless and delusional.

Plaintiffs accuse Ms. Young of what can best be described as fictional acts--being a member of a secret society and “cabal” known as the “Harris County Tomb Raiders,” which Plaintiffs also call “The Probate Mafia.” See, e.g., Complaint, at ¶¶ 57, 58, 89. Plaintiffs allege the members of this purported shadow organization engage in “Poser Advocacy,” supposedly an “exploitation opportunity” to “hijack” “familial wealth.” Id. at ¶¶ 95–99. Not surprisingly, Plaintiffs do not even try to accompany their made-up story with supporting facts. The reality is unavoidable—their complaint is a bizarre, sophomoric attempt to seek revenge for being on the losing end of trust and estate determinations that have already been fully litigated in Texas state court.

Less fantastical efforts to concoct a federal claim against judges and opposing attorneys have been routinely dismissed. See, e.g., Freeman v. Texas, No. H-08-2050, 2008 WL 4155346, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Sept. 2, 2008) (Rosenthal, J.) (dismissing RICO claims against probate judges, attorneys, and clerks for failure to plead a racketeering activity). And other courts in this Circuit have held that almost identical allegations made by pro se litigants should be dismissed and were sanctionable. See Whitehead v. White & Case, LLP, 12-CV-0399, 2012 WL 1795151, at *2 (W.D. La. Apr. 19, 2012), report and recommendation adopted, 12-CV-0399, 2012 WL 1795148

(W.D. La. May 16, 2012) (dismissing a pro se plaintiff's conspiracy claims against judges, magistrate judges, attorneys and law firms, as "frivolous and vexatious" and sanctioning the pro se plaintiff).

Thus, Plaintiffs' allegations fail to satisfy Rule 11. Specifically, Plaintiffs' Complaint against Ms. Young—devoid of any allegation of actual wrongdoing—can only be brought for improper purposes, like harassment or to needlessly increase the cost of litigation. Plaintiffs' Complaint is in no way warranted by existing law, and Plaintiffs' contentions completely lack any sort of factual or evidentiary support. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(1)-(3). Ms. Young has also specifically informed Plaintiffs multiple times of the legal defects in their Complaint and the authority showing Plaintiffs' arguments are meritless, both in Ms. Young's filing of her Motion to Dismiss and by serving this Motion for Sanctions on Plaintiffs twenty-one days before filing it with the Court. But Plaintiffs have refused to dismiss their Complaint against Ms. Young. This, too, means sanctions are necessary. See also Taylor v. C.I.R., 350 Fed. Appx. 913, 915 (5th Cir. 2009) ("Sanctions on pro se litigants are appropriate if they were warned that their claims are frivolous and they were aware of 'ample legal authority holding squarely against them.'").

CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs have filed a frivolous and facially-deficient lawsuit, and Ms. Young respectfully requests that the Court require Plaintiffs and their attorneys to pay her attorneys' fees in defending this suit and pursuing the relief requested herein. See Ex. A, Aff. of Robert S. Harrell.

Article II

Testamentary Gifts

I give, devise and bequeath all of my property and estate, real, personal or mixed, wherever situated, to my revocable living trust; the name of my revocable living trust is:

PURPORTED WILL

All of such property and estate shall be held, managed, and distributed as directed in such trust. The exact terms of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST will govern the administration of my estate and the distribution of income and principal during administration. It is my intent and purpose that the tax planning provisions of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST apply, and that my estate pass for the benefit of my family with the least possible amount of death taxes.

If my revocable living trust is not in effect at my death for any reason whatsoever, then all of my property shall be disposed of under the terms of my revocable living trust as if it were in full force and effect on the date of my death, and such terms are hereby incorporated herein for all purposes.

Article III

Appointment of Personal Representative

I appoint ELMER H. BRUNSTING as my Personal Representative. In the event ELMER H. BRUNSTING fails or ceases to serve for any reason, I appoint the following individuals as my Personal Representative to serve in the following order:

First, CARL HENRY BRUNSTING

Second, AMY RUTH TSCHIRHART

Third, CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS

The term "Personal Representative" will mean and refer to the office of Independent Executor and Trustee collectively. Reference to Personal Representative in the singular will include the plural, the masculine will include the feminine, and the term is to be construed in context. A Personal Representative will not be required to furnish a fiduciary bond or other security. I direct that no action be required in the county or probate court in relation to the settlement of my estate other than the probate and recording of my Will and the return of an inventory, appraisal and list of claims as required by law.

Article IV

Payment of Debts, Taxes, Settlement Costs and Exercise of Elections

The following directions concern the payment of debts, taxes, estate settlement costs, and the exercise of any election permitted by Texas law or by the Internal Revenue Code. The Personal Representative of my estate and the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST may act jointly and may treat the property of my estate subject to probate and the property of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST as one fund for the purpose of paying debts, taxes, estate settlement costs, and making of elections.

Section A. Payment of Indebtedness and Settlement Costs

The Personal Representative will have the discretionary authority to pay from my estate subject to probate the costs reasonably and lawfully required to settle my estate.

Section B. Special Bequests

If property given as a special bequest or gift is subject to a mortgage or other security interest, the designated recipient of the property will take the asset subject to the obligation and the recipient's assumption of the indebtedness upon distribution of the asset to the recipient. The obligation to be assumed shall be the principal balance of the indebtedness on date of death, and the Personal Representative shall be entitled to reimbursement or offset for principal and interest payments paid by my estate to date of distribution.

Section C. Estate, Generation Skipping, or Other Death Tax

Unless otherwise provided in this will or by the terms of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST, estate, inheritance, succession, or other similar tax shall be charged to and apportioned among those whose gifts or distributive share generate a death tax liability by reason of my death or by reason of a taxable termination or a taxable distribution under the generation skipping provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. To the extent I may lawfully provide, the Personal Representative may pay and deduct from a beneficiary's distributive share (whether the distribution is to be paid outright or is to be continued in trust) the increment in taxes payable by reason of a required distribution or termination of interest

(i.e., estate, gift, inheritance, or generation skipping taxes) to the extent that the total of such taxes payable by reason of a distribution or termination is greater than the tax which would have been imposed if the property or interest subject to the distribution or termination of interest has not been taken into account in determining the amount of such tax. To the extent a tax liability results from the distribution of property to a beneficiary other than under this will or under the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST, the Personal Representative will have the authority to reduce any distribution to the beneficiary from my estate by the amount of the tax liability apportioned to the beneficiary, or if the distribution is insufficient, the Personal Representative will have the authority to proceed against the beneficiary for his, her, or its share of the tax liability. In making an allocation, my Personal Representative may consider all property included in my gross estate for federal estate tax purposes, including all amounts paid or payable to another as the result of my death, including life insurance proceeds, proceeds from a qualified retirement plan or account, proceeds from a joint and survivorship account with a financial institution or brokerage company, proceeds from a buy-sell or redemption contract, and/or any other plan or policy which provides for a payment of death benefits. This provision further contemplates and includes any tax which results from the inclusion of a prior transfer in my federal gross estate even though possession of the property previously transferred is vested in someone other than my Personal Representative. This provision does not include a reduction in the unified credit by reason of taxable gifts made by me. If the Personal Representative determines that collection of an apportioned tax liability against another is not economically feasible or probable, the tax liability will be paid by my estate and will reduce the amount distributable to the residuary beneficiaries. The Personal Representative's judgment with regard to the feasibility of collection is to be conclusive.

Section D. Election, Qualified Terminable Interest Property

The Personal Representative may, without liability for doing so or the failure to do so, elect to treat all or a part of my estate which passes in trust for ELMER H. BRUNSTING under the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST, in which ELMER H. BRUNSTING has an income right for life, as Qualified Terminable Interest Property pursuant to the requirements of Section 2056(b)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code. To the extent that an election is made, and unless ELMER H. BRUNSTING shall issue a direction to the contrary, the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST will pay from the irrevocable share the entire increment in the taxes payable by reason of the death of ELMER H. BRUNSTING to the extent that the total of such taxes is greater than would have been imposed if the property treated as qualified terminable interest property has not been taken into account in determining such taxes. It is my intent and purpose to provide my Personal Representative with the greatest latitude in making this election so that the least amount of federal estate tax will be payable upon my death and upon the death of ELMER H. BRUNSTING, and this provision is to be applied and construed to accomplish this objective. The Personal Representative is to make distributions of income and principal to the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST until my total estate subject to probate and administration is distributed to the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST.

Section E. Special Election for Qualified Terminable Interest Property

For the purpose of identifying the "transferor" in allocating a GST exemption, my estate may elect to treat all of the property which passes in trust to a surviving spouse for which a marital deduction is allowed, by reason of Section 2056(b)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code, as if the election to be treated as Qualified Terminable Interest Property had not been made. Reference to the "Special Election For Qualified Terminable Interest Property" will mean and identify the election provided by Section 2652(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code. The term "GST Exemption" or "GST Exemption Amount" is the dollar amount of property which may pass as generation skipping transfers under Subtitle B, Chapter 13, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (entitled "Tax on Generation Skipping Transfers") which is exempt from the generation-skipping tax.

Section F. Elective Deductions

The Personal Representative will have the discretionary authority to claim any obligation, expense, cost or loss as a deduction against either estate tax or income tax, or to make any election provided by Texas law, the Internal Revenue Code, or other applicable law, and the Personal Representative's decision will be conclusive and binding upon all interested parties and shall be effective without obligation to make an equitable adjustment or apportionment between or among the beneficiaries of my estate or the estate of a deceased beneficiary:

Article V

Service of the Personal Representative

A Personal Representative may exercise, without court supervision (or the least supervision permitted by law), all powers and authority given to executors and trustees by the laws of the State of Texas and by this will.

04032012:1010:00045

Section A. Possession, Assets, Records

My Personal Representative will have the authority to take possession of the property of my estate and the right to obtain and possess as custodian any and all documents and records relating to the ownership of property.

Section B. Retain Property in Form Received, Sale

My Personal Representative will have authority to retain, without liability, any and all property in the form in which it is received by the Personal Representative without regard to its productivity or the proportion that any one asset or class of assets may bear to the whole. My Personal Representative will not have liability nor responsibility for loss of income from or depreciation in the value of property which was retained in the form which the Personal Representative received them. My Personal Representative will have the authority to acquire, hold, and sell undivided interests in property, both real and personal, including undivided interests in business or investment property.

Section C. Investment Authority

My Personal Representative will have discretionary investment authority, and will not be liable for loss of income or depreciation on the value of an investment if, at the time the investment was made and under the facts and circumstances then existing, the investment was reasonable.

Section D. Power of Sale, Other Disposition

My Personal Representative will have the authority at any time and from time to time to sell, exchange, lease and/or otherwise dispose of legal and equitable title to any property upon such terms and conditions, and for such consideration, as my representative will consider reasonable. The execution of any document of conveyance, or lease by the Personal Representative will be sufficient to transfer complete title to the interest conveyed without the joinder, ratification, or consent of any person beneficially interested in the property, the estate, or trust. No purchaser, tenant, transferee or obligor will have any obligation whatsoever to see to the application of payments made to my Personal Representative. My Personal Representative will also have the authority to borrow or lend money, secured or unsecured, upon such terms and conditions and for such reasons as may be perceived as reasonable at the time the loan was made or obtained.

Section E. Partial, Final Distributions

My Personal Representative, in making or preparing to make a partial or final distribution from the estate or a trust, will prepare an accounting and may require, as a condition to payment, a written and acknowledged statement from each distributee that the accounting has been thoroughly examined and accepted as correct; a discharge of the Personal Representative; a release from any loss, liability, claim or question concerning the exercise of due care, skill, and prudence of the Personal Representative in the management, investment, retention, and distribution of property during the representative's term of service, except for any undisclosed error or omission having basis in fraud or bad faith; and an indemnity of the Personal Representative, to include the payment of attorneys' fees, from any asserted claim of any taxing agency, governmental authority, or other claimant. Any beneficiary having a question or potential claim may require an audit of the estate or trust as an expense of administration. Failure to require the audit prior to written acceptance of the Personal Representative's report, or the acceptance of payment, will operate as a final release and discharge of the Personal Representative except as to any error or omission having basis in fraud or bad faith.

Section F. Partition, Undivided Interests

My Personal Representative, in making or preparing to make a partial or final distribution from the estate or a trust, will have the authority (1) to partition any asset or class of assets and deliver divided and segregated interests to beneficiaries; (2) to sell any asset or class of assets (whether or not susceptible to partition in kind), and deliver to the beneficiaries a divided interest in the proceeds of sale and/or a divided or undivided interest in any note and security arrangement taken as part of the purchase price; and/or (3) to deliver undivided interests in an asset or class of assets of the beneficiaries subject to any indebtedness which may be secured by the property.

Section G. Accounting

My Personal Representative will render at least annually a statement of account showing receipts, disbursements, and distributions of both principal and income during the period of accounting and a statement of the invested and uninvested principal and the undistributed income at the time of such statement.

Section H. Protection of Beneficiaries

No beneficiary will have the power to anticipate, encumber or transfer any interest in my estate. No part of my estate or any trust will be liable for or charged with any debts, contracts, liabilities or torts of a beneficiary or be subject to seizure or other process by any creditor of a beneficiary.

Section I. Consultants, Professional Assistance

My Personal Representative will have the authority to employ such consultants and professional help as needed to assist with the prudent administration of the estate and any trust. Any representative, other than a corporate fiduciary, may delegate, by an agency agreement or otherwise, to any state or national banking corporation with trust powers any one or more of the following administrative functions: custody and safekeeping of assets; record keeping and accounting, including accounting reports to beneficiaries; and/or investment authority. The expense of the agency, or other arrangement, will be paid as an expense of administration.

Section J. Compensation

Any person who serves as Personal Representative may elect to receive a reasonable compensation, reasonable compensation to be measured by the time required in the administration of the estate or a trust and the responsibility assumed in the discharge of the duties of office. The fee schedules of area trust departments prescribing fees for the same or similar services may be used to establish reasonable compensation. A corporate or banking trustee will be entitled to receive as its compensation such fees as are then prescribed by its published schedule of charges for estates or trusts of similar size and nature and additional compensation for extraordinary services performed by the corporate representative. My Personal Representative will be entitled to full reimbursement for expenses, costs, or other obligations incurred as the result of service, including attorney's, accountant's and other professional fees.

Section K. Documenting Succession

A person serving as Personal Representative may fail or cease to serve by reason of death, resignation or legal disability. Succession may be documented by an affidavit of fact prepared by the successor, filed of record in the probate or deed records of the county in which this will is admitted to probate. The public and all persons interested in or dealing with my Personal Representative may rely upon the evidence of succession provided by a certified copy of the recorded affidavit, and I bind my estate and those who are its beneficial owners to indemnify and hold harmless any person, firm, or agency from any loss sustained in relying upon the recorded affidavit.

Article VI

No-Contest Requirements

I vest in my Personal Representative the authority to construe this will and to resolve all matters pertaining to disputed issues or controverted claims. I do not want to burden my estate with the cost of a litigated proceeding to resolve questions of law or fact unless that proceeding is originated by my Personal Representative or with the Personal Representative's written permission. Any other person, agency or organization who originates (or who shall cause to be instituted) a judicial proceeding to construe or contest this will or to resolve any claim or controversy in the nature of reimbursement, constructive or resulting trust or other theory which, if assumed as true, would enlarge (or originate) the claimant's interest in my estate, will forfeit any amount to which that person, agency or organization is or may be entitled, and the interest of any such litigant or contestant will pass as if he or she or it had predeceased me.

These directions will apply even though the person, agency or organization shall be found by a court of law to have originated the judicial proceeding in good faith and with probable cause, and even though the proceeding may seek nothing more than to construe the application of this no-contest provision. However, the no-contest provision is to be limited in application as to any claim filed by ELMER H. BRUNSTING, to the exclusion thereof if necessary, to the extent it may deny my estate the benefit of the federal estate tax marital deduction.

THIS WILL is signed by me in the presence of two (2) witnesses, and signed by the witnesses in my presence on January 12, 2005.

OF

ELMER H. BRUNSTING

412218

I, ELMER HENRY BRUNSTING, also known as ELMER H. BRUNSTING, of Harris County, Texas, make this Will and revoke all of my prior wills and codicils.

Article I

My Family

I am married and my spouse's name is NELVA E. BRUNSTING.

All references to "my spouse" in my Will are to NELVA E. BRUNSTING.

The names and birth dates of my children are:

| Name | Birth Date |
|-----------------------|-------------------|
| CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS | March 12, 1953 |
| CAROL ANN BRUNSTING | October 16, 1954 |
| CARL HENRY BRUNSTING | July 31, 1957 |
| AMY RUTH TSCHIRHART | October 7, 1961 |
| ANITA KAY RILEY | August 7, 1963 |

All references to my children in my will are to these children, as well as any children subsequently born to me, or legally adopted by me.

Article II

Testamentary Gifts

I give, devise and bequeath all of my property and estate, real, personal or mixed, wherever situated, to my revocable living trust; the name of my revocable living trust is:

04052012:1010:50025

ELMER H. BRUNSTING or NELVA E. BRUNSTING, Trustees, or the successor Trustees, under the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST dated October 10, 1996, as amended.

All of such property and estate shall be held, managed, and distributed as directed in such trust. The exact terms of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST will govern the administration of my estate and the distribution of income and principal during administration. It is my intent and purpose that the tax planning provisions of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST apply, and that my estate pass for the benefit of my family with the least possible amount of death taxes.

If my revocable living trust is not in effect at my death for any reason whatsoever, then all of my property shall be disposed of under the terms of my revocable living trust as if it were in full force and effect on the date of my death, and such terms are hereby incorporated herein for all purposes.

Article III

Appointment of Personal Representative

I appoint NELVA E. BRUNSTING as my Personal Representative. In the event NELVA E. BRUNSTING fails or ceases to serve for any reason, I appoint the following individuals as my Personal Representative to serve in the following order:

First, CARL HENRY BRUNSTING

Second, AMY RUTH TSCHIRHART

Third, CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS

The term "Personal Representative" will mean and refer to the office of Independent Executor and Trustee collectively. Reference to Personal Representative in the singular will include the plural, the masculine will include the feminine, and the term is to be construed in context. A Personal Representative will not be required to furnish a fiduciary bond or other security. I direct that no action be required in the county or probate court in relation to the settlement of my estate other than the probate and recording of my Will and the return of an inventory, appraisal and list of claims as required by law.

Article IV

Payment of Debts, Taxes, Settlement Costs and Exercise of Elections

The following directions concern the payment of debts, taxes, estate settlement costs, and the exercise of any election permitted by Texas law or by the Internal Revenue Code. The Personal Representative of my estate and the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST may act jointly and may treat the property of my estate subject to probate and the property of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST as one fund for the purpose of paying debts, taxes, estate settlement costs, and making of elections.

Section A. Payment of Indebtedness and Settlement Costs

The Personal Representative will have the discretionary authority to pay from my estate subject to probate the costs reasonably and lawfully required to settle my estate.

Section B. Special Bequests

If property given as a special bequest or gift is subject to a mortgage or other security interest, the designated recipient of the property will take the asset subject to the obligation and the recipient's assumption of the indebtedness upon distribution of the asset to the recipient. The obligation to be assumed shall be the principal balance of the indebtedness on date of death, and the Personal Representative shall be entitled to reimbursement or offset for principal and interest payments paid by my estate to date of distribution.

Section C. Estate, Generation Skipping, or Other Death Tax

Unless otherwise provided in this will or by the terms of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST, estate, inheritance, succession, or other similar tax shall be charged to and apportioned among those whose gifts or distributive share generate a death tax liability by reason of my death or by reason of a taxable termination or a taxable distribution under the generation skipping provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. To the extent I may lawfully provide, the Personal Representative may pay and deduct from a beneficiary's distributive share (whether the distribution is to be paid outright or is to be continued in trust) the increment in taxes payable by reason of a required distribution or termination of interest

04032012 10:09:00

050051010190090

(i.e., estate, gift, inheritance, or generation skipping taxes) to the extent that the total of such taxes payable by reason of a distribution or termination is greater than the tax which would have been imposed if the property or interest subject to the distribution or termination of interest has not been taken into account in determining the amount of such tax. To the extent a tax liability results from the distribution of property to a beneficiary other than under this will or under the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST, the Personal Representative will have the authority to reduce any distribution to the beneficiary from my estate by the amount of the tax liability apportioned to the beneficiary, or if the distribution is insufficient, the Personal Representative will have the authority to proceed against the beneficiary for his, her, or its share of the tax liability. In making an allocation, my Personal Representative may consider all property included in my gross estate for federal estate tax purposes, including all amounts paid or payable to another as the result of my death, including life insurance proceeds, proceeds from a qualified retirement plan or account, proceeds from a joint and survivorship account with a financial institution or brokerage company, proceeds from a buy-sell or redemption contract, and/or any other plan or policy which provides for a payment of death benefits. This provision further contemplates and includes any tax which results from the inclusion of a prior transfer in my federal gross estate even though possession of the property previously transferred is vested in someone other than my Personal Representative. This provision does not include a reduction in the unified credit by reason of taxable gifts made by me. If the Personal Representative determines that collection of an apportioned tax liability against another is not economically feasible or probable, the tax liability will be paid by my estate and will reduce the amount distributable to the residuary beneficiaries. The Personal Representative's judgment with regard to the feasibility of collection is to be conclusive.

Section D. Election, Qualified Terminable Interest Property

The Personal Representative may, without liability for doing so or the failure to do so, elect to treat all or a part of my estate which passes in trust for NELVA E. BRUNSTING under the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST, in which NELVA E. BRUNSTING has an income right for life, as Qualified Terminable Interest Property pursuant to the requirements of Section 2056(b)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code. To the extent that an election is made, and unless NELVA E. BRUNSTING shall issue a direction to the contrary, the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST will pay from the irrevocable share the entire increment in the taxes payable by reason of the death of NELVA E. BRUNSTING to the extent that the total of such taxes is greater than would have been imposed if the property treated as qualified terminable interest property has not been taken into account in determining such taxes. It is my intent and purpose to provide my Personal Representative with the greatest latitude in making this election so that the least amount of federal estate tax will be payable upon my death and upon the death of NELVA E. BRUNSTING, and this provision is to be applied and construed to accomplish this objective. The Personal Representative is to make distributions of income and principal to the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST until my total estate subject to probate and administration is distributed to the Trustee of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST.

Section E. Special Election for Qualified Terminable Interest Property

For the purpose of identifying the "transferor" in allocating a GST exemption, my estate may elect to treat all of the property which passes in trust to a surviving spouse for which a marital deduction is allowed, by reason of Section 2056(b)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code, as if the election to be treated as Qualified Terminable Interest Property had not been made. Reference to the "Special Election For Qualified Terminable Interest Property" will mean and identify the election provided by Section 2652(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code. The term "GST Exemption" or "GST Exemption Amount" is the dollar amount of property which may pass as generation skipping transfers under Subtitle B, Chapter 13, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (entitled "Tax on Generation Skipping Transfers") which is exempt from the generation-skipping tax.

Section F. Elective Deductions

The Personal Representative will have the discretionary authority to claim any obligation, expense, cost or loss as a deduction against either estate tax or income tax, or to make any election provided by Texas law, the Internal Revenue Code, or other applicable law, and the Personal Representative's decision will be conclusive and binding upon all interested parties and shall be effective without obligation to make an equitable adjustment or apportionment between or among the beneficiaries of my estate or the estate of a deceased beneficiary.

Article V

Service of the Personal Representative

A Personal Representative may exercise, without court supervision (or the least supervision permitted by law), all powers and authority given to executors and trustees by the laws of the State of Texas and by this will.

04032012:1010:80032

Section A. Possession, Assets, Records

My Personal Representative will have the authority to take possession of the property of my estate and the right to obtain and possess as custodian any and all documents and records relating to the ownership of property.

Section B. Retain Property in Form Received, Sale

My Personal Representative will have authority to retain, without liability, any and all property in the form in which it is received by the Personal Representative without regard to its productivity or the proportion that any one asset or class of assets may bear to the whole. My Personal Representative will not have liability nor responsibility for loss of income from or depreciation in the value of property which was retained in the form which the Personal Representative received them. My Personal Representative will have the authority to acquire, hold, and sell undivided interests in property, both real and personal, including undivided interests in business or investment property.

Section C. Investment Authority

My Personal Representative will have discretionary investment authority, and will not be liable for loss of income or depreciation on the value of an investment if, at the time the investment was made and under the facts and circumstances then existing, the investment was reasonable.

Section D. Power of Sale, Other Disposition

My Personal Representative will have the authority at any time and from time to time to sell, exchange, lease and/or otherwise dispose of legal and equitable title to any property upon such terms and conditions, and for such consideration, as my representative will consider reasonable. The execution of any document of conveyance, or lease by the Personal Representative will be sufficient to transfer complete title to the interest conveyed without the joinder, ratification, or consent of any person beneficially interested in the property, the estate, or trust. No purchaser, tenant, transferee or obligor will have any obligation whatsoever to see to the application of payments made to my Personal Representative. My Personal Representative will also have the authority to borrow or lend money, secured or unsecured, upon such terms and conditions and for such reasons as may be perceived as reasonable at the time the loan was made or obtained.

04032012:1010:60003

Section E. Partial, Final Distributions

My Personal Representative, in making or preparing to make a partial or final distribution from the estate or a trust, will prepare an accounting and may require, as a condition to payment, a written and acknowledged statement from each distributee that the accounting has been thoroughly examined and accepted as correct; a discharge of the Personal Representative; a release from any loss, liability, claim or question concerning the exercise of due care, skill, and prudence of the Personal Representative in the management, investment, retention, and distribution of property during the representative's term of service, except for any undisclosed error or omission having basis in fraud or bad faith; and an indemnity of the Personal Representative, to include the payment of attorneys' fees, from any asserted claim of any taxing agency, governmental authority, or other claimant. Any beneficiary having a question or potential claim may require an audit of the estate or trust as an expense of administration. Failure to require the audit prior to written acceptance of the Personal Representative's report, or the acceptance of payment, will operate as a final release and discharge of the Personal Representative except as to any error or omission having basis in fraud or bad faith.

Section F. Partition, Undivided Interests

My Personal Representative, in making or preparing to make a partial or final distribution from the estate or a trust, will have the authority (1) to partition any asset or class of assets and deliver divided and segregated interests to beneficiaries; (2) to sell any asset or class of assets (whether or not susceptible to partition in kind), and deliver to the beneficiaries a divided interest in the proceeds of sale and/or a divided or undivided interest in any note and security arrangement taken as part of the purchase price; and/or (3) to deliver undivided interests in an asset or class of assets of the beneficiaries subject to any indebtedness which may be secured by the property.

Section G. Accounting

My Personal Representative will render at least annually a statement of account showing receipts, disbursements, and distributions of both principal and income during the period of accounting and a statement of the invested and uninvested principal and the undistributed income at the time of such statement.

Section H. Protection of Beneficiaries

No beneficiary will have the power to anticipate, encumber or transfer any interest in my estate. No part of my estate or any trust will be liable for or charged with any debts,

04032912:1010:60234

contracts, liabilities or torts of a beneficiary or be subject to seizure or other process by any creditor of a beneficiary.

Section I. Consultants, Professional Assistance

My Personal Representative will have the authority to employ such consultants and professional help as needed to assist with the prudent administration of the estate and any trust. Any representative, other than a corporate fiduciary, may delegate, by an agency agreement or otherwise, to any state or national banking corporation with trust powers any one or more of the following administrative functions: custody and safekeeping of assets; record keeping and accounting, including accounting reports to beneficiaries; and/or investment authority. The expense of the agency, or other arrangement, will be paid as an expense of administration.

Section J. Compensation

Any person who serves as Personal Representative may elect to receive a reasonable compensation, reasonable compensation to be measured by the time required in the administration of the estate or a trust and the responsibility assumed in the discharge of the duties of office. The fee schedules of area trust departments prescribing fees for the same or similar services may be used to establish reasonable compensation. A corporate or banking trustee will be entitled to receive as its compensation such fees as are then prescribed by its published schedule of charges for estates or trusts of similar size and nature and additional compensation for extraordinary services performed by the corporate representative. My Personal Representative will be entitled to full reimbursement for expenses, costs, or other obligations incurred as the result of service, including attorney's, accountant's and other professional fees.

Section K. Documenting Succession

A person serving as Personal Representative may fail or cease to serve by reason of death, resignation or legal disability. Succession may be documented by an affidavit of fact prepared by the successor, filed of record in the probate or deed records of the county in which this will is admitted to probate. The public and all persons interested in or dealing with my Personal Representative may rely upon the evidence of succession provided by a certified copy of the recorded affidavit, and I bind my estate and those who are its beneficial owners to indemnify and hold harmless any person, firm, or agency from any loss sustained in relying upon the recorded affidavit.

04032012:1010:00035

Article VI

No-Contest Requirements

I vest in my Personal Representative the authority to construe this will and to resolve all matters pertaining to disputed issues or controverted claims. I do not want to burden my estate with the cost of a litigated proceeding to resolve questions of law or fact unless that proceeding is originated by my Personal Representative or with the Personal Representative's written permission. Any other person, agency or organization who originates (or who shall cause to be instituted) a judicial proceeding to construe or contest this will or to resolve any claim or controversy in the nature of reimbursement, constructive or resulting trust or other theory which, if assumed as true, would enlarge (or originate) the claimant's interest in my estate, will forfeit any amount to which that person, agency or organization is or may be entitled, and the interest of any such litigant or contestant will pass as if he or she or it had predeceased me.

These directions will apply even though the person, agency or organization shall be found by a court of law to have originated the judicial proceeding in good faith and with probable cause, and even though the proceeding may seek nothing more than to construe the application of this no-contest provision. However, the no-contest provision is to be limited in application as to any claim filed by NELVA E. BRUNSTING, to the exclusion thereof if necessary, to the extent it may deny my estate the benefit of the federal estate tax marital deduction.

THIS WILL is signed by me in the presence of two (2) witnesses, and signed by the witnesses in my presence on January 12, 2005.

ELMER H. BRUNSTING

04032012:1010:60055

The foregoing Will was, on the day and year written above, published and declared by ELMER H. BRUNSTING in our presence to be his Will. We, in his presence and at his request, and in the presence of each other, have attested the same and have signed our names as attesting witnesses.

We declare that at the time of our attestation of this Will, ELMER H. BRUNSTING was, according to our best knowledge and belief, of sound mind and memory and under no undue duress or constraint.

LIST OF CLAIMS

1. Based upon the information currently available to the personal representative of the estate, it is not possible to determine with certainty what assets were in the estate at the Decedent's death. That determination will have to be made the subject of further judicial proceedings. After that judicial determination is made, to the extent it becomes necessary, this Inventory, Appraisement and List of Claims will be amended to reflect the descriptions and values of assets later determined to have been estate assets at the time of Decedent's death.

2. The estate has asserted a claim against Candace L. Kunz-Freed and Vacek & Freed, PLLC f/k/a The Vacek Law Firm, PLLC relating to actions taken and omissions made in the course of their representation of decedent and her husband which may result in additional estate assets. That case is pending under Cause No. 2013-05455, styled Carl Henry Brunsting, Independent Executor of the Estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Nelva E. Brunsting v. Candace L. Kunz-Freed and Vacek & Freed, PLLC f/k/a The Vacek Law Firm, PLLC, in the 164th Judicial District Court of Harris County, Texas.

3. The Brunsting Family Living Trust was signed by Decedent and her husband on October 10, 1996 and was restated on January 12, 2005 (the "Family Trust"). The Family Trust purported by its terms to provide for the creation of successor and/or subsequent trusts. The Family Trust also described other documents which, if created in compliance with the terms of the Family Trust, could impact the assets and status of the Family Trust. Attempts were made by various parties to change the terms and control of the Family Trust through later instruments which have been or will be challenged. The estate also asserts claims against Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting, the current purported trustees of the successor trusts or trusts arising from the Family

Trust or documents allegedly created pursuant to the terms of the Family Trust. Those claims will be the subject of separate proceedings and may result in additional estate assets.

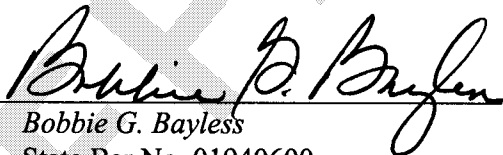

4. The estate also asserts a claim against Anita Brunsting, Amy Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting in their individual capacities for amounts paid and assets believed to also include, among other things, stocks and bonds which were removed from the Family Trust and/or the estate. This was accomplished either through the use of a power of attorney for Decedent, through their position as trustees, through their position as joint signatories on accounts and safe deposit boxes, or because they otherwise had access to the assets. Those claims will also be the subject of a separate proceeding and may result in additional estate assets.

There are no known claims due or owing to the Estate other than those shown on the foregoing Inventory and Appraisement.

The foregoing Inventory, Appraisement and List of Claims should be approved and ordered entered of record.

ORDER APPOINTING TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATOR PENDING CONTEST
PURSUANT TO TEXAS ESTATES CODE 452.051

On March 23, 2015, the Court heard and approved Carl Henry Brunsting's Application to Resign as Independent Executor. On July 21, 2015 the Court heard and considered CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO RESIGN AS INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR AND CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS' APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AS SUCCESSOR PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE; Anita Kay Brunsting's OBJECTION TO CANDACE CURTS' APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AS PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE; AMY RUTH BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO BE NAMED SUCCESSOR EXECUTOR, RESPONSE TO CARL BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO RESIGN AS INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR AND OBJECTION TO CANDACE CURTIS'S APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AS SUCCESSOR EXECUTOR; Carl Brunsting's OBJECTION TO AMY RUTH BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO BE NAMED SUCCESSOR EXECUTOR; and Candace Curtis' RESPONSE TO OBJECTIONS TO APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AND OBJECTION TO AMY BRUNSTINGS APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT.

The Court finds that the Court has jurisdiction and venue over Decedent's Estate; that it is in the best interest of the Estate that a personal representative be immediately appointed; and that the parties have reached an agreement regarding the appointment of a Temporary Administrator Pending Contest with limited powers, which was announced on the record at said hearing, the terms of which are substantially as follows:

Greg Lester, Temporary Administrator Pending Contest will report to the Court regarding the merits of these claims on or before the expiration of this Order. This Order shall expire 180 days after the date that it is signed.

2. Amy Brunsting and Anita Brunsting, as the Successor Co-Trustees of the Brunsting Family Living Trust, the Elmer H. Brunsting Decedent's Trust, and the Nelva E. Brunsting Survivor's Trust agree to advance funds to the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting (the "Estate") to pay all court approved fees and expenses of the Temporary Administrator Pending Contest.

3. The Temporary Administrator Pending Contest has the authority to seek a continuance in the "District Court Case" in which the Estate is a plaintiff, of the hearing on the Motion for Summary Judgment current scheduled for July 31, 2015 and to seek continuance of the October, 2015 trial setting in that matter.

4. Amy Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis each agree to a qualified declination to serve as Successor Independent Executor of the Estates of Nelva E. Brunsting and Elmer H. DEFENDANTS CANDACE KUNZ-FREED AND ALBERT VACEK JR.'S ADOPTION
AND JOINDER IN JILL WILLARD YOUNG'S MOTION TO STRIKE PLAINTIFFS'
"ADDENDUM OF MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF RICO COMPLAINT"

TO THE HONORABLE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE:

Defendants Candace Kuntz-Freed and Albert Vacek, Jr. (collectively referred to as "V&F") hereby file this Adoption and Joinder in Jill Willard Young's Motion to Strike Plaintiffs' "Addendum of Memorandum in Support of RICO Complaint and would respectfully show the Court the following:

I.

THE COURT SHOULD STRIKE PLAINTIFFS' ADDENDUM

1. In the interest of justice and judicial economy, and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(c), V&F hereby adopts and incorporates by reference, as if recited herein the arguments and authority contained in Jill Willard Young's Motion to Strike (Dkt. 38). This Court should strike Plaintiffs' Addendum, because it is not a valid pleading under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

2. More importantly, the Court should dismiss Plaintiffs' claims against V&F. The "Addendum" does not change the merits of V&F's Motions to Dismiss. The "Addendum" sparsely references V&F. See Addendum, at ¶¶ 21, 23, 26, 29, 38, and 61. Of those references, none form the basis for a valid complaint or support a RICO claim against V&F.

3. Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed because they have not adequately pleaded a violation of the RICO Act. Even assuming that Plaintiffs' Addendum is considered to be a supplement to Plaintiffs' Complaint, it does not change the fact that Plaintiffs have failed to meet the required pleading standards.

II.
PRAYER

WHEREFORE PREMISES CONSIDERED, Defendants Candace Kuntz-Freed and Albert Vacek, Jr. hereby request that the Court strike Plaintiffs' Addendum.

Local Rule 7.6..... 2, 9

1. Above named Plaintiff respectfully moves this Court to order consolidation of the following cases pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1367, Rule 42(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Local Rule 7.6:

a. Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting and Amy Ruth Brunsting, Civil Action No. 4:12-CV-00592 (TXSD Filed 2/27/2012) currently pending before the Honorable Kenneth Hoyt, and

b. Civil Action No. 4:16-cv-01969 currently pending before the Honorable Alfred H. Bennett (TXSD filed 7/5/2016)

2. Plaintiff moves for consolidation of pre-trial proceedings and trial, but not consolidation for the purposes of judgment and appeal. The two cases are appropriate for consolidation for the following reasons:

3. The two cases share common parties. Candace Curtis is a Plaintiff in both federal suits and Amy and Anita Brunsting are Defendants in both suits.

4. The later suit is the cumulative product of events occurring in the course of litigating the earlier matter and although the remedies requested and the jurisdictions upon which the authorities of the Court have been invoked are divergent, all the facts flow from common acts and events.

5. The two cases involve common questions of law and fact because both arise from the same factual situation; namely, the rupture and looting of the Brunsting family of trusts and injuries resulting from the Defendants' efforts to evade accountability; and thus the two cases also involve common questions of law.

6. Through a series of awkward circumstances, the earlier diversity matter was remanded to Harris County Probate Court No. 4. The probate court experience produced evidence of a sinister design, resulting in the necessity for Plaintiff to again seek remedy in this Court and, thus, Plaintiff filed a separate action into the Southern District of Texas, Case No. 4:16-cv-01969, in concert with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 11(b) motion for sanctions and with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b) and (d) motion for vacatur in the above titled Court.

7. While the earlier suit was a simple breach of fiduciary seeking disclosures and accounting, the later filed case is a Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization (RICO) suit brought under federal question jurisdiction, implicating the Probate Court's officers' participation in the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

8. Judicial convenience and economy will be enhanced by consolidation of the actions.

9. Consolidation will result in one trial under one judge, which will bind all plaintiffs and defendants for all purposes. This will save time and avoid unnecessary costs to the Defendants, to the Plaintiffs in both actions, and to the witnesses who would otherwise be required to testify in two cases.

10. Consolidation will not delay final disposition of any matter.

11. Consolidation of these two cases will promote the uniformity of decision and eliminate any potential for conflicting rulings, provide for judicial economy and the convenience of witnesses and parties, and will promote the expeditious disposal of all matters.

HISTORY AND NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS

12. Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis (Curtis) lives in California and is a beneficiary of inter vivos trusts having a situs in Houston, Texas. Other beneficiaries of the trusts include Plaintiff Curtis' siblings: Carl, Carole, Amy and Anita Brunsting, and also includes the remaindermen grandchildren and great grandchildren of Grantors Elmer and Nelva Brunsting et al, per stirpes.

13. Plaintiff Candace Curtis filed a Pro se Petition in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division, on February 27, 2012, claiming breach of fiduciary, seeking disclosures and a full, true, complete accounting.¹

14. Plaintiff Curtis complaint was dismissed under the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction and Curtis appealed. The Fifth Circuit reversed and Ordered remand on January 9, 2013.

15. On January 29, 2013, attorney Bobbie Bayless filed suit against Nelva Brunsting's trust attorneys, Candace Kunz-Freed, Albert Vacek Jr. and Vacek & Freed P.L.L.C., in the Harris County District Court on behalf of Carl Brunsting as executor of the estate of Nelva Brunsting² raising claims only related to the Brunsting trusts then in the custody of a federal court.

16. On April 9, 2013, this Honorable Court issued an Order enjoining Defendants Amy and Anita Brunsting from spending trust funds or liquidating trust assets without the Court's prior approval.

17. Also on April 9, 2013, Bobbie Bayless filed suit in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, on behalf of Carl Brunsting individually (412249-401) and as executor of the estate of Nelva Brunsting (412249) naming federal Plaintiff Curtis a "Nominal Defendant" in both suits.

18. Not only did Bayless advance claims exclusively related to the trusts already in the custody of the federal Court, she claimed the breaches of fiduciary against the beneficiaries of the Brunsting trusts were claims belonging to the estate of Nelva Brunsting. That theory was disposed of in the Fifth Circuit in Curtis v Brunsting 710 F.3d 406. The "Trust(s)" is the only heir in fact to the estate and assets in the trusts are not property of the estate of Nelva Brunsting.

19. At paragraph 1, page 2 of Curtis v Brunsting 710 F.3d 406:

In 1996, Elmer H. and Nelva E. Brunsting, Texas residents, established the Brunsting Family Living Trust (“the Trust”) for the benefit of their offspring. At the time of its creation, the Trust was funded with various assets. Both the will of Mr. Brunsting and the will of Mrs. Brunsting (collectively “the Brunstings’ Wills”) appear to include pour-over provisions, providing that all property in each estate is devised and bequeathed to the Trust. Elmer H. Brunsting passed away on April 1, 2009, and Nelva E. Brunsting passed away on November 11, 2011. The current dispute arises out of the administration of the Trust.

20. Under the wills Carl Brunsting has no standing to bring claims against trustees as heir or executor of an estate. He only has standing to bring claims individually as a trustee or beneficiary of the trust and that trust was in the custody of the federal court.

21. In Curtis v Brunsting the Fifth Circuit explained the doctrine of comity by citing to the Supreme Court’s clarification of the “distinctly limited scope” of the probate exception,³ explaining:

[W]e comprehend the ‘interference’ language in Markham as essentially a reiteration of the guiding principle that, when one court is exercising in rem jurisdiction over a res, a second court will not assume in rem jurisdiction over the same res. Thus, the probate exception reserves to state probate courts the probate or annulment of a will and the administration of a decedent’s estate; it also precludes federal courts from endeavoring to dispose of property that is in the custody of a state probate court. But it does not bar federal courts from adjudicating matters outside those confines and otherwise within federal jurisdiction.⁴

22. In or about November of 2013, Pro se Plaintiff Curtis retained the services of Houston Attorney Jason Ostrom. On May 15, 2014, Attorney Jason Ostrom caused this Honorable Court to issue an Order for Remand of Curtis v Brunsting to the custody of Harris County Probate Court No. 4 (412,249-402) for consolidation with the claims of Carl Brunsting (412,249-401).

⁴ Marshall v Marshall 546 U.S. 293, 311–12

23. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiff Curtis, along with her domestic partner Rik Munson, both individually and as private attorneys general on behalf of the public trust, filed a RICO suit into the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division (No. 4:16-cv-01969), accusing the Harris County Probate Court and its officers of public corruption conspiracies involving schemes and artifices to deprive Plaintiff Curtis, the People of Texas, and others, of the honest services of an elected public official.

24. The record will show the Probate Court has refused to resolve any substantive matter on the merits and the reason is clearly that no court can assume in rem jurisdiction over a res in the custody of another court. Thus, the probate court never had jurisdiction over the Brunsting trust, which renders the Order for remand to the state probate court void ab initio.

25. Rather than dismiss and return Curtis v Brunsting to the federal court, the RICO Defendants chose a less honorable course, forcing Plaintiff Curtis to respond accordingly.

26. On August 3, 2016, Plaintiff Curtis filed a F.R.C.P. Rule 11(b) motion for sanctions and F.R.C.P. Rule 60(b) and (d) motions for vacatur of the remand to state court, on the ground that the remand was obtained by fraud upon Plaintiff Curtis and upon the Court, thus vitiating the application to amend the original petition that facilitated the remand in the first instance.

27. Plaintiffs respectfully request this Honorable Court take Judicial Notice of the complaint, motions to dismiss and Plaintiffs' replies in the closely related proceedings pursuant to Federal Rules of evidence §201.⁵

STAGE OF THE PROCEEDINGS

28. The RICO suit is in the opening phase and the initial conference is set for October 28, 2016 at 9:00 a.m. before the Honorable Alfred Bennett.

⁵ Case 4:16-cv-01969 TXSD Motions to dismiss Dkt 19, 20, 23, 25 and replies Dkt 33, 34, and 41

29. The earlier breach of fiduciary matter, Candace Curtis v. Anita and Amy Brunsting 4:12-cv-00592, is ripe for F.R.C.P. Rule 12(c) relief on the unresolved summary and declaratory judgment pleadings. Those motions have not been answered and the probate court refused to set the motions for hearing. A proper determination on the merits of those unresolved motions will be necessary to support the racketeering conspiracy and predicate act claims arising under the later filed RICO suit.

30. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference the Rule 11⁶ and 60⁷ motions referred to in item 18 supra, and the federal civil RICO complaint referred to in item 17 supra, as if fully restated herein, and further asks this Honorable Court to take Judicial notice of the relevant public records.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF RULE 42(A) MOTION

31. Above named Plaintiff has moved this Court, pursuant to Rule 42(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to consolidate the following cases: Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting and Amy Ruth Brunsting, No. 4:12-CV-00592 (TXSD Filed 2/27/2012) and Curtis, et al. v Kunz-Freed, et al, No. 4:16-cv-01969 (TXSD Filed 07/05/16).

32. Plaintiffs' motion requests consolidation for the limited purposes of pre-trial proceedings and trial only, it does not request consolidation for the purposes of judgment or rights to appeal.

33. Rule 42(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil procedure provides:

Rule 42. Consolidation; separate trials.

(a) Consolidation. When actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending before the court, it may order a joint hearing or trial of any or all the matters in issue in the actions; it may order all the actions consolidated; and it may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay.

⁶ Case 4:12-cv-00592 Document 120 Filed in TXSD on 08/05/16

34. The purpose of Rule 42(a) "is to give the court broad discretion to decide how cases on its docket are to be tried so that the business of the court may be dispatched with expedition and economy while providing justice to the parties." Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure, § 2381 (1971).

35. Local Rule 7.6 and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 42(a) requires the motion be filed in the earlier Court and the above Court is the earlier Court. However, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 42(b) prevents consolidation, when doing so would pollute diversity and deprive the Court of jurisdiction.

36. The earlier matter was filed under diversity with the allegation that Defendants were acting in secret and were uniquely in exclusive possession of all of the information relating to the case.

37. Plaintiff Curtis submitted a First Amended Complaint in the above Court on April 29, 2013, seeking to amend the claim to federal question jurisdiction based upon newly discovered evidence involving fraudulent securities transfers. That amendment was properly rejected by the Court due to Plaintiff's failure to provide a certificate of conference as required by local rule.

BOTH ACTIONS INVOLVE COMMON QUESTIONS OF LAW AND FACT

38. Rule 42(a) permits a district court to consolidate separate actions when they involve "a common question of law or fact." Fed.R.Civ.P. 42(a).

39. Even if there are some questions that are not common, consolidation is not precluded. Batazzi v. Petroleum Helicopters, Inc., 664 F.2d 49, 50 (5th Cir. 1981); See Central Motor Co. v. United States, 583 F.2d 470 (10th Cir. 1978).

40. Common questions of law and fact abound in these cases, as both stem from the same (long con) conspiracy and the later controversy is based upon evidence evolving out of Defendants' continued attempts to foreclose remedy in the trust suit case, aided and abetted by the state court and its officers.

41. It was the process of seeking remedy and Defendants' continued efforts to obstruct justice and evade accountability, that has produced a clear picture of a larger mosaic involving a pattern of racketeering activity targeting familial wealth.

42. Although the lawsuits were filed at separate times and in separate forums, and although multiple actions were improperly brought in state courts, all of it is, in fact, only one continuous event and therefore, it necessarily follows that the matter is particularly appropriate for consolidation.

A COURT HAS BROAD DISCRETION IN ORDERING CONSOLIDATION

43. A court has broad discretion in determining whether consolidation is practical. Atlantic States Legal Foundation Inc. v. Koch Refining Co., 681 F. Supp 609, 615 (D. Minn. 1988). In exercising this discretion, a court should weigh the time and effort consolidation would save, with any inconvenience or delay it would cause. Hendrix v. Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc., 776 F.2d 1492, 1495 (11th Cir. 1985); Huene v. United States, 743 F.2d 703, 704 (9th Cir. 1984). See also Kramer v. Boeing Co., 134 F.R.D. 256 (D. Minn. 1991).

44. Consolidation offers efficiency and convenience in this case. Consolidation will result in one trial which will bind all plaintiffs and defendants. This will save time and avoid unnecessary costs to the defendants, the plaintiffs, this Court, and the witnesses who would otherwise be required to testify in both cases.

45. Consolidation will not delay the disposition of this case. In fact, it will minimize delays. The cases are at different stages of the discovery process, but this does not bar consolidation. (United States v. City of Chicago, 385 F. Supp. 540, 543 (N.D. Ill. 1974).

46. The earlier case was filed under diversity, but evidence discovered in the course of pursuing remedy has produced racketeer influenced corrupt organization claims under federal question jurisdiction and the record will show No. 4:12-cv-00592 has been brought back to the federal court in direct response to the probate court's unwillingness to ensure Plaintiff's right to be heard and blatant refusal to resolve any matter on the merits.

47. Consolidation is necessary to the ends of justice and for complete resolution of all matters for all parties and, whereas, the rules will not allow all of the related cases and necessary parties to be consolidated under diversity jurisdiction, all of the related cases and necessary parties can and should be consolidated under federal question jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1367.

48. Thus, whether the economy and efficiency of the Court will best be served by transferring the federal question suit to this Honorable Court or by transferring the diversity case to Judge Bennett's Honorable Court, Plaintiffs' do not presume to suggest, but do believe that justice can only be served by consolidation of all related matters under one roof for all purposes.

CONCLUSION

49. Jurisdiction of the probate court at the point in time when its jurisdiction was invoked, is a proper subject of inquiry under Rule 60. "Courts can always consider questions as to subject matter jurisdiction whenever raised and even sua sponte." U.S. v. White, 139 F.3d 998 cert den 119 S.Ct 343, 525 U.S. 393, 142 L.Ed.2d 283 (1998).

50. The remand Order is void ab initio for want of jurisdiction in the state court. Want of, and acts excess of, subject matter jurisdiction can never be cured after the fact. Furthermore,

Plaintiff Curtis was named a nominal defendant in the estates probate suit and simply cannot be consolidated with a plaintiff that has named her a defendant in the same lawsuit.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

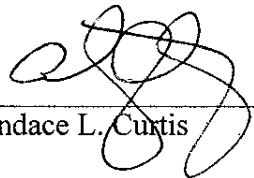

51. Rule 60(b) motions are reviewed for abuse of discretion. American Bankers Ins. Co. v. Northwestern Nat'l Ins. Co., 198 F.3d 1332, 1338 (11th Cir. 1999); Toole v. Baxter Healthcare Corp., 235 F.3d 1307, 1316 (11th Cir. 2000).

52. However, motions under Rule 60(b)(4), on the ground that a judgment is void are reviewed de novo. Burke v. Smith, 252 F.3d 1260,1263 (11th Cir. 2001).

WHEREFORE, Petitioner respectfully requests the motion for consolidation be granted.

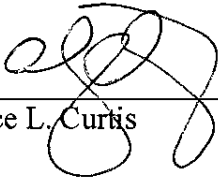

Respectfully submitted,

October 5, 2016

Federal Rule of Evidence 201 4

1. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a complaint into the Southern District of Texas, individually and as private attorneys general, alleging a public corruption conspiracy under the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act at 18 U.S.C. §§1961-1968 and the right of claims provided at 18 U.S.C. §1964(c). (Dkt 1)

2. On September 15, 2016, Plaintiffs filed an Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26) as a factual supplement to the RICO complaint, in response to Defendant claims of a want of specific factual allegations and other affirmative defenses.

3. On September 16, 2016, Defendant Anita Brunsting filed a motion to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) (Dkt 30).

4. On September 21, 2016, Defendant Amy Brunsting filed a Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss (Dkt 35).

I. STANDARD OF REVIEW

Federal Rule 12(b)(6)

5. When evaluating a motion to dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6), the court must take the facts alleged in the complaint as true and construe them in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. Resnick v. AvMed, Inc., 693 F.3d 1317, 1321–22 (11th Cir. 2012). To survive Rule 12(b)(6) scrutiny, “a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S.

662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). “[F]acial plausibility” exists “when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Id. (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556).

6. The standard of appellate review for a motion to dismiss pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) is de novo, and the Court will employ the same standard as the district court. First Am. Title Co. v. Devaugh, 480 F.3d 438, 443 (6th Cir. 2007); Nat’l Hockey League Players Ass’n v. Plymouth Whalers Hockey Club, 419 F.3d 462, 468 (6th Cir. 2005).

II. ISSUES PRESENTED

7. Both Amy and Anita Brunsting’s motions are brought pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) and claim Plaintiffs have failed to provide sufficient factual allegations to place them on notice of the claims against them, a due process argument.

8. Defendants claim ignorance of facts, while at the same time presenting an opposing view of the facts.

9. Defendants also misstate Plaintiffs’ aiding and abetting claims and then deny their misstatements, and appear not to understand the allegations themselves.

III. HISTORY OF THE CONTROVERSY

10. Plaintiffs hereby incorporate by reference the “Standards of Review”, “Contextual Summary”, “History of the Controversy”, and “History of the Litigation” (Dkt 33 sections I, II, III and IV) from Plaintiffs’ response to the Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants Vacek & Freed, (Dkts 19 & 20) as if fully restated herein.

IV. THE ARGUMENT

11. In a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss Defendants do not have the pleasure of arguing the facts and the only issue after the finder of fact applies the law, is whether or not Plaintiffs have sufficiently pled their claims. If Plaintiffs have not fully pled their claims, the question becomes whether the complaint could be amended to satisfy the heightened pleading standards demanded by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 9(b).

12. While offering knowledge of opposing facts, Defendants ask the Court to believe they lack sufficient notice of facts to defend the claims against them.

13. In this case Plaintiffs have responded to each previous motion to dismiss, by simply pointing to the public records of proceedings in the state and federal court, many of which are contained in the attachments to Plaintiffs' Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26).

14. These two Defendants' motions to dismiss share an uncanny similarity and other than an occasional detour, individualized for the particular movant, and a little transposition in the order of appearance of the words, each strike the same chords with nearly identical expressions. Plaintiffs will therefore respond to both pleadings in harmony.

Creative Pleading And Something Called A "QBT"

15. These two Motions (Dkt 30 and 35), and Mr. Mendel's subsequent Rule 12(b)(6) Motion, (Dkt 36) for the first time in any pleadings, in any related action, in any court, over a period of four and one-half years, each introduce in their alternate claim of facts, something they call a "Qualified Beneficiary Trust" (QBT) allegedly drafted by Defendant Albert Vacek, Jr.

16. These two Defendants and their carousel of lawyers have steadfastly clung to an instrument they proclaim to be "the trust", allegedly signed by Nelva Brunsting on August 25, 2010. Plaintiffs do not need to rehash these unresolved motions to respond to these assertions.

17. In answer to these “QBT” assertions, Plaintiffs incorporate by reference and respectfully request the Court take Judicial notice of, pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201, 1) Defendant Anita and Amy Brunstings’ No Evidence Motion for Partial Summary Judgment (Dkt 26-5), Plaintiff Curtis Answer and Demand to Produce Evidence (Dkt 26-11), The Report of Temporary Administrator Gregory Lester (Dkt 26-9), Plaintiff Curtis Motion for Partial Summary and Declaratory Judgment (Dkt 26-14), the (Request for setting A1 attached) the March 9, 2016 transcript (Dkt 26-16) and the Rule 60 Motion itself (Dkt 26)

V. FAILURE TO STATE A CLAIM

18. These Defendants state that they are litigants in estate related proceedings involving Plaintiff Curtis, profess ignorance of any wrongdoing, and claim they are not participants in any racketeering scheme.

19. In response to previous motions to dismiss for failure to state a claim, Plaintiffs have pointed only to the public record and particularly the motions and pleadings from the state court, and Defendants are clearly connected to those records, all of which have been served upon them through their respective agents.

20. Plaintiffs will continue to point to the public record in response to these two Motions.

21. A motion to dismiss is not a substitute for an answer and aside from claiming lack of knowledge and lack of notice, Defendants advance several affirmative claims of contrary facts. The substance of the motion is 1) want of sufficient information to satisfy notice requirements, 2) a general denial, and 3) an opposing view of the facts.

22. All of the facts necessary to meet Plaintiffs’ burden are contained in the public record and are cited with specificity throughout Plaintiffs’ original Complaint, Addendum, and Responses to Motions to Dismiss.

23. Plaintiffs' Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26) and Plaintiffs' prior Responses address the only relevant challenge under Rule 12(b)(6) and answers any questions of how each player fits into the enterprise operations puzzle. In response to Motions to Dismiss, Plaintiffs easily point to the record and how the individual exhibits concatenate to explain each participant's contribution to the overall mosaic.

24. The motives of the enterprise are greed and political aspirations, the means are described in the RICO complaint, and by refusing to honor any legal or moral obligations Anita and Amy Brunsting provide the opportunity for the rest of these Defendants to participate.

25. As alleged in the complaint, Anita Brunsting presents the other players with an exploitation opportunity. Anita Brunsting planned to hijack the family trust res, by improperly seizing control of the office of trustee.

26. Defendants exercised the powers of the office and refused to honor any of the duties of the office, which is how they became defendants in the first place.

27. To Plaintiffs' knowledge neither Amy nor Anita Brunsting has ever set foot inside the Harris County Probate Court #4 and apparently think hiring mercenaries to fight their battles removes them from the center of the controversy and the consequences of their attorney's acts as well. It does not.

28. The facts show Anita Brunsting violated the no contest clause in the 2005 Restatement, not when she misappropriated assets to her own benefit in violation of trust provisions, but when she advanced theories that those benefits were gifts, fees, and reimbursements thereby attempting to enlarge her share of the trust res.

29. In an exploitation game of lawyers playing the ends against the middle, as in the case at bar, this fact alone is significant.

30. On April 9, 2013, Honorable United States District Judge Kenneth Hoyt issued an injunction, not only enjoining Anita and Amy Brunsting from spending trust money or liquidating trust assets without the Court's prior approval, but also commanding specific performance. Defendants Anita and Amy are commanded by that injunction, to deposit income into an appropriate account for the beneficiary. To date, they have refused or otherwise failed to do so and continue to hold Plaintiff Curtis' property and that of siblings Carl and Carole Brunsting, without offering a single legal defense. (Dkt 26-11)

31. The absolute refusal of these two Defendants to honor any legal or moral obligations has opened the door of opportunity for the other Defendants to play their shakedown game against Plaintiff victim Candace Curtis and her victim siblings, Carl and Carole Brunsting.

Probate of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting

32. Defendants claim the matter before the Court is related to probate of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting.

33. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406 properly held that assets in an inter vivos trust are not property of a decedent's estate and that the suit filed in TXSD by Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis February 27, 2012, No. 4:12-cv-0592, was related only to an inter vivos trust and not to an estate. The Circuit Court also noted that the wills of both Grantors bequeathed everything to "the trust" Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406, 409-410.

34. Because the only heir in fact to the Estate of Nelva Brunsting (Dkt 41-2, 41-3) is "the trust", Carl Brunsting had no standing to bring suit individually in the probate court as an heir to the Estate, as he is only a beneficiary of the heir in fact ("trust").

35. Trespass against the trust during the life of Nelva Brunsting created claims belonging to the cestui que. If Candace Freed's only liability for betraying Privity and the fiduciary duties she owed Nelva Brunsting are to the estate, those claims belong to the injured cestui que (beneficiaries) of the heir in fact trust and are the duty of the trustees to pursue.

36. In any event, the trust res was in the in rem custody of a federal court when all of the trust related claims were filed in state courts under the disguise of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, and those state court suits were filed after the Fifth Circuit Opinion in this case was published.

Wiretap Recordings

37. Defendants assertions of alternate facts are irrelevant under Rule 12(b)(6), but are none-the-less interesting when compared against the public record and, thus, worthy of note.

38. The RICO complaint states that Anita Brunsting's counsel of record, Bradley Featherston, disseminated private third party telephone communication recordings on or about July 1, 2015 via certified U.S. Mail signed receipt required.(see Dkt 26-8, Carl's application for Protective Order); (Dkt 26-12, Transcript of the hearing on Carl's application for Protective Order); (Attached Exhibit A2, Defendants Joint opposition to the application for protective order); and (Plaintiff Curtis wiretap brief attached as Exhibit A3 with sub-exhibits A-G).

39. These Defendants also misstate the allegations in the complaint, (Dkt 1) which alleges that Anita Brunsting's counsel, Bradley Featherston, "disseminated" wiretap recordings by certified mail more than three and one-half years after Carl Brunsting's petition to take depositions before suit was filed, and a demand for such disclosures was first made. Defendants none-the-less attempt to conceal the disruptive purpose for the dissemination, as occurring in the ordinary course of discovery. Plaintiff Curtis' wiretap brief gives the lie to these claims (A3).¹

False Affidavit

40. Amy Brunsting claims she did not file a false affidavit in the federal court.

¹ RICO Claim numbers 14 through 20 in the complaint specifically refer to the wiretap recordings.

41. Amy's affidavit, ascribed and sworn to before one authorized to accept an oath, was filed March 6, 2012 in the Southern District of Texas Case 4:12-cv-0592, attached to a motion for emergency order² to remove a lis pendens filed among the papers in the federal petition. The emergency motion resulted in sua sponte dismissal March 8, 2012 (TXSD 4:12-cv-0592 Dkt 11).

42. Plaintiffs respectfully request this Honorable Court take judicial notice, pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201, of Dkt 120 in TXSD case 4:12-cv-0592, which is a Rule 11 Motion for Sanctions, filed August 5, 2015, against Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting and their counsel, for continued violation of the federal injunction issued April 9, 2013. (Dkt 26-2)

43. The Honorable Kenneth Hoyt commented at the injunction hearing that all that was necessary to resolve the controversy was to distribute the assets, and the injunction Judge Hoyt issued commands immediate specific performance regarding the deposit of "income".

44. Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting, aided and abetted by their attorneys, continue to thumb their noses at the dignity and authority of a federal Court, while simultaneously seeking a priori relief from related claims before this Court.

45. RICO Complaint Claim 37 directly addresses Amy Brunsting's false affidavit (Dkt 26-18) regarding establishment of the personal asset trusts, and no more need be stated on that topic here.

46. Participation in a racketeering conspiracy can be both active and passive and both the active and passive participation of these two Defendants has been central. If one removes Anita Brunsting from the equation, none of this could have happened. Amy Brunsting's active and passive participation is equally incriminatory.

² Docket entries 10 and 10-1, Case 4:12-cv-0592 filed TXSD 2/27/2012

VI. CONCLUSION

47. All of the evidence necessary to establish Plaintiffs' case is contained in the public record. Defendants profess to have been party to those proceedings, have professed personal knowledge of a contrary set of facts and cannot possibly claim want of notice of the facts contained in the records and pleadings in those events.

48. These Defendants are more than apprised of the specific conduct amounting to their participation in the racketeering conspiracy, whether ignorant of the law or unaware of the acts of their agents.

49. Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting, facilitated by the excellent assistance of Defendant Candace Freed, and aided and abetted by the other Defendants, have shown nothing but wanton and willful disrespect for all legal and moral obligations. Without their absolute refusal to act, the original lawsuit would not have been filed, or, in the alternative, would have been resolved and the familial litigants would have gone on with their lives. Instead, the sibling beneficiaries are mired in a continuing lawyer orchestrated soap opera, all about manipulating the judicial process in order to bust the Brunsting trusts for their own personal financial gain.

50. Defendants' Rule 12(b)(6) Motions are just another attempt to avoid accountability. The motions to dismiss should both be denied for the reasons stated and these Defendants should be held to answer under the law.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs respectfully move this Honorable Court for an Oder denying Anita and Amy Brunsting's Rule 12(b)(6) motions to dismiss.

ORDER

Upon due consideration, the Rule 12(b)(6) Motion to Dismiss filed by Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting, docket entries 30 and 35, should be Denied.

It is SO ORDERED

Date

The Honorable Alfred H Bennet
United Stated District Judge

Dear Judge Comstock

I am writing today to ask for a hearing date in effort to expeditiously dispose of this case. Concurrent with this request for setting, I am filing a motion to transfer the related District Court case to Probate #4.

Because summary and declaratory judgement motions filed in the Probate Court by both Plaintiff's and Defendant's raise questions involving the validity, efficacy and applicability of instruments drawn up by District Court Defendant Candace Freed it would necessarily follow that the risk of contradictory and inconsistent rulings on the same issues of law and fact and the burden of duplicate proceedings upon the courts would mandate the transfer of the related District Court suit to the Probate Court sua sponte.

Plaintiff Curtis Motion for the transfer of the district court case was filed on 2/09/2016 (PBT-2016-44972) and there are several dispositive matters pending before the Court for which plaintiff seeks setting:

1. Defendants No-Evidence Motion for Partial Summary Judgment (PBT-2015-227757)
2. Plaintiff Curtis Answer with Motion and Demand to Produce Evidence. (PBT-2015-227757)
3. Plaintiff Carl Brunsting's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment (PBT-2015-225037)
4. Plaintiff Curtis verified motion for partial summary judgment and petitions for declaratory judgment. (PBT-2016-26242)

WHEREFORE Plaintiff Curtis respectfully requests the Court set a hearing on her motion for Partial Summary and Declaratory Judgments (PBT-2016-26242) and on her Motion and Demand to Produce Evidence (PBT-2015-227757) and upon any other pending dispositive motions the Court may deem appropriate to settle at the hearing.

 CARL HENRY BRUNSTING, et al

v.

ANITA KAY BRUNSTING, et al

DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S
MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

Defendants, Anita Brunsting, Amy Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting, file their response to the Motion for Protective Order filed by Drina Brunsting, as attorney-in-fact for Carl Brunsting, and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

I. Summary of the Argument

It is certainly understandable that Drina has such opposition to the recordings because it proves that Nelva was planning for Drina and Carl's divorce and that Nelva felt Carl's medical condition made him unable to serve as a trustee. Thus, the evidence essentially destroys most of Drina's claims in this proceeding.

Drina's "motion for protective order" is not a protective order in any sense of the term. The relief Drina seeks can fairly be summarized as follows: sworn testimony regarding the recordings; turnover to Drina's counsel of all copies of the recordings; and a ruling the recordings cannot be used in this proceeding. Thus, Drina's motion is some convoluted discovery/injunctive/admissibility relief without any legal authority, be it a statute, rule, or case law, upon which this Court could reasonably rely to grant her relief.

08032015:1527:0125

Finally, and most importantly, Drina provides no evidence that both parties to the conversations did not consent to the recordings, which is a prerequisite to the relief sought. Accordingly, the Motion must be denied.

II. Argument & Authorities

A. Protective Orders

Protective Orders are described in Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 192.6, which provides:

(a) Motion. A person from whom discovery is sought, and any other person affected by the discovery request, may move within the time permitted for response to the discovery request for an order protecting that person from the discovery sought. A person should not move for protection when an objection to written discovery or an assertion of privilege is appropriate, but a motion does not waive the objection or assertion of privilege. If a person seeks protection regarding the time or place of discovery, the person must state a reasonable time and place for discovery with which the person will comply. A person must comply with a request to the extent protection is not sought unless it is unreasonable under the circumstances to do so before obtaining a ruling on the motion.

(b) Order. To protect the movant from undue burden, unnecessary expense, harassment, annoyance, or invasion of personal, constitutional, or property rights, the court may make any order in the interest of justice and may - among other things - order that:

- (1) the requested discovery not be sought in whole or in part;
- (2) the extent or subject matter of discovery be limited;
- (3) the discovery not be undertaken at the time or place specified;
- (4) the discovery be undertaken only by such method or upon such terms and conditions or at the time and place directed by the court;
- (5) the results of discovery be sealed or otherwise protected, subject to the provisions of Rule 76a.

In the case at hand, Drina propounded discovery to Anita, in which she complied by providing discovery responses. Drina now seeks a protective order against discovery she propounded against an opposing party. It is nonsense. There is nothing in the rules nor any other legal authority that allows a party to move for a protective order against that party's own discovery requests and the responses thereto.

With respect to the information Drina seeks regarding the recordings, Drina provides no reason why she would be unable to obtain such information through normal discovery channels such as interrogatories or deposition. Defendants were unable to find any reported cases where a Court compelled a party to create an affidavit at the opposing parties' request. Drina's motion appears to be another boondoggle Drina created to needlessly drive up litigation costs.

B. Alleged Illegal Wiretapping

The chief authority upon which Drina's motion is based is the Texas Civil Wire Tap Act, Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code, Title 123. In Texas, where one party consents, the Texas Civil Wire Tap Act is inapplicable. Kotrla v. Kotrla, 718 S.W.2d 853, 855 (Tex.App.—Corpus Christi 1986, writ ref'd n.r.e). With respect to the first recording between Carl and Nelva, there is no evidence that Nelva did not consent to the recording.

With respect to the remaining conversations between Carl and Drina, at the time of the recordings Carl and Drina intended to divorce. It seems perfectly logical that Carl consented to the recordings at that time.

Further, on information and belief, Carl was aware of all of the video recordings made. Additionally, on information and belief, all audio recordings came from an answering machine which Carl either intentionally set up to record the call and/or which triggered in accordance with its own operation. Either way, one – if not both – participants had full knowledge that he/she was being recorded.

Now that Carl and Drina have apparently reconciled, Carl's counsel alleges neither consented to the recordings. There is no evidence to support the allegation. In short, Drina has not proven that both her and Carl did not consent to the recordings at the time they were made.

C. Drina's requests are merely an attempt to hide evidence that is damaging to her/Carl's claims.

One of the underlying tenets of Carl/Drina/Candace's claims is that certain actions undertaken by Nelva and/or by Anita, Amy or Carole were improperly taken. Unfounded and insupportable allegation of incompetence, undue influence, etc. abound. Yet now, we have Drina taking efforts to suppress exculpatory evidence. The evidence Drina seeks to hide constitutes evidence that adds context and color to decisions made and actions taken. It is evidence that will assist the fact-finder in confirming what Anita, Amy or Carole already know to be true. Specifically, that the actions undertaken by Nelva and/or by Anita, Amy or Carole were proper and justified in light of the circumstances as they were or appeared to be at the time.

D. Proposed Agreed Protective Order

Defendants might be willing to enter into a standard joint agreed protective order, such as the one attached hereto as Exhibit A, which would prevent the parties from distributing materials incident to this litigation to third-parties. However, thus far, Drina has not consented to proceed in this manner. Defendants otherwise oppose creating new, weird, atypical rules unfounded in Texas jurisprudence.

III. Prayer

For these reasons, Defendants, Anita Brunsting, Amy Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting pray that Carl Henry Brunsting's Motion for Protective Order be denied. Additionally, Defendants pray for such other and further relief (general and special, legal and equitable) to which they may be entitled, collectively, individually or in any of their representative capacities.

IN PROBATE COURT

Plaintiff,

V.

NUMBER FOUR (4) OF

ANITA KAY BRUNSTING, ET AL

Defendants.

HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS

RESPONSE TO DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S
MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Court has raised very valid issues regarding the questions before it, and has asked to be briefed. Plaintiff Curtis therefore submits the following analysis of the questions raised and, although seemingly complex at first view, the matter is really quite simple. There is only one primary premise and thus the first principles require answer to only one inquiry, which is whether or not the interception and dissemination of the challenged electronic communications was lawful.

Plaintiff will respectfully show that the greater weight of unrebutted presumptions falls in favor of the illegality of the recordings, and that judicial discretion would best be exercised with caution, as the Court cannot allow dissemination without proof of the legality of the recordings without also becoming a principal to the crime of dissemination.¹

1. The recordings are evidence of illegally intercepted electronic communications, a second degree felony² in Texas with a moderate severity level.
2. Illegally intercepted electronic communications may not be received in evidence nor exchanged under the pretext of discovery in any civil action, as unauthorized possession or dissemination of illegally intercepted electronic communications is a second degree felony which, as noted, the Court would be unwise to participate in.

² Texas [Penal] Code Annotated Sections 12.33, 12.35, 16.01 (West 1997); 1997 Tex. Gen. Laws 1051; Texas [Civil Practice and Remedies] Code Annotated Sections 123.002, 123.004 (West 1997); Texas Code of Criminal Procedure Annotated Article 18.20 (West 1997).

08/10/2015 10:20:00 AM

08112015:1020:PO208

3. The burden of bringing forth evidence is on the proponents of the legality and admissibility of the recorded wiretap conversations, as the presumption that intercepted electronic communications found in the possession of third parties, meaning persons not privy to the conversations, are presumed unlawful and the burden of showing that the challenged recordings meet one of the statutory exceptions is upon the Defendant disseminators.
4. The Court is without discretion and no agreement is necessary. Under the circumstances here, the Court must issue a protective order, even if only temporary, pending resolution of the issue of whether or not interception and dissemination of the challenged electronic communications was lawful.
5. The attached exhibits in a chronology of relevant events reveals that the recordings are the fruit of an illicit conspiracy targeting Carl and Drina that did not involve Nelva Brunsting and, Defendants' unanimous claims are defeated in their own words uttered at or about the time of the recordings, as hereinafter more fully appears.

Texas Authority on Admissibility

The admissibility of evidence illegally obtained is tempered by Tex.R.Civ.Evid. 402, which provides in pertinent part that, "[a]ll relevant evidence is admissible, except as otherwise provided ... by statute." Consequently, before the recordings can be held to be inadmissible, the Plaintiff(s) must show their exclusion is required under either the federal or state statute. Section 2511(1) of the federal wiretap statute³ prohibits the use or disclosure of communications by any person except as provided by statute. Gelbard v. United States, 408 U.S. 41, 51-52, 92 S.Ct. 2357, 2363, 33 L.Ed.2d 179 (1972) (witness could not be forced to disclose testimony from illegal wiretap to grand jury).

Section 123.002 of the state wiretap statute states that a party has a cause of action against any person who "divulges information" that was obtained by an illegal wiretap. TEX.CIV.PRAC. & REM.CODE § 123.002.

Section 123.004 states that a party whose communication is intercepted may ask the court for an injunction prohibiting the "divulgence or use of information obtained by an interception." TEX. CIV.PRAC. & REM.CODE § 123.004.

Although the Texas wiretap statute does not specifically provide for the exclusion of illegally obtained "communications," the provisions for a cause of action for divulging wiretap information and the injunctive remedies provided in section 123.004 are sufficient to rebut the presumption of admissibility under rule 402.

Because the tapes were illegally obtained under the federal and state statutes, the trial court should not allow their dissemination, or admit them into evidence, under the exception provided at Tex.R.Civ.Evid. 402.

The recorded conversations are not admissible because the criminal statute dealing with the use of the intercepted communications criminalizes their dissemination, and the civil statute provides a method to prevent dissemination.

To permit such evidence to be introduced at trial when it is illegal to disseminate it would make the court a partner to the illegal conduct the statute seeks to proscribe. Gelbard, 408 U.S. at 51, 92 S.Ct. at 2362-63; Turner, 765 S.W.2d at 470.

Exceptions

In addition to the numerous governmental or agency exceptions to the general rule, it is not unlawful to intercept any form of wire, oral or electronic communications between others if one of the persons is a party to the communication or one of the parties has given their consent to the interception. Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code §123.001(2); Tex. Pen. Code §16.02(c)(3)(A); 18 U.S.C §2511(2)(c); Kotrla v. Kotrla, 718 S.W.2d 853, 855 (Tex. App. - CorpusChristi 1986); See also, Hall v. State, 862 S.W.2d 710(Tex. App. - Beaumont 1993, no writ); Turner v. PV International Corporation , 765 S.W.2d 455, 469-71(Tex. App. - Dallas 1988, writ denied per curiam, 778S.W.2d 865 (Tex. 1989).

Interception, Possession, and Dissemination

The Right to Privacy is the Controlling Presumption

The right to privacy is held in such high esteem that the U.S. Congress and the Texas Legislature have both made it a felony to illegally intercept, possess or disseminate electronic communications. There are very limited exceptions none of which apply here.

The mandatory but rebuttable presumptions are that the participants to these phone conversations had a reasonable expectation of privacy; that the right has been violated and; that the burden of showing the interception of those electronic communications meets one of the statutory exceptions is upon persons who were themselves not a party to the private electronic communications, but who we find to be in possession of and disseminating the challenged recordings.

Defendants have produced no evidence tending to show that the intercepted electronic communications meet any of the lawful exceptions and the ball is in their court. If the wiretap recordings cannot be shown by the Defendants to meet one of the statutory exceptions, the recordings are prima facie unlawful, regardless of any alleged motives for their interception.

While no more than the foregoing law and fact summary is essential to the disposition of the singular issue before the Court, it seems necessary to address Defendants' unanimously disingenuous assertions and thus Plaintiff does so with the attached Memorandum.

The attached memorandum on the matter of context and color, with attached exhibits, is hereby incorporated by reference as if fully restated herein.

Plaintiff Curtis respectfully submits the following proposed order.

TEMPORARY PROTECTIVE ORDER

On August 3, 2015 the Court heard and considered CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER and Defendants' response thereto.

At issue are recordings of intercepted electronic communications between Plaintiff Carl Henry Brunsting and his wife Drina.

After hearing on the merits and reviewing briefs submitted by the parties, the Court is of the opinion that the recordings in point are "Protected Communications" as that term is defined at 18 U.S.C. §§2510(1) & 2510(12) and that a protective order is necessary to protect privacy rights pending disposition of the pending questions at issue.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that any person or entity subject to this Order-including without limitation the parties to this action, their representatives, agents, experts and consultants, all third parties providing discovery in this action, and all other interested persons with actual or constructive notice of this Order -shall adhere to the following terms, upon pain of contempt and any other applicable civil or criminal penalties:

1. No person or entity shall, in response to a request for discovery or subpoena issued in this action, produce any Protected Communication for any third party or person absent further order of this Court.
2. To the extent a Protected Communication is or has already been produced in response to a request for discovery or subpoena issued in this action, any recipient of such production shall (a) immediately surrender any and all documents that contain or reflect a Protected Communication to real party in interest Carl Henry Brunsting through his Counsel of Record and (b) destroy any copies made of such Protected Communication, as well as any derivative materials that reflect a Protected Communication on any medium of storage whatsoever.

3. Any party to this action that issues a request for discovery or subpoena calling for the production of a Protected Communication shall simultaneously provide the recipient of the discovery request or subpoena with a copy of this Protective Order. To the extent a party to this action has already issued such a request or subpoena, such party shall provide a copy of this Protective Order to the recipient within three (3) business days of the entry of this Order.

4. Any person who receives a request for discovery or subpoena in this action calling for the production of a Protected Communication shall, without revealing the substance or content of a Protected Communication, provide both the issuing party and the Court with a general description of that Protected Communication so that the issuing party can make an application to this Court for production of that Protected Communication, and that Plaintiff Carl Henry Brunsting can respond to that application.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that on or before _____, sworn affidavits are to be provided by Defendants Anita Brunsting, Amy Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting, stating any personal knowledge with regard to every recording made since July 1, 2010 within the following categories:

- All audio or video recordings of meetings, conversations, telephone messages, or other communications with Elmer, Nelva, or any of the Brunsting Descendants concerning Brunsting Issues,
- All audio or video recordings of Nelva's execution of any documents.
- All audio or video recordings of evaluations of Nelva's capacity,
- All other audio or video recordings of any Brunsting family member, and
- All investigations made of any Brunsting family member, including any surveillance logs or reports.

08/11/2015 10:20: P0209

The sworn affidavits shall identify every party involved in making the recordings and specify the date, location, and means used to make the recordings, the current location of all original recordings and all copies of all recordings, all parties to whom the contents of recordings have been disclosed, and all uses which have been made of the recordings.

IT IS SO ORDERED!

IN PROBATE COURT

NUMBER FOUR (4) OF

HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS

MEMORANDUM OF FACTS SUPPORTED BY DEFENDANTS' OWN DISCLOSURES

Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis respectfully submits for the perusal of the Court this memorandum of facts adding to the inquiry context and color revealing the true nature of the intentions behind the unlawful interception and dissemination of the private electronic communications at issue.

Statement of the Issue

Recordings of private electronic telephone conversations between plaintiff Carl Brunsting and his wife Drina Brunsting have been disseminated to all of the parties to the present lawsuits. These recordings, if any, were requested by Plaintiff Brunsting to be produced by the Defendants in the Petition for Deposition Before Suit filed by Carl Brunsting March 9, 2012, when there were no other parties, however, the recordings were not disclosed until July 5, 2015.

Plaintiff Carl Henry Brunsting, along with his wife and attorney in fact Drina Brunsting, challenged the recordings as the product of the illegal interception of electronic communications, in violation of state and federal wiretap laws, and thus seek protective orders.

In DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER Defendants unanimously assume the following postures:

1. It is certainly understandable that Drina has such opposition to the recordings because it proves that Nelva was planning for Drina and Carl's divorce and that Nelva felt Carl's medical condition made him unable to serve as a trustee.
2. On information and belief, all audio recordings came from an answering machine which Carl either intentionally set up to record the calls and/or which triggered in accordance with its own operation. Either way, one-if not both-participants had full knowledge that he/she was being recorded.
3. Drina provides no evidence that both parties to the conversations did not consent to the recordings, which is a prerequisite to the relief sought.

08/12/2015 10:20:10 AM

A Recital of Known Facts

1. There are known recordings of private phone communications between Carl and Nelva and between Carl and his wife Drina, which are the object of the application for protective order.
2. The recordings were disseminated by Defendant Anita Brunsting, who is not a party to any of the disclosed communications.
3. We have a claim by Carl Henry Brunsting and his wife Drina that the recordings were illegally obtained.
4. We have a unanimous response from all three Defendants asserting upon information and belief that the recordings were legally obtained but answers to interrogatories on the subject indicate that none of them know anything individually.
5. The question of admissibility hinges upon the legality of the interception and dissemination of the communications.
6. A presumption that the right of privacy has been violated is primary and stands unrebutted by competent evidence to the contrary.
7. The burden of proof as to the legality of the acquisition and dissemination of the recordings is on the proponent of the assertions that the recordings were obtained legally and are therefore admissible.
8. The proponent of the legitimacy and admissibility of the recordings objects that declaring the facts necessary to qualify the recordings as legally obtained evidence before dissemination is somehow onerous, but at the same time want carte blanche to disseminate the recordings to persons not privy to the conversations under the auspices of discovery and disclosure.
9. Unless the recordings can be qualified as legally obtained they are inadmissible and cannot be disseminated lawfully.
10. There are questions as to the recordings' origins and Defendants file a joint motion claiming the existence of specific facts while taking no individual responsibility for personal knowledge.
11. Anita Brunsting, through her counsel Brad Featherston, disseminated the recordings and, thus, Anita Brunsting would have at least some personal knowledge regarding the chain of custody and control, and both now share in the culpability and attendant civil liability.
12. Assertions that the recordings were made on an answering machine would indicate personal knowledge by one if not all of the Defendants.

21201:020151021180

13. An assertion that the recordings were authorized by Carl Brunsting requires evidentiary support from the proponent of the claim, and there has been none.
14. Assertions that Carl Brunsting installed and activated the Answering Machine are inconsistent with the Defendants' emails of the same date of the purchase of the voice recorder showing they were conspiring to get guardianship over Carl.
15. Carl was both incompetent and the proper subject of Defendants' intended guardianship effort or he was competent to install and activate the "Answering Machine" that Defendants insist he made the recordings on. Both of these things cannot be true.
16. In the Bates stamped disclosures there is a receipt for a signal activated SONY digital voice recorder purchased four days before the first dated recording on the disseminated CD. When combined with the attached email and other exhibits talking about getting guardianship over Carl, continuing the Private Investigator over the weekend, knowing where Carl and Drina were and what they were doing at that very point in time, and all of these events in the same time period as other documented activities, provides a presumption that the circumstances and intentions surrounding the acquisition of the recordings are not what Defendants claim, as hereinafter more fully appears.

The hierarchy of presumptions is as follows:

1. The participants to a private telephone conversation have a reasonable expectation of privacy against electronic eavesdropping.
2. The waiver of a known right must be a knowing and intelligent act done with sufficient knowledge of the relevant circumstance and likely consequences, and it must be both a voluntary and an overt act.
3. There is no affirmative evidence of such waiver.
4. Unless rebutted the presumption that the recordings were illegally obtained is not only controlling but the prudent course.

The True Context and Color

The only probative value these recordings could possibly have is in the fact of their very existence. Defendants argue that the content of the challenged recordings adds context and color to the events of the time showing that Nelva was preparing for Carl's alleged divorce. As in all other instances Defendants fail to provide anything but claims of Nelva's intentions based upon the strength of the honor and integrity of their word alone.

Despite all the posturing and game playing the evidence will show the Defendants are intractably disingenuous and that they illegally intercepted the private electronic communications as part of a conspiracy to steal the family inheritance. That conspiracy involved attempts to have

Nelva declared incompetent and to gather what they thought would be evidence to support guardianship over Carl.

The evidence will further show Defendants stalked Nelva through her email and banking activities online, in addition to tapping her phone and recording every conversation involving anyone who spoke with Nelva on the phone, including Plaintiff Curtis in California.

Candace Freed took her instructions from ANITA despite her claims it was Nelva who was making the requests for changes to the trust. (Exhibit A)

The October 25, 2010 phone conference called for by Candace Freed excluded Carl and Nelva and was ultimately about having Nelva declared incompetent, which they failed to achieve by mid-November. The "law firm" did not keep an audio recording of that conference.

There is no evidence Nelva even knew of these changes before Plaintiff Curtis' 10/26/2010 phone call, after which Nelva sent Candace her hand written note repudiating the alleged 8/25/2010 QBD.

Defendant Carole Brunsting sent an email about overhearing Nelva's conversation on the phone with Candace Freed. (Exhibit B)

Freed sends a follow up email regarding the failed attempt at getting Nelva declared incompetent on Nov. 17, 2010, apparently referring to this same conversation. (Exhibit C)

Despite Defendant Amy Brunsting's claims of not being involved before Nelva's death, Amy and Anita corresponded with Candace Freed December 23, 2010 and on several other dates prior to Nelva's demise. (Exhibit D)

On March 8, 2011 Anita emails Carole, Amy and Candace bragging about reminding Nelva she was no longer trustee and no longer had access to the trust. (Exhibit E)

March 17 and 18, 2011 emails mention the PI and talk about getting guardianship over Carl. (Exhibit G 1-3)

March 21, 2011 is the record date of first wiretap .wav file (received from Brad on CD 7/5/2015) (See Carl Brunsting Petition for Protective Order)

On March 24 and 25, 2011 there are large trust-prohibited transfers of Exxon Mobil and Chevron Stocks labeled as "gifts". (See Report of Special Master)

On March 29, 2011 Amy and Anita communicated with Freed (Exhibit D)

08/11/2015 10:20: P0214

April 22, 2011 is the record date of second .wav file (received from Brad 7/5/2015) (See Carl Brunsting Petition for Protective Order)

Then on May 11, 23 and 25, and on June 14 and 15, there are more large trust-prohibited transfers of Exxon Mobil and Chevron Stocks. (Report of Special Master)

July 27, 2011 Anita corresponds with Freed (Exhibit D)

August 16, 2011 Anita corresponds with Freed (Exhibit D)

September 20, 2011 Amy and Anita correspond with Freed (Exhibit D)

February 27, 2015 is the record date of the third and fourth .wav files (received from Brad 7/5/2015) (See Carl Brunsting Petition for Protective Order), indicating these two recordings had been excerpted from a master storage disk containing even more undisclosed recordings.

There is an overwhelming volume of evidence clearly showing more of the same pernicious intent, but since the matter before the Court is limited to the singular question of the legality of Protected Communications, Plaintiff Curtis will not respond to the plethora of Defendants' extemporaneous expressions of disingenuous, self-serving bias, and otherwise irrelevant assertions.

Candy,

The more I think about this the whole key is Carl. When I was listening to Mother's call with Candace, Mother told Candace that Carl was trustee, not Anita and was not following the changes Candace was telling her she had made to have Carl removed.. Legally, I wonder if what Candace did was right without consulting Carl or his power of attorney since Carl has always been present at all meetings.

Candace DOES know she fucked up. That's why she had such a nasty attitude towards both you and I. Anita is smug and Amy plays dumb.

I hope Carl goes home today! If he does I hope the sun is shining. 10 minutes smiling into the sunshine + coffee + the Beatles = a sharper, happy Carl. I have a strong feeling that he will recover in leaps and bounds ALL ON HIS OWN, with support from his wife and family. The fact that Daddy is looking over us gives me strength. I can feel him stronger than ever before.

My suggestion is that when Dr. White finds Mother competent the following should happen:

1. You need to complete your time-line to demonstrate that due to various factors (badgering, low oxygen, Carl's illness, her illness, pneumonia, general stress and worry due to all of this), Mother was incompetent and under extreme duress when she signed everything she signed, particularly the Power of Attorney. We can compose a letter to Candace for Mother to sign, demanding that she wants to have papers drawn up to revoke anything she agreed to between the first of July and now.
2. As Mother gathers strength over the next few weeks she will go to her MD Anderson appointments, etc. and move towards treatment and recovery. I want to stress nutrition, adequate good sleep, and stress-free living.
3. In the meantime she can sell what she needs to, to pay for Robert or Tino or whoever Drina needs to assist her with Carl (if she even needs someone - Carl may recover a lot in a few weeks at home). The cost will be minimal compared to the $100k shithead got to buy her house.

Going forward, Mother will have to tell Candace IN WRITING what she wants done with the trust. You can help her compose the letters. There can be no question when it's in writing. You can assist Mother in reviewing the paperwork before she signs (at home - at her leisure), to make sure all her wishes have been incorporated. This should never be done under the pressure and duress she was subjected to. Mother can take as much time as she needs to read and understand that everything will be as she wants it to be.

The fair and equitable solution in my mind is:

Make all five of us successor co-trustees and require a majority to make any change whatsoever. Then, if Mother steps down there will be no shenanigans. Everything will be transparent and we'll all know everything everyone else knows. That way when Anita wants to sell the farm, or move away from Edward Jones, she can put it up for a vote among us. All five of us are intelligent people and none of us can honestly say we have NEVER made a wrong choice in our lives. This way Mother will be at peace to live out her life, and she will die knowing that she has not pitted one against the other, or given control of one over the other, or played favorites, or been bullied into doing something she didn't really want to do, or would not have done in the first place.

Now this may go AGAINST the norm, or what Candace and her ilk would recommend, but fuck them. They are attorneys who get paid to do what their clients want them to do and they love having to draw up documents. Fees, fees, fees, $$$$$$$$$$$$$

If Anita succeeds in her agenda and becomes trustee, we should have her competency tested just to show her what it feels like. If everything stays the way it is right now, that's the first thing I'm going to do when the day comes that she's in charge of me. Na, Na, Na, Na, Na, Na.

Love you,

C

And do not overlook an exploration of the family's motives in requesting a competency evaluation, she cautioned. Do family members have reason for wanting their oddly behaving relative to be declared incompetent?

This is from an article about not rushing to declare an elderly person incompetent. Mother passes the smell test and I have to make sure Tino does not let her out of the house without her clothes being ironed and SEE!!! MOTHER MADE THE APPOINTMENT TO GET HER HAIR DONE!!! CANDY THAT IS IT!!! MOTHER DOES CARE ABOUT HER APPEARANCE!! She will not go out without her makeup on and I have to get her a nail file all the time. Mother also called Edward Jones on her own and sold $10K so she would have enough money to live on.

She was temporarily incompetent when she was too low on oxygen and if they made her walk to Candace's office I know for a fact her levels were too low because Dr. White joked about it. Tino did not take her so she had to walk from the parking lot to the office. She did not understand what she was signing because she was too short of breath and I can prove that. Candane has to know she F*ed up.

There are any number of situations that may cause you to question the competency of a family member to make sound life decisions, such as when:

- An elderly person suddenly changes a will or trust in a manner that is significantly different from all previous wills or trusts, which could result in will litigation if not appropriately handled during the elder's life.
- A family member has suspicion that the elderly person is being unduly influenced by others

Anita is unduly influencing Mother and now Amy has piled on. Mother never would have made these changes on her own. This was all done by the hand of Anita who put herself in charge of everything.

Subject: RE: New Development

I got the same TM from Tino. I hesitate to promise them anything in writing about money. Rather than a monthly payment, I would rather grant them a certain amount each year, but only through the direct payment of their bills - for example; mom could gift Carl $13,000/year, but only if they send me the bill statements to pay directly, and only for bills for living/medical expenses - when the trust has paid $13,000 in bills for the year, that's the end of the money for that year. We could ask them to sign for this money against his inheritance, but then we'd have another form that we'd have to get them to sign (probably notarized), and as we don't know if she's had Carl declared incompetent, the validity of any form he signs might be questionable.

I do like the idea of a letter telling Drina that she may have no contact w/ mom (physical, verbal, visual, phone or electronic means) and she is not to enter mom's house. She can bring Carl to visit mom, but she must remain outside the house - any violation of this letter will be considered harassment and the police will be called if she does not comply. I would also like to add in the letter that Carl's inheritance will be put into a Personal Asset Trust for his care and living expenses - I think this information might be enough to tip her hand.

I would also like to ask Candace, what this letter would do for us legally - like if we did end up calling the police would the letter lend any credence to our case?

I won't do anything until we can come upon an agreement as what to do - I can also write this letter in the role of mom's power of attorney (which she signed last year).

I spoke w/ mom about the whole situation; she listens to reason and can understand our concerns for Carl, and will sign the changes to the trust next week. I have been very forthright in explaining the changes in the trust to her, and that they would be done in order to minimize any pathway that Drina might have to Carl's money. The changes are not to penalize Carl, but to ensure the money goes for his care. I told her to "just say No" to Carl or Drina if they brought up the trust or money and to refer them to me. I reminded her that she isn't trustee anymore and doesn't have access to the trust accounts - she seems fine w/ everything, and expressed no desire to put Carl back on as a trustee. I told her that in the event she did that, that it would not be fair to the rest of us, as we would end up having to deal w/ Drina, not Carl. Mom begrudgingly admits to knowledge of the unpleasantness of this whole situation and Drina's past behavior since Carl has been ill, but I think she is really naive regarding the lengths to which Drina may go through to get Carl's inheritance.

Subject: CPA's advice

Hi,

I talked to the CPA who does my taxes today and asked her what she would recommend. She told me that Drina should talk to an attorney who specializes in debt created by medical bills. Medical bill debt is treated differently than other debt. I did a quick check on the internet and there are several in Houston.

She said that creditors cannot touch Drina's house or cars. She also recommended not paying any of the medical bills right now. She said to wait until the dust settles, then talk with each company about a payment plan, possibly as little as $10 a month. She told me that in all likelihood, they would eventually write off her debt as a loss. She said Drina should definitely not touch any retirement or inheritance, or borrow anything against them.

I called Drina today and told her what Darlene said. She said her father had been telling her the same things. I tried to emphasize that she should not be paying any bills right now, but I don't know if she really understood why. She is overly concerned with her credit score rating. Darlene said that is not that important because they own their house and cars and are not as reliant on credit compared to younger people.

Anyhow, I know that Drina is in a hard spot right now, but I honestly think that keeping her from accessing any of Carl's inheritance would be in her best interest. It would be a waste to spend it on medical bills and they will need the money in the future. I don't think that is going to sit well with Drina because she's going to see it as us being tight-fisted with the money. I strongly suggest that if any of us talk to her, we do it as nicely as we can. Acknowledge that the debt is so huge it is unpayable in her lifetime. Encourage her to seek a professional to find the best way to deal with it. Remind her that we want the best for her and Carl in their future and that we are thinking of their best interests.

Love,
Amy

Subject: Re: atty for guardianship

I think that Drina has always projected her own family issues onto ours. She was completely distanced from her own family until a year ago when her brother passed away and now she talks about the relationship with her dad like they have been close forever which has not been the case.

She must have had some very bad things happen to her in her childhood and slowly but surely she twisted Carl's mind to go along with everything she did and said. I think you are right that this will have to play itself out to see what she does. She has been waiting for the day she and Carl get the "big" trust payout and then it will be see you later chumps!

The Brunsting family has never been very demonstrative of their love for one another, but I chalk that up to being Dutch. What I cannot seem to wrap my arms around is the extreme coldness of Drina and Marta. They have always been limp when hugged and hugging is one of the best things in the world. One power hug and all my cares fly out the window. I believe it must be a genetic brain chemical imbalance in Drina's family. She has spent her life with Carl trying to distance HIM from his family and turn him into a cold fish like her. How did she ever get pregnant in the first place? Maybe we should try to get some DNA from Marta and Carl and do a paternity test. Wouldn't it be something if he wasn't her father????????? LOL

Frankly, as long as the trust is safe, we should probably just let nature take its course and sooner or later we will get Carl out of their clutches and into ours. He might be pissed off for awhile, but I have some small faith that once he can reason better he will see that we only seek what is best for him in the long run BECAUSE WE LOVE HIM. Once he is able to reason and be reasoned with, and has regained some control of his life, if he chooses to go back to his moron wife and their moron spawn, I will mourn him as if he were dead. Until such time I will assume that, somehow, at some point in his recovery, he will realize how miserable the bitch has made his life. He might see that all she has ever cared about is money and how to avoid having to go out and earn some.

If asked, Carl would probably say no to coming out here to live with us, even though it might be the very best thing for him. He should never feel like he has been "dumped" on anyone. I think he would have a lot more stimulation out here. He does love the Bay Area and after a short time he might gain some real incentive to get well.

Subject: atty for guardianship

Ok, I think I may have found an atty who could handle the guardianship issue. She was recommended to me by the Burgower firm that Amy's lawyer had given her - the Burgower firm does not do guardianship cases. This atty's name is Ellen Yarrell; her offices are in the Galleria area; she charges an initial consult fee of $350 for 1 hr of her time, and probably requires an retainer of $2000. Her paralegal (Elizabeth) said that she's handled cases like this before (where an impaired person has been divorced by their spouse). I asked about the expense and she said that Yarrell could give us a better idea after the consult and it depends on whether the guardianship would be contested (so that depends on whether we fight Drina now, or wait to see if she'll divorce him and then we're facing Marta (if she pursues it)). I got the feeling that "expensive" meant more like $50,000 not $1 million.

I thought of another plus on our side if Drina divorces him - Drina will probably expect him to come live w/ mother - so if he's w/ us and not his daughter that lends more credence to our side for guardianship (possession is 9/10's of the law?).

I also talked to mom last night and told her what was going on. I asked her if she was ok w/ using her money to pay for Carl's legal fees and of course she said yes.

They are there right now according to the PI. And Michael took him on Wednesday.

we're continuing the pi over the weekend or unless it looks like she's headed toward Beaumont - will also use him through next week. $750 is for the lawyer's (Cole) initial consult not a dr. If she divorces him then someone needs to sue for guardianship - Marta would be considered next in line by the law, but if she doesn't sue for it then I don't think she'd be considered. If Drina gets him to sign divorce papers that give him any less than 50% of their assets then a guardian can countersue her to recover those.

$750 an hour FOR WHAT? The woman is abusing him and negligent in his care. Have they been out even one time this week? Last I heard, Monday and Tuesday there was no activity other than a visit from Marta. APS said that once they confirmed she was following doctor's orders, they closed the case. If the instructions were 3 times a week and he hasn't been, or only goes once or twice, SHE IS NEGLIGENT, and they better reopen it or start a new one. Let me know if you want me to call.

Any doctor who has seen Carl would most likely say NO to all of the questions. I would, just based on past phone conversations with Carl.

What if Drina files for divorce? Would that be abandonment? Would the trust even be an issue if SHE divorces him?

09112015:1020:PO250

If I could have anything I wanted for Carl, I would have him assessed by the neuropsychologists at the place I found in Houston. I don't know if he could handle long periods of testing, but he has got to get some cognitive brain function back OR HE WILL NEVER EVEN BECOME CLOSE TO WHOLE AGAIN. It's a good sign that his behavior has improved, but is it because she beats him with a stick and mentally assaults him to get him to act right?

Maybe guardianship is the wrong approach. Maybe we should go after Drina and have her declared incompetent to care for him, or criminally negligent for not obtaining proper rehabilitation. There has to be a reason why she doesn't want her husband of almost 30 years to recover.

Let me know if he will be staying at Mother's again over the weekend. If so, we might want to extend the PI over the weekend so we can see what the hell she does. The more "evidence" we can amass, the better.

Love you guys,

Just thought you'd find this interesting, this is the form that we'd have to have a physician use to assess Carl and possible a MHMR psychologist as well. I just thought it would give you an idea as to what they're looking for - Carl definitely fits the bill - against the Honorable Judges are barred by judicial, official and governmental immunity. Likewise, the claims against Tony Baiamonte are barred by governmental, qualified and official immunity.

Just fyi, you may have already known this.

Harris County Defendants are entitled to dismissal on these additional grounds: (1) the Complaint fails to state a claim sufficient to meet the requirements of Rules 8 and 9(b), (2) the Complaint fails to state a RICO claim or RICO conspiracy claim against the Harris County Defendants, (3) the Complaint fails to allege standing under RICO, (4) the Complaint fails to allege a conspiracy, (5) the Complaint is not plausible, (6) the Complaint fails to plausibly allege the existence of an "enterprise" or "association-in-fact," and (7) the Complaint is frivolous.

Neither Curtis nor Munson have standing to bring this lawsuit. Munson is not a party to the underlying probate proceeding and has no "private attorney general" standing. Further, his complaints that he could have pursued other work but instead spent four years providing paralegal services to Curtis and therefore lost out on other "property and business interests" is not a basis for standing.

Harris County Defendants seek to dismiss all of Plaintiffs' claims because there is no subject matter jurisdiction over the Defendants, and alternatively, for their failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, pursuant to Rules 12(b)(6), 8(a) and 9(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

ARGUMENT & AUTHORITIES

1. The Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.

FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) allows a party to move for dismissal of an action for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction; absent jurisdiction conferred by statute or the Constitution, they lack the power to adjudicate claims.⁹ Subject matter jurisdiction cannot be established by waiver or consent.¹⁰ If subject matter jurisdiction is lacking, the court must dismiss the suit.¹¹

When a plaintiff lacks standing, the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.¹² “[S]tanding is an essential and unchanging part of the case-or-controversy requirement of Article III.”¹³ The constitutional requirements to establish standing are (1) injury in fact that is concrete, particularized, and actual or imminent, not hypothetical; (2) a fairly traceable causal link between the plaintiff's injury and the defendant's challenged actions; and the likelihood of redressability by the requested relief.¹⁴ The Eleventh Amendment and sovereign immunity also restrict federal court jurisdiction.¹⁵ “The Eleventh Amendment bars an individual from suing a state in federal court unless the state consents or Congress has clearly and validly abrogated the state's sovereign immunity.”¹⁶ A suit against a state agency or department is considered to be a suit against the state under the Eleventh Amendment.¹⁷ In addition, the Eleventh Amendment bars suit against a state official when “the state is the real substantial party in interest.”¹⁸

“When a Rule 12(b)(1) motion is filed in conjunction with other Rule 12 motions, the court should consider the Rule 12(b)(1) jurisdictional attack before addressing any attack on the merits.”¹⁹

The Court lacks jurisdiction because the Plaintiffs have no standing to assert RICO claims and because the Defendants are entitled to immunity from suit.

a. Plaintiffs fail to allege standing under RICO²⁰

Plaintiffs must plead and prove that they have legal standing to sue for an alleged RICO violation. The standing provision of civil RICO provides that “any person injured in his business or property by reason of a violation of section 1962 of this chapter may sue therefor ... and shall recover threefold the damages he sustains”²¹ To have standing under the RICO Act, a plaintiff must allege a tangible financial loss.²² Injury to mere expectancy interests or to an intangible property interest is not sufficient to confer RICO standing.²³ Thus, speculative damages are not compensable under RICO.²⁴

Additionally, a plaintiff may sue under § 1964(c) (civil RICO) only if the alleged RICO violations (“predicate acts”) were the proximate cause of the plaintiff’s injury.²⁵ In Holmes v.

²⁰ To state a civil RICO claim under § 1962, a plaintiff must allege: (1) the conduct (2) of an enterprise (3) through a pattern (4) of racketeering activity. Elliott v. Foufas, 867 F.2d 877, 880 (5th Cir. 1989) (citing Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., Inc., 473 U.S. 479, 496 (1985)).

Securities Investor Protection Corp., the Supreme Court held that the proximate-cause requirement necessitates the "demand for some direct relation between the injury asserted and the injurious conduct alleged."²⁶

Thus, a RICO plaintiff must satisfy two elements to establish standing to bring a RICO claim: (1) a direct, concrete financial injury to Plaintiff's business or property; and (2) proximate causation (i.e., that the alleged injury was proximately caused by the alleged RICO predicate act(s)). The Plaintiffs herein have neither alleged nor proven that they have suffered any direct, personal, concrete financial injury to their business or property. Rather, Plaintiff Curtis has alleged only indirect injury -i.e., alleged loss to the assets of the Brunsting family trust and estate in the underlying probate proceeding. "[T]he plaintiff only has standing if, and can only recover to the extent that, he has been injured in his business or property by the conduct constituting the violation."²⁷ (Emphasis added). Even Curtis acknowledges there are only "threats of injury to property rights" of which she only has an "expectancy interest."²⁸

Plaintiff Munson is even further removed as he admittedly has no interest in the Brunsting family trust and estate and was not a party to any prior lawsuits involving the subject trust and estate.²⁹ His only connection to the prior lawsuits was the "paralegal services" he provided to Curtis.

i. No proximate cause.

Plaintiffs have littered their Complaint with unsubstantiated allegations that Harris County

Defendants have committed unspecified acts of honest services fraud, fraud, theft, mail fraud,³⁰ wire fraud,³¹ obstruction of justice³², spoliation of evidence³³ and interference with commerce or extortion³⁴. It appears the complaints concerning mail fraud and wire fraud is limited to the other defendants – such as the exchange of discovery responses – which does not involve the Harris County Defendants.³⁵

To satisfy the stringent pleading requirements of Rule 9(b) regarding claims sounding in fraud, “the plaintiff must specify the statements contended to be fraudulent, identify the speaker, state when and where the statements were made, and explain why the statements were fraudulent.”³⁶ Plaintiffs must set out “the who, what, when, where, and how” of the fraud.³⁷

Plaintiffs’ Complaint, despite its corpulence (59 pages and 217 paragraphs), wholly fails to plead “the who, what, when, where, and how” of the alleged fraud as required by Rule 9(b). This particularity requirement also applies to the pleading of mail fraud or wire fraud as predicate acts in a RICO claim.³⁸

Having failed to plead any facts in support of the conclusory allegations of racketeering activity based upon fraud, Plaintiffs have failed to plead and prove proximate causation as a required element of RICO standing.³⁹

Likewise, Plaintiffs' "factual allegations" of proximate cause are scant to non-existent. The Complaint contains their proximate cause allegations, which are nothing but conclusory recitations, wholly devoid of the heightened level of factual pleading for fraud cases mandated by Rule 9(b) and federal law.

Dismissal for failure to plead allegations of fraud, including RICO predicate acts of alleged mail fraud and wire fraud with particularity as required by Rule 9(b), is treated the same as Rule 12(b)(6) dismissal for failure to state a claim.⁴⁰ The Fifth Circuit interprets Rule 9(b) to require "specificity as to the statements (or omissions) considered to be fraudulent, the speaker, when and why the statement were made, and an explanation of why they were fraudulent."⁴¹

Further, it is clear from the Complaint that Plaintiffs have not alleged any unlawful act against the County Defendants. Plaintiffs have listed 6 federal crimes that appear in 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)'s definition of racketeering activity. However, to successfully plead a RICO claim under § 1962(c), Plaintiffs must do more than simply list the predicate act crimes necessary to establish a pattern of racketeering activity. Plaintiffs must also plead facts that, if true, would establish that each predicate act was in fact committed by the County Defendants.⁴² simply identify the statute, provide a general description of the conduct it prohibits (although for most the conduct is not even described), and then assert the County Defendants violated the statute. This is not sufficient to establish (1) a predicate act was committed, or (2) any damages were proximately caused by the alleged act.

In addition, Plaintiffs cite to various other purported predicate acts as a basis for RICO, but this fails too because only predicate acts of racketeering activity provide a basis for recovery under RICO section 1964(c).⁴³ The following generalized claims are not predicate acts that support a claim for racketeering activity: theft under the Texas Penal Code (Claim 12), conspiracy for “state law theft” and “aiding and abetting” (Claim 23), spoliation (Claim 38), conspiracy to violate constitutional rights (Claim 44), “aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary, defalcation and scienter” (Claim 45), “aiding and abetting misapplication of fiduciary, defalcation and scienter” (Claim 46) and “tortious interference with inheritance expectancy” (Claim 47). Further, Plaintiff’s conclusory statements concerning these claims cannot support a claim against the Harris County Defendants.

ii. No direct injury.

Plaintiffs also lack RICO standing because they have failed to plead the “direct injury” (“directness”) requirement.⁴⁴

A justiciable interest is required as an element of standing under Texas law.⁴⁵ As noted by the Supreme Court, “There is no need to broaden the universe of actionable harms to permit RICO suits by parties who have been injured only indirectly."⁴⁶

The Plaintiffs have failed to adequately allege direct (i.e., personal) concrete financial loss, as required to establish standing to sue for civil RICO or civil RICO conspiracy.⁴⁷ Rather, they have made myriad conclusory, unsubstantiated claims. Curtis acknowledges there are only "threats of injury to property rights" of which she only has an "expectancy interest."⁴⁸ Munson has no such interest at all.

Because Plaintiffs have wholly failed to plead standing to bring their RICO claims (i.e., the existence of a direct injury to their personal business or property, which was proximately caused by a predicate act, this motion should be granted and their RICO claims dismissed with prejudice.

b. The Honorable Judges are entitled to judicial immunity.

Plaintiffs attempt to argue around judicial immunity by asserting the Honorable Judges were engaged in "non-judicial acts."⁴⁹ Despite the exceptionally lengthy Complaint, the sum and substance of all allegations against the Honorable Judges is the Plaintiffs' belief that the actions taken by them during the course of the pending cases were improper and/or wrong. Indeed, the acts complained of are removing a motion for summary judgment from the hearing docket and ordering the parties to mediation.

It is unquestionably clear that these actions were judicial acts that were made within Probate Court 4's jurisdiction and for which the Honorable Judges are entitled to immunity. The Complaint is completely void of any facts alleging actions taken in a nonjudicial role.

The Honorable Judges are entitled to absolute judicial immunity from suit for acts undertaken in their judicial capacity even if they are done maliciously or corruptly (which Defendants emphatically deny).⁵⁰ The two exceptions to this doctrine, i.e., actions by the judge in a non-judicial role and actions, while judicial actions, taken in complete absence of jurisdiction, do not apply here as Plaintiffs have not alleged facts that would invoke either.⁵¹ Further, as Texas judges, the Honorable Judges are entitled to Eleventh Amendment protection and governmental immunity for claims against them in their official capacity.⁵² Absolute judicial immunity does not bar prospective relief against a judge, but Plaintiffs have not sought such relief against the Honorable Judges.⁵³

In a similar case, Houston's First Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court's finding that two probate judges were entitled to judicial immunity. In James v. Underwood, two siblings were involved in a legal dispute over who had the right to manage their mother's assets.⁵⁴ Their controversy spawned multiple lawsuits filed in various district and probate courts, resulting in no less than 11 appellate decisions.⁵⁵ James sued two judges (Judge Olen Underwood and Judge immunity and quasi-judicial immunity in RICO actions.⁶⁴

Judicial immunity provides immunity from suit, not just from the ultimate assessment of damages.⁶⁵ “Judges enjoy absolute judicial immunity from liability for judicial acts, no matter how erroneous the act or how evil the motive, unless the act is performed in the clear absence of all jurisdiction.”⁶⁶ To determine whether an act is “judicial”, the courts look at the following four factors: (1) the act complained of is one normally performed by a judge, (2) the act occurred in the courtroom or an appropriate adjunct such as the judge’s chambers, (3) the controversy centered around a case pending before the judge, and (4) the act arose out of an exchange with the judge in the judge’s official capacity.⁶⁷ These factors are construed broadly in favor of immunity.⁶⁸ And, not all factors must be met for immunity to exist – in some circumstances, immunity may exist even if only one factor is met.⁶⁹ The factors are not required to be given equal weight; rather they are weighted according to the facts of the particular case.⁷⁰

In considering whether the act complained of is normally performed by a judge, we ask whether the action is a “function normally performed by a judge, and to the expectations of the parties, i.e. whether they dealt with the judge in his judicial capacity.”⁷¹ The relevant inquiry is the “nature” and “function” of the act, not the “act” itself.⁷² This distinction is necessary, otherwise any act characterized as improper would be deemed nonjudicial because “an improper or erroneous act cannot be said to be normally performed by a judge.”⁷³

In Twilligear, the Fourteenth Court of Appeals concluded that a judge accused of “negligence and gross negligence in failing to adequately oversee expenditures from a guardianship account” was exercising judicial action.⁷⁴ In the instant case, the Plaintiffs accuse the Honorable Judges of “obstruction of justice” by “removing Summary Judgment Motions from Calendar and creating stasis”, and conspiring to “redirect civil litigation away from the public record to a staged mediation” for the purpose of “adding delay and increasing expense” and “holding the money cow trust hostage for attorney fee ransoms.”⁷⁵ The actions Plaintiffs complain of are the rulings and Orders issued by the Honorable Judges.⁷⁶ The act of holding hearings and issuing rulings and Orders are all functions normally performed by a judge. This satisfies the first element of whether the actions were “judicial acts.” The complained of actions occurred in court or in the course of handling their docket; therefore the second factor also supports a finding that the Honorable Judges’ actions were judicial in nature.⁷⁷

The third factor is whether the controversy centered around a case pending before the judge. The entirety of the allegations raised center around the underlying probate proceeding before the Honorable Judges. Accordingly, this factor supports the conclusion that the Honorable Judges' actions were judicial.⁷⁸

The final factor is whether the act arose out of an exchange with the judge in the judge's official capacity.⁷⁹ Plaintiff Curtis, both pro se and through her former counsel, Jason Ostrom (who is also a named defendant in this lawsuit), appeared before the Honorable Judges and interacted with them in the judges' judicial capacities and not in any alternative capacities. The Honorable Judges acted in a judicial capacity in doing so, whether their rulings or decisions were correct or not (Defendants emphatically contend they were correct). Accordingly, this last factor supports the conclusion that the Honorable Judges' actions were judicial.

The next inquiry is whether the judges acted in a "complete absence of all jurisdiction."⁸⁰ "Where a court has some subject-matter jurisdiction, there is sufficient jurisdiction for immunity purposes."⁸¹ The First Court of Appeals determined probate judges have jurisdiction to preside over probate cases, which is what Judge Sebesta had been doing at the point when his actions became "actionable" in the plaintiff's view.⁸² Importantly, immunity is not lost based on an allegation that the action taken had procedural errors, even "grave" ones. Id., citing Bradt, at 68 (holding that judge had jurisdiction, for judicial immunity purposes, to sign order even if that order would be determined void because motion to recuse judge was pending). *See also In re J. denied)(mem.op.) (affirming dismissal of claims against judge who had judicial immunity regarding order in guardianship proceeding).

The Honorable Judges had the necessary jurisdiction to take the actions they did. Because the actions complained of by Plaintiffs are judicial in nature and because they were made within the Honorable Judges' jurisdiction, they are entitled to absolute judicial immunity on all claims brought against them.

c. Tony Baiamonte is entitled to official immunity.

To the extent Plaintiffs are asserting claims against Tony Baiamonte in his official capacity (which it appears is the case since he is only referred to in his capacity as the "Official Court Reporter"), such a claim is construed as a claim against Harris County. See Hafer v. Melo, 502 U.S. 21, 25 (1991) ("Suits against state officials in their official capacity therefore should be treated as suits against the State."); see also Bennett v. Pippin, 74 F.3d 578, 584 (5th Cir.1996) ("When a plaintiff sues a county or municipal official in her official capacity, the county or municipality is liable for the resulting judgment and, accordingly, may control the litigation on behalf of the officer in her official capacity. A suit against the Sheriff in his official capacity is a suit against the County."). Harris County (and therefore Tony Baiamonte) cannot be liable under RICO for two independent reasons: (1) it is incapable of forming the mens rea required for the underlying criminal act, and (2) because RICO is punitive in nature, municipal entities enjoy common law immunity from the punitive damages.⁸³

d. Harris County Defendants are entitled to qualified immunity.

⁸³ Gil Ramirez Group, L.L.C. v. Houston Independent School Dist., 786 F.3d 400, 412 (5th Cir. 2015).

The doctrine of qualified immunity shields public officials acting within the scope of their authority from civil liability.⁸⁴ “The threshold inquiry a court must undertake in a qualified immunity analysis is whether plaintiff’s allegations, if true, establish a constitutional violation.”⁸⁵ Plaintiffs have not presented any facts to support a constitutional violation.

In Bagby v. King, a litigant filed suit against two federal judges, a federal district clerk, and an appeals court clerk claiming he had been denied access to various federal district and appellate courts in California.⁸⁶ The Magistrate Judge issued a Show Cause Order explaining that the plaintiff’s claims failed to overcome the doctrines of absolute judicial immunity and qualified immunity and directed plaintiff to amend his complaint to cure these defects.⁸⁷ Instead, the plaintiff filed a host of new lawsuits against a number of federal judicial officers and court staff, complaining cryptically about their handling and disposition of prior lawsuits plaintiff had filed or attempted to file.⁸⁸ The court determined the plaintiff’s claims extended no further than complaints about the dispositions of previous lawsuits.⁸⁹ The court held the plaintiff’s purported claims were barred by either judicial immunity, qualified immunity, or failed to state a non-frivolous claim.⁹⁰

In the instant case, the Plaintiffs have likewise complained about actions taken by the Honorable Judges in their handling of the probate matter and appear to complain about actions taken by Tony Baiamonte acting as the Official Court Reporter. Plaintiffs contend Mr. Baiamonte “knowingly and willfully” spoliated, destroyed or otherwise concealed some unidentified “material evidence of a racketeering conspiracy.”⁹¹ These cryptic, conclusory complaints of all Harris County Defendants are not sufficient to identify a violation of any constitutional rights. Defendants are therefore entitled to qualified immunity and the case against them must be dismissed.

2. Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim against the Harris County Defendants.

Rule 12(b)(6) mandates dismissal when a plaintiff fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6). A complaint that fails to satisfy the pleading requirements of Rule 8(a) or Rule 9(b) is subject to dismissal under Rule 12(b)(6).⁹² To survive a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss, the plaintiff must plead “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.”⁹³

A complaint must also “provide the plaintiff’s grounds for entitlement to relief including factual allegations that when assumed to be true ‘raise a right to relief above the speculative level.’”⁹⁴ “Threadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.”⁹⁵ “Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s],’ devoid of ‘further factual enhancement.’”⁹⁶

Plaintiff alleges a RICO claim under § 1962(c) and (d). To state a claim under any subsection, “a plaintiff must plead specific facts ... which establish the existence of an enterprise.”⁹⁷ Plaintiffs have not pled facts that show or create a reasonable inference of a pattern of racketeering activity or the existence of any enterprise.

a. Plaintiffs fail to allege conspiracy.

In their rambling and disjointed Complaint, Plaintiffs allege the following regarding an alleged RICO conspiracy:

The Harris County Defendants and the other Defendants “did at various times unlawfully, willfully and knowingly combine, conspire and agree with each other to violate 18 U.S.C. Sections 1962(c), by participating, directly and indirectly, in the conduct of the affairs of that enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity involving multiple predicate acts within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1) in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c) and (d)” (Complaint, ¶59)

“It was part of the racketeering conspiracy that through the use of estate plan instruments Defendants, acting in concert both individually and severally, would and did intercept assets intended for the heirs of estates that pass through Harris County Probate Court, an enterprise, which engaged in, and the activities of which affected interstate and foreign commerce.” (Complaint, ¶ 66)

point does not supply facts adequate to show illegality."⁹⁸ Because Plaintiffs allege no pattern of activity or the acquisition, establishment, conduct, or control of any enterprise as required under RICO, Plaintiffs have failed to state a RICO claim upon which relief may be granted.

Furthermore, civil conspiracy is a derivative tort; therefore, liability for a civil conspiracy depends on participation in an underlying tort.⁹⁹ Because the core of a RICO civil conspiracy is an agreement to commit predicate acts, a RICO civil conspiracy complaint, at the very least, must allege specifically such an agreement.¹⁰⁰ Plaintiffs have wholly failed to allege a specific agreement among Defendants to commit the RICO predicate acts alleged. There are no allegations that Judge Butts, Judge Comstock or Tony Baiamonte was a party to or principal in any such agreement.

The Plaintiffs have pled no facts which would support even the existence of any conspiracy. As such, Plaintiffs have failed to establish that there is any plausibility to their conclusory allegations of conspiracy.¹⁰¹

As the Supreme Court held in *Twombly*¹⁰², “[b]ecause the plaintiffs here have not nudged their claims across the line from conceivable to plausible, their complaint must be dismissed.”¹⁰³

b. Plaintiffs fail to plausibly allege the existence of an “enterprise” or “association-in-fact.”

In order to state a claim under RICO, a plaintiff must allege, among other elements, the existence of an enterprise and association-in-fact. The Plaintiffs’ Complaint does not make it plausible that either a legal enterprise or an association-in-fact existed.

An enterprise is defined as “any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity.”¹⁰⁴ The Fifth Circuit requires that “[i]n order to avoid dismissal for failure to state a claim, a plaintiff must plead specific facts, not mere conclusory allegations, which establish the existence of an enterprise.”¹⁰⁵

Without any legal authority cited, Plaintiffs contend Probate Court Four is an “enterprise” within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4) because it was “involved in various aspects of interstate and foreign commerce” by its adjudication of lawsuits involving persons or properties outside of Texas.¹⁰⁶ This is a conclusory recitation and purely legal conclusion, unsupported by facts. The Fifth Circuit has held that “a recitation of the elements masquerading as facts” . . . does not make it any more or less probable that the listed parties have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, are an ongoing organization, and function as a continuing unit as shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision making structure.”¹⁰⁷

¹⁰³ Plaintiffs assert § 1983 as part and parcel of their “predicate acts.” It is unclear whether Plaintiffs are asserting a conspiracy to violate § 1983. However, a § 1983 claim is not actionable without an actual violation of § 1983 and Plaintiff has not alleged facts sufficient to support a claim that there was a constitutional violation under § 1983. See Pfannsteil v. City of Marion, 918 F.2d 1178, 1187 (5th Cir.1990).

Probate Court Four is not a legal entity. There is an abundance of case law holding that various county or city officials and departments are not separate units of government and capable of being sued. “A county is a corporate and political body.” TEX. LOC. GOV'T CODE § 71.001. With respect to counties, the county as a whole constitutes the governmental unit. The commissioner’s court is the governing body.¹⁰⁸ Plaintiff’s contention that Probate Court is an “enterprise” for purposes of RICO has no basis in law or fact.

Because the RICO Act was enacted to address continuing threats of racketeering activities, the alleged RICO enterprises must meet certain "continuity" requirements.¹⁰⁹

To establish an "association in fact" enterprise under 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4), a plaintiff must show "evidence of an ongoing organization, formal or informal, and ... evidence that the various associates function as a continuing unit."¹¹⁰ The Supreme Court in Turkette stated that the "enterprise is an entity, for present purposes a group of persons associated together for a common purpose of engaging in a course of conduct."¹¹¹ The Fifth Circuit has enumerated the requirements of an enterprise as requiring that it "(1) must have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, (2) must be an ongoing organization and (3) its members must function as a continuing unit shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision making structure."¹¹²

"[T]wo individuals who join together for the commission of one discrete criminal offense have not created an "association-in-fact" enterprise, even if they commit two predicate acts during the commission of this offense, because their relationship to one another has no continuity."¹¹³ However, "if the individuals associate together to commit several criminal acts, their relationship gains an ongoing nature, coming within the purview of RICO."¹¹⁴

Here, the purported enterprise fails to meet RICO's "continuity" requirement on all three levels. First, nothing in the Complaint even remotely suggests that the alleged enterprise is an ongoing organization that maintains operations that are separate and apart from the alleged predicate acts. Second, there are no facts in the Complaint suggesting that the enterprise is an ongoing organization, or that the various enterprise members function as a continuing unit. Lastly, there are no allegations of any hierarchical or consensual decision making structure. The Absence of factual support for these key allegations is fatal, and thus, Plaintiffs have failed to meet the pleading standard for a cognizable enterprise.

Having failed to plausibly allege the existence of an enterprise or association-in-fact, the Plaintiffs' Complaint must be dismissed for failing to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

c. Plaintiffs have failed to plead a pattern of racketeering activity.

Plaintiffs have also failed to plead facts sufficient to show a "pattern of racketeering activity," an element comprised of (1) the predicate acts and (2) a pattern of such acts.¹¹⁵ To properly allege a "pattern" of predicate acts, Plaintiffs must plead both that the acts are related to each other and that those acts either constitute or threaten long-term criminal activity, thereby reflecting "continuity."¹¹⁶

When used in discussion of predicate acts, the term "continuity" has a meaning that differs from the "continuity" requirement imposed on RICO enterprises, even though the label is the same. Establishing continuity in this context requires facts sufficient to show that the predicate acts "amount to or threaten continuous racketeering activity."¹¹⁷ Such continuity may refer "either to a closed period of repeated conduct or to past conduct that by its nature projects into the future with a threat of repetition."¹¹⁸

Here, Plaintiffs allege several times throughout their Complaint that the Harris County Defendants engaged in a "pattern of racketeering." However, their conclusory allegations fail to set forth the necessary pattern of predicate acts and the supporting facts to establish that they amount to or threaten continuous racketeering activity.

d. Plaintiffs' Complaint is not plausible.

The Supreme Court held, "[a] pleading that offers "labels and conclusions" or "a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." ¹¹⁹ Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders "naked assertions" devoid of "further factual enhancement." ¹²⁰

Further, under Rule 8(a), a pleading must contain a "short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." FED. R. CIV. P. 8(a)(2). To survive dismissal, Rule 8(a) requires that a plaintiff must plead "enough facts to state a claim for relief that is plausible on its face," ¹²¹ and must plead those facts with enough specificity "to raise a right to relief above the speculative level." ¹²²

"A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." ¹²³ The plausibility standard "asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully." ¹²⁴ "Where a complaint pleads facts that are 'merely consistent with' a defendant's liability, it 'stops short of the line between possibility and plausibility of 'entitlement to relief.'"¹²⁵

As is the case with their allegations of conspiracy and RICO predicate acts, the Plaintiffs have "labeled" myriad alleged offenses including: (1) honest services mail fraud (18 U.S.C. § 1346); (2) fraud (18 U.S.C. § 1001); (3) theft (Texas Penal Code § 31.02); (4) theft (Texas Penal Code §31.03); (5) Hobbs Act extortion (18 U.S.C. § 1951(b)(2)); (6) conspiracy (18 U.S.C. § 371); (7) conspiracy to obstruct justice (18 U.S.C. §§ 1512(c), 1512(k), 1519, and 1951(b)(2) and 18

Rather, the Plaintiffs' rambling and disjointed Complaint is littered with bald, conclusory assertions, masquerading as facts.

The Plaintiffs' Complaint, standing alone, fails to meet either the Rule 12(b)(6) "plausibility" standard or the broadly similar standards announced by the Second¹²⁶ and Ninth Circuits.¹²⁷ Plaintiffs' few factual allegations are inextricably bound up with legal conclusions (e.g., Tony Baiamonte "did unlawfully, knowingly and willfully spoliated, destroy or otherwise conceal material evidence of a racketeering conspiracy in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1512(c) conspiracy 1512(k) and 1419, aiding and abetting the racketeering conspiracy. . .";¹²⁸ the Harris County Defendants "did unlawfully, willfully and knowingly conspire to alter the course of justice, under color of official right, for the purpose of executing or attempting to execute a scheme and artifice to defraud and deprive, in furtherance of a pattern of racketeering activity affecting

These are but a few of countless examples.

Plaintiffs have not alleged any factual support that actions taken by the Harris County Defendants are predicate acts under 18 USC § 1961(b).

Read in its entirety, the complaint merely "parrot[s] the language" of the RICO statute,¹³¹ and comprises a "threadbare recital of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements."¹³² Indeed, given the lack of factual detail (as opposed to a litany of vague and conclusory legal conclusions masquerading as facts) in the Complaint, it is impossible to even speculate as to whether the facts "might [. . .] have been the case."¹³³

To plead facial plausibility, a plaintiff must set forth factual content that permits the courts to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable.¹³⁴ The “tenet that a court must accept as true all of the allegations contained in a complaint is inapplicable to legal conclusions.”¹³⁵ Although the Plaintiffs allege that the Harris County Defendants engaged in, or conspired to engage in, racketeering activity in the form of fraud and other acts aimed at depleting the assets of the trust in the underlying contested probate proceeding, their Complaint is devoid of facts to make it plausible and amounts to a “threadbare recital of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements.”¹³⁶

In addition to failing to plead the “who, what where, when and how” of mail fraud, wire fraud or state law fraud, or that anyone relied on such conduct, the Plaintiffs offer no “factual content allow[ing] [this] court to draw the reasonable inference” that Defendants have plausible liability such that Plaintiffs are entitled to relief for their claims.¹³⁷

The Plaintiffs’ legal conclusions are not entitled to the presumption of validity.¹³⁸ They have pled insufficient facts to establish a plausible entitlement to relief for the claims they are asserting. Because the Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead that the alleged RICO predicate acts were a direct and proximate cause of injury to their personal “business or property,” the Court should dismiss under FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Because the Plaintiff’s Complaint is not plausible, it should be dismissed.

e. Plaintiffs' claims are frivolous.

A complaint is frivolous if it lacks an arguable basis in law or fact.¹³⁹ “A complaint lacks an arguable basis in law if it is based on an indisputably meritless legal theory, such as if the complaint alleges the violation of a legal interest which clearly does not exist.”¹⁴⁰

The claims brought against the Harris County Defendants are frivolous and brought in violation of FED. R. CIV. P. 11. There is no conspiracy to deprive the Plaintiffs of the assets of the Brunsting estate, no racketeering scheme and no use of the mail, wire or internet to further any alleged scheme or conspiracy. Perhaps the only “conspiracy” is that of the Plaintiffs and other litigants that are bringing these frivolous lawsuits against Harris County Probate Courts for RICO violations.¹⁴¹

As is patently obvious from Plaintiffs' 62-page Complaint, they were dissatisfied with the rulings and administration of the Brunsting probate case in Probate Court Four. This is not a basis for bringing a lawsuit. This case should be dismissed with prejudice. See Boyd v. Biggers, 31 F.3d 279 (5th Cir. 1994) at 285 (dismissing with prejudice the claims against Judge Biggers because the plaintiff did not complain of any actions that were nonjudicial in nature); *Lister v. ¹⁴¹ Plaintiff mentions the RICO suit filed against the judges in Probate Court One, claiming it is related by “continuity.” (Case 4:16-cv-00733; pending before Judge Hoyt) [Doc. 33, ¶ 51]. This smear campaign against the Honorable Judges in Probate Court One and Probate Court Four appears to be nothing more than pure harassment by disgruntled litigants. Indeed, due to the frivolous filing in the Probate Court One case, dismissal and sanctions have been sought.

This lawsuit is frivolous because it lacks an arguable basis in law or fact. It should be dismissed with prejudice.

CONCLUSION

The case should be dismissed with prejudice in its entirety because Plaintiffs have no actionable RICO claim against the Harris County Defendants. The Honorable Judges are entitled to judicial immunity, official immunity and governmental immunity. Likewise, Tony Baiamonte is entitled to official immunity and governmental immunity. Additionally, the Plaintiffs lack standing to bring the conspiracy/RICO claims asserted in this lawsuit – Plaintiffs have failed to allege facts sufficient to establish they suffered a tangible financial loss and that it was proximately caused by any “predicate acts” by the Harris County Defendants. Further, Plaintiffs have no state law claims against the Harris County Defendants and they should be dismissed under TEX. CIV. P. & REM. CODE § 101.106. Harris County Defendants are entitled to dismissal on the Plaintiffs’ claims pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1).

The case should also be dismissed with prejudice in its entirety because Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim against the Harris County Defendants. Plaintiffs have failed to allege a conspiracy, failed to allege a RICO violation, failed to establish a pattern of racketeering activity, failed to establish an “enterprise” or “association-in-fact,” their claims are not plausible on their face, and their claims are frivolous.

PRAYER

For the reasons set forth above, the Harris County Defendants request the Court grant its Motion to Dismiss the Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages [Doc. 1] with prejudice, sanction the Plaintiffs for filing a frivolous and groundless lawsuit, and award the Harris County Defendants such other and further relief, at law or in equity, to which they may show themselves to be justly entitled.

DEFENDANTS JUDGE CHRISTINE RIDDLE BUTTS, JUDGE CLARINDA COMSTOCK & TONY BAIAMONTE’S UNOPPOSED AMENDED MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE MOTION TO DISMISS IN EXCESS OF PAGE LIMIT

Defendants Judge Christine Riddle Butts, Judge Clarinda Comstock and Tony Baiamonte (collectively “Defendants”), hereby file the following Unopposed Amended Motion for Leave to File Motion to Dismiss In Excess of Page Limit (“Motion”).

Section B(5)(E) of Judge Alfred H. Bennett’s Court Procedures limit the filing of documents such as Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss to 20 pages without leave of Court. The Court Procedures further directs the parties to seek leave when their documents exceed the page limit. Defendants seek leave to file their Motion to Dismiss in excess of the page limit, because of the complexity of the facts and law relevant to this case, and the length of the claims asserted by Plaintiffs in their extensive 62-page, 217 paragraph Complaint, the complexity of the RICO case law relevant to this case, and the number of counts alleged against Defendants (Plaintiffs have asserted at least 16 of 47 claims against the Honorable Judges and Mr. Baiamonte).

Defendants have exercised best efforts to keep their Rule 12(b)(1) and (6) Motion to Dismiss as concise, and to the point, as possible. However, the Plaintiffs' RICO claims as currently plead are believed by Defendants, after reasonable inquiry into the relevant Supreme Court and Fifth Circuit Authority, to be so deficient (as to, inter alia, "RICO standing and proximate cause," "RICO standing and direct injury," "pattern," "enterprise," "conspiracy," and "predicate act nexus to direct injury"), that extensive briefing was required to adequately address the myriad pleading deficiencies requiring dismissal.

Defendants' Motion is 31 pages, exclusive of the certificate of service. Defendants pray the Court grant them leave to file their Motion to Dismiss. This Motion for Leave is unopposed by the Plaintiffs.

PRAYER

For the reasons set forth above, Defendants Judge Christine Riddle Butts, Judge Clarinda Comstock and Tony Baiamonte respectfully request the Court grant their Motion for Leave to file Motion to Dismiss in Excess of Page Limits, and award these Defendants such other and further relief, at law or in equity, to which Defendants may show themselves to be justly entitled.

DEFENDANT JILL WILLARD YOUNG'S REPLY IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO DISMISS

Plaintiffs' Response further highlights the infirmities of their Complaint, which should be dismissed because of the attorney–immunity doctrine, Plaintiffs' failure to plead the elements of a RICO claim, and the delusional and implausible nature of Plaintiffs' allegations.

I. Ms. Young is protected by the attorney–immunity doctrine.

Plaintiffs' Response to Defendant Young's Motion to Dismiss highlights the Complaint's inescapable—and irremediable—failure: In Texas, a Plaintiff cannot avoid the attorney immunity doctrine by “[m]erely labeling an attorney’s conduct ‘fraudulent.’” Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 483 (Tex. 2015); Dixon Fin. Services, Ltd. v. Greenberg, Peden, Siegmyer & Oshman, P.C., No. 01-06-00696-CV, 2008 WL 746548, at *9 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] Mar. 20, 2008, pet. denied) (“Characterizing an attorney’s action in advancing his client’s rights as fraudulent does not change the rule that an attorney cannot be held liable for discharging his duties to his client.”). Plaintiffs’ cannot overcome Ms. Young’s immunity for two reasons:

First, although Plaintiffs’ Response to Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss contains many factual assertions, those assertions are entirely absent from Plaintiffs’ Complaint—none of the factual assertions made in the Response appears in the Complaint. And whether Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss should be granted is based on the assertions made in Plaintiffs’ Complaint—not other filings. Second, Plaintiffs fail to address the law cited in Ms. Young’s Motion. Instead, they try to justify their denomination of the fictitious criminal enterprise as the “probate mafia” and “Harris County Tomb Raiders.” But these arguments do not change Ms. Young’s “true immunity from suit” relating to her representation of Temporary Administrator Lester. See Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 348 (5th Cir. 2016). And Plaintiffs have only alleged acts relating to Ms. Young’s routine handling of legal tasks as counsel for Temporary Administrator Lester. Specifically, the only assertion (although regurgitated in many different ways) made in the Response against Ms. Young is that she represented Temporary Administrator Lester in his preparation of a single report. See Response [DKT. 41], at ¶¶ 22–29, 32–34, 47–48, 51, 59–60 (all discussing the “report” and Ms. Young’s representation of Temporary Administrator Lester).

Plaintiffs do not dispute the law cited by Ms. Young, nor do they dispute that their allegations arise only out of Ms. Young’s representation of Temporary Administrator Lester. Plaintiffs’ assertion that the report is somehow fraudulent or incorrect does not change Ms. Young’s complete immunity from suit, because Plaintiffs have only alleged acts relating to Ms. Young’s routine handling of legal tasks as counsel for Temporary Administrator Lester. See Byrd, 467 S.W.3d at 481–83; see also Order Granting Motion to Dismiss (DKT. 320), Sheshtawy v. Conservative Club of Houston, Inc., No. 4:16-cv-00733, at *9 (S.D. Tex. Oct. 7, 2016) (dismissing almost identical allegations because “routine litigation conduct . . . cannot become a basis for a RICO suit”) (emphasis added). Thus, Plaintiffs’ Complaint should be dismissed.

II. Plaintiffs’ Complaint is too delusional to state a valid claim for relief.

In the last week, another Court has considered and rejected almost identical allegations to those made by Plaintiffs. See Order Granting Motion to Dismiss (DKT. 320), Sheshtawy v. Conservative Club of Houston, Inc., No. 4:16-cv-00733 (S.D. Tex. Oct. 7, 2016). In Sheshtawy, three groups of plaintiffs alleged parties and attorneys practicing before Harris County Probate Court No. 1 were members of a RICO conspiracy, along with two judges. The Sheshtawy plaintiffs’ alleged “proof” of conspiracy was that “Defendant Judge Loyd Wright and Defendant Associate Judge Ruth Ann Stiles always ruled against . . . the Plaintiffs.” See Amended Complaint, Sheshtawy v. Conservative Club of Houston, Inc., No. 4:16-cv-00733, ¶ 359 (DKT.. 102). The Court dismissed the matter, holding that the plaintiffs’ allegations were “pure zanyism.” Id. at *9.

Here, Plaintiffs make similar allegations against the parties, attorneys, and judges in Probate Court No. 4. And as in Sheshtawy, the allegations are frivolous, because they are too fanciful, fantastic, and delusional to state a valid claim for relief.

III. Plaintiffs still cannot articulate the elements of a RICO claim against Ms. Young.

In Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss, Ms. Young showed that Plaintiffs’ RICO claim should be dismissed for two independent reasons—Plaintiffs have not shown they suffered any injury proximately caused by a violation of RICO by Ms. Young, and Plaintiffs have failed to plead with particularity any predicate acts of mail or wire fraud by Ms. Young. Plaintiffs address neither failure.

A. Plaintiffs have not alleged they suffered any injury proximately caused by a violation of RICO by Ms. Young.

First, Plaintiffs admit that they have not suffered any injury proximately caused by a violation of RICO by Ms. Young. Indeed, Plaintiffs admit that they were not injured by the only wrongful act of Ms. Young that they allege—Ms. Young’s representation of Temporary Administrator Lester, who prepared the report. Response at ¶ 28. Specifically, Plaintiffs admit that the they were not injured by the report, and, instead, the “‘Report’ was nothing but a vehicle for threatening Plaintiff Curtis with injury to property rights if she did not agree to enter into a mediated settlement agreement.” Id.

But the threat of injury is not actual injury and does not create a RICO claim. See 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c) (“Any person injured in his business or property by reason of a violation of [RICO] may sue.”). And Plaintiffs’ allegations are much too tenuous to give rise to standing under RICO. Plaintiffs appear to assert that there must be some connection between Ms. Young’s representation of Mr. Lester, Mr. Lester’s creation of the report, the Plaintiffs’ alleged fear of the “threat” of the report, and then the mediated settlement agreement that was entered into by Plaintiffs. Response at ¶ 28. That is not sufficient under RICO. Instead, a plaintiff “must show that the [RICO] violation was a but-for and proximate cause of the injury.” Allstate Ins. Co. v. Plambeck, 802 F.3d 665, 676 (5th Cir. 2015). Proximate cause requires “directness”—“the injury or damage was either a direct result or a reasonably probable consequence of the act.” Plambeck, 802 F.3d at 676.

Here, Plaintiffs do not plead facts showing they suffered any financial loss that directly resulted from any alleged RICO violation by Ms. Young. See Gil Ramirez Grp., L.L.C., 786 F.3d at 408. They argue only that they felt “threatened” by the report, which led them to agree to enter into a settlement. That cannot create an injury that creates standing to sue under RICO.

B. Plaintiffs have not pleaded facts that Ms. Young engaged in a “racketeering activity.”

Even in Plaintiffs’ Response, Plaintiffs fail to assert Ms. Young engaged in a pattern of “racketeering activities” sufficient to trigger the RICO statute. Under Rule 9(b), predicate RICO acts must be pleaded under the heightened pleading requirements of Rule 9(b), which requires a plaintiff to plead “with particularity.” FED. R. CIV. P. 9(b). Plaintiffs have made no assertion of any predicate acts of Ms. Young they claim constitute RICO predicate acts.¹ Alleging simply that Ms. Young represented Mr. Lester and that Mr. Lester prepared the report is insufficient. That allegation alone can never rise to the level of mail fraud, wire fraud, or violations of the Hobbs Act. Further, that allegation can never constitute a “pattern” of racketeering acts by Ms. Young. Plaintiffs fail to allege “the particulars of time, place, and contents of the false representations, as well as the identity of the person making the misrepresentation and what he obtained thereby.” Tel-Phonic, 975 F.2d at 1139. Nor have they pled what Ms. Young obtained by making the alleged misrepresentation.

¹ As shown in Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss, Plaintiffs’ wire fraud, mail fraud, and Hobbs Act claims fail, because they cannot be asserted as private causes of action. Plaintiffs do not dispute this.

IV. Plaintiffs' Complaint remains too implausible to state a valid claim for relief.

Plaintiffs try to argue their Complaint is plausible because “Defendants . . . cannot[] point to the record in any proceeding where Plaintiffs have been on the losing end of any fully litigated state court determinations. . . .” Response at ¶ 18. Plaintiffs completely miss the mark.

Plaintiffs' attempts to re-litigate as RICO claims issues decided in state court fail. If Plaintiffs desired to challenge determinations made in state court, there are appellate processes for that. Plaintiffs also ignore that Ms. Young was not party to the underlying proceedings. Whether Plaintiffs were on the “winning” or “losing end” of any determination in state court has nothing to do with Ms. Young, who merely acted as the attorney for Temporary Administrator Lester. Thus, Plaintiffs' Complaint remains too implausible to state a claim against Ms. Young.

V. Plaintiffs' references to a prior lawsuit are irrelevant.

Plaintiffs repeatedly reference a prior suit in this district, Curtis v Brunsting, No. 4:12-cv-0592, which was remanded to state court. But Plaintiffs' references make no sense and are irrelevant. That matter was remanded to Harris County at Plaintiff Curtis's own request. See Order Granting Unopposed Motion to Remand by Candace Louise Curtis, Curtis v Brunsting, No. 4:12-cv-0592 (DKT. 112) (S.D. Tex. May 15, 2014). Plaintiff Curtis cannot relitigate as some kind of fraudulent act something she requested from the Court. Second, Plaintiffs' references to that matter are also irrelevant to its claims against Ms. Young. Neither Ms. Young nor her state court client, Temporary Administrator Lester, had any involvement in the prior federal court matter—they were not parties to that matter, they never acted as attorneys in that matter, and they never appeared in that matter.

VI. Conclusion

For the reasons stated above and in Ms. Young's Motion to Dismiss, this Court should dismiss Plaintiffs' claims against Ms. Young with prejudice.

I. INTRODUCTION

1. This is a private interest as well as a public interest lawsuit, as the subject matter relates to the legitimate administration of public justice.

2. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a complaint into the Southern District of Texas, individually and as private attorneys general, alleging a public corruption conspiracy under the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act (RICO) at 18 U.S.C. §§1961-1968 and the right of claims provided at 18 U.S.C. §1964(c).

3. On October 7, 2016, Defendants Christine Butts, Clarinda Comstock and Tony Baiamonte filed a combined motion to dismiss under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) and 12(b)(1) (Dkt 53).

II. STANDARDS OF REVIEW

Federal Rule 12(b)(1)

4. Whether or not a court has subject matter jurisdiction over a party is a question of law reviewed de novo; thus, a decision on a motion to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is an issue of law reviewed de novo. Hunter Douglas, Inc. v. Harmonic Design, Inc., 153 F.3d 1318, 1325, 47 U.S.P.Q.2d 1769, 1772 (Fed. Cir. 1998).

5. On a Rule 12(b)(1) Facial Attack the court evaluates whether the plaintiff “has sufficiently alleged a basis of subject matter jurisdiction” in the complaint and employs standards similar to those governing Rule 12(b)(6) review. Houston v. Marod Supermarkets, Inc., 733 F.3d 1323, 1335 (11th Cir. 2013).

6. In contrast to a facial attack on subject matter jurisdiction, a Rule 12(b)(1) factual attack “challenge[s] the existence of subject matter jurisdiction in fact, irrespective of the pleadings, and matters outside the pleadings such as testimony and affidavits are considered.” Lawrence v. Dunbar, 919 F.2d 1525, 1529 (11th Cir. 1990) (internal quotation marks omitted).

7. When the attack is factual “the trial court is free to weigh the evidence and satisfy itself as to the existence of its power to hear the case.” Id. Therefore, “no presumptive truthfulness attaches to plaintiff’s allegations, and the existence of disputed material facts will not preclude the trial court from evaluating for itself the merits of jurisdictional claims.” Id.

8. We review de novo a district court’s dismissal for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction under Rooker–Feldman and Rule 12(b)(1), and for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6), applying the same standards as the district court. Truong v. Bank of Am., N.A., 717 F.3d 377, 381 (5th Cir. 2013). We review a dismissal under Rule 12(b)(1) for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction under the same pleading standard as a dismissal under Rule 12(b)(6). Lane v. Halliburton, 529 F.3d 548, 557 (5th Cir. 2008). In reviewing the complaint, “we take the well-pled factual allegations of the complaint as true and view them in the light most favorable to the plaintiff.”

9. The denial of a motion to dismiss pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is not immediately appealable. Data Gen. Corp. v. Cnty. of Durham, 143 N.C. App. 97, 100, 545 S.E.2d 243, 245-46 (2001).

Federal Rule 12(b)(6)

10. When evaluating a motion to dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6), the court must take the facts alleged in the complaint as true and construe them in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. Resnick v. AvMed, Inc., 693 F.3d 1317, 1321–22 (11th Cir. 2012). To survive Rule 12(b)(6) scrutiny, “a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). “[F]acial plausibility” exists “when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Id. (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556).

11. The standard of appellate review for a motion to dismiss pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) is de novo, and the Court will employ the same standard as the district court. First Am. Title Co. v. Devaugh, 480 F.3d 438, 443 (6th Cir. 2007); Nat’l Hockey League Players Ass’n v. Plymouth Whalers Hockey Club, 419 F.3d 462, 468 (6th Cir. 2005).

12. Sebelius, 635 F.3d 757, 763 (5th Cir. 2011) (“Generally, a court ruling on a 12(b)(6) motion may rely on the complaint, its proper attachments, documents incorporated into the complaint by reference, and matters of which a court may take judicial notice.”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

13. We review de novo the district court’s grant of a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6). Sullivan v. Leor Energy, L.L.C., 600 F.3d 542, 546 (5th Cir. 2010) (citation omitted). This court construes facts in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, “as a motion to dismiss under 12(b)(6) ‘is viewed with disfavor and is rarely granted.’” Turner v. Pleasant, 663 F.3d 770, 775 (5th Cir. 2011) (citation omitted). Dismissal is appropriate only if the complaint fails to plead “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). Yet, the complaint must allege enough facts to move the claim “across the line from conceivable to plausible.” Id. Determining whether the plausibility standard has been met is “a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 679 (2009) (citation omitted).

IV. CONTEXTUAL SUMMARY

17. Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis (Curtis) lives in California and is a beneficiary of inter vivos trusts having a situs in Houston, Texas. Other beneficiaries of the trusts include Plaintiff Curtis’ siblings: Carl, Carole, Amy and Anita Brunsting, and also includes the remaindermen grandchildren and great grandchildren of Grantors Elmer and Nelva Brunsting et al, per stirpes.

18. Plaintiff filed suit against her siblings Anita and Amy Brunsting for breach of fiduciary and constructive fraud demanding accounting and disclosures of the assets of the various family trusts. That matter Candace Curtis v Anita and Amy Brunsting et al., 4:12-cv-0592 filed in the Southern District of Texas February 27, 2012, was dismissed sua sponte under the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction.

19. The controversy was returned to the federal District Court after review by the Fifth Circuit, Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406 (Jan 9, 2013).

20. On January 29, 2013, Defendant Bayless improperly filed a suit in the Harris County District Court against Defendants Albert Vacek, Jr. and Candace Kunz-Freed, in the name of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, raising only issues relating to the Brunsting trust known to be in the custody of a federal Court.

21. Upon remand to the United States District Court, Curtis applied for a protective order and on April 9, 2013 the Honorable Judge Kenneth Hoyt, after a fully contested judicial proceeding, found that Plaintiff Curtis had met all four federal criteria and issued an injunction with findings of fact, conclusions of law, and Order after hearing, something no one has seen since!

22. On April 9, 2013 Defendant Bayless improperly filed a second suit, this time in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, again raising only issues relating to the Brunsting trust known to be in the custody of a federal Court.

23. In September of 2013, Plaintiff Munson was hospitalized and in a coma. Subsequently Munson underwent his third open heart surgery to replace his aortic trunk and valve due to an aneurysm.

24. In the interim Plaintiff Curtis retained the services of Defendant Jason Ostrom, a Houston attorney. Mr. Ostrom thereafter presented Judge Hoyt with an uncontested motion to amend Curtis' Petition to pollute diversity in order to effect remand to the state probate court, to consolidate Plaintiff Curtis' claims with those of Plaintiff Carl Brunsting, and the matter thus finds itself in Harris County Probate Court No. 4.

The RICO Complaint

25. In response to Rule 12(b)(6) motions to dismiss, on September 15, 2016, Plaintiffs filed the Rule 11(b) and Rule 60 Motions, previously filed in Judge Hoyt's Court,¹ as an Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26), supplementing and incorporating by reference the original RICO complaint in this case.

26. The "pleadings" include the complaint, answer to the complaint, and "if the court orders one, a reply to an answer." Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 7(a).

27. An amended complaint supersedes earlier pleadings. See King v. Dogan, 31 F.3d 344, 346 (5th Cir. 1994) ("An amended complaint supersedes the original complaint and renders it of no legal effect unless the amended complaint specifically refers to and adopts or incorporates by reference the earlier pleading.").

28. The Complaint (Dkt 1) thus, also includes the Addendum (Dkt 26) and the exhibits attached thereto.

V. THE ARGUMENT

29. Defendants allege a want of subject matter jurisdiction based upon claims of judicial immunity and lack of standing pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1).

30. The crux of the standing challenge is a counter claim that Plaintiffs have not been injured within the meaning of the RICO statutes and uses expressions such as "inheritance" and "expectancy" in the explanation for their reasoning.

¹ Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592 filed TXSD February 27, 2012

31. Defendants also seek to offer their own opinion and contrary facts, but may not do so in a Rule 12(b)(6) motion and fail to support their opposing claim of facts with affidavits or exhibits, as required for a Rule 12(b)(1) factual challenge and, thus, their claim of opposing facts are not cognizable by the Court within the context of these motions.

32. At page 15 Defendants claim “The actions Plaintiffs complain of are the rulings and Orders issued by the Honorable Judges” however, Defendants fail to support their claims with reference to the record and that would be because there are no such events.

33. The complaint makes clear on page 12 of the Addendum (Dkt 26), beginning at line 62 and thereafter, that the Probate Court set motion hearings for lawyers and removed those motions from Calendar for the lawyers, but refused to set Curtis’ Motions for hearing, and the attorneys refuse to answer. (See Dkt 26-5, 6, 8, 11, 14, 15, 17 and 19, the list of exhibits is at page 28 or 31) These records and pleadings are all attached and incorporated into the RICO complaint by reference.

34. Defendant Clarinda Comstock has exclusive control of the Docket in Probate Court No. 4, and it is Defendant Clarinda Comstock that decides what gets set for hearing and when, and what does not find its way to the calendar. Defendant Clarinda Comstock refused to set Plaintiff Curtis’ Motions for hearing (Dkt 26-15 request for setting and Dkt 26-16 transcript of setting conference). Those are the facts alleged in the complaint, and under the law governing the motion to dismiss here, (Dkt 53) Plaintiff believes those are the only facts under consideration.

35. Defendants’ contrary opinions have no veracity in a Rule 12(b)(6) factual challenge at all, and without evidentiary support sufficient to controvert the controlling presumption that Plaintiffs’ facts are true, Defendants’ contrary opinions have no veracity in a Rule 12(b)(1) factual challenge either.

36. The public record of proceedings in the state court may be subject to varying interpretations, but the evidentiary legitimacy of those records clearly outweighs any contrary claims by these Defendants.

Subject Matter Jurisdiction

37. The pivotal issue before the Court in regard to all of the motions to dismiss for want of subject matter jurisdiction is whether or not the state probate court properly assumed in rem jurisdiction over the Brunsting trust res, in the custody of a federal Court when trust related claims were filed as “Estate” claims in state courts.

38. Defendants proclaim that they are clothed in an incorporeal substance known as subject matter jurisdiction and that their illicit conduct is thus protected by “absolute judicial immunity from suit for acts undertaken in their judicial capacity even if they are done maliciously or corruptly”², but the state courts had no authority to take cognizance of matters related to the Brunsting trusts while those trusts were under the in rem custody of a federal Court. Defendat Bayless’ probate suit was filed the same day the Honorable Kenneth Hoyt issued an injunction against the same Defendants, relating to the same trust and seeking similar relief.

39. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals’ Opinion in Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406 (Dkt 26-17), properly characterized the underlying suit, (Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-00592) as a lawsuit relating only to the Brunsting trusts, not falling under the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction.

40. The Fifth Circuit also observed that the Wills of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting bequeathed everything to the Brunsting trusts, that assets in the trust were not assets belonging to the estate and, therefore, not subject to probate administration.

² Dkt 53 Page 12 Ln. 4 (unnumbered)

41. The record is abundantly clear that the Brunsting trusts were in the in rem custody of another court when trust related claims were filed in state courts and that the probate court was completely without subject matter jurisdiction at all times complained of.

42. Where there is no jurisdiction there is no court, no judge and no litigation.

43. When then record is examined, it becomes abundantly clear that no one participated in Curtis v Brunsting in the probate court. Only Plaintiff Curtis pled under the heading of Curtis v Brunsting and none of the motions and pleadings have been answered or set for hearing despite Curtis' best efforts to obtain a fully litigated judicial determination in that court.

44. Defendants provide a plethora of case law relevant to their alternate claim of facts, but erroneous facts are of no value and case law built thereupon is misleading.

45. In the underlying matter, continually referred to by Defendants as a probate case, the lawsuits filed in both state courts related only to the Brunsting trust and were filed in state courts while the Brunsting trust was clearly in the custody of a federal Court.

46. Carl Brunsting had no individual standing to bring claims in probate court, as he is not an heir to either estate.

47. The suit against Candace Kunz-Freed, raises claims involving only the trust, was filed January 29, 2013 while the trust was in the custody of a federal Court, and the Harris County District Court could not take judicial cognizance of the subject matter.

48. The later probate case filed April 9, 2013, raises claims only related to the Brunsting trusts and was also improperly filed into a court that could not take judicial cognizance of the subject matter, by an individual with no standing as an heir of the estate and, as the real party in interest is the trust, Carl also had no standing to bring trust related claims as executor of the Estates.

Standing

49. Defendants base their claim that Curtis lacks standing on the misrepresentation that all Curtis has is an expectancy in an estate, but as has been shown, Curtis is not an heir to either Estate, only a beneficiary of the heir in fact trust.

50. Defendants challenge of standing against Plaintiff Munson is that Munson is not party to the underlying matters and has suffered no injury.

51. Munson however, has been compelled to combat this public corruption at great personal expense in time and resources. Over the last five years those costs have been exacerbated by the improper actions of all of these Defendants, placing unnecessary economic burdens upon Plaintiffs' household.

52. Defendants are accused of aiding and abetting a pattern of known predicate act conduct, by Anita and Amy Brunsting in pursuit of their own personal agenda, and each can be shown to have provided a necessary part to the montage. The success or failure of such a venture is not an element of these claims. The mere fact of the attempt to extort is sufficient.

Dismissal with Prejudice

53. Defendants ask for dismissal of Plaintiffs' RICO Complaint with prejudice. Such relief is drastic and operates under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(b) as adjudication on the merits.

54. Factors to be weighed in considering dismissal under Rule 41(b) include: "(1) the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court's need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits; and (5) the availability of less drastic alternatives." Yourish v. California Amplifier, 191 F.3d 983, 990 (9th Cir. 1999) (quotations omitted).

55. Defendants do not even begin to approach their burden here. Without subject matter jurisdiction their judicial immunity claims fail and we are left with only the facts to consider.

Tension between Rule 8(a) and 9(b)

56. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8 requires that a complaint put forth “a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2). Each allegation in a complaint must be “simple, concise, and direct.” Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(d)(1). This court has affirmed dismissal on Rule 8 grounds where the complaint is “argumentative, prolix, replete with redundancy, and largely irrelevant,” McHenry, 84 F.3d at 1177, 1180, and where the complaint is “verbose, confusing and conclusory,” Nevijel v. North Coast Life Ins. Co., 651 F.2d 671, 674 (9th Cir. 1981).

VI. CONSPIRACY AND AIDING AND ABETTING

57. A defendant in a case charging a conspiracy may be liable for each of the substantive counts charged in an indictment under three separate theories:

1. Actual commission of the crime; 2. Participation in the crime as an aider or abettor; 3. Liability under a Pinkerton theory³.

58. A conspiracy is an agreement between two or more people to join together to attempt to accomplish some unlawful purpose. It is a kind of "partnership in crime" in which each member becomes the agent of every other member. It does not matter whether or not the conspiracy was successful. The essence of the offense is that two or more persons have combined, or mutually agreed, to do something illegal. Iannelli v. United States, 420 U.S. 770, 777 (1975)

59. The elements are FIRST: That two or more persons agreed to try to accomplish a common and unlawful plan, as charged in the indictment; and, SECOND: That the defendant knew the unlawful purpose of the agreement and joined in it willfully, that is, with the intent to further the unlawful purpose.

60. One becomes a member of a conspiracy by willfully participating in the unlawful plan with the intent to further some object of the conspiracy. Blumenthal v. United States, 332 U.S. 539, 557 (1947) One may become a member of a conspiracy without knowing all of the details of the unlawful plan or the identities of all of the other alleged conspirators. If the defendant, with an understanding of the unlawful character of a plan, knowingly joins in an unlawful scheme on one occasion that is sufficient to convict him of conspiracy, even though he had not participated before and even though he played only a minor part in the conspiracy.

61. The evidence in the case need not show that the alleged members of the conspiracy entered into any express or formal agreement, or that they directly stated between themselves the details of the scheme and its object or purpose, or the precise means by which the object or purpose was to be accomplished. Similarly, the evidence in the case need not establish that all of the means or methods which were agreed upon were actually used or put into operation. Nor must the evidence prove that all of the persons charged were members of the conspiracy. United States v. Falcone, 311 U.S. 205, 210(1940).

62. Without subject matter jurisdiction over any Brunsting trust matter these Defendants are without immunity in the present suit and, without their rubber stamp immunity defense, their conduct is fully subject to scrutiny.

63. It is difficult to imagine an acceptable explanation for failure to distinguish between a trust and an estate, given the fact the wills bequeath everything to the trust. It is equally difficult to imagine a satisfactory explanation for refusal to set any of Plaintiff Curtis' motions for hearing and refusal to rule on any substantive matters. A reasonable initial question would be something like, what is the meaning of this? (Exhibits 1, 2 and 3 attached)

64. Plaintiffs point only to the public record in support of facts and these Defendants, claiming to be judges in cases involving these public records, cannot claim ignorance of those facts.

65. Plaintiffs believe they have made substantially more than a prima facia case in the Complaint (Dkt 1), in the Addendum to the Complaint (Dkt 26), in this reply, and in each reply to a motion to dismiss filed in this case to date.

66. As for Mr. Baiamonte, Plaintiff Munson spoke with Mr. Baiamonte and was not satisfied with the answer to inquiries regarding unavailability of a transcript for September 10, 2015.

67. Plaintiff Munson requested a written explanation and Mr. Baiamonte promised to reply with an email. After text message reminders failed to produce the promised statement, Mr. Baiamonte was added to this complaint.

VII. FRIVOLOUS, RULES 12(B)(6) AND 1915(D)

68. Dismissal of frivolous pleadings are governed by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure §1915(d).

[t]o the extent that a complaint filed in forma pauperis which fails to state a claim lacks even an arguable basis in law, Rule 12(b)(6) and § 1915(d) both counsel dismissal. But the considerable common ground between these standards does not mean that the one invariably encompasses the other. When a complaint raises an arguable question of law which the district court ultimately finds is correctly resolved against the plaintiff, dismissal on Rule 12(b)(6) grounds is appropriate, but dismissal on the basis of frivolousness is not. Accordingly, "frivolousness in the §1915(d) context refers to a more limited set of claims than does Rule 12(b)(6)[;] ... not all unsuccessful claims are frivolous." Neitzke, 490 U.S. at 328 (footnote omitted).

69. Under Rule 12(b)(6), a plaintiff with an arguable claim is ordinarily accorded notice of a pending Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim and an opportunity to amend the complaint before the motion is ruled upon. These procedures alert him to the legal theory underlying the defendant's challenge, and enable him meaningfully to respond by opposing the motion to dismiss on legal grounds or by clarifying his factual allegations so as to conform to the requirements of a valid legal cause of action. Plaintiffs thus added an Addendum of Memorandum under the authority of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a)(1).

The Estate of Nelva Brunsting

70. As has been shown, the Fifth Circuit (Dkt 34-4) distinguished between the Brunsting Trust litigation and any prospective probate of the Estates of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting, using the same information available to the probate court, "the Wills of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting" (Dkt 41-2 and 41-3) and in their analysis the Fifth Circuit determined that Brunsting trust assets were not property of either estate and that the trust was in fact the only estate heir.

The Brunsting Trusts

71. Plaintiff Curtis is a beneficiary of an inter vivos trust, not an heir to any estate.

72. Plaintiff Curtis' beneficial interest is property, not an inheritance or expectancy.

73. The estate has no standing to bring claims against beneficiaries of the trust, alleging trespass against the heir in fact (trust), simply because the alleged trespass occurred during the lifetime of a grantor.

VIII. SUFFICIENCY OF THE PLEADINGS

74. Each of these Defendants will claim that Plaintiffs failed to plead a particular act that implicates them individually without regard for the language of the allegations or federal aiding, abetting and conspiracy laws.

IX. CONCLUSION

75. Plaintiffs have rarely found truth to be well received by those it does not flatter.

76. These Defendants needed 10 extra pages to express their disdain for the descriptive labels given to their probate court activities by the general population, such as “Tomb Raiders” and “Probate Mafia”, and to bolster their claims of immunity. Plaintiffs merely adopted the expressions because the shoe fits. The only expression Plaintiff Munson believes he may have coined is “Judicial Black Market” and, quite frankly, if someone has a better explanation for the Gregory Lester/Jill Willard Young Report, in Toto with the rest of this song and dance, Plaintiffs are all ears.

77. A Rule 12 Motion is not a substitute for an answer. Defendants none-the-less use the motion as a vehicle to deny there has been any conspiracy to loot the Brunsting Trusts. If that is true, how did Curtis v Brunsting and the Brunsting trusts completely lose their identity and become the “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” once in the clutches of the probate court?

78. The state probate court could not assume jurisdiction over the Brunsting trusts on April 9, 2013, under any theory, and each of these legal professionals have a duty to know the facts of their cases and the relevant law.

79. Plaintiffs herein respectfully request this Honorable Court take judicial notice of the public record pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence §201, to wit: Harris County Probate Court No. 4, Case: 412248, 412249, 412249-401, 412249-402 and No. 4:12-cv-00592; Candace

Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting; United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division, and the records and pleadings in this action.

80. The record will show that after Carl Brunsting resigned as executor for the “Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting” February 15, 2016, Defendant Bayless filed a number of amendments and supplements to her complaint, but in no event did she change the heading nor did she sever the claims of Carl Brunsting individually from those brought as executor.

81. While the state probate court clearly has jurisdiction over any probate of the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting, it did not have the authority to take cognizance of the Brunsting trust in the custody of a federal Court.

82. When claims directly relating to the Brunsting trusts are stripped away from the claims filed in the name of the “Estate”, nothing remains. The estate inventory (Dkt 41-6) shows only an old car.

83. After examining the March 9, 2016 transcript (Dkt 26-16), and the detail of events in the Addendum (Dkt 26 pgs 4-30), it is difficult for Plaintiffs to perceive how they could have possibly failed to state a RICO claim when the Complaint is based upon the U.S. Attorney’s Criminal Procedures Manual and the forms provided therein.

84. It is equally difficult to perceive how these Defendants have inadequate notice of the facts when they are entirely contained in the record of the very proceedings Defendants claim to have been adjudicating.

85. The immunity portion of the Rule 12(b)(1) facial challenge fails at the test of subject matter jurisdiction for the reasons stated above, leaving the conduct itself open to examination.

86. Where does corruption get a pass merely because it is clothed in a costume resembling the judicial branch of lawful government? Such notions of immunity are clearly the equivalent of a theory that a wolf in sheep's clothing is no longer a wolf. The Sheeple on the battle field called the streets of America are not finding that to ring true.

87. Yes, there is a pandemic of public corruption plaguing America and the root causes are all the same. Munson would be more than happy to detail the various color of law operations of lower level state courts replete with incidents and federal lawsuits currently pending from San Diego to New York with stops in such places as Houston and Ferguson. However, the very narrow issue before this Court is one of probate court corruption and this case deals with only one of many such courts.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Motion to Dismiss (Dkt 53) filed by Defendants Christine Butts, Clarinda Comstock and Tony Baiamonte, August 7, 2016.

Respectfully submitted October 13, 2016,

Sent: Wednesday, March 25, 2015 3:19 PM
Subject: The Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased; In Probate Court 4 of Harris County; Cause No. 412,249

Dear Attorneys,

As you know, we met together on Monday, March 23rd for a status conference. At that status conference we discussed: 1) the district court case and whether a consensus could be reached that it should be transferred to Probate Court 4 (no consensus was obtained); 2) the Motion to Compel (modified order signed); and 3) Carl Brunsting's Application to Resign and the appointment of a successor personal representative.

This email is to discuss the appointment of a successor personal representative considering the fact that Carl Brunsting must resign. As you all know, the Will of Nelva Brunsting provides that Amy and then Candace shall serve as alternate executors to Carl. Normally, Amy would be appointed so long as she was qualified. However, Carl in both his individual capacity and in his capacity as the Executor of the Estate has filed suit against Anita, Amy, Carole, and Candace (Petition for Declaratory Judgment, for an Accounting, for Damages, for Imposition of a Constructive Trust, and for Injunctive Relief, Together with Request for Disclosures, filed April 9, 2013 and as amended) in Probate Court 4. Consequently, it would likely be argued that Amy is unsuitable to serve given the conflict of interest, as she would have to pursue (or choose not to pursue), as successor Executrix, a claims filed against her individually and as trustee of several trusts. Though Candace is named as a defendant in the case pending in Probate Court 4, she appears to be a defendant only because her rights may be affected. In an effort to address the need for the appointment of a successor personal representative, short-circuit the process of sorting out claims of disqualification, and efficiently proceed with the administration of the estate, may I suggest that you all agree on the appointment of an independent third party as the successor personal representative?

Even if all agree that the appointment of an independent third party as successor administrator (or independent administrator) is advisable, the matter of paying such appointee remains difficult, as I understand the Estate of Nelva Brunsting contains little if any liquid assets. It was suggested that the assets of the Brunsting Family Living Trust, originally formed in 1996, (or its progeny) could be used to fund the appointment of a third party administrator. In the Restatement of such trust, signed in 2005, on page 8-4, Art. VIII, Sec. D, Part 1, the Trustee is specifically authorized to pay "expenses of administering the surviving Founder's estate." The Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement ("QBD"), signed by Nelva E. Brunsting in 2010, appears to ratify the Trustee's authority to pay the administration expenses of the surviving Founder's estate, as such QBD did not appear to amend such provisions of the Restatement and provided at the bottom of page 36 that, "All other provisions contained in the Brunsting Family Living Trust dated October 10, 1996, as amended, and that certain Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement dated June 15, 2010 are hereby ratified and confirmed and shall remain in full force and effect except to the extent that any such provisions are amended hereby." However, I do not have a copy of the document mentioned above in red; so, I cannot confirm that it did not amend the Trustee's authority to pay administration expenses of the surviving Founder's estate. At any rate, unless such authority was edited by the document mentioned in red, it seems clear that the Trustee may pay the administration expenses of the estate of Nelva Brunsting.

Considering that the Trustee seems to have the discretionary power to pay administration expenses directly, as far as I can see, all the talk about deemed distributions to children to pay such expenses and considerations related to spend thrift provisions (addressed by Ms. Thornton) and special needs provisions (which I brought up not knowing whether or not it could be an issue) may be moot.

I was informed that Ms. Wylie would not be an acceptable choice as administrator as far as Carl or Ms. Bayless is concerned. Ms. Bayless suggested both Fatima Breland and Sharon Stodghill as agreeable persons to serve as administrator. I am confident that both of these attorneys would make excellent administrators. It is my suggestion that the case proceed as follows:

1. The Trustee(s) agree to pay court approved fees and expenses of administrator (even if the administration is independent, the court is amenable to reviewing and approving fees if this will give the Trustee(s) more comfort in making disbursements from the trust).
2. The parties agree on the appointment of a particular person to serve as administrator and decide whether or not such person should serve independently, or the parties agree that the court shall appoint an independent third party administrator (dependent or independent).
3. The administrator would, among other things, respond to discovery requests, prepare an accounting, and evaluate and perhaps pursue claims in district court.

Thank you all for your consideration of this analysis and my suggestions. Please do not consider any of the statements herein to be an advanced ruling or finding.

MOTION TO STAY RULE 26(F) CONFERENCE AND ALL DISCOVERY
PENDING RESOLUTION OF MOTIONS TO DISMISS

Defendants¹ file this motion respectfully requesting that the Court stay all discovery and other proceedings in this action, including the Rule 26(f) conference and initial pretrial and scheduling conference, until the Court rules on the Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants. Each of the Motions to Dismiss on file with the Court has the potential to resolve the entire case and obviate the need for discovery altogether.

Pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a court has discretion to stay discovery “for good cause shown.” FED. R. CIV. P. 26(c). A district court may limit discovery when a dispositive motion would preclude the need for discovery, saving the parties time and expense.

See Ingram Corp. v. J. Ray McDermott & Co., 698 F.2d 1295, 1304 n.13 (5th Cir. 1983) (holding it was not an abuse of discretion for district court to fully stay discovery in the early stages of the dispute when claims and defenses presented threshold legal issues). And this is particularly true for motions to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), which are decided solely by reference to the complaint and proper attachments. See Landry v. Air Line Pilots Ass'n Int'l AFL-CIO, 901 F.2d 404, 436 (5th Cir. 1990) (affirming entry of protective order where discovery was unnecessary to resolve pending dispositive motion).

In this case Plaintiffs have filed a 62-page Complaint with hundreds of pages of attachments alleging RICO, fraud, and other fiduciary duty claims against dozens of Defendants. See Dkt. No. 1. Most of the Defendants have filed Motions to Dismiss seeking the dismissal of all of Plaintiffs' claims, and additional Motions to Dismiss are expected to be on file in the near future. See Dkt. Nos. 19, 20, 23, 25, 26, 30, 35, 36, 39,40, and 53. Discovery is not necessary to resolve any of the Motions to Dismiss, which will be decided solely by reference to the Complaint and its attachments. See Landry, 901 F.2d at 436. And even if the pending Motions do not resolve all of the claims asserted, they are very likely to define and narrow the scope of discovery. See Sai v. Dep't of Homeland Sec., 99 F. Supp. 3d 50, 58 (D.D.C. 2015) ("Both threshold motions raise significant issues, and their resolution will likely define the scope of discovery, if any.").

Thus, Defendants submit there is good cause to stay all discovery pending the outcome of the Motions to Dismiss and respectfully request that the Court stay all discovery, including the Rule 26(f) conference and the initial pretrial and scheduling conference, until the Court rules on the pending Motions to Dismiss.

DEFENDANTS JUDGE CHRISTINE RIDDLE BUTTS, JUDGE CLARINDA COMSTOCK & TONY BAIAMONTE’S ADOPTION AND JOINDER IN JILL WILLARD YOUNG’S MOTION TO STRIKE PLAINTIFFS’ “ADDENDUM OF MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF RICO COMPLAINT”

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE ALFRED H. BENNETT:

Defendants Honorable Judges Christine Riddle Butts and Clarinda Comstock and substitute Court Reporter Tony Baiamonte (collectively, “Harris County Defendants”) hereby file this Adoption and Joinder in Jill Willard Young’s Motion to Strike Plaintiffs’ “Addendum of Memorandum in Support of RICO Complaint” and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

1. Adoption of arguments raised in the Motion to Strike [Doc. 38].

In the interest of justice and judicial economy, and pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 10(c), the Harris County Defendants hereby adopt and incorporate by reference as if fully set forth herein, the arguments and authority contained in Jill Young’s Motion to Strike [Doc. 38]. This Court should strike Plaintiffs’ Addendum [Doc. 26], because it is not a valid supplemental or amended Complaint under FED. R. CIV. P. 15. Plaintiffs appear to concede they are not amending their Complaint, while at the same time attempting to incorporate facts from other pleadings in support of their Complaint [Doc. 26, ¶ 7]. Plaintiffs attempt, by this Addendum, to incorporate facts stated in a Motion for Sanctions and a Motion for Relief under FED. R. CIV. P. 60 filed in a closed federal court file. *Id.*¹ This is not a proper pleading recognized by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Accordingly, this Addendum should be stricken.

2. The Addendum does not challenge the merits of the Harris County Defendants' Motion to Dismiss.

Assuming arguendo the Court allows the Addendum in support of Plaintiffs' Complaint, it does not state any facts that would support a claim against the Harris County Defendants. Indeed, the facts contained in the Motion for Relief attached to the Addendum merely recite the facts previously complained of in the Complaint. Plaintiffs complain about being ordered to mediation with "another crony" [Doc. 26, ¶¶ 43, 99] and delay created by removing summary judgment motions from the docket [Id., ¶¶ 39-42]. Plaintiffs' pleadings (Addendum included) fail to confer subject matter jurisdiction and fail to state a claim against the Harris County Defendants.

CONCLUSION & PRAYER

The Addendum filed is an improper pleading and should be stricken. Even assuming the Addendum is considered a supplement to Plaintiffs' Complaint, it does not change the fact that Plaintiffs have failed to establish the Court has subject matter jurisdiction or that they have properly stated a claim against the Harris County Defendants.

For the reasons set forth above, the Harris County Defendants request the Court grant the Motion to Strike the Plaintiffs' Addendum [Doc. 26], and award the Harris County Defendants such other and further relief, at law or in equity, to which they may show themselves to be justly

Local Rule 7.6..... 2, 9

1. Above named Plaintiff respectfully moves this Court to order consolidation of the following cases pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1367, Rule 42(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Local Rule 7.6:

a. Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting and Amy Ruth Brunsting, Civil Action No. 4:12-CV-00592 (TXSD Filed 2/27/2012) currently pending before the Honorable Kenneth Hoyt, and

b. Civil Action No. 4:16-cv-01969 currently pending before the Honorable Alfred H. Bennett (TXSD filed 7/5/2016)

2. Plaintiff moves for consolidation of pre-trial proceedings and trial, but not consolidation for the purposes of judgment and appeal. The two cases are appropriate for consolidation for the following reasons:

3. The two cases share common parties. Candace Curtis is a Plaintiff in both federal suits and Amy and Anita Brunsting are Defendants in both suits.

4. The later suit is the cumulative product of events occurring in the course of litigating the earlier matter and although the remedies requested and the jurisdictions upon which the authorities of the Court have been invoked are divergent, all the facts flow from common acts and events.

5. The two cases involve common questions of law and fact because both arise from the same factual situation; namely, the rupture and looting of the Brunsting family of trusts and injuries resulting from the Defendants' efforts to evade accountability; and thus the two cases also involve common questions of law.

6. Through a series of awkward circumstances, the earlier diversity matter was remanded to Harris County Probate Court No. 4. The probate court experience produced evidence of a sinister design, resulting in the necessity for Plaintiff to again seek remedy in this Court and, thus, Plaintiff filed a separate action into the Southern District of Texas, Case No. 4:16-cv-01969, in concert with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 11(b) motion for sanctions and with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b) and (d) motion for vacatur in the above titled Court.

7. While the earlier suit was a simple breach of fiduciary seeking disclosures and accounting, the later filed case is a Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization (RICO) suit brought under federal question jurisdiction, implicating the Probate Court's officers' participation in the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

8. Judicial convenience and economy will be enhanced by consolidation of the actions.

9. Consolidation will result in one trial under one judge, which will bind all plaintiffs and defendants for all purposes. This will save time and avoid unnecessary costs to the Defendants, to the Plaintiffs in both actions, and to the witnesses who would otherwise be required to testify in two cases.

10. Consolidation will not delay final disposition of any matter.

11. Consolidation of these two cases will promote the uniformity of decision and eliminate any potential for conflicting rulings, provide for judicial economy and the convenience of witnesses and parties, and will promote the expeditious disposal of all matters.

HISTORY AND NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS

12. Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis (Curtis) lives in California and is a beneficiary of inter vivos trusts having a situs in Houston, Texas. Other beneficiaries of the trusts include Plaintiff Curtis' siblings: Carl, Carole, Amy and Anita Brunsting, and also includes the remaindermen grandchildren and great grandchildren of Grantors Elmer and Nelva Brunsting et al, per stirpes.

13. Plaintiff Candace Curtis filed a Pro se Petition in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division, on February 27, 2012, claiming breach of fiduciary, seeking disclosures and a full, true, complete accounting.¹

14. Plaintiff Curtis complaint was dismissed under the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction and Curtis appealed. The Fifth Circuit reversed and Ordered remand on January 9, 2013.

15. On January 29, 2013, attorney Bobbie Bayless filed suit against Nelva Brunsting's trust attorneys, Candace Kunz-Freed, Albert Vacek Jr. and Vacek & Freed P.L.L.C., in the Harris County District Court on behalf of Carl Brunsting as executor of the estate of Nelva Brunsting² raising claims only related to the Brunsting trusts then in the custody of a federal court.

16. On April 9, 2013, this Honorable Court issued an Order enjoining Defendants Amy and Anita Brunsting from spending trust funds or liquidating trust assets without the Court's prior approval.

17. Also on April 9, 2013, Bobbie Bayless filed suit in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, on behalf of Carl Brunsting individually (412249-401) and as executor of the estate of Nelva Brunsting (412249) naming federal Plaintiff Curtis a "Nominal Defendant" in both suits.

18. Not only did Bayless advance claims exclusively related to the trusts already in the custody of the federal Court, she claimed the breaches of fiduciary against the beneficiaries of the Brunsting trusts were claims belonging to the estate of Nelva Brunsting. That theory was disposed of in the Fifth Circuit in Curtis v Brunsting 710 F.3d 406. The "Trust(s)" is the only heir in fact to the estate and assets in the trusts are not property of the estate of Nelva Brunsting.

19. At paragraph 1, page 2 of Curtis v Brunsting 710 F.3d 406:

In 1996, Elmer H. and Nelva E. Brunsting, Texas residents, established the Brunsting Family Living Trust (“the Trust”) for the benefit of their offspring. At the time of its creation, the Trust was funded with various assets. Both the will of Mr. Brunsting and the will of Mrs. Brunsting (collectively “the Brunstings’ Wills”) appear to include pour-over provisions, providing that all property in each estate is devised and bequeathed to the Trust. Elmer H. Brunsting passed away on April 1, 2009, and Nelva E. Brunsting passed away on November 11, 2011. The current dispute arises out of the administration of the Trust.

20. Under the wills Carl Brunsting has no standing to bring claims against trustees as heir or executor of an estate. He only has standing to bring claims individually as a trustee or beneficiary of the trust and that trust was in the custody of the federal court.

21. In Curtis v Brunsting the Fifth Circuit explained the doctrine of comity by citing to the Supreme Court’s clarification of the “distinctly limited scope” of the probate exception,³ explaining:

[W]e comprehend the ‘interference’ language in Markham as essentially a reiteration of the guiding principle that, when one court is exercising in rem jurisdiction over a res, a second court will not assume in rem jurisdiction over the same res. Thus, the probate exception reserves to state probate courts the probate or annulment of a will and the administration of a decedent’s estate; it also precludes federal courts from endeavoring to dispose of property that is in the custody of a state probate court. But it does not bar federal courts from adjudicating matters outside those confines and otherwise within federal jurisdiction.⁴

22. In or about November of 2013, Pro se Plaintiff Curtis retained the services of Houston Attorney Jason Ostrom. On May 15, 2014, Attorney Jason Ostrom caused this Honorable Court to issue an Order for Remand of Curtis v Brunsting to the custody of Harris County Probate Court No. 4 (412,249-402) for consolidation with the claims of Carl Brunsting (412,249-401).

23. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiff Curtis, along with her domestic partner Rik Munson, both individually and as private attorneys general on behalf of the public trust, filed a RICO suit into the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division (No. 4:16-cv-01969), accusing the Harris County Probate Court and its officers of public corruption conspiracies involving schemes and artifices to deprive Plaintiff Curtis, the People of Texas, and others, of the honest services of an elected public official.

24. The record will show the Probate Court has refused to resolve any substantive matter on the merits and the reason is clearly that no court can assume in rem jurisdiction over a res in the custody of another court. Thus, the probate court never had jurisdiction over the Brunsting trust, which renders the Order for remand to the state probate court void ab initio.

25. Rather than dismiss and return Curtis v Brunsting to the federal court, the RICO Defendants chose a less honorable course, forcing Plaintiff Curtis to respond accordingly.

26. On August 3, 2016, Plaintiff Curtis filed a F.R.C.P. Rule 11(b) motion for sanctions and F.R.C.P. Rule 60(b) and (d) motions for vacatur of the remand to state court, on the ground that the remand was obtained by fraud upon Plaintiff Curtis and upon the Court, thus vitiating the application to amend the original petition that facilitated the remand in the first instance.

27. Plaintiffs respectfully request this Honorable Court take Judicial Notice of the complaint, motions to dismiss and Plaintiffs' replies in the closely related proceedings pursuant to Federal Rules of evidence §201.⁵

STAGE OF THE PROCEEDINGS

28. The RICO suit is in the opening phase and the initial conference is set for October 28, 2016 at 9:00 a.m. before the Honorable Alfred Bennett.

⁵ Case 4:16-cv-01969 TXSD Motions to dismiss Dkt 19, 20, 23, 25 and replies Dkt 33, 34, and 41

29. The earlier breach of fiduciary matter, Candace Curtis v. Anita and Amy Brunsting 4:12-cv-00592, is ripe for F.R.C.P. Rule 12(c) relief on the unresolved summary and declaratory judgment pleadings. Those motions have not been answered and the probate court refused to set the motions for hearing. A proper determination on the merits of those unresolved motions will be necessary to support the racketeering conspiracy and predicate act claims arising under the later filed RICO suit.

30. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference the Rule 11⁶ and 60⁷ motions referred to in item 18 supra, and the federal civil RICO complaint referred to in item 17 supra, as if fully restated herein, and further asks this Honorable Court to take Judicial notice of the relevant public records.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF RULE 42(A) MOTION

31. Above named Plaintiff has moved this Court, pursuant to Rule 42(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to consolidate the following cases: Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting and Amy Ruth Brunsting, No. 4:12-CV-00592 (TXSD Filed 2/27/2012) and Curtis, et al. v Kunz-Freed, et al, No. 4:16-cv-01969 (TXSD Filed 07/05/16).

32. Plaintiffs' motion requests consolidation for the limited purposes of pre-trial proceedings and trial only, it does not request consolidation for the purposes of judgment or rights to appeal.

33. Rule 42(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil procedure provides:

Rule 42. Consolidation; separate trials.

(a) Consolidation. When actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending before the court, it may order a joint hearing or trial of any or all the matters in issue in the actions; it may order all the actions consolidated; and it may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay.

34. The purpose of Rule 42(a) "is to give the court broad discretion to decide how cases on its docket are to be tried so that the business of the court may be dispatched with expedition and economy while providing justice to the parties." Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure, § 2381 (1971).

35. Local Rule 7.6 and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 42(a) requires the motion be filed in the earlier Court and the above Court is the earlier Court. However, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 42(b) prevents consolidation, when doing so would pollute diversity and deprive the Court of jurisdiction.

36. The earlier matter was filed under diversity with the allegation that Defendants were acting in secret and were uniquely in exclusive possession of all of the information relating to the case.

37. Plaintiff Curtis submitted a First Amended Complaint in the above Court on April 29, 2013, seeking to amend the claim to federal question jurisdiction based upon newly discovered evidence involving fraudulent securities transfers. That amendment was properly rejected by the Court due to Plaintiff's failure to provide a certificate of conference as required by local rule.

BOTH ACTIONS INVOLVE COMMON QUESTIONS OF LAW AND FACT

38. Rule 42(a) permits a district court to consolidate separate actions when they involve "a common question of law or fact." Fed.R.Civ.P. 42(a).

39. Even if there are some questions that are not common, consolidation is not precluded. Batazzi v. Petroleum Helicopters, Inc., 664 F.2d 49, 50 (5th Cir. 1981); See Central Motor Co. v. United States, 583 F.2d 470 (10th Cir. 1978).

40. Common questions of law and fact abound in these cases, as both stem from the same (long con) conspiracy and the later controversy is based upon evidence evolving out of Defendants' continued attempts to foreclose remedy in the trust suit case, aided and abetted by the state court and its officers.

41. It was the process of seeking remedy and Defendants' continued efforts to obstruct justice and evade accountability, that has produced a clear picture of a larger mosaic involving a pattern of racketeering activity targeting familial wealth.

42. Although the lawsuits were filed at separate times and in separate forums, and although multiple actions were improperly brought in state courts, all of it is, in fact, only one continuous event and therefore, it necessarily follows that the matter is particularly appropriate for consolidation.

A COURT HAS BROAD DISCRETION IN ORDERING CONSOLIDATION

43. A court has broad discretion in determining whether consolidation is practical. Atlantic States Legal Foundation Inc. v. Koch Refining Co., 681 F. Supp 609, 615 (D. Minn. 1988). In exercising this discretion, a court should weigh the time and effort consolidation would save, with any inconvenience or delay it would cause. Hendrix v. Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc., 776 F.2d 1492, 1495 (11th Cir. 1985); Huene v. United States, 743 F.2d 703, 704 (9th Cir. 1984). See also Kramer v. Boeing Co., 134 F.R.D. 256 (D. Minn. 1991).

44. Consolidation offers efficiency and convenience in this case. Consolidation will result in one trial which will bind all plaintiffs and defendants. This will save time and avoid unnecessary costs to the defendants, the plaintiffs, this Court, and the witnesses who would otherwise be required to testify in both cases.

45. Consolidation will not delay the disposition of this case. In fact, it will minimize delays. The cases are at different stages of the discovery process, but this does not bar consolidation. (United States v. City of Chicago, 385 F. Supp. 540, 543 (N.D. Ill. 1974).

46. The earlier case was filed under diversity, but evidence discovered in the course of pursuing remedy has produced racketeer influenced corrupt organization claims under federal question jurisdiction and the record will show No. 4:12-cv-00592 has been brought back to the federal court in direct response to the probate court's unwillingness to ensure Plaintiff's right to be heard and blatant refusal to resolve any matter on the merits.

47. Consolidation is necessary to the ends of justice and for complete resolution of all matters for all parties and, whereas, the rules will not allow all of the related cases and necessary parties to be consolidated under diversity jurisdiction, all of the related cases and necessary parties can and should be consolidated under federal question jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1367.

48. Thus, whether the economy and efficiency of the Court will best be served by transferring the federal question suit to this Honorable Court or by transferring the diversity case to Judge Bennett's Honorable Court, Plaintiffs' do not presume to suggest, but do believe that justice can only be served by consolidation of all related matters under one roof for all purposes.

CONCLUSION

49. Jurisdiction of the probate court at the point in time when its jurisdiction was invoked, is a proper subject of inquiry under Rule 60. "Courts can always consider questions as to subject matter jurisdiction whenever raised and even sua sponte." U.S. v. White, 139 F.3d 998 cert den 119 S.Ct 343, 525 U.S. 393, 142 L.Ed.2d 283 (1998).

50. The remand Order is void ab initio for want of jurisdiction in the state court. Want of, and acts excess of, subject matter jurisdiction can never be cured after the fact. Furthermore,

Plaintiff Curtis was named a nominal defendant in the estates probate suit and simply cannot be consolidated with a plaintiff that has named her a defendant in the same lawsuit.

51. Rule 60(b) motions are reviewed for abuse of discretion. American Bankers Ins. Co. v. Northwestern Nat'l Ins. Co., 198 F.3d 1332, 1338 (11th Cir. 1999); Toole v. Baxter Healthcare Corp., 235 F.3d 1307, 1316 (11th Cir. 2000).

52. However, motions under Rule 60(b)(4), on the ground that a judgment is void are reviewed de novo. Burke v. Smith, 252 F.3d 1260,1263 (11th Cir. 2001).

WHEREFORE, Petitioner respectfully requests the motion for consolidation be granted.

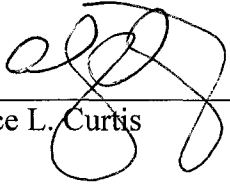

Respectfully submitted,

I. INTRODUCTION

1. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a complaint into the Southern District of Texas individually and as private attorneys general alleging a public corruption conspiracy under the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act at 18 U.S.C. §§1961-1968 and the right of claims provided at 18 U.S.C. §1964(c). (Dkt 1)

2. On September 15, 2016, Plaintiffs filed an Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26) as a factual supplement incorporated into the RICO complaint by reference in response to Defendants Albert Vacek, Jr. and Candace Kunz-Freed's September 7, 2016 motions to dismiss (Dkt 19 and 20) claiming a want of specific factual allegations and other affirmative defenses.
3. On September 30, 2016, Defendant Steven Mendel filed a Motion to Dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6), (Dkt 36).
4. Mr. Mendel's motion also states that it is filed on behalf of Defendant Bradley Featherston. However, Mr. Featherston has refused to accept service and has not filed his waiver.

II. THE ISSUES

- A. Defendant Steven Mendel advances the Texas doctrine of attorney immunity;
- B. States that he never had an attorney-client relationship with either of the plaintiffs;
- C. States that he only served as attorney in the defense of co-trustee Anita Brunsting involving a "related probate case pending in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, under C.A. No. 412249-401, Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased";
- D. States that the allegations are vague, conclusory and fail to provide him with sufficient notice;
- E. That Mr. Mendel is current counsel for Co-Trustee Anita Brunsting;
- F. That it is impossible for him and Mr. Featherston to have been involved in a sham mediation because no mediation occurred.
- G. Mendel, like Anita and Amy Brunsting, introduces a new appellation for the "extortion instrument" not previously found in any pleadings called a Qualified Beneficiary Trust or "QBT".

III. SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

Jurisdiction

5. Each Defendant's motion to dismiss has thus far argued that the case before the court arises from a "probate matter" involving administration of an estate.

6. Plaintiffs challenge any claim of state court jurisdiction over Brunsting trust related matters. All of these Defendants' claims, including immunity, turn on inquiry into subject matter jurisdiction.

Metamorphosis

7. Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis began this journey in the Southern District of Texas February 27, 2012 (4:12-cv-592). From there it evolved into a Fifth Circuit Appeal (12-20164) and returned to the Southern District of Texas January 9, 2013 (704 F.3d 406).

8. From there, Defendant Jason Ostrom arranged a remand to Harris County Probate Court No. 4, (first as 412249-402, then as 412249-401). Once in the probate court the Curtis v Brunsting trust litigation was mysteriously transformed into the "Estate of Nelva Brunsting" (Exhibit 1 and Dkt 34-9) and thereafter completely dissolved into the abyss like the docket control order and the scheduled trial that disappeared just as mysteriously.

IV. CURTIS V BRUNSTING SURVIVED THE PROBATE EXCEPTION, IS NOT A PROBATE MATTER AND HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH THE ADMINISTRATION OF ANY ESTATE

9. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406, 409-410, held,

No. 12-20164

In 1996, Elmer H. and Nelva E. Brunsting, Texas residents, established the Brunsting Family Living Trust ("the Trust") for the benefit of their offspring. At the time of its creation, the Trust was funded with various assets. Both the will of Mr. Brunsting and the will of Mrs. Brunsting (collectively “the Brunstings’ Wills”) appear to include pour-over provisions, providing that all property in each estate is devised and bequeathed to the Trust.

Elmer H. Brunsting passed away on April 1, 2009, and Nelva E. Brunsting passed away on November 11, 2011. The current dispute arises out of the administration of the Trust.

HN6 Assets placed in an inter vivos trust generally avoid probate, since such assets are owned by the trust, not the decedent, and therefore are not part of the decedent's estate. In other words, because the assets in a living or inter vivos trust are not property of the estate at the time of the decedent's death, having been transferred to the trust years before, the trust is not in the custody of the probate court and as such the probate exception is inapplicable to disputes concerning administration of the trust.

HN7 Any property held in a revocable living trust is not considered a probate asset. Avoidance of probate perhaps is the most publicized advantage of the revocable living trust. Assets in a living trust are not subject to probate administration

10. Curtis v Brunsting has been held not to be litigation related to the Estates of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting. Plaintiff Curtis is a beneficiary of inter vivos trusts and not an heir to either Estate, to which “The Trust” is the only heir in fact (Dkt 41-2 and 41-3).

Immunity

11. All immunity defense claims turn on the question of subject matter jurisdiction.

12. Mendel claims he only served as an attorney in the defense of “co-trustee” Anita Brunsting, in litigation involving a “probate case pending in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, under C.A. No. 412249-401, Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased” and, thus, claims the protection of the Texas Attorney Immunity Doctrine.

13. While refusing resolution on the merits, these Defendants, in concert, attempted to intimidate Plaintiff Curtis into agreeing to mediate, to avoid rendering unfavorable determinations that would have subjected the Court's want of jurisdiction to scrutiny.

14. The effort to avoid the obvious want of jurisdiction in the probate court, and the deliberate attempts to imposter jurisdiction while avoiding determination on the merits, cannot rationally be denied as is firmly evidenced in the transcript of March 9, 2016. (Dkt 26-16)

15. Defendants portray this conduct as judicial and litigious, but it is neither and the conduct is evidenced by the various, self-authenticating, court records.

16. Defendants have attempted to overturn the federal Fifth Circuit after being on the losing end of a fully litigated federal appellate determination and have since attempted to erase the federal court rulings and the federal injunction, by subterfuge.

17. "The Trust" was inarguably under the in rem jurisdiction of a federal Court when related claims were filed in state courts in Harris County Texas in the name of the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting. (Dkt 34-5 and 34-7)

18. Mr. Mendel does not provide any exhibits to support his claims and Plaintiffs are unaware of any instance in which Mr. Mendel or anyone associated with his firm filed an appearance, filed a motion or filed a responsive pleading in "Curtis v Brunsting".

19. Defendants can only show they filed motions and pleadings in the "Estate of Nelva Brunsting" and even when cases are consolidated for all purposes they do not lose their separate identities. What happened to Curtis v Brunsting after the remand to state probate court?

“Curtis v Brunsting” vs. “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”

20. There are neither trustees nor beneficiaries involved in any “Estate” litigation and there are neither heirs nor executors nor inheritance expectancies involved in any “trust” related litigation. The alleged co-trustees only exist in the context of “the trust” and, as it relates to the estate, the trust is the only heir in fact.¹

21. As previously shown (Dkt 41, ln 25) Candace Curtis’ breach of fiduciary lawsuit against Anita and Amy Brunsting filed in the federal court on February 27, 2012, involves only the Brunsting trusts Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406, 409-410 (Dkt 26-17). Defendant Mendel cannot show where he ever responded to a Curtis v Brunsting motion (Dkt, 26-11, 26-14) even though all they ever addressed in the “estate of Nelva Brunsting” pleadings were the money cow trusts (Dkt 26-5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 13, 20).

22. The pleadings filed by Jason Ostrom in the probate court all bear the heading of “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” except notices of the federal pleadings and each of those bears an “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” cover page.

Jurisdiction

23. Because the trust res was under the in rem jurisdiction of a federal court when the estate lawsuit was filed in Harris County Probate 4, none of the Trust related claims were properly placed before that court.

24. As noted, the trust is the only heir to either estate and Carl Brunsting has no individual standing to bring any estate claims other than to challenge the wills, which he did not.

¹ Dkt 41-2 and 41-3 Wills of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting

25. When we strip away Trust related claims from Bayless' "Estate" complaint nothing remains of the estate lawsuit. All of Bayless probate court claims involve the Trust and nothing but the Trust.

26. Even the District Court suit against Freed was filed in a court that could not take cognizance of a res in the custody of the federal Court and although an argument could validly be made against Vacek and Freed in the name of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting's Estates, they would none-the-less need to have been brought in the court having jurisdiction over the res. The question of whether or not the heir-in-fact Trust was the real party in interest and not the Estates would also need to be resolved.

27. A proper consolidation motion would have Curtis v Brunsting at the top in the heading, with the later filed cases each listed separately below that, one atop the other. Defendants instead chose to play the trust buster game of dissolving the distinctions between trust and estate.

28. They claim there was no conspiracy, but how do they explain the inarguable existence of public records evidencing these facts?

29. Want of subject matter jurisdiction in the probate court over any trust related matters strips these defendants of their attorney immunity defense and their conduct is subject to scrutiny in these proceedings, unclothed in the a priori illusion of legitimacy.

Notice and Meaningful Opportunity to Be Heard

30. The cornerstone of Due Process is fundamental fairness. Inherent in the notion of fairness is the right to know the nature and cause of an action, to be apprised of the claims and to have a meaningful opportunity to defend by way of answer or explanation. This is the essence of Rule

12(b)(6). It is not necessary that Defendant understand the law or the elements of a RICO claim, but need only be apprised of the facts that Plaintiff relies upon for their claim.

31. In his Rule 12(b)(6) motion Mendel claims the complaint fails to apprise him of sufficient facts to provide him with notice, while at the same time claiming to act as counsel for opposing litigants with extensive knowledge of contrary facts.

32. It is difficult to conceive of how Mr. Mendel could have insufficient notice of facts when Plaintiffs, in response to motions making similar claims, simply point to public records in the very same actions Mr. Mendel claims to have been involved in as an attorney.

Creative Pleading and Something Called a “QBT”

33. Mr. Mendel’s Rule 12(b)(6) Motion, like Anita and Amy Brunsting’s, introduces for the first time in any pleadings, in any related action in any court, over a period of nearly five years, introduces something they call a “Qualified Beneficiary Trust” (QBT) allegedly drafted by Defendant Albert Vacek, Jr.

34. Defendants do not provide exhibits in support of this claim of facts and Docket entries 30, 35 and 36 are the only pleadings to be found in any court containing reference to a “QBT”.

35. Plaintiffs’ RICO complaint defines the “extortion instrument” at Claim number 24 paragraph 133, as “the heinous 8/25/2010 “Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement” (hereinafter the “8/25/2010 QBD” or “Extortion Instrument”)”.

36. One of the three versions of the 8/25/2010 QBD was filed by Defendant Anita Brunsting’s Counsel Bradley Featherston in the Estate of Nelva Brunsting 412249-401, on December 8, 2014, and is included in the Addendum to Plaintiffs' RICO complaint with the other versions, Dkt 26-20 at E1349-E1386.

37. Plaintiffs' demand these Defendants produce this "QBT" and certify it for whatever it is they are claiming it to be and, while they are at it, Plaintiffs' demand they produce the 8/25/2010 QBD, the instrument referred to by Defendants Amy, Anita, Brad and Neal, in their joint June 26, 2015 no-evidence motion for partial summary judgment, and qualify it as evidence for whatever they claim it to be as well.

Intimidation with the Extortion Instrument

38. As stated in the Addendum, on June 26, 2015 Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting, through their attorneys, Bradley Featherston and Neal Spielman, filed a "No-Evidence Motion for Partial Summary Judgment" (DKT 26-5) involving an instrument called "Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement" or "QBD".

39. Plaintiff Curtis responded by filing an "Answer with Motion and Demand to Produce Evidence" (Dkt 26-11). As the Addendum states, Defendants tried to make good on their "no-contest clause" extortion threats when they filed their Joint No-Evidence Motion for Partial Summary and Declaratory Judgement (Dkt 26-5) and then removed their no-evidence motion from calendar, with their tail between their legs, when Plaintiff Curtis filed her answer and demand to produce the archetype of the instrument. (Dkt 26-11).

40. Suddenly there is no more docket control order, no more dispositive motion hearings and no more trial date, allegedly because of an "emergency Motion" over the "dissemination" of illegal wiretap recordings by Anita Brunsting's counsel Bradley Featherston.

41. Neal Spielman and Stephen Mendel then show up on March 9, 2016 (Dkt 26-16 Transcript) waiving the Gregory Lester/Jill Willard Young report in the air (Dkt 26-9) and talking about how the no contest clause in the illicit QBD instrument had been held to have been validly drafted by Vacek & Freed, (according to the Gospel of Jill Willard and Gregory Lester), and that Plaintiffs Candace Curtis and Carl Brunsting would take nothing if the court were to rule on the no contest clause. It is literally impossible to view any of that as an estate matter.

42. Mr. Mendel was personally present at the September 10, 2015 hearing on Gregory Lester's application for authority to retain Jill Young and was personally present at the March 9, 2016 hearing scheduled as a result of Plaintiff Curtis request to have dispositive motions placed back on the hearing calendar (Dkt 26-15 Request for Hearing).

43. The only thing indisputable in that transcript of hearing (Dkt 26-16) is that every effort was made to pretend the court had jurisdiction, to avoid setting dispositive motions, to avoid producing the extortion instrument and determination on the merits, to avoid joinder of closely related cases, and to attempt intimidation to cause Plaintiff Curtis to think she needed to get out her check book to pay for a mediation to avoid taking nothing under the "no contest clause" of the heinous "QBD" extortion instrument Defendants refuse to produce. (Dkt 26-16)

44. It was Carole Brunsting and not Plaintiff Curtis who cancelled the scheduled mediation (Exhibit 2)

45. The Defendants have had almost five years to produce their precious "QBD" and after having refused or otherwise failed to do so, it has somehow become a "QBT".

46. The United States Attorney's Criminal Resource Manual CRM 2403 defines Extortion by Force, Violence, or Fear as follows:

In order to prove a violation of Hobbs Act extortion by the wrongful use of actual or threatened force, violence, or fear, the following questions must be answered affirmatively:

- 1. Did the defendant induce or attempt to induce the victim to give up property or property rights?*
- 2. Did the defendant use or attempt to use the victim's reasonable fear of physical injury or economic harm in order to induce the victim's consent to give up property?*

47. Both of these inquiries are answered by the transcript of the March 9, 2016 status conference, set because of Plaintiffs Curtis' request for setting. (Dkt 26-15)

48. Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting and now Stephen Mendel have all filed motions to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), (Dkt 30, 35, 36) claiming they "believe" the instrument referred to as the extortion instrument is some Qualified Beneficiary Trust or "QBT".

Mediation

49. The chronology of events provided in the Addendum to Plaintiffs' complaint (Dkt 26) beginning at Item VIII, ln. 62, pg. 12, shows the sequence of events compelling Plaintiffs to bring claims involving impartial forum, access to the court and other due process, civil rights, fraud and related racketeering claims.

50. As the Complaint makes clear in Claims 16-21, illegal wiretap recordings were disseminated by certified mail (July 2015), among counsel for the parties to the Brunsting related lawsuits, after Defendants filed their June 26, 2015 no evidence motion (Dkt 26-5). There was no perceivable legal relationship between those recordings and any substantive matter then pending.

51. Dissemination of the recordings was none-the-less used as the excuse for suspending the litigation after Defendants had set their no-evidence motion for hearing and after Bayless had set her summary judgment motion for hearing, but were then used as an excuse to remove summary judgement hearings and trial, without notice, without hearing and without an order, after Plaintiff Curtis filed her Answer and Demand to Produce Evidence (Dkt 26-11).

52. Suddenly, an emergency motion involving dissemination of irrelevant and illegally obtained private telephone communications replaces meritorious resolution of the controversy, and there is no evidentiary support for any scheduling changes in the record.

Wiretap Recordings

53. All three Defendants, Anita, Amy and Mendel offer a completely different version of the facts regarding wiretap recordings from that contained in the Complaint, as verified by the probate court record. As with all of the contrary factual assertions made by these Defendants, they do not provide any form of affidavit or exhibits in support of their claims.

54. Plaintiff Curtis' wiretap brief gives the lie to these claims (Exhibit 3 attached) as does Defendant Anita and Amy Brunsting's reply to Carl Brunsting's Emergency Motion for a Protective Order (Dkt 26-8). The other exhibits in the record relating to the wiretap recordings are Dkt 26-6-Carl Brunstings motion for protective order and, Dkt 26-12- transcript of protective order hearings.

V. DEFENDANT DISPLAYS A PENCHANT FOR ARGUING HIS OWN MISSTATEMENTS

55. Defendant Mendel misstates the Complaint and then makes facially-compelling arguments against the fallacy of his own claims (Dkt 36 Pg. 1, Ln. 1.2):

“By way of example and not as a limitation, Mr. Featherston is alleged to have engaged in illegal wiretapping”

56. Mr. Mendel does not quote any part of the Complaint nor does he reference any particular provisions of the Complaint with specificity. The claims relating to wiretap activity are numbered 16-21. Claims 16-19 specifically allege “manipulation” occurring in February of 2015 regarding four different recording segments, while claims 20 and 21 allege “in Concert Aiding and Abetting: Spoliation, Destruction and/or Concealing Evidence”.

57. While Mendel would lead the Court to believe the Complaint alleges Featherston was involved in the recordings themselves, the Complaint makes no such claim and no such claim is necessary to a claim of aiding and abetting.

58. The act of placing those recordings in the U.S. Mail amounts to participation, as those recordings were used in a conspiracy to deprive Plaintiff Curtis of the honest services of a court.

59. The RICO allegations include statements such as that contained in claim 21 at paragraph 129:

Implicit in the assertion the recordings were relevant and the content admissible, Defendants claimed to possess personal knowledge that: “(1) the recording device was capable of recording the events offered in evidence; (2) the operator was competent to operate the device; (3) the recording is authentic and correct; (4) changes, additions, or deletions have not been made in the recording; (5) the recording has been preserved in a manner that is shown to the court; (6) the speakers on the tape are identified; and (7) the conversation elicited was made voluntarily and in good faith, without any kind of inducement.”

60. Mendel however, at paragraph 1.2, refers to such statements as vague, speculative, and conclusory and based upon inference, which more accurately describes the motion to dismiss than the complaint.

61. Another example of Mendel’s proclivity for arguing his own misstatements is paragraph 127 as follows:

On or about July 1, 2015, in the Southern District of Texas and elsewhere within the jurisdiction of the Court, for the purpose of executing or attempting to execute the scheme and artifice to defraud and deprive, Defendants Anita Brunsting and Bradley Featherston, aided and abetted by persons known and unknown to Plaintiffs and aiding and abetting persons known and unknown to Plaintiffs, did unlawfully, willfully and knowingly cause illegal wiretap recordings of private telephone conversations between Carl Brunsting and his wife Drina Brunsting, to be delivered by certified mail to Plaintiff Curtis and the third party attorneys for parties in multiple pending lawsuits, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §2511(1)(c) and Texas Penal Code 16.02. The illegal wiretap recordings selectively disseminated on CD-ROM, are believed to have been made on or about March and April 2011. The CD contained items which were Bates numbered 5814 to 5840. Included among those items were the following four audio recordings:²

62. One is curious to know where Mendel gets the notion Featherston is “alleged to have engaged in illegal wiretapping”? Dissemination of illegally obtained wiretap recordings violates the wiretap laws, and is the actual participation Mr. Featherston is accused of.

The Estate of Nelva Brunsting

63. As has been shown, the Fifth Circuit (Dkt 34-4) distinguished between the Brunsting Trust litigation and any prospective probate of the Estates of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting, using the same information available to the probate court, “the Wills of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting” (Dkt 41-2 and 41-3) and in their analysis the Fifth Circuit determined that Brunsting trust assets were not property of either estate and that the trust was in fact the only estate heir.

The Brunsting Trusts

64. Plaintiff Curtis is a beneficiary of an inter vivos trust, not an heir to any estate.

65. Plaintiff Curtis’ beneficial interest is property, not an inheritance or expectancy.

66. The estate has no standing to bring claims against beneficiaries of the trust, alleging trespass against the heir in fact (trust), simply because the alleged trespass occurred during the lifetime of a grantor. The trust was also in the custody of the federal Court when all of the state court actions were filed.

VI. STANDARD OF REVIEW

67. Rule 12(b)(1) permits the dismissal of an action for the lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1). "If [a federal] court determines at any time that it lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, [it] must dismiss the action." Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3); see also Berkshire Fashions, Inc. v. M V. Hakusan II, 954 F.2d 874, 880 n.3 (3rd Cir.1992) (citing Rubin v. Buckman, 727 F.2d 71, 72 (3d Cir. 1984)) (reasoning that "[t]he distinction between a Rule 12(h)(3) motion and a Rule 12(b)(1) motion is simply that the former may be asserted at any time and need not be responsive to any pleading of the other party.") Since federal courts are considered courts of limited jurisdiction, absent jurisdiction conferred by statute, they lack the power to adjudicate claims. See, e.g., Stockman v. Fed Election Comm'n, 138 F.3d 144, 151 (5th Cir. 1998) (citing Veldhoen v. United States Coast Guard, 35 F.3d 222, 225 (5th Cir. 1994)). Therefore, the party seeking to invoke the jurisdiction of a federal court carries "the burden of proving subject matter jurisdiction by a preponderance of the evidence." Vantage Trailers, Inc. v. Beall Corp., 567 F.3d 745, 748 (5th Cir. 2009) (citing New Orleans & Gulf Coast Ry. Co. v. Barrois, 533 F.3d 321, 327 (5th Cir. 2008); see also Stockman, 138 F.3d at 151).

68. In this case, jurisdiction is challenged under both Rule 12(b)(1), and the lack of sufficient factual allegations under Rule 12(b)(6). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) authorizes a defendant to move to dismiss for "failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted." Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). Under the demanding strictures of a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, "[t]he plaintiff's complaint is to be construed in a light most favorable to the plaintiff, and the allegations contained therein are to be taken as true." Oppenheimer v. Prudential Sec., Inc., 94 F.3d 189, 194 (5th Cir. 1996) (citing Mitchell v. McBryde, 944 F.2d 229, 230 (5th Cir. 1991)). Dismissal is appropriate only if, the "[f]actual allegations [are not] enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level, on the assumption that all the allegations in the complaint are true (even if doubtful in fact)." Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 1965, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007).

69. In light of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2), "[s]pecific facts are not necessary; the [factual allegations] need only 'give the defendant fair notice of what the ... claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.'" Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 93, 127 S. Ct. 2197, 2200, 167 L.Ed.2d 1081 (2007) (per curiam) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555, 127 S.Ct. at 1964. Evenso, "a plaintiffs obligation to provide the 'grounds' of his 'entitle[ment] to relief requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do." Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555, 127 S. Ct. at 1964- 65 (citing Papasan v. Allain, 478 U.S. 265, 286, 106 S. Ct. 2932, 92 L.Ed.2d 209 (1986).

70. Therefore, "[t]o survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1949, 173 L. Ed.2d 868 (2009) (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570, 127 S. Ct. at 1974). "A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Ashcroft, 556 U.S. at 678 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556, 127 S. Ct. at 1955). "But where the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the complaint has to alleged-but it does not have to 'show -'that the pleader is entitled to relief.'" Ashcroft, 556 U.S. at 679 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2)).

71. Nevertheless, when considering a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss, the Court's task is limited to deciding whether the plaintiff is entitled to offer evidence in support of his or her claims, not whether the plaintiff will eventually prevail. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 563, 1969 n.8 (citing Scheuer v. Rhodes, 416 U.S. 232, 236, 94 S. Ct. 1683, 40 L. Ed.2d 90 (1974)); see also Jones v. Greninger, 188 F.3d 322,324 (5th Cir. 1999).

VII. CONCLUSION

72. The Honorable Kenneth Hoyt stated at the injunction hearing April 9, 2013 that all that was needed to wrap the trust litigation up was to distribute the assets, and he was correct.

73. Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting refuse to honor any of the duties of the office while their attorneys use the 8/25/2010 QBD to threaten Plaintiff Curtis and her disabled brother Carl Brunsting with loss of property rights for bringing action to protect those rights and compel specific performance. Each of these Defendant attorneys fully intended to line their own pockets with filthy lucre at the expense of Plaintiff Curtis, her sister Carole, and her disabled brother Carl.

74. Probably the most alarming aspect of all this is that in a situation where the probate court actually had jurisdiction the exact conduct complained of here would all too often be granted Judicial and Texas Attorney Immunity without resort to the canons to consider whether such conduct is in fact judicial or litigious.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Motion to Dismiss (Dkt 36) filed by Defendant Stephen Mendel, September 30, 2016.

The purpose for creating an inter vivos trust is to keep attorneys from stealing assets under the usual probate charade. These attorneys with the blessings of the Probate Court have tried to erase those distinctions hoping to convert assets of the trust into assets involved in a controversy over the administration of an estate.

PLAINTIFF'S APPLICATION FOR PARTIAL DISTRIBUTION

TO THE HONORABLE PROBATE COURT:

COMES NOW, Plaintiff, Candace Louis Curtis, and files this Application for Partial Distribution of Trust Funds and in support thereof would show the Court as follows:

Plaintiff is a beneficiary under the Brunsting Family Trust, which is currently the subject of multiple lawsuits pending in this Court, one of which was transferred to this Court from the Federal Court where it had originally begun. That transfer was subject to a Temporary Injunction that had been ordered by the Federal Court that enjoined the distribution of Trust Funds without a court order. See Ex. A, Injunction.

2.

Plaintiff has a right to receive funds from this Trust as necessary for her health, education, maintenance and support. The Trust is currently subject to litigation because of the Trustees' misdeeds, and those Trustees are enjoined from exercising their discretion. See Ex. A, Injunction. There is no allegation that Plaintiff has breached her fiduciary duty to the Trust and thus no possibility that she will have to disgorge ill-gotten gains back to the Trust. The only question surrounding Plaintiff's ultimate distribution is how much money she will ultimately receive after the Defendant Trustees are found guilty of breaching their duties.

Because no Trustee can exercise discretion in favor of Plaintiff and make a distribution of her funds to her, Plaintiff moves this Court to make a partial distribution of her share of the Trust to her in the amount of $40,000.00. Plaintiff's interest in the Trust is well in excess of $40,000.00. Based upon the most recent bank statements available to Plaintiff, the total cash held by the Trust is $695,805.63, which makes Plaintiff's 1/5 share equal to $139,161.13. That value does not include real property or stocks which are held in addition to that cash. That value also does not include property improperly distributed to or on behalf of Defendants Anita, Amy or Carole Brunsting and which Plaintiffs anticipates will be ordered restored to the Trust. Plaintiff needs this distribution for her maintenance and support and requests that the Court authorize and order the same.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff Candace Curtis respectfully prays that her Application for Partial Distribution of Trust Funds be granted, that the Trustee be ordered to distribute to Candace Curtis the sum of $40,000.00 out of the Brunsting Family Trust, and for such other and further relief to which she may show herself justly entitled.

Respectfully Submitted,

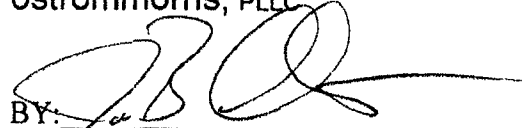

Candace Curtis

CIVIL ACTION NO. 4:12-CV-592

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER
PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

I. INTRODUCTION

Before the Court is the pro se plaintiff's, Candace Louise Curtis, renewed application for an ex parte temporary restraining order, asset freeze, and preliminary and permanent injunction [Dkt. No. 35]. Also before the Court is the defendants', Anita Kay Brunsting and Amy Ruth Brunsting, memorandum and response to the plaintiff's renewed motion [Dkt. No. 39]. The Court has reviewed the documents presented, including the pleadings, response and exhibits, received testimony and arguments, and determines that the plaintiff's motion for a temporary injunction should be granted.

II. BACKGROUND

A. Procedural Background

The plaintiff filed her original petition on February 27, 2012, alleging that the defendants had breached their fiduciary obligations under the Brunsting Family Living Trust ("the Trust"). Additionally, the plaintiff claimed extrinsic fraud, constructive fraud, intentional infliction of emotional distress, and sought an accounting, as well as a recovery of legal fees and damages. The Court denied the plaintiff's request for a temporary restraining order and for injunctive relief. However, concurrent with the Court's order denying the relief sought by the plaintiff, the defendants filed an emergency motion for the removal of a lis pendens notice that had been filed by the plaintiff on February 11, 2012, prior to filing her suit.

The defendants sought, by their motion, to have the lis pendens notice removed in order that they, as the Trustees of the Trust might sell the family residence and invest the sale proceeds in accordance with Trust instructions. After a telephone conference and consideration of the defendants' argument that the Court lacked jurisdiction, the Court concluded that it lacked jurisdiction, cancelled the lis pendens notice, and dismissed the plaintiff's case.

The plaintiff gave notice and appealed the Court's dismissal order. The United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit determined that the Court's dismissal constituted error. Therefore, the Fifth Circuit reversed the dismissal and remanded the case to this Court for further proceedings. This reversal gave rise to the plaintiff's renewed motion for injunctive relief that is now before the Court.

B. Contentions of the Parties

The plaintiff contends that she is a beneficiary of the Trust that the defendants, her sisters, serve as co-trustees. She asserts that, as co-trustees, the defendants owe a fiduciary duty to her to "provide [her] with information concerning trust administration, copies of trust documents and [a] semi-annual accounting." According to the plaintiff, the defendants have failed to meet their obligation and have wrongfully rebuffed her efforts to obtain the information requested and that she is entitled.

The defendants deny any wrongdoing and assert that the plaintiff's request for injunctive relief should be denied. The defendants admit that a preliminary injunction may be entered by the Court to protect the plaintiff from irreparable harm and to preserve the Court's power to render a meaningful decision after a trial on the merits. See Canal Auth. of State of Fla. V. Calloway, 489, F.2d 567, 572 (5th Cir. 1974). Rather, the defendants argue that the plaintiff had not met her burden.

III. STANDARD OF REVIEW

UNOFFICIAL COPY

The prerequisites for the granting of a preliminary injunction require a plaintiff to establish that: (a) a substantial likelihood exists that the plaintiff will prevail on the merits; (b) a substantial threat exists that the plaintiff will suffer irreparable injury if the injunction is not granted; (c) the threatened injury to the plaintiff outweighs the threatened harm that the injunction may do to the defendants; and, (d) granting the injunction will not disserve the public interest. See Calloway, 489 F.2d at 572-73.

IV. DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The evidence and pleadings before the Court establish that Elmer Henry Brunsting and Nelva Erleen Brunsting created the Brunsting Family Living Trust on October 10, 1996. The copy of the Trust presented to the Court as Exhibit 1, however, reflects an effective date of January 12, 2005. As well, the Trust reveals a total of 14 articles, yet Articles 13 and part of Article 14 are missing from the Trust document. Nevertheless, the Court will assume, for purposes of this Memorandum and Order, that the document presented as the Trust is, in fact, part of the original Trust created by the Brunstings in 1996.

The Trust states that the Brunstings are parents of five children, all of whom are now adults: Candace Louise Curtis, Carol Ann Brunsting; Carl Henry Brunsting; Amy Ruth Tschirhart; and Anita Kay Brunsting Riley. The Trust reflects that Anita Kay Brunsting Riley was appointed as the initial Trustee and that she was so designated on February 12, 1997, when the Trust was amended. The record does not reflect that any change has since been made.

The plaintiff complains that the Trustee has failed to fulfill the duties of Trustee since her appointment. Moreover, the Court finds that there are unexplained conflicts in the Trust document presented by the defendants. For example, The Trust document [Exhibit 1] shows an execution date of January 12, 2005.¹ At that time, the defendants claim that Anita Kay served as the Trustee. Yet, other records also reflect that Anita Kay accepted the duties of Trustee on December 21, 2010, when her mother, Nelva Erleen resigned as Trustee. Nelva Erleen claimed in her resignation in December that she, not Anita Kay, was the original Trustee.

The record also reflects that the defendants have failed to provide the records requested by the plaintiff as required by Article IX-(E) of the Trust. Nor is there evidence that the Trustee has established separate trusts for each beneficiary, as required under the Trust, even though more than two years has expired since her appointment.

02062015:1143:PO077

In light of what appears to be irregularities in the documents and the failure of the Trustee to act in accordance with the duties required by the Trust, the Court ENJOINS the Trustee(s) and all assigns from disbursing any funds from any Trust accounts without prior permission of the Court. However, any income received for the benefit of the Trust beneficiary is to be deposited appropriately in an account. However, the Trustee shall not borrow funds, engage in new business ventures, or sell real property or other assets without the prior approval of the Court. In essence, all transactions of a financial nature shall require pre-approval of the Court, pending a resolution of disputes between the parties in this case.

The Court shall appoint an independent firm or accountant to gather the financial records of the Trust(s) and provide an accounting of the income and expenses of the Trust(s) since December 21, 2010. The defendants are directed to cooperate with the accountant in this process.

It is so Ordered

All

As much as I want to get this case resolved I cannot make the mediation next week. The company I work for was purchased by Schlumberger a couple of months ago and it has caused a lot of changes. Last week we were informed of a company meeting that involves our division on the 12th and my boss strongly suggested I be there as they are going to begin to consolidate the finance departments.

Very sorry to have to do this but I don't really have a choice over the timing.
Thanks
Carole

PROBATE COURT 4

CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS

IN PROBATE COURT

Plaintiff,

V.

NUMBER FOUR (4) OF

ANITA KAY BRUNSTING, ET AL

Defendants.

HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS

RESPONSE TO DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S
MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Court has raised very valid issues regarding the questions before it, and has asked to be briefed. Plaintiff Curtis therefore submits the following analysis of the questions raised and, although seemingly complex at first view, the matter is really quite simple. There is only one primary premise and thus the first principles require answer to only one inquiry, which is whether or not the interception and dissemination of the challenged electronic communications was lawful.

Plaintiff will respectfully show that the greater weight of un rebutted presumptions falls in favor of the illegality of the recordings, and that judicial discretion would best be exercised with caution, as the Court cannot allow dissemination without proof of the legality of the recordings without also becoming a principal to the crime of dissemination.¹

1. The recordings are evidence of illegally intercepted electronic communications, a second degree felony² in Texas with a moderate severity level.
2. Illegally intercepted electronic communications may not be received in evidence nor exchanged under the pretext of discovery in any civil action, as unauthorized possession or dissemination of illegally intercepted electronic communications is a second degree felony which, as noted, the Court would be unwise to participate in.

3. The burden of bringing forth evidence is on the proponents of the legality and admissibility of the recorded wiretap conversations, as the presumption that intercepted electronic communications found in the possession of third parties, meaning persons not privy to the conversations, are presumed unlawful and the burden of showing that the challenged recordings meet one of the statutory exceptions is upon the Defendant disseminators.
4. The Court is without discretion and no agreement is necessary. Under the circumstances here, the Court must issue a protective order, even if only temporary, pending resolution of the issue of whether or not interception and dissemination of the challenged electronic communications was lawful.
5. The attached exhibits in a chronology of relevant events reveals that the recordings are the fruit of an illicit conspiracy targeting Carl and Drina that did not involve Nelva Brunsting and, Defendants' unanimous claims are defeated in their own words uttered at or about the time of the recordings, as hereinafter more fully appears.

Texas Authority on Admissibility

The admissibility of evidence illegally obtained is tempered by Tex.R.Civ.Evid. 402, which provides in pertinent part that, "[a]ll relevant evidence is admissible, except as otherwise provided ... by statute." Consequently, before the recordings can be held to be inadmissible, the Plaintiff(s) must show their exclusion is required under either the federal or state statute. Section 2511(1) of the federal wiretap statute³ prohibits the use or disclosure of communications by any person except as provided by statute. Gelbard v. United States, 408 U.S. 41, 51-52, 92 S.Ct. 2357, 2363, 33 L.Ed.2d 179 (1972) (witness could not be forced to disclose testimony from illegal wiretap to grand jury).

Section 123.002 of the state wiretap statute states that a party has a cause of action against any person who "divulges information" that was obtained by an illegal wiretap. TEX.CIV.PRAC. & REM.CODE § 123.002.

Section 123.004 states that a party whose communication is intercepted may ask the court for an injunction prohibiting the "divulgence or use of information obtained by an interception." TEX. CIV.PRAC. & REM.CODE § 123.004.

³ Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, more commonly known as the "Wiretap Act," is found at 18 U.S.C. §§ 2510-2522.

09/12/2015 10:20:40

Although the Texas wiretap statute does not specifically provide for the exclusion of illegally obtained "communications," the provisions for a cause of action for divulging wiretap information and the injunctive remedies provided in section 123.004 are sufficient to rebut the presumption of admissibility under rule 402.

Because the tapes were illegally obtained under the federal and state statutes, the trial court should not allow their dissemination, or admit them into evidence, under the exception provided at Tex.R.Civ.Evid. 402.

The recorded conversations are not admissible because the criminal statute dealing with the use of the intercepted communications criminalizes their dissemination, and the civil statute provides a method to prevent dissemination.

To permit such evidence to be introduced at trial when it is illegal to disseminate it would make the court a partner to the illegal conduct the statute seeks to proscribe. Gelbard, 408 U.S. at 51, 92 S.Ct. at 2362-63; Turner, 765 S.W.2d at 470.

Exceptions

In addition to the numerous governmental or agency exceptions to the general rule, it is not unlawful to intercept any form of wire, oral or electronic communications between others if one of the persons is a party to the communication or one of the parties has given their consent to the interception. Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code §123.001(2); Tex. Pen. Code §16.02(c)(3)(A); 18 U.S.C §2511(2)(c); Kotrla v. Kotrla, 718 S.W.2d 853, 855 (Tex. App. - CorpusChristi 1986); See also, Hall v. State, 862 S.W.2d 710(Tex. App. - Beaumont 1993, no writ); Turner v. PV International Corporation , 765 S.W.2d 455, 469-71(Tex. App. - Dallas 1988, writ denied per curiam, 778S.W.2d 865 (Tex. 1989).

Interception, Possession, and Dissemination

The Right to Privacy is the Controlling Presumption

The right to privacy is held in such high esteem that the U.S. Congress and the Texas Legislature have both made it a felony to illegally intercept, possess or disseminate electronic communications. There are very limited exceptions none of which apply here.

The mandatory but rebuttable presumptions are that the participants to these phone conversations had a reasonable expectation of privacy; that the right has been violated and; that the burden of showing the interception of those electronic communications meets one of the statutory exceptions is upon persons who were themselves not a party to the private electronic communications, but who we find to be in possession of and disseminating the challenged recordings.

Defendants have produced no evidence tending to show that the intercepted electronic communications meet any of the lawful exceptions and the ball is in their court. If the wiretap recordings cannot be shown by the Defendants to meet one of the statutory exceptions, the recordings are prima facie unlawful, regardless of any alleged motives for their interception.

While no more than the foregoing law and fact summary is essential to the disposition of the singular issue before the Court, it seems necessary to address Defendants' unanimously disingenuous assertions and thus Plaintiff does so with the attached Memorandum.

The attached memorandum on the matter of context and color, with attached exhibits, is hereby incorporated by reference as if fully restated herein.

Plaintiff Curtis respectfully submits the following proposed order.

Respectfully submitted,

TEMPORARY PROTECTIVE ORDER

On August 3, 2015 the Court heard and considered CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER and Defendants' response thereto.

At issue are recordings of intercepted electronic communications between Plaintiff Carl Henry Brunsting and his wife Drina.

After hearing on the merits and reviewing briefs submitted by the parties, the Court is of the opinion that the recordings in point are "Protected Communications" as that term is defined at 18 U.S.C. §§2510(1) & 2510(12) and that a protective order is necessary to protect privacy rights pending disposition of the pending questions at issue.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that any person or entity subject to this Order- including without limitation the parties to this action, their representatives, agents, experts and consultants, all third parties providing discovery in this action, and all other interested persons with actual or constructive notice of this Order -shall adhere to the following terms, upon pain of contempt and any other applicable civil or criminal penalties:

1. No person or entity shall, in response to a request for discovery or subpoena issued in this action, produce any Protected Communication for any third party or person absent further order of this Court.
2. To the extent a Protected Communication is or has already been produced in response to a request for discovery or subpoena issued in this action, any recipient of such production shall (a) immediately surrender any and all documents that contain or reflect a Protected Communication to real party in interest Carl Henry Brunsting through his Counsel of Record and (b) destroy any copies made of such Protected Communication, as well as any derivative materials that reflect a Protected Communication on any medium of storage whatsoever.

3. Any party to this action that issues a request for discovery or subpoena calling for the production of a Protected Communication shall simultaneously provide the recipient of the discovery request or subpoena with a copy of this Protective Order. To the extent a party to this action has already issued such a request or subpoena, such party shall provide a copy of this Protective Order to the recipient within three (3) business days of the entry of this Order.

4. Any person who receives a request for discovery or subpoena in this action calling for the production of a Protected Communication shall, without revealing the substance or content of a Protected Communication, provide both the issuing party and the Court with a general description of that Protected Communication so that the issuing party can make an application to this Court for production of that Protected Communication, and that Plaintiff Carl Henry Brunsting can respond to that application.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that on or before _____, sworn affidavits are to be provided by Defendants Anita Brunsting, Amy Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting, stating any personal knowledge with regard to every recording made since July 1, 2010 within the following categories:

- All audio or video recordings of meetings, conversations, telephone messages, or other communications with Elmer, Nelva, or any of the Brunsting Descendants concerning Brunsting Issues,
- All audio or video recordings of Nelva's execution of any documents.
- All audio or video recordings of evaluations of Nelva's capacity,
- All other audio or video recordings of any Brunsting family member, and
- All investigations made of any Brunsting family member, including any surveillance logs or reports.

08/11/2015 10:20: P0209

The sworn affidavits shall identify every party involved in making the recordings and specify the date, location, and means used to make the recordings, the current location of all original recordings and all copies of all recordings, all parties to whom the contents of recordings have been disclosed, and all uses which have been made of the recordings.

IT IS SO ORDERED!

IN PROBATE COURT

NUMBER FOUR (4) OF

HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS

MEMORANDUM OF FACTS SUPPORTED BY DEFENDANTS' OWN DISCLOSURES

Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis respectfully submits for the perusal of the Court this memorandum of facts adding to the inquiry context and color revealing the true nature of the intentions behind the unlawful interception and dissemination of the private electronic communications at issue.

Statement of the Issue

Recordings of private electronic telephone conversations between plaintiff Carl Brunsting and his wife Drina Brunsting have been disseminated to all of the parties to the present lawsuits. These recordings, if any, were requested by Plaintiff Brunsting to be produced by the Defendants in the Petition for Deposition Before Suit filed by Carl Brunsting March 9, 2012, when there were no other parties, however, the recordings were not disclosed until July 5, 2015.

Plaintiff Carl Henry Brunsting, along with his wife and attorney in fact Drina Brunsting, challenged the recordings as the product of the illegal interception of electronic communications, in violation of state and federal wiretap laws, and thus seek protective orders.

In DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER Defendants unanimously assume the following postures:

1. It is certainly understandable that Drina has such opposition to the recordings because it proves that Nelva was planning for Drina and Carl's divorce and that Nelva felt Carl's medical condition made him unable to serve as a trustee.
2. On information and belief, all audio recordings came from an answering machine which Carl either intentionally set up to record the calls and/or which triggered in accordance with its own operation. Either way, one-if not both-participants had full knowledge that he/she was being recorded.
3. Drina provides no evidence that both parties to the conversations did not consent to the recordings, which is a prerequisite to the relief sought.

05/12/2015 10:20: P0211

A Recital of Known Facts

1. There are known recordings of private phone communications between Carl and Nelva and between Carl and his wife Drina, which are the object of the application for protective order.
2. The recordings were disseminated by Defendant Anita Brunsting, who is not a party to any of the disclosed communications.
3. We have a claim by Carl Henry Brunsting and his wife Drina that the recordings were illegally obtained.
4. We have a unanimous response from all three Defendants asserting upon information and belief that the recordings were legally obtained but answers to interrogatories on the subject indicate that none of them know anything individually.
5. The question of admissibility hinges upon the legality of the interception and dissemination of the communications.
6. A presumption that the right of privacy has been violated is primary and stands un rebutted by competent evidence to the contrary.
7. The burden of proof as to the legality of the acquisition and dissemination of the recordings is on the proponent of the assertions that the recordings were obtained legally and are therefore admissible.
8. The proponent of the legitimacy and admissibility of the recordings objects that declaring the facts necessary to qualify the recordings as legally obtained evidence before dissemination is somehow onerous, but at the same time want carte blanche to disseminate the recordings to persons not privy to the conversations under the auspices of discovery and disclosure.
9. Unless the recordings can be qualified as legally obtained they are inadmissible and cannot be disseminated lawfully.
10. There are questions as to the recordings' origins and Defendants file a joint motion claiming the existence of specific facts while taking no individual responsibility for personal knowledge.
11. Anita Brunsting, through her counsel Brad Featherston, disseminated the recordings and, thus, Anita Brunsting would have at least some personal knowledge regarding the chain of custody and control, and both now share in the culpability and attendant civil liability.
12. Assertions that the recordings were made on an answering machine would indicate personal knowledge by one if not all of the Defendants.

08/12/2015 10:20:02 AM

13. An assertion that the recordings were authorized by Carl Brunsting requires evidentiary support from the proponent of the claim, and there has been none.
14. Assertions that Carl Brunsting installed and activated the Answering Machine are inconsistent with the Defendants' emails of the same date of the purchase of the voice recorder showing they were conspiring to get guardianship over Carl.
15. Carl was both incompetent and the proper subject of Defendants' intended guardianship effort or he was competent to install and activate the "Answering Machine" that Defendants insist he made the recordings on. Both of these things cannot be true.
16. In the Bates stamped disclosures there is a receipt for a signal activated SONY digital voice recorder purchased four days before the first dated recording on the disseminated CD. When combined with the attached email and other exhibits talking about getting guardianship over Carl, continuing the Private Investigator over the weekend, knowing where Carl and Drina were and what they were doing at that very point in time, and all of these events in the same time period as other documented activities, provides a presumption that the circumstances and intentions surrounding the acquisition of the recordings are not what Defendants claim, as hereinafter more fully appears.

The hierarchy of presumptions is as follows:

1. The participants to a private telephone conversation have a reasonable expectation of privacy against electronic eavesdropping.
2. The waiver of a known right must be a knowing and intelligent act done with sufficient knowledge of the relevant circumstance and likely consequences, and it must be both a voluntary and an overt act.
3. There is no affirmative evidence of such waiver.
4. Unless rebutted the presumption that the recordings were illegally obtained is not only controlling but the prudent course.

The True Context and Color

The only probative value these recordings could possibly have is in the fact of their very existence. Defendants argue that the content of the challenged recordings adds context and color to the events of the time showing that Nelva was preparing for Carl's alleged divorce. As in all other instances Defendants fail to provide anything but claims of Nelva's intentions based upon the strength of the honor and integrity of their word alone.

Despite all the posturing and game playing the evidence will show the Defendants are intractably disingenuous and that they illegally intercepted the private electronic communications as part of a conspiracy to steal the family inheritance. That conspiracy involved attempts to have

Nelva declared incompetent and to gather what they thought would be evidence to support guardianship over Carl.

The evidence will further show Defendants stalked Nelva through her email and banking activities online, in addition to tapping her phone and recording every conversation involving anyone who spoke with Nelva on the phone, including Plaintiff Curtis in California.

Candace Freed took her instructions from ANITA despite her claims it was Nelva who was making the requests for changes to the trust. (Exhibit A)

The October 25, 2010 phone conference called for by Candace Freed excluded Carl and Nelva and was ultimately about having Nelva declared incompetent, which they failed to achieve by mid-November. The “law firm” did not keep an audio recording of that conference.

There is no evidence Nelva even knew of these changes before Plaintiff Curtis’ 10/26/2010 phone call, after which Nelva sent Candace her hand written note repudiating the alleged 8/25/2010 QBD.

Defendant Carole Brunsting sent an email about overhearing Nelva’s conversation on the phone with Candace Freed. (Exhibit B)

Freed sends a follow up email regarding the failed attempt at getting Nelva declared incompetent on Nov. 17, 2010, apparently referring to this same conversation. (Exhibit C)

Despite Defendant Amy Brunsting’s claims of not being involved before Nelva’s death, Amy and Anita corresponded with Candace Freed December 23, 2010 and on several other dates prior to Nelva’s demise. (Exhibit D)

On March 8, 2011 Anita emails Carole, Amy and Candace bragging about reminding Nelva she was no longer trustee and no longer had access to the trust. (Exhibit E)

March 17 and 18, 2011 emails mention the PI and talk about getting guardianship over Carl. (Exhibit G 1-3)

March 21, 2011 is the record date of first wiretap .wav file (received from Brad on CD 7/5/2015) (See Carl Brunsting Petition for Protective Order)

On March 24 and 25, 2011 there are large trust-prohibited transfers of Exxon Mobil and Chevron Stocks labeled as “gifts”. (See Report of Special Master)

On March 29, 2011 Amy and Anita communicated with Freed (Exhibit D)

08/11/2015 10:20: P0214

April 22, 2011 is the record date of second .wav file (received from Brad 7/5/2015) (See Carl Brunsting Petition for Protective Order)

Then on May 11, 23 and 25, and on June 14 and 15, there are more large trust-prohibited transfers of Exxon Mobil and Chevron Stocks. (Report of Special Master)

July 27, 2011 Anita corresponds with Freed (Exhibit D)

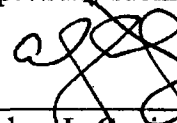

August 16, 2011 Anita corresponds with Freed (Exhibit D)

September 20, 2011 Amy and Anita correspond with Freed (Exhibit D)

February 27, 2015 is the record date of the third and fourth .wav files (received from Brad 7/5/2015) (See Carl Brunsting Petition for Protective Order), indicating these two recordings had been excerpted from a master storage disk containing even more undisclosed recordings.

There is an overwhelming volume of evidence clearly showing more of the same pernicious intent, but since the matter before the Court is limited to the singular question of the legality of Protected Communications, Plaintiff Curtis will not respond to the plethora of Defendants' extemporaneous expressions of disingenuous, self-serving bias, and otherwise irrelevant assertions.

Respectfully submitted,

Candace,

I spoke to mom tonight and she agreed to resign as trustee and appoint me as trustee. I told her that you would be contacting her to re-explain things and make sure she understood what was happening.

If you have any questions, my cell is 361-550-7132.

Thanks,

Candy,
The more I think about this the whole key is Carl. When I was listening to Mother's call with Candace, Mother told Candace that Carl was trustee, not Anita and was not following the changes Candace was telling her she had made to have Carl removed.. Legally, I wonder if what Candace did was right without consulting Carl or his power of attorney since Carl has always been present at all meetings.

Candace DOES know she fucked up. That's why she had such a nasty attitude towards both you and I. Anita is smug and Amy plays dumb.

I hope Carl goes home today! If he does I hope the sun is shining. 10 minutes smiling into the sunshine + coffee + the Beatles = a sharper, happy Carl. I have a strong feeling that he will recover in leaps and bounds ALL ON HIS OWN, with support from his wife and family. The fact that Daddy is looking over us gives me strength. I can feel him stronger than ever before.

My suggestion is that when Dr. White finds Mother competent the following should happen:

1. You need to complete your time-line to demonstrate that due to various factors (badgering, low oxygen, Carl's illness, her illness, pneumonia, general stress and worry due to all of this), Mother was incompetent and under extreme duress when she signed everything she signed, particularly the Power of Attorney. We can compose a letter to Candace for Mother to sign, demanding that she wants to have papers drawn up to revoke anything she agreed to between the first of July and now.
2. As Mother gathers strength over the next few weeks she will go to her MD Anderson appointments, etc. and move towards treatment and recovery. I want to stress nutrition, adequate good sleep, and stress-free living.
3. In the meantime she can sell what she needs to, to pay for Robert or Tino or whoever Drina needs to assist her with Carl (if she even needs someone - Carl may recover a lot in a few weeks at home). The cost will be minimal compared to the $100k shithead got to buy her house.

Going forward, Mother will have to tell Candace IN WRITING what she wants done with the trust. You can help her compose the letters. There can be no question when it's in writing. You can assist Mother in reviewing the paperwork before she signs (at home - at her leisure), to make sure all her wishes have been incorporated. This should never be done under the pressure and duress she was subjected to. Mother can take as much time as she needs to read and understand that everything will be as she wants it to be.

The fair and equitable solution in my mind is:

Make all five of us successor co-trustees and require a majority to make any change whatsoever. Then, if Mother steps down there will be no shenanigans. Everything will be transparent and we'll all know everything everyone else knows. That way when Anita wants to sell the farm, or move away from Edward Jones, she can put it up for a vote among us. All five of us are intelligent people and none of us can honestly say we have NEVER made a wrong choice in our lives. This way Mother will be at peace to live out her life, and she will die knowing that she has not pitted one against the other, or given control of one over the other, or played favorites, or been bullied into doing something she didn't really want to do, or would not have done in the first place.

Now this may go AGAINST the norm, or what Candace and her ilk would recommend, but fuck them. They are attorneys who get paid to do what their clients want them to do and they love having to draw up documents. Fees, fees, fees, $$$$$$$$$$$$$

If Anita succeeds in her agenda and becomes trustee, we should have her competency tested just to show her what it feels like. If everything stays the way it is right now, that's the first thing I'm going to do when the day comes that she's in charge of me. Na, Na, Na, Na, Na, Na, Na.

Love you,

And do not overlook an exploration of the family's motives in requesting a competency evaluation, she cautioned. Do family members have reason for wanting their oddly behaving relative to be declared incompetent?

This is from an article about not rushing to declare an elderly person incompetent. Mother passes the smell test and I have to make sure Tino does not let her out of the house without her clothes being ironed and SEE!!! MOTHER MADE THE APPOINTMENT TO GET HER HAIR DONE!!! CANDY THAT IS IT!!! MOTHER DOES CARE ABOUT HER APPEARANCE!! She will not go out without her makeup on and I have to get her a nail file all the time. Mother also called Edward Jones on her own and sold $10K so she would have enough money to live on.

She was temporarily incompetent when she was too low on oxygen and if they made her walk to Candace's office I know for a fact her levels were too low because Dr. White joked about it. Tino did not take her so she had to walk from the parking lot to the office. She did not understand what she was signing because she was too short of breath and I can prove that. Candane has to know she Fed up.

There are any number of situations that may cause you to question the competency of a family member to make sound life decisions, such as when:

- An elderly person suddenly changes a will or trust in a manner that is significantly different from all previous wills or trusts, which could result in will litigation if not appropriately handled during the elder's life.
- A family member has suspicion that the elderly person is being unduly influenced by others

Anita is unduly influencing Mother and now Amy has piled on. Mother never would have made these changes on her own. This was all done by the hand of Anita who put herself in charge of everything.

Subject: RE: New Development

I got the same TM from Tino. I hesitate to promise them anything in writing about money. Rather than a monthly payment, I would rather grant them a certain amount each year, but only through the direct payment of their bills - for example; mom could gift Carl $13,000/year, but only if they send me the bill statements to pay directly, and only for bills for living/medical expenses - when the trust has paid $13,000 in bills for the year, that's the end of the money for that year. We could ask them to sign for this money against his inheritance, but then we'd have another form that we'd have to get them to sign (probably notarized), and as we don't know if she's had Carl declared incompetent, the validity of any form he signs might be questionable.

I do like the idea of a letter telling Drina that she may have no contact w/ mom (physical, verbal, visual, phone or electronic means) and she is not to enter mom's house. She can bring Carl to visit mom, but she must remain outside the house - any violation of this letter will be considered harassment and the police will be called if she does not comply. I would also like to add in the letter that Carl's inheritance will be put into a Personal Asset Trust for his care and living expenses - I think this information might be enough to tip her hand.

I would also like to ask Candace, what this letter would do for us legally - like if we did end up calling the police would the letter lend any credence to our case?

I won't do anything until we can come upon an agreement as what to do - I can also write this letter in the role of mom's power of attorney (which she signed last year).

I spoke w/ mom about the whole situation; she listens to reason and can understand our concerns for Carl, and will sign the changes to the trust next week. I have been very forthright in explaining the changes in the trust to her, and that they would be done in order to minimize any pathway that Drina might have to Carl's money. The changes are not to penalize Carl, but to ensure the money goes for his care. I told her to "just say No" to Carl or Drina if they brought up the trust or money and to refer them to me. I reminded her that she isn't trustee anymore and doesn't have access to the trust accounts - she seems fine w/ everything, and expressed no desire to put Carl back on as a trustee. I told her that in the event she did that, that it would not be fair to the rest of us, as we would end up having to deal w/ Drina, not Carl. Mom begrudgingly admits to knowledge of the unpleasantness of this whole situation and Drina's past behavior since Carl has been ill, but I think she is really naive regarding the lengths to which Drina may go through to get Carl's inheritance.

Subject: CPA's advice

Hi,

I talked to the CPA who does my taxes today and asked her what she would recommend. She told me that Drina should talk to an attorney who specializes in debt created by medical bills. Medical bill debt is treated differently than other debt. I did a quick check on the internet and there are several in Houston.

She said that creditors cannot touch Drina's house or cars. She also recommended not paying any of the medical bills right now. She said to wait until the dust settles, then talk with each company about a payment plan, possibly as little as $10 a month. She told me that in all likelihood, they would eventually write off her debt as a loss. She said Drina should definitely not touch any retirement or inheritance, or borrow anything against them.

I called Drina today and told her what Darlene said. She said her father had been telling her the same things. I tried to emphasize that she should not be paying any bills right now, but I don't know if she really understood why. She is overly concerned with her credit score rating. Darlene said that is not that important because they own their house and cars and are not as reliant on credit compared to younger people.

Anyhow, I know that Drina is in a hard spot right now, but I honestly think that keeping her from accessing any of Carl's inheritance would be in her best interest. It would be a waste to spend it on medical bills and they will need the money in the future. I don't think that is going to sit well with Drina because she's going to see it as us being tight-fisted with the money. I strongly suggest that if any of us talk to her, we do it as nicely as we can. Acknowledge that the debt is so huge it is unpayable in her lifetime. Encourage her to seek a professional to find the best way to deal with it. Remind her that we want the best for her and Carl in their future and that we are thinking of their best interests.

Love,
Amy

I think that Drina has always projected her own family issues onto ours. She was completely distanced from her own family until a year ago when her brother passed away and now she talks about the relationship with her dad like they have been close forever which has not been the case.

She must have had some very bad things happen to her in her childhood and slowly but surely she twisted Carl's mind to go along with everything she did and said. I think you are right that this will have to play itself out to see what she does. She has been waiting for the day she and Carl get the "big" trust payout and then it will be see you later chumps!

The Brunsting family has never been very demonstrative of their love for one another, but I chalk that up to being Dutch. What I cannot seem to wrap my arms around is the extreme coldness of Drina and Marta. They have always been limp when hugged and hugging is one of the best things in the world. One power hug and all my cares fly out the window. I believe it must be a genetic brain chemical imbalance in Drina's family. She has spent her life with Carl trying to distance HIM from his family and turn him into a cold fish like her. How did she ever get pregnant in the first place? Maybe we should try to get some DNA from Marta and Carl and do a paternity test. Wouldn't it be something if he wasn't her father????????? LOL

Frankly, as long as the trust is safe, we should probably just let nature take its course and sooner or later we will get Carl out of their clutches and into ours. He might be pissed off for awhile, but I have some small faith that once he can reason better he will see that we only seek what is best for him in the long run BECAUSE WE LOVE HIM. Once he is able to reason and be reasoned with, and has regained some control of his life, if he chooses to go back to his moron wife and their moron spawn, I will mourn him as if he were dead. Until such time I will assume that, somehow, at some point in his recovery, he will realize how miserable the bitch has made his life. He might see that all she has ever cared about is money and how to avoid having to go out and earn some.

If asked, Carl would probably say no to coming out here to live with us, even though it might be the very best thing for him. He should never feel like he has been "dumped" on anyone. I think he would have a lot more stimulation out here. He does love the Bay Area and after a short time he might gain some real incentive to get well.

Subject: atty for guardianship

Ok, I think I may have found an atty who could handle the guardianship issue. She was recommended to me by the Burgower firm that Amy's lawyer had given her - the Burgower firm does not do guardianship cases. This atty's name is Ellen Yarrell; her offices are in the Galleria area; she charges an initial consult fee of $350 for 1 hr of her time, and probably requires a retainer of $2000. Her paralegal (Elizabeth) said that she's handled cases like this before (where an impaired person has been divorced by their spouse). I asked about the expense and she said that Yarrell could give us a better idea after the consult and it depends on whether the guardianship would be contested (so that depends on whether we fight Drina now, or wait to see if she'll divorce him and then we're facing Marta (if she pursues it)). I got the feeling that "expensive" meant more like $50,000 not $1 million.

I thought of another plus on our side if Drina divorces him - Drina will probably expect him to come live w/ mother - so if he's w/ us and not his daughter that lends more credence to our side for guardianship (possession is 9/10's of the law?).

I also talked to mom last night and told her what was going on. I asked her if she was ok w/ using her money to pay for Carl's legal fees and of course she said yes.

we're continuing the pi over the weekend or unless it looks like she's headed toward Beaumont - will also use him through next week. $750 is for the lawyer's (Cole) initial consult not a dr. If she divorces him then someone needs to sue for guardianship - Marta would be considered next in line by the law, but if she doesn't sue for it then I don't think she'd be considered. If Drina gets him to sign divorce papers that give him any less than 50% of their assets then a guardian can countersue her to recover those.

$750 an hour FOR WHAT? The woman is abusing him and negligent in his care. Have they been out even one time this week? Last I heard, Monday and Tuesday there was no activity other than a visit from Marta. APS said that once they confirmed she was following doctor's orders, they closed the case. If the instructions were 3 times a week and he hasn't been, or only goes once or twice, SHE IS NEGLIGENT, and they better reopen it or start a new one. Let me know if you want me to call.

Any doctor who has seen Carl would most likely say NO to all of the questions. I would, just based on past phone conversations with Carl.

What if Drina files for divorce? Would that be abandonment? Would the trust even be an issue if SHE divorces him?

If I could have anything I wanted for Carl, I would have him assessed by the neuropsychologists at the place I found in Houston. I don't know if he could handle long periods of testing, but he has got to get some cognitive brain function back OR HE WILL NEVER EVEN BECOME CLOSE TO WHOLE AGAIN. It's a good sign that his behavior has improved, but is it because she beats him with a stick and mentally assaults him to get him to act right?

Maybe guardianship is the wrong approach. Maybe we should go after Drina and have her declared incompetent to care for him, or criminally negligent for not obtaining proper rehabilitation. There has to be a reason why she doesn't want her husband of almost 30 years to recover.

Let me know if he will be staying at Mother's again over the weekend. If so, we might want to extend the PI over the weekend so we can see what the hell she does. The more "evidence" we can amass, the better.

Love you guys,

Just thought you'd find this interesting, this is the form that we'd have to have a physician use to assess Carl and possible a MHMR psychologist as well. I just thought it would give you an idea as to what they're looking for - Carl definitely fits the bill -

Just fyi, you may have already known this.

DEFENDANTS JUDGE CHRISTINE RIDDLE BUTTS, JUDGE CLARINDA COMSTOCK & TONY BAIAMONTE’S REPLY TO PLAINTIFFS’ RESPONSE TO DEFENDANTS’ MOTION TO DISMISS COMPLAINT PURSUANT TO FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) and (6)

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE ALFRED H. BENNETT:

Defendants, the Honorable Judges Christine Riddle Butts and Clarinda Comstock and substitute Court Reporter Tony Baiamonte (collectively, “Harris County Defendants”) file this Reply to Plaintiffs’ Response to their Motion to Dismiss and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

Plaintiffs fail to controvert the facts that belie jurisdiction

Plaintiffs contend the “only facts under consideration” in the subject Motion to Dismiss are judicial acts -- those taken by Judge Comstock in deciding “what gets set for hearing and when, and what does not find it way to the calendar.” [Doc. 57, ¶¶ 33-34]. Instead of addressing the complete lack of subject matter jurisdiction by this Court, Plaintiffs instead contend the probate court had no subject matter jurisdiction over the underlying probate proceeding. [Doc. 57, ¶¶ 37-38; 41-42]. Plaintiff Curtis sought remand of her prior federal suit to the state probate court. Plaintiffs then attempt to bootstrap this nonsensical argument to render immunity void in the present case.

Plaintiff Munson's response to his lack of standing is he was "compelled to combat this public corruption at great personal expense in time and resources." [Doc. 57, ¶ 51]. This does not confer standing.

Lacking any evidence of any conspiracy or any injury, Plaintiffs contend the "mere fact of the attempt to extort is sufficient." [Doc. 57, ¶ 52]. This argument, unsupported by any legal authority likewise fails.

Failure to be "satisfied" with a response is not actionable

In response to the argument that Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim against substitute Court Reporter Tony Baiamonte, Plaintiffs contend that "Munson spoke with Mr. Baiamonte and was not satisfied with the answer to inquiries regarding unavailability of a transcript for September 10, 2015." [Doc. 57, ¶ 66] (emphasis added). Apparently, Mr. Baiamonte was sued for the singular reason that he "promised to reply with an email" and when that was not received, he was "added to this complaint." [Doc. 57, ¶ 67]. Not only are the claims against Mr. Baiamonte frivolous, they are certainly sanctionable.

Conclusion & Prayer

Plaintiffs wrongly believe that following a "form" is all they need to do to meet the stringent requirements of a RICO claim. [Doc. 57, ¶ 83]. Plaintiffs have not met the legal standard to bring a claim under RICO or any other state law. Harris County Defendants are entitled to dismissal as a matter of law, because the claims against the Honorable Judges are barred by judicial, official and governmental immunity. Likewise, the claims against Tony Baiamonte are barred by governmental, qualified and official immunity.

Harris County Defendants are entitled to dismissal on these additional grounds: (1) the Complaint fails to state a claim sufficient to meet the requirements of Rules 8 and 9(b), (2) the Complaint fails to state a RICO claim or RICO conspiracy claim against the Harris County Defendants, (3) the Complaint fails to allege standing under RICO, (4) the Complaint fails to allege a conspiracy, (5) the Complaint is not plausible, (6) the Complaint fails to plausibly allege the existence of an "enterprise" or "association-in-fact," and (7) the Complaint is frivolous.

Plaintiffs have failed to present any facts, argument or legal authority to refute these grounds for dismissal and the Harris County Defendants pray the Court grant their Motion to Dismiss the Plaintiffs' Verified Complaint for Damages [Doc. 1] with prejudice, sanction the Plaintiffs for filing a frivolous and groundless lawsuit, and award the Harris County Defendants such other and further relief, at law or in equity, to which they may show themselves to be justly entitled.

Dated: October 17, 2016.

I. Introduction

1. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a complaint into the Southern District of Texas, individually and as private attorneys general, alleging a public corruption conspiracy under the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act at 18 U.S.C. §§1961-1968 and the right of claims provided at 18 U.S.C. §1964(c). (Dkt 1)
2. On September 14, 2016, Defendant Jill Willard Young filed a Motion to Dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt 25)
3. On September 15, 2016, Plaintiffs filed an Addendum of Memorandum (Dkt 26) as a factual supplement to the RICO complaint. (Dkt 1).
4. On October 3, 2016 Defendant Jill Willard Young filed a Motion to Strike (Dkt 38) the Addendum to Plaintiffs' Complaint (Dkt 26).
5. On October 4, 2016 Defendants Albert Vacek, Jr. and Candace Kunz-Freed (Hereafter V&F) filed a Memorandum (Dkt 42) joining in Defendant Jill Willard Young's Motion to Strike the Addendum to Plaintiffs' Complaint.
6. On October 14, 2016 Defendants Christine Butts, Clarinda Comstock and Tony Baiamonte filed a Motion to Strike the Addendum to Plaintiffs' Complaint (Dkt 60).

II. The Issues Presented

7. In this Motion Defendant Jill Willard Young claims:

- a. The Addendum has no legal effect;
- b. The “Addendum” does not change the merits of Ms. Young’s Motion to Dismiss;
- c. Plaintiffs’ Addendum, like the Complaint, is too implausible to state a valid claim for relief;
- d. Plaintiffs’ Addendum fails to state facts sufficient to assert a RICO claim against Ms. Young;
- e. Plaintiffs’ Addendum cannot avoid the Texas Attorney Immunity Doctrine.

III. Plaintiffs’ Reply to Motions to Strike

8. Federal Rule of Civil procedure 12(f) allows the Court to strike a pleading that is redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or contains scandalous matter.
9. Plaintiff’s Addendum was properly filed as an appendage to the original complaint within twenty-one days of the filing of motions requiring a reply, as authorized by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a)(1).
10. The Addendum contains a short description of the chronology of the probate docket and copies of: unresolved motions from the probate court record, the preliminary federal injunction, motions and pleadings from the federal court, A Fifth Circuit opinion in this case, and transcripts of hearings. Every paragraph is numbered and every exhibit is labeled and paginated.
11. Defendants’ challenge to Plaintiffs’ Addendum are based entirely upon semantics and a desire to superimpose Defendants preferred definitions of the instrument over the declarations provided by the instrument's authors. That definition is provided by the instrument itself (Dkt 26) at page one lines 4-6 as follows:

4. Plaintiffs, in response to these challenges, herein incorporate by reference the attached Motions as Memorandums of Points and Authorities in support of the above-referenced complaint, as if those motions had been fully set forth within the original complaint.

5. The following motions are presented as Memorandums, to supplement the Rule 8(a) sufficient complaint.

6. Plaintiffs hereby incorporate these motions as memorandums under authority of Federal Rule 15(a), for the purpose of satisfying the heightened factual pleading standards of Rule 9(b).

12. Line four of the Addendum tells us that the Addendum is incorporated into the Complaint by reference as if fully expressed therein. This expression satisfies the "adoption" provisions of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(c), which reads as follows:

c) Adoption by Reference; Exhibits. A statement in a pleading may be adopted by reference elsewhere in the same pleading or in any other pleading or motion. A copy of a written instrument that is an exhibit to a pleading is a part of the pleading for all purposes.

13. By definition, an "Addendum" is a thing to be added. To the extent that it is added it is an amendment authorized by Rule 15(a)(1) and, by its own language, it is an appendage that incorporates but does not alter the portions of the Complaint that precede it.

14. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10 governs the "form of pleadings." The Rule seeks to provide a standardized and "easy mode" of pleadings, to facilitate notice to an opposing party, judicial review of the sufficiency of the pleadings, and efficient case management. See, e.g. Stanard v. Nygren, 658 F.3d 792, 797 (7th Cir. 2011);

15. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(b) requires paragraphs to be numbered. Defendant's Motions to Strike, is an improper attempt to continue to argue the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b) motions already filed and answered, contains redundant, immaterial, impertinent, and scandalous allegations without a single specific reference to any numbered paragraph or exhibit, does not contain numbered paragraphs, violates Rule 12(f) and fails to comport to the pleading requisites of Federal Rule of civil Procedure 10(b).

16. The Addendum is an adopted public record, contains a motion pending in a related case, and exhibits public record pleadings from matters in the various courts that are relevant, on point, and which Plaintiffs continually refer to in answers to Defendants Rule 12 motions to dismiss.

17. These Defendants claim they participated in those proceedings in a capacity that affords them some form of immunity from civil suit.

18. Defendants' Motions to strike do not challenge the 22 exhibits attached to the Addendum as not being what the Addendum claims, but simply seek to argue their own interpretation. There are also exhibits attached to the motions and thus subsumed within the Docket 26 exhibits themselves.

19. First Defendants claim the Complaint lacks sufficient factual matter to provide adequate notice of the claims and then, when facts are added to the Complaint by way of supplement, Defendants complain and proceed to rehash their Rule 12(b) arguments under the pretext of a Rule 12(f) motion to strike.

20. The probate court Defendants have adequate notice and the record will also show that in their pleadings V&F quoted from pleadings in the probate court and responded to pleadings in that Court (Exhibit 1) as non-parties and are also fully apprised of the facts upon which the RICO complaint relies.

IV. Docket Entry Twenty-Six

21. Docket 26, pages 3-26 provides a chronology of specific docket events supported by exhibits, including transcripts, motions and pleadings.
22. The Addendum of Memorandum which Defendants seek to attack tells the story of these Defendants' efforts to game the judicial process and contains only public records exhibits from the actions these Defendants claim to have been involved in.
23. Every one of Plaintiffs' replies to Defendants' Rule 12 Motions (Dkt 33, 34, 41, 45, 57 and 62), have shown the relevance of the Addendum by constant reference to Docket entry 26.

V. Defendants claim the Addendum has no legal effect

24. This is not a Rule 12(f) related argument. The Addendum adds detail to the Complaint's factual allegations.
25. The Addendum of Memorandum includes a Motion for Vacatur of the void remand order that directly addresses the Defendants' claims of immunity.
26. Jurisdiction is a foundational issue which must be addressed before any other question, and the proper court to vacate a void order or judgment is the court that entered it.
27. Thus, for all intents and purposes, the Addendum also acts as a form of estoppel in this Court, as it raises a foundational issue that must be resolved before all others.

VI. The "Addendum" does not change the merits of Ms. Young's Motion to Dismiss

28. This is a Rule 12(b) and not a Rule 12(f) related argument.
29. Ms. Young's motion to dismiss alleges Plaintiffs failed to plead adequate facts to place her on notice of the claims against her. Ms. Young's motion contained only one exhibit.
30. In response, Plaintiffs merely attached exhibits from the public record with explanations of the significance of each of those exhibits in relation to Ms. Young's "participation".

31. In Ms. Young's Rule 12(b)(6) Motion she included as an exhibit only the Order appointing Gregory Lester. She did not exhibit her application for Gregory Lester's authority to retain her firm, she did not exhibit the order granting Gregory Lester authority to retain Jill Young and she did not include the report she "assisted" Gregory Lester in producing.

32. Thus, while claiming lack of notice as to her part in the charade, she fails to exhibit what does connect her and asks this Court to strike what is, in essence, a public record.

VII. Plaintiffs' Addendum is too implausible to state a valid claim for relief

33. This appears to be a Rule 12(f) argument that the Addendum is immaterial.

34. These Defendants appear to like using words without comprehending what they actually mean. The 28-page Motion for Vacatur contains a statement of chronology supported with reference to the public record and contains excerpts from a March 9, 2016 hearing, supported by an official transcript also attached as an exhibit. The list of exhibits can be found at page 31.

35. Plaintiffs' answers to Defendants' Rule 12 Motions exhibit documents and records these Defendants had a duty to be familiar with and cannot claim ignorance of.

36. Basically the Defendants are asking the Court to strike the facts contained in the public record, placed before it in the form of an Addendum of Memorandum, and to look elsewhere for the same information under a lengthy request for judicial notice of external records containing the same exhibits, allegedly for the "convenience of the Court".

37. Defendants do not challenge the Addendum's exhibits as not being what they are represented to be, but instead claim the Addendum is vague, implausible and fails to raise a RICO claim.

38. Ultimately, Defendants ask the Court to strike fact and listen to “We Say” while viewing the Addendum in a vacuum where the Complaint is considered a separate instrument when in fact they combine to make one Complaint under Rules 10(c) and 15(a)(1).

39. What the 27-page Addendum tells the reader is that Plaintiff Curtis could not get an evidentiary hearing set in state court while being bullied with a false instrument in order to coerce an agreement for illicit reasons.

VIII. Plaintiffs’ Addendum Cannot Avoid Texas’s Attorney Immunity Doctrine

40. This is not a proper subject for a motion to strike and is an improper attempt to continue arguing the previous Rule 12(b)(1) motions already filed and answered.

41. Defendants’ Texas Attorney Immunity claims fail at the threshold question of probate court jurisdiction. Prevailing on a claim that the probate court could assume jurisdiction over the Brunsting trusts in this case, would require reversing a unanimous Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Opinion in the base case and the Supreme Court opinion the Circuit Court relied upon for their decision.

42. Defendants perpetually seek to avoid the unanimous opinion of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in this case, that no court can take jurisdiction over a res in the custody of another court.

43. The fact that a federal Court issued an injunction regarding the Brunsting trusts the very day probate claims were filed, effectively disposes of any argument that the probate Court could assume subject matter jurisdiction over the Brunsting Trusts.

44. Where there is no subject matter jurisdiction there is no court and no judge and where there is no judge and no court there is no litigation. Judgements entered without or in excess of jurisdiction are nullities, subject to vacatur under both direct and collateral attack. Neither doctrine of laches nor statutes of limitations apply to judgments void for want of jurisdiction and the very question is so fundamental that it does not come under the “Not Pressed Not Passed Upon Below Rule” and can even be raised for the first time on appeal.

45. The jurisdiction issue is pivotal. None of the motions in this RICO suit can be properly resolved without addressing the want of jurisdiction in the probate court.

46. Unless Defendants overcome centuries of precedent and the Fifth Circuit Opinion “in this case”, Defendants’ immunity claims fail on Plaintiffs’ challenge to probate court jurisdiction over any Brunsting trust related matter.

47. All of these attorneys argue that they have been involved as attorneys in “Estate litigation” yet all the “Estate” pleadings ever mention is the trust and some of these Defendants claim to represent co-trustees, while they all claim to be involved in a probate case. This question was resolved in Plaintiff Curtis favor by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and the entire notion of probate jurisdiction over the Brunsting trusts is fraud.

48. When all claims related to the Brunsting Trusts are removed from Bayless Probate Court Petition and the Gregory Lester, Jill Willard Young “Report” on the efficacy of the estate claims, nothing remains of either.

IX. Memorandum

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure Rule 15: Amended and Supplemental Pleadings

49. Rule 15 allows a party to amend its pleading after it has been filed with the court. In keeping with the flexibility of the federal rules, Rule 15 is generous. The policy is that by allowing the parties to “fix” their pleadings as they go along, the merits of the case will more readily be resolved. The parties will not waste precious time and resources squabbling over the mechanics of amending their pleadings. However, Rule 15’s flexibility must also be balanced with fairness concerns for the opposing party. The need to amend generally arises when a party has made an inadvertent omission or mistake in its pleading. In that case, if the party realizes its mistake fairly quickly, the amendment will generally be allowed under the rule. But, a party may also learn of new information and want to amend its pleading to add a new party or claim accordingly. Whether an amendment is allowed in that situation often turns on whether the statute of limitations for the underlying action has run. If it has, the rule requires more complex analysis to determine whether the amendment will be allowed. If it is, the new pleading will “relate back” to the original date of filing.

50. Rule 15 has four main sections. The first section, 15(a) sets out when and how a party can amend its pleading before trial; The second section, 15(b) allows the parties to amend the pleadings during and after trial; The third section, 15(c) prescribes when a party can amend to add a new claim or party even after the statute of limitations has run; Finally, the fourth section, 15(d) explains when a party can add claims that arise out of an event that occurred after the original pleading was filed.

51. Federal Rule 15(a)(1) allows a party to amend its pleading within 21 days after a responsive pleading requiring a reply and Rule 12(b) motions are just such motions. Not only was the Addendum filed as a Rule 15(a)(1) “Addendum”, the RICO complaint itself is little more than a Rule 15(d) amendment to the original petition filed in 4:12-cv-592.

52. Defendants’ Motion to Strike is an improper attempt at a second Rule 12(b) Motion to Dismiss. In her first such motion, (Dkt 25) Ms. Young admits to participation in the production of the Gregory Lester “Report of Temporary Administrator”, but denies that the “report” is part of any conspiracy targeting the Brunsting Trusts under the pretext of estate litigation.

53. Defendant Jill Young asserted on the first page of her unnumbered Rule 12 motion (Dkt 25),

In reality, their Complaint is a bizarre, conspiracy-theory-laden attempt to seek revenge for being on the losing end of trust and estate determinations that have already been fully litigated in Texas state court.

54. Defendant Young did not support her claim with an exhibit or with specific reference to any state court determinations and none of the Defendants can point to such an event. Thus, while making knowingly disingenuous claims, Defendants seek to avoid the facts in the record.

X. In the Custody of a Federal Court

55. Plaintiff Candace Curtis and Plaintiff Munson are cohabitant partners. Plaintiff Candace Curtis filed her original petition in the TXSD February 27, 2012 (4:12-cv-592). That Petition was dismissed under the Probate Exception to federal Diversity Jurisdiction. The Fifth Circuit Court of appeals reversed and remanded back to TXSD on January 9, 2013¹. The Brunsting trusts are not an asset of either “Estate” and are not subject to probate administration.

56. The Harris County District Court suit was filed January 29, 2013, raising only issues relating to the Trust then in the custody of the federal Court.

57. The state probate court suit was filed April 9, 2013, raising only issues relating to the Brunsting Trust, then in the custody of the federal Court, which is the same day Plaintiff Curtis obtained a federal injunction regarding the same Trust.

58. The probate suit raises no issues other than trust issues. Munson ended up in the hospital in a coma and Plaintiff Candace Curtis retained the assistance of a Houston attorney, Jason Ostrom, who had the federal case remanded to the probate court with no opposition from Defendants’ counsel.

XI. Reality Check

59. Anita Brunsting, with her silent partner Amy Brunsting, plotted and planned to steal the family trust. If not for Anita's over exuberant efforts none of the lawsuits would have been necessary. However, Anita Brunsting would have had to find another way except for the excellent assistance of Candace Kunz-Freed.

60. Candace Kunz-Freed had a fiduciary duty to Nelva Brunsting and if Nelva had asked for improper trust changes Freed had an obligation to inform Nelva that the changes she requested were not authorized under the law of the trust. There is no evidence Nelva requested those changes, but there is plenty of evidence that Anita did.

61. Without the illicit papers drafted by Candace Freed, Anita Brunsting would not have had the ability to run amok and none of the injuries and none of the litigation would have been possible.

62. If Defendant Bobbie Bayless had honorable intentions she would have filed Carl's Joinder as a beneficiary of the Trusts and that would have polluted diversity, causing a remand to the Harris County District Court where Plaintiff Curtis' suit would appear as the lead case on the Title Page. Instead Bayless filed two state court lawsuits in the name of the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting, raising only issues relating to the Trust in the custody of a federal court. If not for the illicit meddling of Bobbie Bayless and her sham state court litigation, all trust related litigation would have been resolved and everyone would have their property and gone on with their lives.

63. If Jason Ostrom had honorable intentions he would have moved for summary and declaratory judgment in the federal Court, but instead chose to facilitate a remand to a state probate court with no subject matter jurisdiction.

64. Once in probate court Ostrom immediately abandoned the Curtis v Brunsting litigation and began filing papers under the heading “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” asking for distributions from the trust to pay his “fees” while knowing full well the estate does not own any trust assets.

65. If not for Jason Ostrom’s attempt to participate in Bayless’ sham litigation, this case would have been resolved long ago.

66. The state probate Court had a duty to look to jurisdiction and the first place one looks for probate jurisdiction is in the Will of the Testator. The state Probate Court in looking to the Wills would have seen that the only heir in fact to either Estate is “the trust” and not being property of an “Estate” the Probate Court had a duty to dismiss trust related claims for want of jurisdiction.

67. When the remand was received by the state court the Order included reference to the federal injunction in place and all of the Defendants were aware of that injunction. The Notice of Injunction and Report of Master should have made it abundantly clear the probate court was without the jurisdiction to take cognizance of a trust in the custody of a federal court, on the very day a federal injunction was issued. Unfortunately all these Defendants were looking at was the money cow and like business as usual, were not really looking at the case with any other eyes.

68. What else would explain the absolute refusal of the probate court to set any evidentiary hearings and refusal to enter any orders at all?

69. This effort to coerce and intimidate Plaintiff Curtis with a fraudulent no contest clause threat to property interests on March 9, 2016, was an obvious effort to avoid the complete absence of jurisdiction.

70.

XII. Conclusion

71. Defendants reargue their claims of want of adequate notice, failure to state a claim, and challenge TO federal subject matter jurisdiction relying upon the various claims of immunity. None of these are Rule 12(f) arguments and while using noise words to condemn the Complaint (Dkt 1) and the Addendum (Dkt 26), Defendants to cite no paragraph numbers or exhibit numbers and refuse to number their pleadings to allow Plaintiffs to adequately and properly reply.

72. Defendants claim to have been involved in the very proceedings that Plaintiffs cite to as evidence in support of their claims, and Defendants, while claiming ignorance of facts, ask the Court to strike what is, in effect, the public record, containing the very facts they claim lack of notice of.

73. The Addendum of Memorandum is a proper supplement to the Complaint authorized by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a)(1) and 10(c) and Defendants' arguments are a non sequitur.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs respectfully move this Honorable Court for an Order denying Defendants' Motions to Strike (Dkt 38, 42, and 60).

Respectfully submitted, October 18, 2016

NON-PARTY'S CANDACE L. KUNZ-FREED AND VACEK & FREED, PLLC f/k/a
 THE VACEK LAW FIRM, PLLC'S OPPOSED MOTION FOR CONTINUANCE

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

COMES NOW Non-parties Candace L. Kunz-Freed and Vacek & Freed, PLLC f/k/a The Vacek Law Firm, PLLC (collectively referred to as "V&F") and files this Opposed Motion for Continuance:

On or around February 9, 2016, pro se Party Candace Curtis filed a Motion to Transfer Cause from District Court to Probate Court # 4 ("the Motion"). On or around March 2, 2016, Curtis filed a memorandum in support of her motion.

In her motion and memorandum, Ms. Curtis is requesting that the civil lawsuit pending in Harris County District Court, filed by Carl Brunsting as Independent Executor for Estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Velva Brunsting against V&F, be transferred to this Court. As this Court is aware, V&F is opposed to such a transfer. Because Ms. Curtis' Motion directly affects V&F and its defense of the claims brought against it, V&F is entitled to participate in the hearing on the Motion. The suit against V&F in the District Court has been pending since 2013, and V&F feels strongly that it is unnecessary, inappropriate, and a large waste of judicial resources and time to transfer the suit at this juncture.

V&F has been informed that a hearing on the Motion is set for March 9, 2016 at 2:30 p.m. Zandra Foley, lead counsel for V&F, has informed all parties she is unavailable on March 9, 2016 to attend the hearing on the Motion. Ms. Foley will be in mediation that day which has been set since January in Cause No. 2015-43077, Harris County District Court. Ms. Foley has attempted to work with Ms. Curtis to move the date of the hearing, but Ms. Curtis has refused to do so. As lead counsel for V&F, it is critical that Ms. Foley be able to appear and argue at the hearing on this important Motion. There is no pressing emergency reason why the hearing must be heard on March 9, 2016, and resetting the hearing will not prejudice any party.

09072016 12:28:00

PRAYER

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, the Non-parties Candace L. Kunz-Freed and Vacek & Freed, PLLC f/k/a The Vacek Law Firm, PLLC respectfully request that this Court enter an order resetting the hearing on the Motion to a date and time convenient to the Court and all parties.

JOINT DISCOVERY/CASE MANAGEMENT PLAN
UNDER RULE 26(f)
FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

1. State when the parties conferred as required by rule 26(f), and identify the counsel who conferred.

Response: The parties conferred via email regarding this joint case management plan during the period of October 13, 2016, through October 17, 2016. There was no conference regarding this joint case management plan. Plaintiff and Defendants were unable to come to a meeting of the minds and Defendants had difficulty coming to any kind of consensus among themselves. This is not a joint plan. Plaintiffs apologize to the court but don't know what else to do.

The participants to this plan are:

- A. Candace L. Curtis, Pro Se Plaintiff.
- B. Rik Wayne Munson, Pro Se Plaintiff.
- C. Anita Brunsting, Pro Se Defendant.
- D. Amy Ruth Brunsting, Pro Se Defendant.
- E. Cory S. Reed, counsel for defendants Candace Kuntz-Freed and Albert Vacek Jr.
- F. Robert S. Harrell, counsel for Jill Willard Young.
- G. Laura Beckman Hedge, counsel for:
 - (1) Defendant Christine Riddle Butts.
 - (2) Defendant Clarinda Comstock.

(3) Defendant Tony Biamonte

H. Stephen A. Mendel, Pro Se Defendant
I. Bradley E. Featherston, Pro Se Defendant
J. Bobbie Bayless, Pro Se Defendant.

K. Darlene Payne Smith, Pro Se Defendant.

L. Stacy L. Kelly, counsel for

(1) Gregory Lester
(2) Jason B. Ostrom

N. Neal E. Spielman,

2. List the cases related to this one that are pending in any state or federal court with the case number and court.

Response: A. Plaintiffs allege C.A. No. 4:12-592, Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Katy Brunsting, Et Al; In the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Texas is the base case and that the present matter is an extension of the earlier case and nothing less.

B. Defendants disagree and believe the only related case is C.A. No. 412,249-401, Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased, Probate Court No. 4, Harris County, Texas.

3. Briefly describe what the case is about.

Response: Plaintiff allege a racketeering conspiracy that includes acts of aiding and abetting RICO predicate acts, obstructing justice and other civil and other rights violations designed to bust and loot the Brunsting trusts by preventing resolution on the merits and attempting to force agreement by coercion and duress that would include violating the trust to obtain fees for fake litigation in a court without subject matter jurisdiction over any Brunsting trust related matters. All Defendants are being sued in their individual capacities only.

Defendants allege that the suit is against eleven (11) attorneys, two (2) judges, and a court reporter protected by various forms of immunity

4. Specify the allegation of federal jurisdiction.

Response: Federal question based on plaintiffs' RICO Complaint.

5. Name the parties who disagree and the reasons.

Response: Defendants contend that the Plaintiffs failure to state a claim on which relief can be granted means there are no facts that support federal question jurisdiction, or jurisdiction on any other basis.

6. List anticipated additional parties that should be included, when they can be added, and by whom they are wanted.

Response: None anticipated at this time.

7. List anticipated interventions.

Response: None anticipated at this time.

8. Describe class-action issues.

The Five Brunsting beneficiaries and their remaindermen are a limited private class.

Defendants disagree

9. State whether each party represents that it has made the initial disclosures required by Rule 26(a). If not, describe the arrangements that have been made to complete the disclosures.

Response: The parties will make initial disclosures within fourteen (14) days after the Court issues a scheduling order.

10. Describe the proposed agreed discovery plan, including:

A. Responses to all the matters raised in Rule 26(f).

- 1) Discovery should be completed within one hundred and twenty (120) days after resolution of the base case. (Defendants don't believe there is a base case.)
- 2) Discovery will be limited to:
 - a) Facts that prove or disprove any claim or cause of action in any related matter once the dispute over what those matters are and are not, has been resolved.
 - b) Opinions of experts, if any.

- 3) The parties will preserve hard copies and/or electronic copies of documents that relate in whole or in part to any issue in the case, and regardless of any claim of privilege or work product doctrine. The documents will be preserved through the date of trial or until this case is dismissed.
- 4) The parties will preserve any recordings of any communications by, among, or between themselves and the decedent, Nelva Brunsting, if such recordings relate in whole or in part to any issue in the case, and regardless of any claim of privilege or work product doctrine. The recordings will be preserved through the date of trial or until this case is dismissed.
- 5) Parties agree that oral depositions will be limited as follows:
 - (a) No more than four (4) hours per plaintiff.
 - (a) No more than four (4) hours per defendant.
- 6) Interrogatories will be limited to twenty five (25) questions per party, inclusive of any subparts. Interrogatories, including subparts, in excess thereof shall require leave of Court.
- 7) Requests for production shall not exceed _____ (__) requests. Requests in excess thereof shall require leave of Court.
- 8) Requests for admissions shall not exceed _____ (__) requests. Requests in excess thereof shall require leave of Court.

B. When and to whom the plaintiff anticipates it may send interrogatories.

Plaintiffs will serve interrogatories on the following persons within forty-five (45) days after the Court issues a scheduling order:

- 1) Anita Brunsting.
- 2) Candace Kuntz-Freed.
- 3) Albert Vacek, Jr.
- 4) Amy Ruth Brunsting.
- 5) Neal E. Spielman.
- 6) Stephen A. Mendel.
- 7) Bradley Featherston.
- 8) Darlene Payne Smith.
- 9) Jason B. Ostrom.
- 10) Gregory Lester.
- 11) Jill Willard Young.
- 12) Bobbie Bayless.
- 13) Hon. Christine Riddle Butts.
- 14) Hon. Clarinda Comstock.

15) Tony Biamonte.

C. When and to whom the defendant anticipates it may send interrogatories.

Defendants will serve interrogatories on the following persons within fifteen (15) days after the Court issues a scheduling order:

- 1) Candace L. Curtis.
- 2) Rik Wayne Munson.

D. Of whom and by when the plaintiff anticipates taking oral depositions.

Plaintiffs will take oral depositions of the following persons within one hundred eighty (180) days after the Court issues a scheduling order:

1. Gregory Lester
2. Jill Willard Young
3. Candace Kunz-Freed,
4. Anita Brunsting,
5. Amy Brunsting,
6. Neal Spielman,
7. Jason Ostram,
8. Bobbie Bayless,
9. Clarinda Comstock
10. Christine Butts
11. Drina Brunsting, attorney in fact for Carl Brunsting

Plaintiff would expect Depositions to trail dispositive hearings in the base case and under no circumstances are these Defendants to be allowed to torment Carl Brunsting. Carl resigned as executor due to a lack of capacity and these defendants pleadings admit to Carl's lack of capacity. Plaintiffs will seek a protective Order. Defendants already had their deposition of Carl Brunsting and Plaintiffs are adamantly opposed to any repeat of such a horrible inhuman event.

E. Of whom and by when the defendant anticipates taking oral depositions.

Defendants will take oral depositions of the following persons within one hundred twenty (120) days after the Court issues a scheduling order:

- 1) Candace L. Curtis.
- 2) Rik Wayne Munson.
- 3) Carole Brunsting.

F. When the plaintiff (or other party with the burden of proof on an issue) will be able to designate experts and provide the reports required by Rule 26(a)(2)(B), and when the opposing party will be able to designate responsive experts and provide their reports.

- 1) Plaintiffs will designate any experts and provide the required reports within thirty (30) days after the Court issues a scheduling order.
- 2) Defendants do not anticipate the need for any expert testimony in this matter, other than testimony on attorneys' for sanctions for the frivolous filing. Such experts will be designated within sixty (60) days after the Court issues a scheduling order.

G. List expert depositions the plaintiff (or the party with the burden of proof on an issue) anticipates taking and their anticipated completion date. See Rule 26(a)(2)(B) (expert report).

Neither plaintiffs nor defendants anticipate the need for expert depositions at this time. Should the need arise, any such depositions will be completed within one hundred twenty (120) days after the Court issues a scheduling order.

H. List expert depositions the opposing party anticipates taking and their anticipated completion date. See Rule 26(a)(2)(B) (expert report).

Neither plaintiffs nor defendants anticipate the need for expert depositions at this time. Should the need arise, any such depositions will be completed within one hundred twenty (120) days after the Court issues a scheduling order.

11. If the parties are not agreed on a part of the discovery plan, describe the separate views and proposals of each party.

Response: None.

12. Specific the discovery beyond initial disclosures that has been undertaken to date.

Response: None.

13. State the date the planned discovery can be reasonably completed.

Response: Within one hundred twenty (120) days after the Court issues a scheduling order.

14. Describe the possibilities for a prompt settlement or resolution of the case that were discussed in your Rule 26(f) meeting.

Response: None. The defendants do not intend to settle.

15. Describe what each party has done or agreed to do to bring about a prompt resolution.

Response: None. The defendants do not intend to settle.

16. From the attorneys' discussion with the client, state the alternative dispute resolution techniques that are reasonably suitable, and state when such a technique may be effectively used in this case.

Response: None. The defendants do not intend to settle.

17. Magistrate judges may now hear jury and non-injury trials. Indicate the parties' joint position on a trial before a magistrate judge.

Response: Defendants object to a trial before a magistrate judge.

18. State whether a jury demand has been made and if was made on time.

Response: Plaintiffs' made jury demand in their original complaint.

19. Specify the number of hours it will take to present the evidence in this case.

Plaintiff's Response. Will be more easily determined by the number of issues remaining after 12(c) motions for remedy on the pleadings as soon as the base case has been resolved by the same method.

Defendants Response: Eighty (80) hours.

20. List pending motions that could be ruled on at the initial pretrial and scheduling conference.

Plaintiff's Response:

The Rule 60 Motion for vacatur of the void remand order (Dkt 26 this court, Dkt 115-119 in the base case) to Harris County Probate Court No. 4 issued May 14, 2014 in base case 4:12-cv-592 (Dkt106). Plaintiff's challenge to probate court jurisdiction over Brunsting trust matters is dispositive and must be resolved before any Rule 12 Motions can be considered.

Plaintiffs' Motion for Consolidation of related cases (Dkt 43) should also be resolved before any substantive issues are addressed

Defendants Response:

A. Rule 12(b)(6) Motions:

- 1) Defendants' Candace Kunz-Freed and Albert Vacek Jr.'s Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim [Docket No. 19].
 - 2) Bobbie G. Bayless' Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim [Docket No. 23].
 - 3) Defendant Jill Willard Young's Rule 12(b)(6) Motion to Dismiss [Docket No. 25].

- B. Defendant Jill Willard Young's Motion to Strike Plaintiffs' "Addendum of Memorandum in Support of RICO Complaint," [Docket No. 38].

[REMAINDER OF PAGE LEFT BLANK]

C. Rule 12(b)(1) Motion:

- 1) Defendants' Candace Kunz-Freed and Albert Vacek Jr.'s Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction [Docket No. 20].
- 2) Defendant Neal Spielman's Motion to Dismiss Based on Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction [Docket No. 40].
- 3) Defendants Judge Christine Riddle Butts, Judge Clarinda Comstock & Tony Biamonte's Motion to Dismiss Complaint Pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) and (6) [Docket No. 53].

DEFENDANTS’ OBJECTION TO PLAINTIFFS’ RULE 26(F) PLAN

On October 18, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a “Joint Discovery/Case Management Plan Under Rule 26(f) Federal Rules of Civil Procedure,” [DKT. 66] purporting to set out Plaintiffs’ and Defendants’ positions following the Rule 26(f) conference. But Defendants’ did not agree to such joint filing. Instead, the document was filed unilaterally by Plaintiffs without advance notice of *what*¹ or when they would be filing.

Crucially, the document does not accurately state Defendants’ position. Far from agreeing that the parties should make initial disclosures and conduct discovery following the Rule 26(f) conference, Defendants have objected (and continue to object) to any discovery taking place in this matter until the Court rules on the Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants. See Defendants’ Motion to Stay Rule 26(f) Conference and All Discovery Pending Resolution of Motions to Dismiss [DKT. 59]. Defendants have also requested the Court to stay all proceedings in this matter, including the Rule 26(f) conference, pending resolution of the Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants. See id.

¹ Defendants believe Plaintiffs filed a draft Rule 26(f) plan, which was circulated by one of the defendants among the parties for review and comment on October 14, 2016. But before all parties’ comments could be received and assembled, the Plaintiffs unilaterally filed the draft plan. Defendants did not consent to such filing, nor did Plaintiffs inform Defendants that they would be making such a filing.

In sum, Defendants object to Plaintiffs' characterization of their filing as a "joint" plan. Defendants also object to Plaintiffs' filing of a document purporting to state Defendants' "positions." Defendants' positions have been accurately asserted in Defendants' Motion to Stay, and Plaintiffs' unilateral statements to the contrary should be disregarded by this Court.

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Before the Court are motions to dismiss filed by Defendant Neal Spielman. Docket entry 39 is a Rule 12(b)(6) Motion and docket entry 40 is a Rule 12(b)(1) Motion.

2. Plaintiffs incorporate and adopt by this reference the Complaint (Dkt 1 and 26), the previously filed Rule 12 Motions, Dkts 19, 20, 23, 25, 30, 35, 36, 38 and 53 and Plaintiffs’ replies thereto, Dkt 33, 34, 41, 45, 62, 57 and 65, as if fully restated herein.

3. Plaintiffs further request this Honorable Court take judicial notice of the following related public records:

- a. Curtis v Brunsting C.A. 4:12-cv-592 TXSD 2/27/2012
- b. Carl Henry Brunsting Executor for the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting v. Candace Freed & Vacek & Freed, Harris Co. District Court CA No. 2013-05455;
- c. Carl Henry Brunsting Executor for the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting CA No, 2012-14538 164TH Judicial District Court of Harris County, Texas;
- d. Carl Henry Brunsting Individually and as Executor for the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting, Harris Co. Probate No. 4 CA No 412248, 412249, 412249-401, 412249-402

II. CHRONOLOGICAL HISTORY

4. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the “Standards of Review”, “Contextual Summary”, “History of the Controversy”, and “History of the Litigation” (Dkt 33 sections I, II, III and IV) from Plaintiffs’ response to Motions to Dismiss by Defendants Vacek & Freed, (Dkt 19 & 20) as if fully restated herein. In short:

5. Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-0592 was filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas on February 27, 2012 under diversity jurisdiction, was dismissed under the “Probate Exception” to federal diversity jurisdiction March 8, 2012 and went to the Fifth Circuit for review.

6. The Fifth Circuit held that Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-0592 is a lawsuit related only to the Brunsting inter vivos trusts, not property of any estate but the heir in fact, and does not come within the purview of the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction, Curtis v Brunsting 710 F.3d 406 (Jan 2013).

7. A remand to Harris County Probate Court No. 4 was facilitated by Defendant Jason Ostrom and Plaintiff Curtis now returns the matter to the federal Court with a separate complaint.

III. ISSUES RAISED

Defendant argues:

- A. Plaintiffs are involved in a bitterly contested “Probate Matter” involving a dispute between the Brunsting siblings over the administration of their late parents' estate. (Dkt 39 & 40 Pages 1 unnumbered paragraphs 2);
- B. Plaintiffs’ claims are incomprehensible conspiracy theories;
- C. Plaintiff is avoiding a court ordered mediation;
- D. Plaintiffs’ claims are barred by Attorney Immunity;
- E. Plaintiffs fail to plead particular acts of fraud;
- F. Plaintiffs fail to plead particular conduct of the Defendant;
- G. Plaintiffs lack Privity with Defendant;
- H. Plaintiffs lack proper standing;

IV. PLAINTIFF'S REPLY

The Probate Matter

8. Defendant Spielman begins both motions with an identical summary in which he states:

“This case stems from "conspiracy" claims and other allegations against lawyers, judges, and court personnel involved in a bitterly contested probate matter in Harris County Probate Court No. 4. The Plaintiffs "claims," which are nearly incomprehensible...”

9. In his BACKGROUND section he states:

“Plaintiffs' suit arises from a case pending in Harris County Probate Court Number 4, Cause No. 412.249-401, Carl Henry Brunsting et al. v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al., ("the Probate Matter"). The Probate Matter involves a dispute between the Brunsting siblings over the administration over their late parents' estate”.

10. Given that both motions are built entirely upon this erroneous factual ground it is unnecessary to address the supporting authorities.

11. The record will show the case before the Court involves claims against Defendants in their individual capacities, arises out of a probate court, and does not arise from a controversy over the administration of any “estate”.

12. These matters were res judicata before any state court actions were even filed.¹

13. Claims were first filed in Harris County Probate No. 4 April 9, 2013, the same day a federal judge issued an injunction against Anita and Amy Brunsting to preserve and prevent wasting of assets of the Brunsting trusts then in the custody of a federal court. (Dkt 26-2, 26-7, 33-5, 34-6)

14. The claims filed in Harris County courts by Defendant Bayless were filed on January 29, 2013 and April 9, 2013. The Harris County District Court suit No. 2013-05455 is styled:

“CARL HENRY BRUNSTING, INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR OF THE ESTATES OF ELMER H. BRUNSTING AND NELVA E. BRUNSTING”

15. Like Defendant Bayless, (Dkt 23) Defendant Spielman states in the opening sentence of his Rule 12(b)(1) motion that the “Probate Matter” is styled “Carl Henry Brunsting et al. v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al.,” (“the Probate Matter”). The Harris County Probate suit (412249-401) is actually styled as Docket entry 34 Exhibits 5 and 7 show:

CARL HENRY BRUNSTING, individually and as independent executor of the estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Nelva E. Brunsting”

16. It is important to note that federal Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis is named a “Nominal Defendant” in Bayless, exclusively trust related Probate Court suit, filed on the same day Plaintiff Curtis obtained a protective Order in the federal Court regarding the same Trust.

17. Both state court petitions raise only issues related to the Brunsting trusts and both state court actions were filed while the Brunsting trust res was in the custody of a federal court.

18. The Fifth Circuit noted that the wills of both decedents (Dkt 41-3 and 41-4), bequeathed everything to one heir and that the only heir in fact to either estate was “the trust”.

The Trust Matter

Curtis v. Brunsting

United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit

January 9, 2013, Filed No. 12-20164

Reporter

704 F.3d 406; 2013 U.S. App. LEXIS 524; 2013 WL 104918

Procedural Posture

Plaintiff, the beneficiary of a trust, sued defendant co-trustees of the trust, for breach of fiduciary duty, extrinsic fraud, constructive fraud, and intentional infliction of emotional distress. The United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas dismissed the case for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, concluding that the case fell within the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction. The beneficiary appealed.

Overview

The court found that the case was outside the scope of the probate exception under the first step of the inquiry because the trust was not property within the custody of the probate court. Because the assets in a living or inter vivos trust were not property of the estate at the time of decedent's death, having been transferred to the trust years before, the trust was not in the custody of the probate court and as such the probate exception was inapplicable to disputes concerning administration of the trust. The record also indicated that there would be no probate of the trust's assets upon the death of the surviving spouse. Finding no evidence that the trust was subject to the ongoing probate proceedings, the case fell outside the scope of the probate exception.

Outcome

The district court below erred in dismissing the case for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction.

Defendant's Challenges D, E and F

D. Plaintiffs' Claims Are Barred by "Attorney Immunity" Doctrine;

E. Plaintiffs Fail to Plead Particular Acts of Fraud;

F. Plaintiffs Fail to Plead Particular Conduct of the Defendant;

19. The United States Attorney's Resource Manual at CRM 2403 defines Extortion by Force, Violence, or Fear as follows:

In order to prove a violation of Hobbs Act extortion by the wrongful use of actual or threatened force, violence, or fear, the following questions must be answered affirmatively:

- 1. Did the defendant induce or attempt to induce the victim to give up property or property rights?*
- 2. Did the defendant use or attempt to use the victim's reasonable fear of physical injury or economic harm in order to induce the victim's consent to give up property?*

20. Defendant Spielman's performance on March 9, 2016 (Dkt 26 and exhibit 26-16) inarguably answers these inquiries in the affirmative. Plaintiffs' allegations regarding Mr. Spielman are articulated in the Complaint with the specificity required by rule 9(b).

21. Mr. Spielman's specific threats of injury to property rights if Curtis did not mediate a settlement agreement, using a knowingly false instrument, is conduct entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney and the mere attempt constitutes the tort and crime of extortion whether successful or not.

Failure to State a Claim

22. Defendant Spielman claims to have been involved in the very actions described above and claims to have been representing Defendant Amy Brunsting in a “Probate Matter”.

23. Plaintiff points only to the record of those proceedings in answer to each motion to dismiss and Defendant Spielman cannot claim to have been both counsel and ignorant of the facts contained in those records.

24. If it is the interpretation of those fact records that Defendant Spielman wishes to argue, a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim is neither the proper vehicle nor the proper stage of the proceedings for arguing his contrary facts.

Plaintiffs Lack Privity with Defendant Spielman

25. The impregnable citadel of Privity. Privity is a legal expression defining a close, mutual, or successive relationship to the same right of property or the power to enforce a promise or warranty.

26. While the Doctrine of Privity is an important concept in contract law, a deliberate intent to defraud is not a good faith error in judgement and like the Attorney Immunity Doctrine, the Privity Doctrine is intended to preserve the integrity of the client professional relationship and in the case of an attorney, to provide confidence in one’s ability to be a zealous advocate for his client's position. The protection of the Doctrine of Privity does not apply as an impunity shield for conduct that is both tortious and criminal resulting in injuries to third parties.

27. Because Privity is actually a term to summarize a conclusion that one party was precluded, it may exist for the purpose of determining one legal question but not another depending on the circumstances and legal doctrines at issue." Meza v. General Battery Corp., 908 F.2d 1262 (5th Cir. 1990).

V. STANDING

Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis

28. Defendant's challenge to Plaintiff Curtis' standing relies entirely upon erroneous juristic concepts, wayward fact assertions and misplaced logic.

29. Rights are of two divisions. First are those annexed to the persons of men called Jura personarum or the rights of men and second is the right to control external objects over which man may obtain a dominion and this is called Jura rerum or the right of things². Property is not the thing itself but the interest one acquires in dominion and control over the thing.

30. Plaintiff Curtis is a cestui que trust, also known as a beneficiary. Her property interest is a one-fifth part of the undiminished res of inter vivos trusts as a matter of equity.

31. A beneficial interest in the assets of an inter vivos trust is property and not inheritance expectancy. The concerted effort to deprive Plaintiff Curtis of the enjoyment of her very tangible trust property, continuing for a period of five years, is an injury in fact.

32. Plaintiff Curtis began this journey with no legal education of any kind but knew full well by the time that her mother passed that her sisters, Defendants Anita and Amy Brunsting, had been plotting and were actively engaged in trying to deprive her and her disabled brother Carl Brunsting of beneficial interests in the Brunsting trust res. It now appears Carole Brunsting was also intended to be deprived of her interest in the trust res as well.

² See Blackstone's Commentaries on the Laws of England, Book the First, Chapter I, Part III, Pg 134.

Plaintiff Rik Wayne Munson

33. Defendant Spielman stood before the Probate Court on March 9, 2016 talking about his fees (Dkt 26-16 pg 14 ln 20) and how “Ms. Curtis Pro se status and her, her need to be a lawyer and her failure to appreciate what it costs, what the costs of this lawsuit are, is...” (Dkt 26-16 page 15). Later (p. 17) Spielman talks about how it would be an insult to respond to the Motions Plaintiff Curtis filed ... “and all of the money that that's going to cost...” and now claims to have been an attorney participating in those proceedings, immune from consequences for his mens rea motivated acts.

34. It is interesting that Mr. Spielman spoke about the cost of this litigation, as if somehow Plaintiff Curtis does not understand the war of attrition he and his co-defendants thought they would play to deprive her of her property rights.

35. Plaintiff Curtis and Plaintiff Munson have been co-habitant partners for ten years.

36. Munson’s tireless labor and effort to defend his household is the only thing that has protected Plaintiff Curtis’ property interests from the intended hijacking.

VI. TANGIBLE PROPERTY IS NOT THE THING ITSELF

37. Mankind is born into the world possessing only those rights inherited from nature and it is through the institution and the natural order of family that man develops into an independent and autonomous person with knowledge and ability to defend those rights.

38. The knowledge, experience, skill and labor of a man are the only property man owns in nature by which they can obtain a dominion over other things, including those required by the necessities of life and which directly affect the quality of living in a society.

39. Munson has assisted Plaintiff Curtis in obtaining a favorable appellate opinion (Dkt 34-4) and an injunction (Dkt 26-2) and continues to help protect Plaintiff Curtis’ property rights while also advancing matters of public interest. It is an insult that Defendants consider their worth so high and Plaintiff Munson's so low as to discount that knowledge, experience and the labor devoted to defending against their unholy assault as other than a property interest, rendering such activities and use of resources meaningless.

40. Munson, like Plaintiff Curtis has suffered personal injury as direct and proximate result of the intentional manipulation of the judicial process, multiplication of litigation and superficial pomposity of these Defendants' pretense of legitimacy.

41. The interference began when Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed her exclusively trust related claims in state courts in the name of the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting, knowing full well the Brunsting trusts were under the exclusive jurisdiction of a federal Court.

42. Munson's time is valuable and the application of his knowledge, experience and labor to these five years of litigation is and has been invaluable to Plaintiff Curtis' protection of her property rights. That effort has cost Munson invaluable and irreplaceable life property interests by diverting valuable time, energy and attention away from other life pursuits.

43. Our families and the communities in which we live have a property interest in the honest services of our public officials and licensed practitioners. There is no valid legal theory that shows public policy interests are not in any way implicated, or that public policy is not wounded by the conduct complained of before this Court.

44. Each Defendant has participated in the jurisdictional sham and the attempted extortion/mediation diversion scheme, using the Bayless vehicle to insinuate their personal interests into the private Brunsting controversy.

VII. IMMUNITY

45. Refusal to provide government services to the public without a transfer of wealth from the private to the public sector are neither judicial nor litigious, but the very definition of public corruption.

46. Defendants appear before this Honorable Court attempting to sell their illicit “Probate Matter” wares, claiming the protection of the judicial and litigation immunity privileges when, as a matter of law, they have been engaged in neither activity.

47. Where there is no subject matter jurisdiction, there is no court and where there is no court there is no judge and no litigation. Claims of attorney and other immunities in this case rely upon facts not in evidence and Plaintiffs demand what they could never get in Harris County Probate Court, an evidentiary hearing with findings of fact and conclusions of law after hearing.

48. For these reasons the conduct of Defendant Spielman, as exemplified by the public record, is not conduct protected by any doctrines of immunity, and reference to a “Probate Matter” is a fraud upon this Court.

49. Defendant’s different view of the significance of facts contained in the public records in point is not plausible. Defendant does not support contrary claims with any form of competent evidence and such claims are thus not properly raised under Rules 12(b)(1) or 12(b)(6).

VIII. CONCLUSION

50. As the case in point shows, citizens who resort to the courts to enforce rights vindicate wrongs and settle their differences, are all too often confronted by judges and attorneys with an attitude that demonstrates no regard for individual rights or the rules of law.

51. These same individuals now come before this Court claiming entitlement and asking this Court to grant them the very thing they themselves refuse others, the due process and protection of law.

52. One is loath to contemplate the dangers and likely costs of continuing to deny remedy in the face of the present pandemic of public corruption, for the only remedy left to ordinary people would be governed not by reason, but by necessity.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs respectfully request this honorable court deny the Motions to Dismiss, Docket entries 39 and 40, filed by Defendant Neal Spielman on October 3, 2016, and hold Defendant to answer.

Respectfully submitted,

Civil Action No. 4:16-cv-01969

DEFENDANT JILL WILLARD YOUNG’S OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFFS’ MOTION TO CONSOLIDATE

Plaintiffs’ Motion to Consolidate (the “Motion”) asks this Court to consolidate this matter into case number 4:12-cv-0592, a closed case formerly pending before Judge Hoyt. But Plaintiffs’ Motion should be denied because a pending matter cannot be consolidated into a closed case, especially one that involves no common questions of law or fact.

I. Consolidation Should be Denied Because the “Prior Case” Is Closed.

Plaintiffs ask this Court to consolidate this matter into case number 4:12-cv-0592, before Judge Hoyt. But case number 4:12-cv-0592 is closed, and it has been closed since May 15, 2014.

A Motion to Consolidate a pending matter into a closed matter should be denied. See Order Denying Motion for Leave to File Motion to Consolidate, EP-Team, Inc. v. Aspen Infrastructure, Ltd., No. H-07-2549 [DKT. 17] (S. D. Tex. Jan. 10, 2008). In EP-Team, a court in this District was asked to consolidate a matter into an earlier-filed case that was closed. Id. The court denied consolidation, stating, “This case, Civil Action No. 07-2549, is the earlier case and it is closed, therefore, the Court cannot consolidate anything with it.” Id. (emphasis added); see also Clarke v. Dir., TDCJ-CID, No. 4:09-CV-404, 2012 WL 4120430, at *1 & *5 (E.D. Tex. Sept. 19, 2012) (denying a motion to consolidate because the “corresponding case” was “closed”); Hamilton v. United Healthcare of Louisiana, Inc., CIV.A. 01-585, 2003 WL 22779081, at *2 n.3 (E.D. La. Nov. 21, 2003) (determining that “consolidation was done in error” because the first-filed case “was closed” prior to consolidation) (emphasis added). And the “prior matter” is closed because Plaintiff Candace Curtis herself requested the court remand the matter to Harris County. See Order Granting Unopposed Motion to Remand by Candace Louise Curtis, Curtis v Brunsting, No. 4:12-cv-0592 (DKT. 112) (S.D. Tex. May 15, 2014).

Thus, Plaintiffs’ Motion to Consolidate should be denied.

II. The Closed Case and This Pending Matter Should not Be Consolidated.

In determining whether to consolidate, Courts consider five factors:

(1) whether the actions are pending before the same court, (2) whether common parties are involved in the cases, (3) whether there are common questions of law and/or fact, (4) whether there is risk of prejudice or confusion if the cases are consolidated, and if so, is the risk outweighed by the risk of inconsistent adjudications of factual and legal issues if the cases are tried separately, and (5) whether consolidation will conserve judicial resources and reduce the time and cost of trying the cases separately.”

Zolezzi v. Celadon Trucking Services, Inc., No. Civ.A.H-08-3508, 2009 WL 736057, at *1 (S.D. Tex. Mar. 16, 2009) (citing In re Enron Corp. Securities, Derivative & “ERISA” Litigation, Civ. A. Nos. H-01-3624, H-04-0088, H-04-0087, H-03-5528, 2007 WL 446051, at *1 (S.D. Tex. Feb.7, 2007)). Here, those factors overwhelmingly show that the two matters should not be consolidated.

First, the actions are not pending before the same court. Indeed, as shown above, the “prior case” is not pending at all—it is closed.

Second, although some of the parties to the two matters are common between the two cases, several are not. As an example, Defendant Young is not a party to the prior case; nor is Defendant Lester. Judge Butts and Judge Comstock were not parties to the prior matter, either. And Jason Ostrom, who appears on the docket sheet as counsel for Plaintiff Curtis in the now-closed “prior case,” has now been sued by Plaintiffs in this case.

Third, there are not common questions of law or fact. This matter involves RICO assertions made by Plaintiffs, who make the novel contention that a state probate court is a conspiracy called the “Harris County Tomb Raiders” and the “Probate Mafia,” who “transfer wealth” from estates by engaging in “poser advocacy.” There are no questions of law or fact in the closed matter, because it has been remanded to state court. But even if the Court looked to the questions of law and fact in the state court matter, those questions relate merely to estate law—not alleged federal RICO statutes and criminal conspiracies.

Fourth, there is an extraordinary risk of confusion that would result from consolidation of the cases. As examples, in the RICO case, many of the probate court litigants, the attorneys, and the judges are all Defendants, who are all more-or-less aligned in opposing Plaintiffs’ RICO allegations. But in the probate matter itself, the parties share no such affinities. Certainly, it would be confusing for a fact-finder to be asked to determine, on the one hand, whether Plaintiff Curtis’s own counsel was involved in the criminal enterprise “Probate Mafia,” when that counsel also previously represented the Plaintiff in the closed federal court matter.

Fifth, consolidation will not conserve judicial resources since the prior matter is closed.

Thus, Plaintiffs’ Motion should be denied.

III. Conclusion

For the above-stated reasons, Plaintiffs’ Motion should be denied.

DEFENDANTS MENDEL’S & FEATHERSTON’S JOINDER
IN JILL WILLARD YOUNG’S MOTION TO STRIKE PLAINTIFFS’
ADDENDUM OF MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF RICO COMPLAINT

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE ALFRED H. BENNETT:

Defendants Stephen A. Mendel and Bradley E. Featherston (collectively the “Mendel & Featherston Defendants”) hereby file this Adoption and Joinder in Jill Willard Young’s Motion to Strike Plaintiffs’ Addendum of Memorandum in Support of RICO Complaint (“Addendum”) and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

I.
THE COURT SHOULD STRIKE PLAINTIFFS’ ADDENDUM

1. In the interests of justice and judicial economy, and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(c), the Mendel & Featherston Defendants hereby adopt and incorporate by reference, as if recited herein the arguments and authority contained in Jill Willard Young’s Motion to Strike [Doc. 38]. The Court should strike Plaintiffs’ Addendum, because it is not a valid pleading under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

2. More importantly, the Court should dismiss Plaintiffs’ claims against the Mendel & Featherston Defendants. The Addendum does not affect the merits of the Mendel & Featherston Defendants’ Motions to Dismiss as none of the allegations against the Mendel &

Featherston Defendants form the basis for a valid complaint or support a RICO claim against the Mendel & Featherston Defendants.

3. Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed because they have not adequately pleaded a violation of the RICO Act. Even assuming that Plaintiffs' Addendum is considered to be a supplement to Plaintiffs' Complaint, it does not change the fact that Plaintiffs have failed to meet the required pleading standards.

II.
PRAYER

WHEREFORE PREMISES CONSIDERED, Defendants Stephen A. Mendel and Bradley E. Featherston hereby request that the Court strike Plaintiffs' Addendum.

Civil Action No. 4:16-cv-01969

DEFENDANT JILL WILLARD YOUNG’S MOTION FOR SANCTIONS

On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a frivolous, 64-page “Verified Complaint” consisting of facially preposterous criminal accusations, blatant mischaracterizations of fact, and boilerplate recitations of law in the Complaint that are plainly insufficient to survive dismissal. On September 15, 2016, Defendant Young filed her Motion to Dismiss.¹ And on September 27, 2016, Defendant Young sent Plaintiffs a letter, informing them that, in accordance with the safe-harbor procedure of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11, she would be filing this Motion for Sanctions on October 19, 2016, if Plaintiffs did not dismiss their Complaint against her with prejudice. But Plaintiffs have ignored Ms. Young’s letter and Motions.

Plaintiffs’ frivolous pleadings meaninglessly and wrongfully denigrate the reputation of Ms. Young, a prominent, hard-working Houston lawyer. Despite opportunities to nonsuit their meritless suit, Plaintiffs have refused to do so. Thus, Plaintiffs should be required to reimburse Ms. Young’s attorney’s fees pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11.²

¹ Ms. Young incorporates by reference the arguments and authorities asserted in her Motion to Dismiss.

² Ms. Young will file proof of the amount of attorneys’ fees in the event the motion is granted.

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

Filing a RICO action in federal court is not a proper substitute for appealing an unfavorable ruling, nor is it an appropriate means of seeking revenge against opposing and court-appointed counsel. See Chapman & Cole v. Itel Container Int'l B.V., 865 F.2d 676, 685 (5th Cir. 1989) (“[I]t should be noted that an attorney’s responsibility to conduct a reasonable pre-filing investigation is particularly important in RICO claims.”) (emphasis added). Because the claims asserted by Plaintiffs are both legally and factually frivolous, Ms. Young should be awarded attorneys’ fees and costs under Fed. R. Civ. P. 11.

I. The Rule 11 Standard

Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b), by presenting the Court a signed pleading, an “unrepresented party certifies that to the best of the person’s knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances” that:

- (1) it is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of litigation;
- (2) the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for extending, modifying, or reversing existing law or for establishing new law;
- (3) the factual contentions have evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, will likely have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(1)-(3). “Compliance with these affirmative duties is measured as of the time that the document is signed.” Childs v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 29 F.3d 1018, 1024 (5th Cir. 1994). And whether a pleading meets this requirements is measured “by an objective, not subjective, standard of reasonableness under the circumstances.” Thomas v. Capital Sec. Servs., Inc., 836 F.2d 866, 873 (5th Cir. 1988).

“[I]f, after notice and a reasonable opportunity to respond, the court determines that Rule 11(b) has been violated, the court may impose an appropriate sanction on any attorney, law firm, or party that violated the rule or is responsible for the violation.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(c)(1); see also Fed. R. Civ. P. 11 Advisory Committee Notes (“Even though it is the attorney whose signature violates the rule, it may be appropriate under the circumstances of the case to impose a sanction on the client.”).

II. Plaintiffs have violated Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(2) by filing legally frivolous claims.

Plaintiffs have ignored longstanding attorney immunity doctrines, have alleged six causes of action for which they have no private cause of action, and failed to plead facts showing even the most basic elements of their RICO “claim.”

A. Plaintiffs ignore attorney immunity.

Plaintiffs have ignored long-established immunity doctrines that protect attorneys from suit by opposing parties and non-clients. Indeed, the affirmative defense of immunity is apparent on the face of the Complaint.

Under Texas law, it is settled that “attorneys are immune from civil liability . . . ‘for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.’” Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) (quoting Alpert v. Crain, Caton & James, P.C., 178 S.W.3d 398, 405 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2005, pet. denied)). The only exceptions to this rule of immunity are if an attorney engages in conduct that is “entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney,” or if the conduct “does not involve the provision of legal services and would thus fall outside the scope of client representation.” Id. at 482 (quoting Poole v. Hous. & T.C. Ry. Co., 58 Tex. 134, 137 (1882)). However, a plaintiff cannot evade attorney immunity by simply “labeling an attorney’s conduct ‘fraudulent.’” Id. at 483 (quoting Alpert, 178 S.W.3d at 406).

In this case, Plaintiffs have not pled any facts showing Ms. Young, who served as counsel for the Temporary Administrator in the underlying lawsuit, took any actions outside the normal discharge of her duties in representing her client. See Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 348 (5th Cir. 2016) (attorney’s conduct in sending a letter, participating in discovery, and communicating with SEC about client were “classic examples of an attorney’s conduct in representing his client”).

B. Plaintiffs plead claims for which there exists no private right of action.

Plaintiffs allege three causes of action for “honest services,” along with causes of action for wire fraud, fraud under 18 USC § 1001, and violation of the Hobbs Act. See Complaint, at ¶¶ 121–123. But those are criminal causes of action that cannot be pursued by a private plaintiff. See Motion to Dismiss [DKT. 25], at pp. 13–16.

C. Plaintiffs’ accusations are baseless and delusional.

Plaintiffs accuse Ms. Young of what can best be described as fictional acts--being a member of a secret society and “cabal” known as the “Harris County Tomb Raiders,” which Plaintiffs also call “The Probate Mafia.” See, e.g., Complaint, at ¶¶ 57, 58, 89. Plaintiffs allege the members of this purported shadow organization engage in “Poser Advocacy,” supposedly an “exploitation opportunity” to “hijack” “familial wealth.” Id. at ¶¶ 95–99. Not surprisingly, Plaintiffs do not even try to accompany their made-up story with supporting facts. The reality is unavoidable—their complaint is a bizarre attempt to seek revenge for being on the losing end of trust and estate determinations that have already been fully litigated in Texas state court.

Less fantastical efforts to concoct a federal claim against judges and opposing attorneys have been routinely dismissed. See, e.g., Freeman v. Texas, No. H-08-2050, 2008 WL 4155346, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Sept. 2, 2008) (Rosenthal, J.) (dismissing RICO claims against probate judges, attorneys, and clerks for failure to plead a racketeering activity). And other courts in this Circuit have held that almost identical allegations made by pro se litigants should be dismissed and were sanctionable. See Whitehead v. White & Case, LLP, 12-CV-0399, 2012 WL 1795151, at *2 (W.D. La. Apr. 19, 2012), report and recommendation adopted, 12-CV-0399, 2012 WL 1795148 (W.D. La. May 16, 2012) (dismissing a pro se plaintiff's conspiracy claims against judges, magistrate judges, attorneys and law firms, as "frivolous and vexatious" and sanctioning the pro se plaintiff).

Thus, Plaintiffs' allegations fail to satisfy Rule 11. Specifically, Plaintiffs' Complaint against Ms. Young—devoid of any allegation of actual wrongdoing—can only be brought for improper purposes, like harassment or to needlessly increase the cost of litigation. Plaintiffs' Complaint is in no way warranted by existing law, and Plaintiffs' contentions completely lack any sort of factual or evidentiary support. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(1)-(3). Ms. Young has also specifically informed Plaintiffs multiple times of the legal defects in their Complaint and the authority showing Plaintiffs' arguments are meritless, both in Ms. Young's filing of her Motion to Dismiss and by serving this Motion for Sanctions on Plaintiffs twenty-one days before filing it with the Court. But Plaintiffs have refused to dismiss their Complaint against Ms. Young. This, too, means sanctions are necessary. See also Taylor v. C.I.R., 350 Fed. Appx. 913, 915 (5th Cir. 2009) ("Sanctions on pro se litigants are appropriate if they were warned that their claims are frivolous and they were aware of 'ample legal authority holding squarely against them.'").

CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs have filed a frivolous and facially-deficient lawsuit, and Ms. Young respectfully requests that the Court require Plaintiffs and their attorneys to pay her attorneys' fees in defending this suit and pursuing the relief requested herein.

Dated: October 27, 2016

1. Plaintiffs have violated Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b)(2) by filing legally frivolous claims against Defendant Young.
2. Plaintiffs have refused to dismiss their claims against Defendant Young, despite being afforded a 21 day “safe harbor,” pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(c).
3. Plaintiffs’ Complaint and “Addendum” fail to satisfy Rule 11 because:
 - a. They were filed for an improper purpose, such as to harass, cause unnecessary delay, or needlessly increase the cost of litigation;

- c. The factual contentions have no evidentiary support nor will they likely have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery.
4. Defendant Young will have 30 days to submit evidence, which may be by affidavit, of the reasonable and necessary attorneys' fees for legal services provided on this matter.
5. Should Defendant Young successfully defend an appeal of this case, reasonable and necessary attorneys' fees will include $30,000 for handling an appeal to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, $15,000 for reviewing and responding to a Petition for Writ of Certiorari to the U.S. Supreme Court, and $25,000 in the event a Petition for Writ of Certiorari is granted but the Court of Appeals judgment is upheld.

C.A. No. 4:16-cv-01969

DEFENDANT JASON OSTROM'S
MOTION TO DISMISS COMPLAINT PURSUANT TO FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6)

Defendant Jason Ostrom (“Mr. Ostrom”) files this Rule 12 Motion to Dismiss and shows the following:

I.
INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs’ pro se Complaint (D.E. #1) purports to assert almost fifty “claims” against more than fifteen defendants, who are lawyers, judges, and other legal professionals who practice in Harris County Probate Court Number 4. Plaintiffs in this case are Candace Curtis, a disgruntled sibling in a probate case and Rik Munson, her alleged “domestic partner” and paralegal who claims to have assisted Curtis in her ongoing litigation against her siblings.

The allegations related to Mr. Ostrom are minimal. The information identifying Mr. Ostrom as a defendant is contained in paragraphs 1, 15, 55, 56 and 59 of the Complaint. (D.E.# 1). Paragraph 55 of the Complaint alleges that Mr. Ostrom is an attorney who has practiced in Harris County Probate Courts. Paragraph 56 alleges, without any facts to support it, that Mr. Ostrom and the other named defendants have engaged in a criminal enterprise somehow being conducted through Harris County Probate Court Number 4. Paragraph 59 makes a similar allegation, again without any factual support. A majority of the events Plaintiffs' complain about, occurred after Mr. Ostrom was discharged by Plaintiff. The Complaint asserts no factual content sufficient to maintain any cause of action against Mr. Ostrom. (D.E.#1).

In response to Motions to Dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) filed by some Defendants, Plaintiffs filed their Addendum of Memorandum in Support of RICO Complaint. (D.E. #26). Rather than provide any specifics about how a frivolous 59-page complaint states a RICO claim against Mr. Ostrom, Plaintiffs have instead come forward with a 25-page Addendum that still does not state a claim. (D.E.# 26). Although the Addendum is replete with inaccuracies, it has not changed or added any additional factual allegations to support RICO claims. All the Addendum does is describe a handful of events and then conclude without explanation that the events constitute a RICO predicate act. Because the Addendum does nothing to cure the problems found in Plaintiffs' Original Complaint, the Court should grant this Motion and dismiss all claims against Mr. Ostrom.

II.
STANDARDS OF REVIEW FOR PLEADING CONSTRUCTION

In a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the Court accepts all factual allegations in the pleadings as true and examines whether the allegations state a claim sufficient to avoid dismissal.¹ This standard of construction presupposes well-pleaded facts; a court does not accept conclusory allegations, unwarranted factual inferences, or legal conclusions as true.² It is appropriate to consider the exhibits attached to a complaint for purposes of a Rule 12(b)(6) motion.³ A Court should grant a Rule 12(b)(6) motion when it appears that no relief could be granted under any set of facts that could be proven consistent with the allegations.⁴ Similarly, when a complaint raises an arguable question of law which the district court ultimately finds is correctly resolved against the plaintiff, dismissal on Rule 12(b)(6) grounds is appropriate.⁵

III.
STATEMENT OF FACTS DERIVED EXCLUSIVELY FROM PLAINTIFFS'
ORIGINAL COMPLAINT AND ADDENDUM

It is evident from the Original Complaint that Plaintiffs have underlying litigation in Probate Court Number Four with various attorneys and opposing parties. It is also evident from the Original Complaint that Plaintiffs are dissatisfied with the status of those proceedings. Beyond this, it has been extremely cumbersome to locate any specific allegations against Mr. Ostrom. In an effort to provide some clarity for the Court regarding the claims against Mr. Ostrom, Mr. Ostrom opens with a statement of facts derived exclusively from the Original Complaint and Addendum.

A. FACTS INVOLVING MR. OSTROM.

Following the hearing on October 2, 2013, Plaintiff Curtis hired Mr. Ostrom on November 27, 2013.⁶ Mr. Ostrom then assisted in remanding the case back to Harris County Probate Number 4.⁷ Plaintiffs state in their Addendum that the matter was remanded to Harris County Probate Court Number 4 pursuant to a stipulation that in turn for the remand, Defendants agreed the federal injunction issued by this Court would remain in full force and effect.⁸ Plaintiffs then argue that once they were back in state court, Defendants immediately ignored the injunction.⁹ However, Plaintiffs contradict their own statement by acknowledging that Probate Court Number 4 entered an Order modifying the federal injunction.¹⁰ Obviously the federal injunction was not being ignored.

Plaintiffs complain of two actions taken by Mr. Ostrom. First, that Mr. Ostrom filed an application for distribution without Plaintiff Curtis's consent.¹¹ Attached to this Motion as Exhibit A is a letter from Mr. Ostrom to Plaintiff Curtis wherein he discusses the fact that she was aware of the application for distribution and indeed agreed to another application for distribution being filed.¹²

Secondly, Plaintiffs complain that Mr. Ostrom filed an amended complaint in the probate court raising questions as to the competency of a very lucid Nelva Brunsting.¹³ Attached to this motion as Exhibit B is a copy of the Plaintiff's Second Amended Petition that Plaintiffs are referring to.¹⁴ Nowhere within the Second Amended Petition does Mr. Ostrom raise the issue of

IV.
THE COURT SHOULD DISMISS THE PLAINTIFFS'
CLAIMS AGAINST MR. OSTROM.

A. PLAINTIFFS HAVE NOT ADEQUATELY PLEADED THE NECESSARY PREDICATE ACTS.

Based on virtually no specific allegations of a criminal enterprise beyond dissatisfaction with the public proceedings in the underlying case, the Plaintiffs have asserted two RICO claims against Mr. Ostrom. Plaintiffs have brought their RICO action under 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) AND 18 U.S.C. §1962(d).

To avoid dismissal for failure to state a claim, a plaintiff must articulate how each defendant engaged in a prohibited pattern of racketeering activity or "predicate acts."¹⁶ The only facts cited by Plaintiffs regarding Mr. Ostrom are found in the Addendum paragraphs 50, 51, and 55. To successfully plead a RICO claim under §1962(c), Plaintiffs must plead specific facts, that if true, would establish that each predicate act was in fact committed by Mr. Ostrom.¹⁷ Plaintiffs fail to meet this standard.

With respect to Mr. Ostrom, Plaintiffs have listed four federal crimes that appear in 18 U.S.C § 1961(l)'s definition of racketeering activity. However, to successfully plead a RICO claim under § 1962(c), Plaintiffs must do more than simple list the predicate act crimes necessary to establish a pattern of racketeering activity. Plaintiffs must also plead specific facts that, if true, would establish that each predicate act was in fact committed by Mr. Ostrom.¹⁸ Plaintiffs' Complaint fails to meet this standard. For most of the identified predicated acts, ¹⁷ Elliott v. Foufas, 867 F.2d 877, 880 (5th Cir. 1989).

¹⁸ Id. at 880.

Plaintiffs simply identify the statute, provide a general description of the conduct it prohibits, and then asserts that Mr. Ostrom violated the statute. However, these allegations are baseless on their face and a far cry from the truth. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claims must be dismissed.

B. THE PLAINTIFFS HAVE NOT STATED A RICO CLAIM UNDER SECTION 1962(c).

As to the claims under § 1962(c), the Plaintiffs did not allege with the requisite factual specificity (or beyond merely conclusory statements) any predicate acts committed by Mr. Ostrom. Similarly, the Plaintiffs did not allege and the law would not sustain any assertion that Mr. Ostrom conducted, controlled, or participated in an enterprise under the standard set forth by the Supreme Court in Reves.¹⁹

1. Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead with particularity their fraud-based predicate acts as required by Federal Rule 9(b).

Most of Plaintiffs' predicate acts are, at their core, allegations of fraudulent behavior. Because all of Plaintiffs' allegations are fundamentally grounded in fraud, "rule 9(b) applies and the predicate acts alleged must be plead with particularity."²⁰

Underpinning the heightened pleading requirement for fraud claims is the federal courts' determination that "defendants are not required to guess what statements were made in connection with a plaintiffs claim and how and why they are fraudulent."²¹ Thus, Plaintiffs' fraud allegations must specifically refer to the "time, place, and contents of the false representations, as well as the identity of the person making the representation and what the person obtained thereby."²² When pleading a claim for mail or wire fraud, Plaintiffs must specify the content of the alleged communications and how those communications advanced the alleged scheme to defraud the Plaintiffs.²³

Here, Plaintiffs have failed to allege the contents of any of the purported false representations made by Mr. Ostrom, or how they advanced the alleged scheme to defraud Plaintiffs, flaws that are fatal to their claims. Moreover, as stated above, Plaintiffs offer no real factual support for their obstruction of justice, mail and wire-fraud allegations, or truly any of their claims. Given these fatal defects, the Court should dismiss Plaintiffs' RICO action.

2. Plaintiffs have failed to plead reliance in connection with their fraud related claims.

RICO cases based upon fraud require a showing of detrimental reliance by the plaintiff.²⁴ This requirement, the Fifth Circuit has determined, is consistent with the Supreme Court's admonition in Holmes that federal courts employ traditional notions of proximate cause when assessing the nexus between a plaintiffs' injuries and the underlying RICO violation.²⁵ But, despite this firmly established requirement, Plaintiffs in this case have asserted no allegations-indeed, not even a conclusory allegation-detailing how they purportedly relied upon Mr. Ostrom's allegedly fraudulent conduct. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' RICO claims, most of which are fraud-based, should be dismissed.

C. PLAINTIFFS HAVE FAILED TO PLEAD A COGNIZABLE RICO ENTERPRISE

1. Plaintiffs Enterprise Allegations Are Too Vague and Conclusory

An enterprise is defined as "any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity."²⁶ The Fifth Circuit requires that "[i]n order to avoid dismissal for failure to state a claim, a plaintiff must plead specific facts, not mere conclusory allegations, which establish the existence of an enterprise."²⁷ To establish an "association in fact" enterprise under 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4) a plaintiff must show "evidence of an ongoing organization, formal or informal, and ... evidence that the various associates function as a continuing unit."²⁸

The Supreme Court in Turkette stated that the "enterprise is an entity, for present purposes a group of persons associated together for a common purpose of engaging in a course of conduct."²⁹ The Fifth Circuit has enumerated the requirements of an enterprise as requiring that it "(1) must have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, (2) must be an ongoing organization and (3) its members must function as a continuing unit shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision making structure."³⁰

"[T]wo individuals who join together for the commission of one discrete criminal offense have not created an "association-in-fact" enterprise, even if they commit two predicate acts during the commission of this offense, because their relationship to one another has no continuity."³¹ However, "if the individuals associate together to commit several criminal acts, their relationship gains an ongoing nature, coming within the purview of RICO."³²

Plaintiffs have provided virtually no facts concerning the alleged enterprise, how it operated, how decisions were made, what conduct beyond the alleged predicate acts they purportedly engaged in, how the operations of the individuals were carried out, or how they went about accomplishing their purported goals. Instead, Plaintiffs allege the text book elements of an enterprise characterized with inflammatory exaggerations and baseless conclusions.

Plaintiffs fail to allege any specific facts that would demonstrate a conspiracy of any kind-when it began, who was actually a part of such conspiracy or any facts suggesting that any defendant had actual knowledge that any of the seemingly harmless acts were done in furtherance of some secret conspiracy. In the absence of these, or any other supporting facts, Plaintiffs' pleadings are simply insufficient.

Given RICO's "draconian" penalties and the fact that the very pendency of a RICO suit can be stigmatizing and costly, Plaintiffs should be required to satisfy their pleading obligations.³³ Hence, to avert dismissal under Rule 12(b)(6), a civil RICO complaint must, at a bare minimum, state facts sufficient to portray (i) specific instances of racketeering activity within the reach of the RICO statute; and (ii) a causal nexus between that activity and the harm alleged.³⁴ Plaintiffs have failed to meet even this "bare minimum" requirement. Therefore, this case should be dismissed.

2. Plaintiffs alleged enterprise lacks continuity.

Because the RICO Act was enacted to address continuing threats of racketeering activities, the alleged RICO enterprises must meet certain "continuity" requirements.³⁵ Specifically, "[a]n

association-in fact enterprise (1) must have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, (2) must be an ongoing organization and (3) its members must function as a continuing unit as shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision making structure."³⁶ These requirements limit the application of the RICO Act, and serve to prevent an overly-broad application to general commercial conduct that was never really the intended focus of the Act.³⁷

Here, the purported enterprise fails to meet RICO's "continuity" requirement on all three levels. First, nothing in the Complaint even remotely suggests that the alleged enterprise is an ongoing organization that maintains operations that are separate and apart from the alleged predicate acts. Second, there are no facts in the Complaint suggesting that the enterprise is an ongoing organization, or that the various enterprise members function as a continuing unit. Lastly, there are no allegations of any hierarchical or consensual decision making structure. The absence of factual support for these key allegations is fatal, and thus, Plaintiffs have failed to meet the pleading standard for a cognizable enterprise.

D. PLAINTIFFS HAVE FAILED TO ADEQUATELY PLEAD A PATTERN OF RACKETEERING ACTIVITY.

Plaintiffs have also failed to plead facts sufficient to show a "pattern of racketeering activity," an element comprised of (1) the predicate acts and (2) a pattern of such acts.³⁸ To properly allege a "pattern" of predicate acts, Plaintiffs must plead both that the acts are related to each other and that those acts either constitute or threaten long-term criminal activity, thereby reflecting "continuity."³⁹ When used in discussion of predicate acts, the term "continuity" has a meaning that differs from the "continuity" requirement imposed on RICO enterprises, even though ³⁶ Crowe v. Henry, 43 F.3d 198, 205 (5th Cir. 1995).

³⁸ See In re Burzynski 989 F.2d 989 733, 741-42 (5th Cir. 1993) (citing Delta Truck, 855 F.2d at 242-43).

the label is the same. Establishing continuity in this context requires facts sufficient to show that the predicate acts "amount to or threaten continuous racketeering activity."⁴⁰ Such continuity may refer "either to a closed period of repeated conduct or to past conduct that by its nature projects into the future with a threat of repetition."⁴¹

Here, Plaintiffs alleges several times throughout their Complaint that Mr. Ostrom engaged in a "pattern of racketeering." However, their conclusory allegations fail to set forth the necessary pattern of predicate acts and the supporting facts to establish that they amount to or threaten continuous racketeering activity.

E. THE PLAINTIFFS HAVE NOT STATED A RICO CLAIM UNDER SECTION 1962(d).

To prove a RICO conspiracy, the Plaintiffs must establish (1) that two or more people agreed to commit a substantive RICO offense and (2) that the defendant knew of and agreed to the overall objective of the RICO offense.⁴² A RICO conspiracy thus has RICO-specific requirements—an agreement by at least two conspirators to engage in a pattern of racketeering.⁴³ Mere association with the enterprise is not actionable; agreement is essential.⁴⁴ Further, if a plaintiff fails to properly plead a RICO claim under §§ 1962(a), (b), or (c), it correspondingly fails to properly plead a conspiracy claim under § 1962(d).⁴⁵

The Court should dismiss the § 1962(d) claim because the Plaintiffs failed to state a claim under §§ 1962(a-c). As a result, the conspiracy claims fail under controlling Fifth Circuit authority.⁴⁶ The Court should additionally dismiss the claim because the Plaintiffs have not alleged any specific facts detailing an agreement to commit a RICO offense, what the agreement was, how it was reached, and when it was entered.⁴⁷ These types of missing details are necessary to state a claim under § 1962(d). As explained in Twombly, allegations that a defendant acted in ways consistent with a conspiratorial agreement, but also equally well explained by legitimate economic incentives, do not suffice to show illegality.⁴⁸ So too, unsupported conclusory allegations are not entitled to be assumed true, and dismissal is proper when a conspiracy allegation does not plausibly suggest an illicit accord because the conduct could be compatible with or explained by, lawful, unchoreographed free-market behavior.”⁴⁹ Because the Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, the Court should grant this Motion to Dismiss.

1. Plaintiffs’ claims should be dismissed because Plaintiffs’ allegations do not satisfy RICO’s proximate cause standard.

To recover damages under the RICO Act, Plaintiffs must prove that they suffered an injury to their "business or property by reason of a statutory violation. 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c). The "by reason of" language of RICO has been interpreted by the Supreme Court and to require a showing that the violation was the "but for" cause and "proximate" cause of the injury.⁵⁰ That is, a plaintiff must allege facts which show that, "but for" defendant's conduct, the plaintiff would not have suffered the injuries claimed.⁵¹ A plaintiff must also allege facts which show that its alleged injuries were a foreseeable consequence of the defendant's conduct.⁵²

⁴⁷ Lewis v. Sprock, 612 F.Supp. 1316, 1325 (N.D. Cal. 1985); Lui Ciro, Inc. v. Ciro, Inc., 895 F.Supp. 1365 (D. Hawaii 1995).

⁵² Navigant Consulting, Inc. v. Wilkinson, 508 F.3d 277,289 (5th Cir. 2007).

More plainly stated, a RICO plaintiff "only has standing if, and can only recover to the extent that, he has been injured in his business or property by the conduct constituting the [RICO] violation."⁵³

Thus, to avoid a Rule 12(b)(6) dismissal, Plaintiffs must allege the existence of a "direct relation between the injury asserted and the injurious conduct alleged."⁵⁴ These allegations must include specific facts; conclusory and generalized allegations are insufficient.⁵⁵ "When a court evaluates a RICO claim for proximate causation, the central question it must ask is whether the alleged violation led directly to the plaintiffs' injuries."⁵⁶

The United States Supreme Court emphasized RICO's proximate-cause requirement in Anza v. Ideal Steel Supply Corp. In explaining its conclusion, the Supreme Court identified circumstances that emphasized the lack of the necessary causal connection. One such circumstance was the difficulty the trial court would have accurately ascertaining damages. The "less direct an injury is, the more difficult it becomes to ascertain the amount of a plaintiffs' damages attributable to the violation, as distinct from other independent factors."⁵⁷ If the case were allowed to go forward, the court reasoned, the trial court would be faced with the difficult task of accurately ascertaining the plaintiff's damages.⁵⁸

Clearly, the allegations in the Complaint are insufficient to properly plead a violation of the RICO Act because they are vague, conclusory and generalized. Nevertheless, just like in Anza, Plaintiffs have alleged a similar disjunctive causation pattern with respect to their claims against Mr. Ostrom. There is not a direct relation between the injury asserted and the injurious conduct alleged as anticipated by Anza. At a minimum, the necessary causal link is missing. Because

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Mr. Ostrom respectfully prays that this Court GRANT this Motion to Dismiss, dismiss all of the Plaintiffs' claims against Mr. Ostrom with prejudice, and award Mr. Ostrom all such other relief to which he may be justly entitled.

Re: Cause No. 412,249; In Re: Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased; in the Probate Court Number Four (4) of Harris County, Texas

Dear Ms. Curtis:

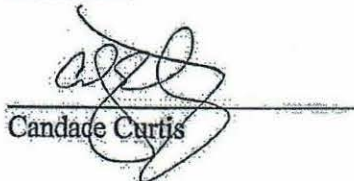

As you know, we asked the Court to order a distribution of funds out of the Brunsting Family Trust in order to pay the outstanding balance on your account with us. Unfortunately, Anita opposed our application and the Court denied it. The Judge did say, however, that she would entertain an Application for Partial Distribution of your share of the Trust. We could file that on your behalf with your authorization and your agreement that you would direct the distribution to us for payment on your account. The Application would not mention our fees, and there is no guarantee that the Court would grant this Application either – in spite of the fact that she recommended it during the hearing. However, it is currently the best option that I know of to address your outstanding account balance, which needs to be reduced in order for us to continue preparing for trial – a trial that seems necessary in light of the positions that your sisters took in mediation.

If you want to discuss this approach I am happy to have a telephone conference with you; please contact Mica DeScioli to set that up. Otherwise, if you would like for us just to proceed with asking the Court for this relief and not waste time discussing it further, simply sign this letter and return it to us, and we will get the Application prepared and filed.

Sincerely,

Jason B. Ostrom

PLAINTIFF’S SECOND AMENDED PETITION

TO THE HONORABLE PROBATE COURT:

COMES NOW, Plaintiff, Candace Louis Curtis, and files this Second Amended Petition and for cause of action would show as follows:

I. PARTIES

Plaintiff, Candace Louis Curtis is a citizen of the State of California.

Defendant Anita Kay Brunsting is a citizen of the State of Texas, who has made an appearance and can be served through her counsel of record.

Defendant Amy Ruth Brunsting is a citizen of the State of Texas, who has made an appearance and can be served through her counsel of record.

Defendant is Carole Ann Brunsting, is a citizen of the State of Texas who has made an appearance and can be served through her counsel of record.

Necessary Party is Carl Brunsting, individually and as Executor of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, who is a citizen of the State of Texas who has made an appearance and can be served through her counsel of record.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

This Court had jurisdiction pursuant to Sections 32.002(c) and 32.005 of the Texas Estates Code, Chapter 37 of the Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code, and Chapter 115 of the Texas Property Code. Venue is proper pursuant to Section 33.002.

III. BACKGROUND

Elmer and Nelva Brunsting created the Brunsting Family Trust, and placed essentially all of their assets into this Trust, of which they were the trustees. The Trust became irrevocable and not subject to amendment upon Elmer's death in 2009, at which time Nelva became the sole trustee of the two trusts into which the Family Trust was divided: the Decedent's Trust and the Survivor's Trust. She also became the sole beneficiary of the Survivor's Trust and the primary beneficiary of the Decedent's Trust.

In 2010, Defendants Anita and Amy began taking steps to control the Trust assets and garner a larger share than their siblings. To that end, they caused Nelva to execute a Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment in June of 2010 in which she exercised her power of appointment over all the property held in the Nelva E. Brunsting Survivor's Trust as well as in the Elmer H. Brunsting Decedent's Trust. The June exercise of Power of Appointment went on to ratify and confirm all the other provisions of the Trust. Two months later, they caused Nelva to execute a second Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment, in which she attempted to exercise the very same power of appointment she had exercised in June without revoking the prior exercise – instead she ratified and confirmed the June 2010 Power of Appointment. This second Qualified Beneficiary Designation purports to remove Candy and Carl as the trustees of their own trusts, while not subjecting Amy and Anita to that same fate, and contains paragraphs of self-serving no-contest provisions.

Seemingly because the future power she had obtained for herself was insufficient, Anita had Nelva resign as Trustee in December of 2010, in Anita's favor. As Trustee, Anita made numerous transfers that far exceeded the scope of her powers. She conveyed to Carole 1,325 shares of Exxon stock out of the Decedent's Trust, and gave 1,120 shares of Exxon to Amy out of the Survivor's

Trust, plus 270 shares of Chevron stock (held in the names of Amy's children). To herself she transferred 160 shares of Exxon, plus 405 shares of Chevron (270 shares she placed in the name of her children). Anita also paid herself thousands of dollars in the form of gifts, fees and reimbursements, and did the same for both Amy and Carole.

Carole not only received hundreds of thousands dollars worth of stock and cash distributions, she also had access to a bank account that Anita funded with Trust monies and used that bank account for her own purposes. She routinely charged this Trust account for her personal groceries, gasoline, and other expenses despite not being a present income beneficiary of the Trust.

IV. CAUSES OF ACTION

Breach of Fiduciary Duty. Defendants Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting are Co-Trustees of the Trust and owed to Plaintiff a fiduciary duty, which includes : (1) a duty of loyalty and utmost good faith; (2) a duty of candor; (3) a duty to refrain from self-dealing; (4) a duty to act with integrity of the strictest kind; (5) a duty of fair, honest dealing; and (6) a duty of full disclosure. Defendants have violated this duty by engaging in self-dealing, by failing to disclose the existence of assets to Plaintiff, by failing to account to Plaintiffs for Trust assets and income, by failing to place Plaintiff's interests ahead of their own, and by making distributions that deviate from the strict language of the Trust. Defendants Anita breached this duty during Nelva's life by engaging in self-dealing and taking actions not permitted by the terms of the Trust, and thus is liable to the Estate and derivatively to Plaintiff for these breaches. Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages, together with pre- and post-judgment interest and costs of court.

Fraud. Defendants Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting made misrepresentations of material facts with the intent that Plaintiff rely upon them, and Plaintiff did rely upon such misrepresentations to her detriment. Such misrepresentations included statements regarding the Trust, Trust assets, and her right to receive both information and Trust assets. On information and belief, Defendants made fraudulent misrepresentations to Nelva Brunsting upon which she relied to her detriment and to the ultimate detriment of her Estate. Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages, together with pre- and post-judgment interest both on behalf of herself, and on behalf of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased.

Constructive Fraud. Constructive fraud exists when a breach of a legal or equitable duty occurs that has a tendency to deceive others and violate their confidence. As a result of Defendants' fiduciary relationship with Plaintiff and with Nelva Brunsting, Defendants owed Plaintiff and Nelva Brunsting legal duties. The breaches of the fiduciary duties discussed above and incorporated herein by reference constitute constructive fraud, which caused injury to both Nelva Brunsting's Estate and Plaintiff. Plaintiff seeks actual damages, as well as, punitive damages individually and on behalf of Nelva Brunsting's Estate.

Money Had and Received. Defendants Anita, Amy and Carole have taken money that belongs in equity and good conscience to the Trust and derivatively to Plaintiff, and have done so with malice and through fraud, in part by representing that transfers to them were valid reimbursements. Plaintiff seeks her actual damages, exemplary damages, pre- and post-judgment interest and court costs.

Conversion. Defendants Anita, Amy and Carole have converted assets that belong to Plaintiff as beneficiary of the Brunsting Family Trust, assets that belong to the Brunsting Family Trust, and assets that belonged to Nelva Brunsting and that should be a part of her Estate. Defendants have wrongfully and with malice exercised dominion and control over these assets, and has damaged Plaintiff, the Brunsting Family Trust, as well as the Estate of Nelva Brunsting by so doing. Plaintiff seeks actual damages, exemplary damages, pre- and post-judgment interest and court costs, both individually and on behalf of the Decedent's Estate.

Tortious Interference with Inheritance Rights. A cause of action for tortious interference with inheritance rights exists when a defendant by fraud, duress, or other tortious means intentionally prevents another from receiving from a third person an inheritance or gift that he would otherwise have received. Defendants Amy, Anita, and Carole, herein breached their fiduciary duties and converted funds that would have passed to Plaintiff through the Brunsting Family Trust, and in doing so tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's inheritance rights. Plaintiff seeks actual damages as well as punitive damages.

Declaratory Judgment Action. The Brunsting Family Trust was created by Nelva and Elmer Brunsting, and became irrevocable upon the death of Elmer Brunsting. After his death, Nelva executed both the June and August Qualified Beneficiary Designations and Exercises of Testamentary Power of Appointment ("Modification Documents"), which attempted to change the terms of the then-irrevocable Trust. The Modification Documents fail because they attempted to change the terms of the Trust. Assuming without admitting that the June Modification Document is a valid Power of Appointment, then the August Modification Document fails because Nelva had already effectively appointed all of the Trust property in June; she never revoked that Power of Appointment, but actually affirmed it. Upon information and belief, Nelva did not understand what she was signing when she signed the Modification Documents, and signed them as a result of undue influence and/or duress. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the Modification Documents are not valid, and further that the in terrorem clause contained therein is overly broad, against public policy and not capable of enforcement. Plaintiff further seeks a declaration as to her rights under the Brunsting Family Trust. Plaintiff contends and will show that she has brought her action in good faith.

Declaratory Judgment Action. The Family Trust Agreement governed all of the rights and powers that Anita held as Trustee. Those rights and powers did not allow her to transfer out the shares of Exxon and Chevron stock. Her duties as a Trustee prevented her from distributing Trust Assets to some beneficiaries to the detriment and for the purpose of harming other beneficiaries. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the distributions of Chevron Stock and Exxon Stock to Amy, Anita and Carole are void because Anita as Trustee exceeded the scope of her power in making those gifts.

Unjust Enrichment. Defendants Amy, Anita and Carole have all been unjustly enriched by their receipt of Chevron Stock, Exxon Stock, and cash from the Trust. None were entitled to the distributions of stock, and a majority of the cash transfers were for purposes not authorized under the scope of the Trust Agreement nor of the purposes they alleged to be for. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the Defendants were unjustly enriched, and seeks the imposition of a constructive trust on the remaining Chevron Stock and Exxon Stock that remains in their possession, as well as on any cash or proceeds from the sale of said stock and on any cash distributions from the Trust.

Conspiracy. Upon information and belief, Defendants Anita, Amy and Carole all conspired to make improper withdrawals and distributions from the Trust, to decrease Plaintiff's inheritance and interest in the Trust, to enrich themselves at the expense of the Trust and other beneficiaries, and to conceal the impropriety of their actions. They should be found jointly and severally liable for the decrease in the Trust, and should be required to disgorge their ill-gotten gains.

Demand for Accounting. Plaintiff seeks a formal accounting from Defendants in compliance with the Texas Property Code.

V. JURY DEMAND

Plaintiff hereby makes her demand for a jury trial in this matter.

VI. PRAYER

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that upon final trial in this matter, she will take judgment for her actual and exemplary damages, actual and exemplary damages will be awarded to her and to the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, that pre- and post-judgment interest and costs of court will be assessed against the Defendants, and that she be granted such other and further relief to which she may show herself justly entitled.

DEFENDANTS JUDGE CHRISTINE RIDDLE BUTTS, JUDGE CLARINDA COMSTOCK & TONY BAIAMONTE’S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS’ MOTION FOR CONSOLIDATION

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE ALFRED H. BENNETT:

Defendants, the Honorable Judges Christine Riddle Butts and Clarinda Comstock and substitute Court Reporter Tony Baiamonte (collectively, “Harris County Defendants”) file this Response to Plaintiffs’ Motion for Consolidation [Doc. 61] and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

Background

On February 22, 2012, Plaintiff Curtis sued her siblings Anita and Amy Brunsting, claiming they breached fiduciary duties owed to her arising from their position as co-trustees of the Brunsting Family Trust (“Sibling Lawsuit”).¹ Upon motion by Curtis, the ¹ See Curtis’ Original Petition [Doc. 1] filed in Case No. 4:12-cv-0592, Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al. Harris County Defendants ask the Court to take judicial notice of this lawsuit and its pleadings.

Sibling Lawsuit was remanded to Harris County Probate Court 4.² The remand occurred on May 15, 2014. Curtis subsequently sought permission to e-file and was denied.³

Two years later, on July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs Curtis and paralegal Rik Munson filed this lawsuit, claiming the Harris County Defendants and lawyers representing various parties (including Curtis' former lawyer Jason Ostrom) were involved in some fictitious civil and criminal RICO conspiracy.

Plaintiffs now seek to consolidate the instant lawsuit with the Sibling Lawsuit -- however, not to consolidate it with the actual case that is pending in Probate Court 4, but to consolidate it in a federal court that has remanded and closed the case.

Argument & Authorities

The Motion for Consolidation should be denied because a pending matter cannot be consolidated into a closed case, especially one that involves no common questions of law or fact. Further, the case to which they seek consolidation is currently pending before Probate Court 4 – with the judges being sued in this case.

1. Consolidation should be denied because the “prior case” is closed.

A motion to consolidate a pending matter into a closed matter should be denied. See Order Denying Motion for Leave to File Motion to Consolidate, EP-Team, Inc. v. Aspen Infrastructure, Ltd., No. H-07-2549 [Doc. 17] (S. D. Tex. Jan. 10, 2008). In EP-Team, a court in this District was asked to consolidate a matter into an earlier-filed case that was closed. Id. The court denied consolidation, stating, “This case, Civil Action No. 07-2549, is the earlier case and it is closed, therefore, the Court cannot consolidate anything with it.” Id. (emphasis added); see also Clarke v. Dir., TDCJ-CID, No. 4:09-CV-404, 2012 WL 4120430, at *1 & *5 (E.D. Tex. Sept. 19, 2012) (denying a motion to consolidate because the “corresponding case” was “closed”); Hamilton v. United Healthcare of Louisiana, Inc., CIV.A. 01-585, 2003 WL 22779081, at *2 n.3 (E.D. La. Nov. 21, 2003) (determining that “consolidation was done in error” because the first-filed case “was closed” prior to consolidation) (emphasis added). And the “prior matter” is closed because Plaintiff Curtis herself requested the court remand the matter to Probate Court 4. See Doc. 112 in the Sibling Lawsuit. Thus, Plaintiffs’ Motion for Consolidation should be denied.

² See Sibling Lawsuit, Doc. 112.

³ See Sibling Lawsuit, Doc. 114, Order Denying Curtis Motion for Permission for Electronic Case Filing.

2. The Sibling Lawsuit and this lawsuit should not be consolidated.

In determining whether to consolidate, Courts consider five factors:

(1) whether the actions are pending before the same court, (2) whether common parties are involved in the cases, (3) whether there are common questions of law and/or fact, (4) whether there is risk of prejudice or confusion if the cases are consolidated, and if so, is the risk outweighed by the risk of inconsistent adjudications of factual and legal issues if the cases are tried separately, and (5) whether consolidation will conserve judicial resources and reduce the time and cost of trying the cases separately.”

446051, at *1 (S.D. Tex. Feb.7, 2007)). Here, those factors overwhelmingly show that the two cases should not be consolidated.

First, the actions are not pending before the same court. Indeed, as shown above, the “prior case” is not pending at all — it is closed.

Second, although some of the parties to the two matters are common between the two cases, several are not. None of the Harris County Defendants were parties to the Sibling Lawsuit. With the exception of Amy and Anita Brunsting, none of the 11 other Defendants were parties to the Sibling Lawsuit either (Jill Young, Gregory Lester, Candace Kunz-Freed, Albert Vacek, Jr., Bernard Lyle Matthews, III, Neil Spielman, Bradley Featherston, Stephen Mendel, Darlene Payne Smith, Bobbie Bayless and her attorney in the Sibling Lawsuit, Jason Ostrom).

Third, there are not common questions of law or fact. This matter involves RICO assertions made by Plaintiffs, who make the novel contention that the Judges, Court Reporter and attorneys that practice in Probate Court 4, known as the “Harris County Tomb Raiders” and the “Probate Mafia,” are involved in an alleged conspiracy to “transfer wealth” from estates by engaging in “poser advocacy.” There are no questions of law or fact in the closed matter, because it has been remanded to state court. But even if the Court looked to the questions of law and fact in the state court matter, those questions relate merely to estate law—not alleged federal RICO statutes and criminal conspiracies.

Fourth, there is an extraordinary risk of confusion that would result from consolidation of the cases. As examples, in the RICO case, many of the probate court litigants, the attorneys, and the judges are all Defendants, who are all more-or-less aligned in opposing Plaintiffs' RICO allegations. But in the probate matter itself, many of the parties share no such affinities. Certainly, it would be confusing for a fact-finder to be asked to determine, on the one hand, whether Plaintiff Curtis's own counsel was involved in the criminal enterprise "Probate Mafia," when that counsel also previously represented the Plaintiff in the closed federal court matter.

Fifth, consolidation will not conserve judicial resources since the prior matter is closed.

Conclusion & Prayer

The Motion for Consolidation should be denied because a pending matter cannot be consolidated into a closed case, especially one that involves no common questions of law or fact. For the reasons set forth above, the Harris County Defendants respectfully request the Court deny the Plaintiffs' Motion for Consolidation [Doc. 61] and award the Defendants such other and further relief to which this Court finds them to be justly entitled.

vs.

CANDACE KUNZ-FREED, et al

MOTION TO DISMISS

TO THE HONORABLE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE:

Defendant Bernard Lise Mathews, III, erroneously sued and served as “Bernard Lyle Mathews, III” (hereinafter referred to as “Mathews”) hereby files this Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim and for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction and would respectfully show the Court the following:

I. SUMMARY OF MOTION

1. Plaintiffs do not have an actual case or controversy with Mathews. Plaintiffs cannot articulate any action traceable to Mathews, which has caused any injury under any of the theoretical approaches taken by Plaintiffs. Additionally, Mathews cannot be held liable to Plaintiffs. Accordingly, Mathews requests that this Court dismiss Plaintiffs' claim for failure to state a claim and for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

II. BACKGROUND

2. Mathews handled only an Emergency Motion for Removal of Lis Pendens in the case of Candace Curtis vs. Anita and Amy Brunsting; in Civil Action 4:12-cv-00592, also file in this District Court. The purpose of the motion was to seek relief from a lis pendens to permit the trustees to consummate a fair market sale of residential real property owned by the Brunsting Family Living Trust. A telephone conference with the Judge was held on the motion with Candace Curtis participating. At the conclusion of this hearing Judge Kenneth Hoyt, on his own motion, dismissed the underlying action for lack of jurisdiction.

3. Candace Curtis appealed this dismissal, but Anita and Amy Brunsting hired new counsel who handled the appeal, the subsequent remanded action, and various other matters. Mathews had no other involvement in this case, or any other legal proceedings involving any of the parties to this case. Although acting at various times as “Of Counsel” to the firm of Vacek & Freed, Mathews never had any role in designing, drafting, administering or enforcing the provisions of the Brunsting Family Trust. Mathews has had no contact with the plaintiff’s outside of the above-mentioned Motion, and has had no substantive contact with any of the co-defendants who are asserted to have engaged in various conspiracies in Plaintiff’s Verified Complaint for Damages. There are no factual allegations in the Complaint that would tie Mathews to any of the fanciful theories of liability. In essence, Mathews is just an unfortunate bystander caught in the net of craziness that is the modus operandi of Candace Curtis and her surrogate, Rik Munson.

III. BASIS FOR MOTION TO DISMISS AND STANDARD OF REVIEW

4. Rule 12(b)(6) authorizes dismissal of an action for "failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted" if the plaintiffs complaint lacks "direct allegations on every material point necessary to sustain a recovery" or fails to "contain allegations from which an inference fairly may be drawn that evidence on these material points will be introduced at trial." FED. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6); Campbell v. San Antonio, 43 F.3d 973, 975 (5th Cir. 1995). Although a court is required to accept all well-pleaded facts as true, a court does not accept as true conclusory allegations, "unwarranted deductions of fact," or "legal conclusions masquerading as factual conclusions." See, e.g., Tuchman v. DSC Communications, 14 F.3d 1061, 1067 (5th Cir. 1994). A claim must be dismissed if the claimant can prove no set of facts that would entitle it to relief. Campbell v. City of San Antonio, 43 F.3d 973, 975 (5th Cir. 1995) "The court is not required to 'conjure up unpled allegations or construe elaborately arcane scripts to save a complaint." Id. For the reasons set forth in more detail below, Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed because Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

5. Rule 12(b)(1) permits the dismissal of an action for lack of subject matter jurisdiction when the district court lacks authority to hear the dispute. See generally, U.S. v. Morton, 467 U.S. 822 (1984). The burden of proof for a Rule 12(b)(1) motion to dismiss is on the party asserting jurisdiction. Ramming v. United States, 281 F.3d 158, 161 (5th Cir. 2001). To establish subject matter jurisdiction, a party must show that an actual case or controversy exists between himself and the party from whom relief is sought. Standing is an essential element in the determination of whether a true case or controversy exists. A motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction should be granted if it appears certain that the plaintiff cannot prove any set of facts in support of his claim that would entitle him to relief.

Id.

IV.

ARGUMENTS AND AUTHORITIES

6. Mathews adopts the Arguments and Authorities set forth by all other Defendants in their Motions to dismiss on file herein, and adopts by reference that material as if set forth herein verbatim.

V. PRAYER

DEFENDANT GREGORY LESTER’S
MOTION TO DISMISS COMPLAINT PURSUANT TO FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6)

Defendant Gregory Lester (“Mr. Lester”) files this Rule 12 Motion to Dismiss and shows the following:

I.
INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs’ pro se Complaint (D.E. #1) purports to assert almost fifty “claims” against more than fifteen defendants, who are lawyers, judges, and other legal professionals who practice in Harris County Probate Court Number 4. Plaintiffs in this case are Candace Curtis, a disgruntled sibling in a probate case and Rik Munson, her alleged “domestic partner” and paralegal who claims to have assisted Curtis in her ongoing litigation against her siblings.

The allegations related to Mr. Lester are minimal. The information identifying Mr. Lester as a defendant is contained in paragraphs 1, 16, 55, 56 and 59 of the Complaint. (D.E.# 1).

Paragraph 55 of the Complaint alleges that Mr. Lester is an attorney who has practiced in Harris County Probate Courts. Paragraph 56 alleges, without any facts to support it, that Mr. Lester and the other named defendants have engaged in a criminal enterprise somehow being conducted through Harris County Probate Court Number 4. Paragraph 59 makes a similar allegation, again without any factual support. The Complaint asserts no factual content sufficient to maintain any cause of action against Mr. Lester. (D.E.#1).

In response to Motions to Dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) filed by some Defendants, Plaintiffs filed their Addendum of Memorandum in Support of RICO Complaint. (D.E. #26). Rather than provide any specifics about how a frivolous 59-page complaint states a RICO claim against Mr. Lester, Plaintiffs have instead come forward with a 25-page Addendum that still does not state a claim. (D.E.# 26). Although the Addendum is replete with inaccuracies, it has not changed or added any additional factual allegations to support RICO claims. All the Addendum does is describe a handful of events and then conclude without explanation that the events constitute a RICO predicate act. Because the Addendum does nothing to cure the problems found in Plaintiffs' Original Complaint, the Court should grant this Motion and dismiss all claims against Mr. Lester.

II. STANDARDS OF REVIEW FOR PLEADING CONSTRUCTION

In a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the Court accepts all factual allegations in the pleadings as true and examines whether the allegations state a claim sufficient to avoid dismissal.¹ This standard of construction presupposes well-pleaded facts; a court does not accept conclusory allegations, unwarranted factual inferences, or legal conclusions as true.² It is appropriate to consider the exhibits attached to a complaint for purposes of a Rule 12(b)(6) motion.³ A Court should grant a Rule 12(b)(6) motion when it appears that no relief could be granted under any set of facts that could be proven consistent with the allegations.⁴ Similarly, when a complaint raises an arguable question of law which the district court ultimately finds is correctly resolved against the plaintiff, dismissal on Rule 12(b)(6) grounds is appropriate.⁵

¹ Guilbeaux v. Grand Casinos, Inc., 114 F.3d 1181 (5th Cir. 1997); Kansa Reins Co. v. Congressional Mortgage Corp., 20 F.3d 1362, 1366 (5th Cir. 1994).

III.
STATEMENT OF FACTS DERIVED EXCLUSIVELY FROM PLAINTIFFS'
ORIGINAL COMPLAINT AND ADDENDUM

It is evident from the Original Complaint that Plaintiffs have underlying litigation in Probate Court Number Four with various attorneys and opposing parties. It is also evident from the Original Complaint that Plaintiffs are dissatisfied with the status of those proceedings. Beyond this, it has been extremely cumbersome to locate any specific allegations against Mr. Lester. In an effort to provide some clarity for the Court regarding the claims against Mr. Lester, Mr. Lester opens with a statement of facts.

A. FACTS INVOLVING MR. LESTER.

On July 23, 2015, the Honorable Christine Butts, Judge of Harris County Probate Court Number Four (4), entered its Order Appointing Temporary Administrator Pending Contest Pursuant to Texas Estates Code 452.051.⁶ That Order appointed Gregory Lester as Temporary Administrator with limited powers.⁷ The only powers conferred on Mr. Lester were the powers to investigate all claims pending by all parties and file a report with the court regarding the merits of the claims.⁸ The Order was only effective for 180 days.⁹ Mr. Lester filed his Report of Temporary Administrator Pending Contest on January 14, 2016.¹⁰

Against Mr. Lester, Plaintiffs allege causes of action for:

- “18 U.S.C. §1962(d) the Enterprise;”¹¹
- “The Racketeering Conspiracy 18 U.S.C. §1962(c);”¹²
- Three claims for “Honest Services 18 U.S.C. §1346 and 2;”¹³

But despite the many “claims”, Plaintiffs complain of only one specific action taken by Mr.

Lester. Plaintiffs allege that Mr. Lester filed a “fictitious report into the Harris County Probate Court No.4.”²⁰ Plaintiffs have asserted no factual content sufficient to maintain any cause of action against Mr. Lester. The Complaint should be dismissed with prejudice.

IV.
THE COURT SHOULD DISMISS THE PLAINTIFFS’
CLAIMS AGAINST MR. LESTER.

A. PLAINTIFFS HAVE NOT ADEQUATELY PLEADED THE NECESSARY PREDICATE ACTS.

Based on virtually no specific allegations of a criminal enterprise beyond dissatisfaction with the public proceedings in the underlying case, the Plaintiffs have asserted two RICO claims against Mr. Lester. Plaintiffs have brought their RICO action under 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) AND 18 U.S.C. §1962(d).

To avoid dismissal for failure to state a claim, a plaintiff must articulate how each defendant engaged in a prohibited pattern of racketeering activity or “predicate acts.”²¹ Plaintiffs fail to meet this standard.

With respect to Mr. Lester, Plaintiffs have listed four federal crimes that appear in 18 U.S.C § 1961(l)'s definition of racketeering activity. However, to successfully plead a RICO claim under § 1962(c), Plaintiffs must do more than simple list the predicate act crimes necessary to establish a pattern of racketeering activity. Plaintiffs must also plead specific facts that, if true, would establish that each predicate act was in fact committed by Mr. Lester.²² Plaintiffs' Complaint fails to meet this standard. For most of the identified predicated acts, Plaintiffs simply identify the statute, provide a general description of the conduct it prohibits, and then asserts that Mr. Lester violated the statute. However, these allegations are baseless on their face and a far cry from the truth. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claims must be dismissed.

²⁰ See Complaint, Paragraph 123.

²² Id. at 880.

B. THE PLAINTIFFS HAVE NOT STATED A RICO CLAIM UNDER SECTION 1962(c).

As to the claims under § 1962(c), the Plaintiffs did not allege with the requisite factual specificity (or beyond merely conclusory statements) any predicate acts committed by Mr. Lester. Similarly, the Plaintiffs did not allege and the law would not sustain any assertion that Mr. Lester conducted, controlled, or participated in an enterprise under the standard set forth by the Supreme Court in Reves.²³

1. Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead with particularity their fraud-based predicate acts as required by Federal Rule 9(b).

Most of Plaintiffs' predicate acts are, at their core, allegations of fraudulent behavior. Because all of Plaintiffs' allegations are fundamentally grounded in fraud, "rule 9(b) applies and the predicate acts alleged must be plead with particularity."²⁴

Underpinning the heightened pleading requirement for fraud claims is the federal courts' determination that "defendants are not required to guess what statements were made in connection with a plaintiffs claim and how and why they are fraudulent."²⁵ Thus, Plaintiffs' fraud allegations must specifically refer to the "time, place, and contents of the false representations, as well as the identity of the person making the representation and what the person obtained thereby."²⁶ When pleading a claim for mail or wire fraud, Plaintiffs must specify the content of the alleged communications and how those communications advanced the alleged scheme to defraud the Plaintiffs.²⁷

P. 9(b) ("In all averments of fraud or mistake, the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake shall be stated with particularity.").

²⁵ Allstate Insurance Company v. Benhamou, No. 4:15-CV-00367, 2016 WL 3126423, at *17 (S.D. Tex. June 2, 2016).

²⁷ Elliott, 867 F.2d at 882; Old Time Enterprises, 862 F.2d at 1218; Tel-Phonic Servs., 975 F.2d at 1138.

Here, Plaintiffs have failed to allege the contents of any of the purported false representations made by Mr. Lester, or how they advanced the alleged scheme to defraud Plaintiffs, flaws that are fatal to their claims. Moreover, as stated above, Plaintiffs offer no real factual support for their obstruction of justice, mail and wire-fraud allegations, or truly any of their claims. Given these fatal defects, the Court should dismiss Plaintiffs' RICO action.

2. Plaintiffs have failed to plead reliance in connection with their fraud related claims.

RICO cases based upon fraud require a showing of detrimental reliance by the plaintiff.²⁸ This requirement, the Fifth Circuit has determined, is consistent with the Supreme Court's admonition in Holmes that federal courts employ traditional notions of proximate cause when assessing the nexus between a plaintiffs' injuries and the underlying RICO violation.²⁹ But, despite this firmly established requirement, Plaintiffs in this case have asserted no allegations-indeed, not even a conclusory allegation-detailing how they purportedly relied upon Mr. Lester's allegedly fraudulent conduct. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' RICO claims, most of which are fraud-based, should be dismissed.

C. PLAINTIFFS HAVE FAILED TO PLEAD A COGNIZABLE RICO ENTERPRISE

1. Plaintiffs Enterprise Allegations Are Too Vague and Conclusory

An enterprise is defined as "any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity."³⁰ The Fifth Circuit requires that "[i]n order to avoid dismissal for failure to state a claim, a plaintiff must plead specific facts, not mere conclusory allegations, which establish the existence of an enterprise."³¹ To establish an "association in fact" enterprise under 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4) a plaintiff must show "evidence of an ongoing organization, formal or informal, and ... evidence that the various associates function as a continuing unit."³²

The Supreme Court in Turkette stated that the "enterprise is an entity, for present purposes a group of persons associated together for a common purpose of engaging in a course of conduct."³³ The Fifth Circuit has enumerated the requirements of an enterprise as requiring that it "(1) must have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, (2) must be an ongoing organization and (3) its members must function as a continuing unit shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision making structure."³⁴

"[T]wo individuals who join together for the commission of one discrete criminal offense have not created an "association-in-fact" enterprise, even if they commit two predicate acts during the commission of this offense, because their relationship to one another has no continuity."³⁵ However, "if the individuals associate together to commit several criminal acts, their relationship gains an ongoing nature, coming within the purview of RICO."³⁶

Plaintiffs have provided virtually no facts concerning the alleged enterprise, how it operated, how decisions were made, what conduct beyond the alleged predicate acts they purportedly engaged in, how the operations of the individuals were carried out, or how they went about accomplishing their purported goals. Instead, Plaintiffs allege the text book elements of an enterprise characterized with inflammatory exaggerations and baseless conclusions.

Plaintiffs fail to allege any specific facts that would demonstrate a conspiracy of any kind-when it began, who was actually a part of such conspiracy or any facts suggesting that any defendant had actual knowledge that any of the seemingly harmless acts were done in furtherance of some secret conspiracy. In the absence of these, or any other supporting facts, Plaintiffs' pleadings are simply insufficient.

Given RICO's "draconian" penalties and the fact that the very pendency of a RICO suit can be stigmatizing and costly, Plaintiffs should be required to satisfy their pleading obligations.³⁷ Hence, to avert dismissal under Rule 12(b)(6), a civil RICO complaint must, at a bare minimum, state facts sufficient to portray (i) specific instances of racketeering activity within the reach of the RICO statute; and (ii) a causal nexus between that activity and the harm alleged."³⁸ Plaintiffs have failed to meet even this "bare minimum" requirement. Therefore, this case should be dismissed.

2. Plaintiffs alleged enterprise lacks continuity.

Because the RICO Act was enacted to address continuing threats of racketeering activities, the alleged RICO enterprises must meet certain "continuity" requirements.³⁹ Specifically, "[a]n association-in fact enterprise (1) must have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, (2) must be an ongoing organization and (3) its members must function as a continuing unit as shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision making structure."⁴⁰ These requirements limit the application of the RICO Act, and serve to prevent an overly-broad application to general commercial conduct that was never really the intended focus of the Act.⁴¹

Here, the purported enterprise fails to meet RICO's "continuity" requirement on all three levels. First, nothing in the Complaint even remotely suggests that the alleged enterprise is an ongoing organization that maintains operations that are separate and apart from the alleged predicate acts. Second, there are no facts in the Complaint suggesting that the enterprise is an ongoing organization, or that the various enterprise members function as a continuing unit. Lastly, there are no allegations of any hierarchical or consensual decision making structure. The absence of factual support for these key allegations is fatal, and thus, Plaintiffs have failed to meet the pleading standard for a cognizable enterprise.

D. PLAINTIFFS HAVE FAILED TO ADEQUATELY PLEAD A PATTERN OF RACKETEERING ACTIVITY.

Plaintiffs have also failed to plead facts sufficient to show a "pattern of racketeering activity," an element comprised of (1) the predicate acts and (2) a pattern of such acts.⁴² To properly allege a "pattern" of predicate acts, Plaintiffs must plead both that the acts are related to each other and that those acts either constitute or threaten long-term criminal activity, thereby reflecting "continuity."⁴³ When used in discussion of predicate acts, the term "continuity" has a meaning that differs from the "continuity" requirement imposed on RICO enterprises, even though the label is the same. Establishing continuity in this context requires facts sufficient to show that the predicate acts "amount to or threaten continuous racketeering activity."⁴⁴ Such continuity may refer "either to a closed period of repeated conduct or to past conduct that by its nature projects into the future with a threat of repetition."⁴⁵

⁴² See In re Burzynski 989 F.2d 989 733, 741-42 (5th Cir. 1993) (citing Delta Truck, 855 F.2d at 242-43).

⁴³ H.J., Inc. v. Northwestern Bell Tel. Co., 492 U.S. 229, 239 (1989).

⁴⁴ In re Burzynski, 989 F.2d at 742-43 (finding no continuity where the acts complained of had ended and, thus, did not threaten long-term criminal activity).

⁴⁵ Id. (quoting H.J., Inc., 492 U.S. at 241).

Here, Plaintiffs alleges several times throughout their Complaint that Mr. Lester engaged in a "pattern of racketeering." However, their conclusory allegations fail to set forth the necessary pattern of predicate acts and the supporting facts to establish that they amount to or threaten continuous racketeering activity.

E. THE PLAINTIFFS HAVE NOT STATED A RICO CLAIM UNDER SECTION 1962(d).

To prove a RICO conspiracy, the Plaintiffs must establish (1) that two or more people agreed to commit a substantive RICO offense and (2) that the defendant knew of and agreed to the overall objective of the RICO offense.⁴⁶ A RICO conspiracy thus has RICO-specific requirements—an agreement by at least two conspirators to engage in a pattern of racketeering.⁴⁷ Mere association with the enterprise is not actionable; agreement is essential.⁴⁸ Further, if a plaintiff fails to properly plead a RICO claim under §§ 1962(a), (b), or (c), it correspondingly fails to properly plead a conspiracy claim under § 1962(d).⁴⁹

The Court should dismiss the § 1962(d) claim because the Plaintiffs failed to state a claim under §§ 1962(a-c). As a result, the conspiracy claims fail under controlling Fifth Circuit authority.⁵⁰ The Court should additionally dismiss the claim because the Plaintiffs have not alleged any specific facts detailing an agreement to commit a RICO offense, what the agreement was, how it was reached, and when it was entered.⁵¹ These types of missing details are necessary to state a claim under § 1962(d). As explained in Twombly, allegations that a defendant acted in ways consistent with a conspiratorial agreement, but also equally well explained by legitimate economic incentives, do not suffice to show illegality.⁵² So too, unsupported conclusory allegations are not entitled to be assumed true, and dismissal is proper when a conspiracy allegation does not plausibly suggest an illicit accord because the conduct could be compatible with or explained by, lawful, unchoreographed free-market behavior."⁵³ Because the Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, the Court should grant this Motion to Dismiss.

1. Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed because Plaintiffs' allegations do not satisfy RICO's proximate cause standard.

To recover damages under the RICO Act, Plaintiffs must prove that they suffered an injury to their "business or property by reason of a statutory violation. 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c). The "by reason of" language of RICO has been interpreted by the Supreme Court and to require a showing that the violation was the "but for" cause and "proximate" cause of the injury.⁵⁴ That is, a plaintiff must allege facts which show that, "but for" defendant's conduct, the plaintiff would not have suffered the injuries claimed.⁵⁵ A plaintiff must also allege facts which show that its alleged injuries were a foreseeable consequence of the defendant's conduct.⁵⁶ More plainly stated, a RICO plaintiff "only has standing if, and can only recover to the extent that, he has been injured in his business or property by the conduct constituting the [RICO] violation."⁵⁷

Thus, to avoid a Rule 12(b)(6) dismissal, Plaintiffs must allege the existence of a "direct relation between the injury asserted and the injurious conduct alleged."⁵⁸ These allegations must include specific facts; conclusory and generalized allegations are insufficient.⁵⁹ "When a court evaluates a RICO claim for proximate causation, the central question it must ask is whether the alleged violation led directly to the plaintiffs' injuries."⁶⁰ The United States Supreme Court emphasized RICO's proximate-cause requirement in Anza v. Ideal Steel Supply Corp. In explaining its conclusion, the Supreme Court identified circumstances that emphasized the lack of the necessary causal connection. One such circumstance was the difficulty the trial court would have accurately ascertaining damages. The "less direct an injury is, the more difficult it becomes to ascertain the amount of a plaintiffs' damages attributable to the violation, as distinct from other independent factors."⁶¹ If the case were allowed to go forward, the court reasoned, the trial court would be faced with the difficult task of accurately ascertaining the plaintiff's damages.⁶²

Clearly, the allegations in the Complaint are insufficient to properly plead a violation of the RICO Act because they are vague, conclusory and generalized. Nevertheless, just like in Anza, Plaintiffs have alleged a similar disjunctive causation pattern with respect to their claims against Mr. Lester. There is not a direct relation between the injury asserted and the injurious conduct alleged as anticipated by Anza. At a minimum, the necessary causal link is missing. Because Plaintiffs have failed to allege facts necessary to meet the Supreme Court's high proximate-causation standard, this case should be dismissed.

F. PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS FOR "HOBBS ACT," "WIRE FRAUD," "FRAUD UNDER 18 U.S.C. 51001," AND "HONEST SERVICES" FAIL BECAUSE THOSE STATUTES DO NOT CREATE PRIVATE CAUSES OF ACTION.

⁵⁹ Fernandez-Montez v. Allied Pilots Ass'n, 987 F.2d 278,284 (5th Cir. 1993).

⁶² Id.

The Plaintiffs purport to assert claims against Mr. Lester for violation of the Hobbs Act, Wire Fraud, "Fraud under 18 U.S.C. 1001," and "Honest Services," but those acts do not create private causes of action. Thus, those claims should all be dismissed.

1. The Hobbs Act does not create a private cause of action.

The Hobbs Act does not create a private cause of action. Moore v. Garner, No. Civ.A. 6:04-CV-79, 2005 WL 1022088, at *4 (E.D. Tex. 2005) ("Nor does the Hobbs Act create a private cause of action") (citing Wisdom v. First Midwest Bank, 167 F.3d 402, 408 (8th Cir. 1999)). This is settled law. See, e.g., Campbel v. Austin Air Systems, Ltd., 423 F. Supp. 2d 61, 72 (W.D.N.Y. September 29, 2005) ("[F]ederal courts have consistently found that the Hobbs Act does not support a private cause of action."); Barge v. Apple Computer, No. 95 CIV. 9715 (KMW), 1997 WL 394935, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. July 15, 1997), affd, 164 F.3d 617 (2nd Cir. 1998) ("[C]ourts that have considered this question have consistently found that the Hobbs Act does not support a private cause of action."); John's Insulation, Inc. v. Siska Constr. Co., Inc., 774 F. Supp. 156, 163 (S.D.N.Y. 1991) ("There is no implied private cause of action under the Hobbs Act.").

Thus, Plaintiffs' Hobbs Act claim against Mr. Lester fails.

2. The Wire Fraud statute does not create a private cause of action.

The wire fraud statute does not create a private cause of action. See Thompson v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., CV H-15-598, 2016 WL 164114, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Jan. 14, 2016) (Rosenthal, J.) (citing Napper v. Anderson, Hensley, Shields, Bradford & Pritchard, 500 F.2d 634, 636 (5th Cir. 1974) for its holding that there is "no private cause of action under the mail-and wire fraud statutes, 18 U.S.C. 1341 and 1343"); see also Morse v. Stanley, ICV230, 2012 WL 1014996, at *2 (E.D. Tex. Mar. 23, 2012) ("18 U.S.C. 1343 is a criminal statute pertaining to wire fraud and does not provide Plaintiff with a private cause of action."); Benitez v. Rumage, CIV.A. c-11-208, 2011 WL 3236199, at *1 (S.D. Tex. July 27, 2011) (the wire fraud statute "do[es] not provide a private cause of action").

Thus, Plaintiffs' Wire Fraud act claim against Mr. Lester fails.

3. The claim for "Fraud under 18 U.S.C. 91001" is not a private cause of action.

Plaintiffs' claim for "Fraud 18 U.S.C. 1001" fails, as well, because that statute does not create a private cause of action. See Thompson v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., CV H-15-598, 2016 WL 164114, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Jan. 14, 2016) (Rosenthal, J.) ("The Thompsons assert causes of action under 18 U.S.C. 1001, 1010, 1014, 1341, 1343, and 1344. These federal criminal statutes do not provide a private cause of action.") (emphasis added). Again, this is settled law. See Blaze v. Payne, 819 F.2d 128, 130 (5th Cir. 1987) ("Finding no congressional intent to create a private right of action under 1001 (b), Blaze has failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, and the district court's grant of summary judgment was proper."); Grant v. CPC Logistics Inc., 3:12-CV-200-L BK, 2012 WL 601149, at *1 (N.D. Tex. Feb. 1, 2012), report and recommendation adopted, 3:12-CV-200-L, 2012 WL 601128 (N.D. Tex. Feb. 23, 2012) ("Federal courts have repeatedly held that violations of criminal statutes, such as 18 U.S.C. 1001, 1505 and 1621, do not give rise to a private right of action.") (emphasis added); Parker v. Blake, CIV. A. 08-184, 2008 WL 4092070, at *3 (W.D. La. Aug. 29, 2008) ("Section 1001 provides criminal penalties for persons convicted of fraud or false statements during the course of certain dealings with the federal government As above, this criminal statute, were it applicable to allegations made by plaintiff still would not create a private civil cause of action or entitlement to monetary relief thereunder."); Doyon v. U.S., No. A-07-CA977-SS, 2008 WL 2626837, at *4 (W.D. Tex. June 26, 2008) (holding that there is "no private cause of action under 18 U.S.C. 1001 ").

Thus, Plaintiffs' claim for "Fraud 18 U.S.C. 1001" fails.

4. The claim for "Honest Services" is not a private cause of action.

Plaintiffs allege three claims for "honest services," based on 18 U.S.C. 1346.⁶³ But 18 U.S.C. §1346 does not create a private cause of action either. See Eberhardt v. Braud, 16-CV-3153, 2016 WL 3620709, at *3 (C.D. 111. June 29, 2016) ("Plaintiff attempts to bring a private right of action under 18 U.S.C. 1346 and 18 U.S.C. §1951, but those criminal statutes do not contain an express or implied private right of action."); Alford v. S. Gen. Ins., 7:12-CV-00273-BR, 2013 WL 1010584, at *2 (E.D.N.C. Mar. 14, 2013) (holding that a "claim for honest services fraud under 18 U.S.C. 1346" must be dismissed "pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) because a private right of action for a violation of that law does not exist"); Hooten v. Greggo & Ferrara Co., CIV. 10-776-RGA, 2012 WL 4718648, at *6 (D. Del. Oct. 3, 2012) ("18 U.S.C. 1341 and 1346 . . . are found in the federal criminal code. Neither §1341 or 1346 allow for a private cause of action.").

Thus, Plaintiffs' three claims against Mr. Lester for "Honest Services" fail.

5. Plaintiffs rely on impermissible collective pleading.

"A complaint does not satisfy the requirements of Iqbal and Twombly by lumping together all defendants, while providing no factual basis to distinguish their conduct."⁶⁴ And the pleading requirements of Rule 9(b) likewise demand specific and separate allegations against each defendant.⁶⁵

⁶³ See Complaint at ¶¶121-123.

⁶⁴ In re Parkcentral Glob. Litig., 884 F. Supp. 2d 464, 471 (N.D. Tex. 2012) ("It is impermissible to make general allegations that lump all defendants together; rather, the complaint must segregate the alleged wrongdoing of No. 1 from another.").

⁶⁵ See Dimas v. Vanderbilt Mortg & Fin., Inc., No. C-10-68, 2010 WL 1875803, at *8 (S.D. Tex. May 6, 2010) ("[W]hile the Complaint makes several general allegations of fraud, it often fails to specify the role each Defendant played in the alleged scheme."); Unimobil 84, Inc. v. Spurney, 797 F.2d 214, 217 (5th Cir. 1986) (affirming dismissal of fraud claim for not stating with particularity "what representations each defendant made").

Here, Plaintiffs offer no individualized allegations about any wrongful conduct they allege against Mr. Lester. Instead, Plaintiffs' vague and fanciful pleadings are lobbed at all Defendants, with no discernible specific or separate allegations for Mr. Lester. This is insufficient to state a claim.

V.
PRAYER

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Mr. Lester respectfully prays that this Court GRANT this Motion to Dismiss, dismiss all of the Plaintiffs' claims against Mr. Lester with prejudice, and award Mr. Lester all such other relief to which he may be justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

ORDER APPOINTING TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATOR PENDING CONTEST
PURSUANT TO TEXAS ESTATES CODE 452.051

On March 23, 2015, the Court heard and approved Carl Henry Brunsting's Application to Resign as Independent Executor. On July 21, 2015 the Court heard and considered CARL HENRY BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO RESIGN AS INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR AND CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS' APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AS SUCCESSOR PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE; Anita Kay Brunsting's OBJECTION TO CANDACE CURTS' APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AS PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE; AMY RUTH BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO BE NAMED SUCCESSOR EXECUTOR, RESPONSE TO CARL BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO RESIGN AS INDEPENDENT EXECUTOR AND OBJECTION TO CANDACE CURTIS'S APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AS SUCCESSOR EXECUTOR; Carl Brunsting's OBJECTION TO AMY RUTH BRUNSTING'S APPLICATION TO BE NAMED SUCCESSOR EXECUTOR; and Candace Curtis' RESPONSE TO OBJECTIONS TO APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT AND OBJECTION TO AMY BRUNSTINGS APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT.

The Court finds that the Court has jurisdiction and venue over Decedent's Estate; that it is in the best interest of the Estate that a personal representative be immediately appointed; and that the parties have reached an agreement regarding the appointment of a Temporary Administrator Pending Contest with limited powers, which was announced on the record at said hearing, the terms of which are substantially as follows:

Greg Lester, Temporary Administrator Pending Contest will report to the Court regarding the merits of these claims on or before the expiration of this Order. This Order shall expire 180 days after the date that it is signed.

Brunsting Survivor's Trust agree to advance funds to the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting (the "Estate") to pay all court approved fees and expenses of the Temporary Administrator Pending Contest.

3. The Temporary Administrator Pending Contest has the authority to seek a continuance in the "District Court Case" in which the Estate is a plaintiff, of the hearing on the Motion for Summary Judgment current scheduled for July 31, 2015 and to seek continuance of the October, 2015 trial setting in that matter.

4. Amy Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis each agree to a qualified declination to serve as Successor Independent Executor of the Estates of Nelva E. Brunsting and Elmer H. REPORT OF TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATOR PENDING CONTEST

On July 24, 2015 an Order of this Court, signed by Judge Christine Butts on July 23, 2015, was filed in the above styled and numbered case. In this Order the Court stated that Greg Lester was appointed Temporary Administrator Pending Contest of this estate. The Court directed that Greg Lester will report to the Court regarding the merits of the claims in this case on or before the expiration of this Order. The Order will expire on or about January 20, 2016, which is 180 days after the date that the Order was signed.

BACKGROUND

The Brunsting Family

Nelva and Elmer Brunsting were married and had five (5) children: Candace Louise Curtis ("Candace"), Carol Ann Brunsting ("Carol"), Carl Henry Brunsting ("Carl"), Amy Ruth Tschirhart ("Amy") and Anita Kay Riley ("Anita").

The Brunsting Family Living Trust

Elmer Brunsting and Nelva Brunsting (herein referred to as "Settlers") created the Brunsting Family Living Trust (the "Trust") on October 10, 1996. The Trust was subsequently restated in its entirety on January 12, 2005. A copy of the Restatement of the Brunsting Family Living Trust ("Restatement") is attached hereto as the first exhibit.

The Trust could be amended during the lifetime of the original Settlers. However, once a Settlor dies, the Trust could not be amended except by court order.

Each Settlor could provide for a different disposition of their share of the Trust by executing a qualified beneficiary designation for that person's share alone.

Trustees of the Brunsting Family Living Trust

The initial trustees of the Trust were Elmer Brunsting and Nelva Brunsting. The Restatement provided that if both original Co-Trustees failed or ceased to serve, then Carl Henry Brunsting and Amy Ruth Tschirhart would serve as Co-Trustees.

Each original Trustee has the right to appoint successor trustees to serve in the event the original Trustee ceases to serve by death, disability, or for any reason, and may specify any conditions on the succession and service as may be permitted by law. The Restatement also provided that the original Trustees may each remove any trustee they have individually named as their respective successor.

On September 6, 2007, a First Amendment to the Restatement to the Brunsting Family Living Trust was executed by Settlers which changed the succession of successor trustees, a copy of which is attached hereto as the second exhibit. This document appointed Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis as successor co-trustees if both original Trustees fail or cease to serve. If either Carl Henry Brunsting or Candace Louise Curtis should fail or cease to serve, then the remaining successor trustee would serve alone. If neither successor co-trustee is able or willing to serve, then The Frost National Bank shall serve as the sole successor trustee. The First Amendment effectively removed Amy Ruth Tschirhart as the successor co-trustee and substituted Candace Louise Curtis in her place and stead.

Elmer Brunsting died on April 1, 2009, and after her husband's death, Nelva Brunsting served alone as the original trustee.

On December 21, 2010, Nelva Brunsting exercised her right to designate a successor trustee. Nelva Brunsting executed an Appointment of Successor Trustee, a copy of which is attached hereto as the third exhibit. The Appointment of Successor Trustee stated that if Nelva Brunsting resigned as Trustee, then Anita Kay Brunsting would serve as successor trustee, Amy Ruth Tschirhart would serve as the second successor, and The Frost National Bank as the third successor. If Nelva Brunsting fails or ceases to serve as trustee because of her death or disability, then Anita Kay Brunsting and Amy Ruth Tschirhart would serve as successor co-trustees.

On the same date, on December 21, 2010, Nelva Brunsting also exercised her right to resign as Trustee. Specifically, Nelva Brunsting resigned as Trustee of the Trust, the Nelva Brunsting Survivor's Trust and Elmer Brunsting's Decedent's Trust and appointed Anita Kay Brunsting as trustee of the aforementioned Trusts.

Split of Brunsting Family Living Trust into the Survivor's Trust and the Decedent's Trust

After Elmer Brunsting's death on April 1, 2009, the Trust split into two trusts—the Nelva Brunsting Survivor's Trust (the "Survivor's Trust") and the Elmer Brunsting Decedent's Trust

(the "Decedent's Trust"). Nelva Brunsting, as the original Trustee, served as Trustee over both the Survivor's and Decedent's Trusts.

There is no power of appointment related to the Trust which was exercised by Elmer Brunsting prior to his death on April 1, 2009.

Pursuant to the Restatement, the beneficiary of the Survivor's Trust, Nelva Brunsting, had an unlimited and unrestricted general power of appointment over the entire principal and any accrued but undistributed income of the Survivor's Trust. This general power of appointment was very broad, and granted the survivor the power to appoint the Survivor's Trust to anyone, outright or in trust, in equal or unequal proportions.

The Decedent's Trust would terminate at the surviving Settlor's death or on the death of Nelva Brunsting. Pursuant to the Restatement, the survivor had a limited testamentary power of appointment to appoint the undistributed principal and income to the descendants of the Settlor only. While Nelva Brunsting (as the surviving Settlor) was restricted to only appointing the assets to her descendants, the assets of the Decedent's Trust could be appointed by Nelva Brunsting (as the surviving Settlor) to her descendants in any proportion and on terms and conditions as the survivor elects.

Nelva Brunsting's June 15, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Power of Appointment

On June 15, 2010, Nelva Brunsting executed a Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement, a copy of which is attached hereto as the fourth exhibit. This document exercised Nelva Brunsting's general power of appointment over the Survivor's Trust and her limited power of appointment over the Decedent's Trust.

Specifically, Nelva Brunsting's exercise appointed the Survivor's Trust and Decedent's Trust to be distributed equally among Nelva and Elmer Brunsting's five (5) children: Candace Louise Curtis, Carol Ann Brunsting, Carl Henry Brunsting, Amy Ruth Tschirhart and Anita Kay Riley. This document also expressed Nelva Brunsting's intent that upon the death of Nelva Brunsting, any funds advanced to Nelva Brunsting's descendants would be deducted from that particular descendant's share of assets received from the Survivor's Trust and Decedent's Trust.

Nelva Brunsting's August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Power of Appointment

On August 25, 2010, Nelva Brunsting executed a Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement, a copy of which is attached hereto as the fifth exhibit. This document appears to have superseded the June 15, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement.

In this document, Nelva Brunsting exercised her general power of appointment over the Survivor's Trust and her limited power of appointment over the Decedent's Trust. The document stated that the Trustee would pay the balance of both the Survivor's and Decedent's Trust equally to each of her five (5) children: Candace Louise Curtis, Carol Ann Brunsting, Carl Henry Brunsting, Amy Ruth Tschirhart and Anita Kay Riley, and such assets would be held in a separate Personal Asset Trust for the benefit of each of her children. With the exception of Carl and Candace, each descendant would be the trustee of their own Personal Asset Trust. Specifically, Amy Ruth Tschirhart, Anita Kay Brunsting and Carol Ann Brunsting would each be the trustee of their own Personal Asset Trust. Anita Kay Riley and Amy Ruth Tschirhart were appointed the co-trustees of the Personal Asset Trust for Carl Henry Brunsting and the Personal Asset Trust for Candace Louise Curtis. The document also detailed the administrative provisions relating to the Personal Asset Trusts for Nelva and Elmer Brunsting's descendants.

The major change that resulted from the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement was that Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louis Curtis could not elect to be the individual trustee of their own Personal Asset Trusts. The August 25, 2010 document also provided different administrative provisions for the trusts created for the descendants than those provided under Article X of the Restatement.

Notably, the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement contained a no contest clause which provided a lengthy list of prohibited actions that would fall under such no contest clause. The no contest clause provided that any beneficiary who took such prohibited actions would forfeit their share and be treated as if they predeceased Nelva and Elmer Brunsting.

The Death of Nelva Brunsting

Nelva Brunsting died on November 11, 2011, and the Survivor's Trust and Decedent's Trust terminated and were to pass to the Personal Asset Trusts for Candace Louise Curtis, Carol Ann Brunsting, Carl Henry Brunsting, Amy Ruth Tschirhart and Anita Kay Riley. As detailed above, these Personal Asset Trusts were created pursuant to Nelva Brunsting's August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement.

CLAIMS

The Probate Court Claims Filed by Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis

Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis have filed claims against Anita Kay Brunsting, Amy Ruth Brunsting (previously Tschirhart) and Carole Ann Brunsting in the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased, pending in Harris County Probate Court Number Four (4) under Cause Number 412,249 (hereinafter referred to as the "Probate Court Claims").

Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis' Probate Court Claims are twofold. First, individual tort claims have been asserted against Anita Kay Brunsting, Amy Ruth Brunsting (previously Tschirhart) and Carole Ann Brunsting for actions taken either in their fiduciary capacity or purported actions taken which have harmed Carl and Candace. The second category of Carl and Candace's Probate Court Claims relate to requests for declaratory relief in construing the Brunsting Family Living Trust.

The Probate Court Claims that include individual tort claims against Anita Kay Brunsting, Amy Ruth Brunsting and Carole Ann Brunsting contain multiple questions of fact, which are within the province of the jury. Specifically, Carl Henry Brunsting asserted the following tort claims:

1. Breach of fiduciary duty
2. Conversion
3. Tortious interference with inheritance rights
4. Constructive Trust over Trust assets
5. Fraud, specifically, misrepresentation of facts to Decedent (it is questionable whether Carl and Candace have standing to pursue these claims)
6. Civil Conspiracy
7. Demand for accounting of the Trusts and non-probate accounts
8. Liability of Anita Kay Brunsting, Amy Ruth Brunsting and Carole Ann Brunsting under Texas Property Code § 114.031
9. Removal of Trustees
10. Request for Receivership

The Probate Court Claims asserted by Candace Louise Curtis are as follows:

1. Breach of fiduciary duty
2. Fraud resulting from misrepresentation of material facts to Candace
3. Constructive fraud
4. Money had and received
5. Conversion
6. Tortious interference with inheritance rights
7. Unjust enrichment

8. Civil Conspiracy
9. Demand for accounting of the Trusts and non-probate accounts

As a result of the above Probate Court Claims containing questions of fact within the province of the jury, the Temporary Administrator has refrained from evaluating such claims.

The questions of law presented in both Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis' requests for declaratory relief contained in the Probate Court Claims are as follows:

1. Was Nelva Brunsting's December 21, 2010 Resignation of Original Trustee and Appointment of Successor Trustee valid?
2. Were the June 15, 2010 and August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement an inappropriate alteration of the terms of the Trust?
3. Did the June 15, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement appoint all of the Trust property?
4. Did the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement revoke the June 15, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement?
5. Is the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement effective?
6. Do the pleadings filed by Carl and Candace violate the No Contest Clause and is the No Contest Clause void as against public policy?

Based on the powers granted to Nelva Brunsting in the Restatement, Nelva Brunsting appears to have appropriately exercised her right to resign as the original Trustee of the Trust on December 21, 2010, and appointed the successor trustee, Anita Kay Brunsting.

While the Restatement provided that the Trust could not be amended after the death of Nelva or Elmer Brunsting, this did not preclude Nelva Brunsting from exercising her general and limited power of appointments over the Survivor's Trust and Decedent's Trust. Specifically, it appears that Nelva Brunsting appropriately exercised her general power of appointment over the Survivor's Trust and her limited power of appointment over Decedent's Trust by appointing the assets to her five (5) children in trust by and through the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement. The August 25, 2010 document appears to have superseded and replaced the June 15, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement. The Restatement granted Nelva Brunsting the power to appoint such assets in trust and place terms and conditions upon such assets as she desired, including her choice to designate trustees of the Personal Asset Trust of Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis.

NO CONTEST CLAUSE PROVISIONS

Any claim by Carl Henry Brunsting and Candace Louise Curtis that Nelva Brunsting lacked capacity and/or was subject to undue influence when she executed the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement are questions of fact that are within the province of the jury. However, the no contest clauses in the Qualified Beneficiary Designation and in the Restatement must be considered.

Section "A." of "MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS" of the Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement is a no contest clause that would disinherit any person who, among other things, makes the claims stated above. The provisions of this no contest clause include language that the no contest clause applies even if a court finds that the judicial proceedings in question originated in good faith and with probable cause. This Court will have to rule on the validity of this provision.

Article XI, Section C., of the Restatement is also a no contest provision. The provisions of this no contest clause are similar in result to those stated above in the Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement. Therefore, a successful claim that Nelva Brunsting lacked capacity would still be subject to the no contest provisions of the Restatement. In this event the Court would have to rule on the validity of this provision of the Restatement. In both documents the provision is well written.

A decision by the Court upholding either no contest provision might resolve all other issues.

The Lawsuit of Carl Henry Brunsting in the District Court Proceeding

Carl Henry Brunsting, in his capacity as Independent Executor of the Estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Nelva E. Brunsting, filed claims against Defendants Candace L. Kunz-Freed, Vacek & Freed, PLLC f/k/a The Vacek Law Firm, PLLC (collectively the "Defendants"). These claims of Carl Henry Brunsting were filed in the 164th District Court of Harris County, Texas (hereinafter referred to as the "District Court Claims").

Carl Henry Brunsting asserted the following District Court Claims against Defendants in his live pleading, Plaintiff's Third Amended Petition:

1. Negligence
2. Negligent misrepresentation
3. Breach of fiduciary duty
4. Aiding and abetting

5. Fraud
6. Conspiracy
7. Deceptive Trade Practices Act (“DTPA”) violations

Carl Henry Brunsting also pled tolling, fraudulent concealment and the discovery rule. Carl Henry Brunsting sought damages of actual damages, forfeiture of fees, treble damages and punitive damages, in addition to his attorney’s fees.

Carl Henry Brunsting’s District Court Claims center around the changes Nelva Brunsting made by and through the June 15, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement and the August 25, 2010 Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment under Living Trust Agreement.

In response to Plaintiff’s District Court Claims, Defendants filed a Motion for Traditional and No–Evidence Summary Judgment on the following bases:

1. Carl Henry Brunsting improperly fractured his legal malpractice claims against Defendants;
2. Carl Henry Brunsting’s DTPA claim is barred by the professional services exemption; and
3. Carl Henry Brunsting’s negligent misrepresentation claim and DTPA claim fail because Carl Henry Brunsting admits he is not aware of any misrepresentations made by Defendants.

Defendants also moved for a No-Evidence Summary Judgment on the basis that Carl Henry Brunsting has no evidence supporting one or more of the elements on the claims he has asserted.

A Notice of Vacancy of Party and Motion to Abate Proceeding was filed by counsel for Carl Henry Brunsting. Carl Henry Brunsting has filed a resignation as executor of the aforementioned estates. Until a successor executor is appointed, there is no plaintiff to pursue the action against Defendants and no plaintiff to respond to Defendants’ summary judgment motions. The issue of who will serve as the successor executor of the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting and the Estate of Elmer Brunsting must be resolved prior to resolving the claims against Defendants.

A Motion to transfer the district court matter to the probate court where both estates are pending has also been filed, but not yet ruled upon.

DAMAGES

Actual damages, of course, are disputed. However, the actual distributions from the Trust after Nelva resigned until shortly after she died seemed to be reasonably well documented. Previously an independent investigation resulted in a listing of the payments made from the trust.

This REPORT OF MASTER that was prepared in the case filed in the Southern District of Texas federal court case has the details of the Trust's income, expenses and distributions of stock. A copy of this report is attached hereto as the sixth exhibit.

From this and from changes in the assets of the trust during the period in question the damages can be determined and are basically in three categories.

Transfers of Stock

2,765 shares of Exxon Mobil stock were transferred as follows:

| | | |
|-------|---------------|---------|
| | 1, 120 | Amy |
| | 160 | Anita |
| | 160 | Candace |
| | 1, 325 | Carol |
| TOTAL | 2,765 | |

675 shares of Chevron stock were transferred as follows:

| | | |
|-------|------------|------------------|
| | 135 | Anita |
| | 135 | Amy's daughter |
| | 135 | Amy's son |
| | 135 | Anita's daughter |
| | 135 | Anita's son |
| TOTAL | 675 | |

It is easy to see that these distributions of stock were not evenly distributed to the five siblings. I have been told that the distributions were in fact early distributions of the recipients share from their future trusts. This could be resolved by giving those siblings that did not receive an equal amount at the time of the distributions an equivalent amount of money to settle the dispute. Of course the issue is further complicated by the fact that the value of the two stocks has changed since the time of the distributions. The proper way to determine the amount to be distributed might be to use the value of the stock on the date of the original distributions or the value on the date that money is paid to the damage sibling, whichever is greater.

Payments To/For Family

Approximately $108,000 were paid to or for the benefit of Amy, Anita and Carol or disputed expenses including approximately $41,000 of trustees' fees and approximately $36,000 of legal fees.

Payments To Carol for Nelva's Care

Approximately $160,000 was paid to Carol during the period in question. I was told that Carol was the primary sibling responsible for Nelva's care.

SUMMARY OF DAMAGES

It seems unwise to have made the stock distributions. However, this can be resolved by equalizing the distributions to all the siblings. The issue of trustees' fees can be resolved by comparing the fees to those that are considered as reasonable fees in similar circumstances. The legal fees are obviously justified and will surely increase. The amounts paid to Carol can be examined but should be liberally considered as attributed to Nelva's care and maintenance.

CONCLUSIONS

All of the legal actions taken by Nelva were within her authority under the broad provisions of the Restatement. Unless Nelva is found to have been incompetent at the time that her legal actions were taken all of the changes made in these documents apply in these proceedings.

If Nelva was incompetent at the time that she took these legal actions then a successor trustee would have been appointed under the terms of the Restatement. No claim of her being incompetent was made at that time.

Furthermore, if Nelva had been incompetent the plaintiff in the District Court case would likely have to show that the defendants knew that she was incompetent. For this and other reasons the case should be moved to the Probate Court.

There are damages for the unequal distribution of the shares of Exxon Mobil and Chevron stock. There may be damages for some of the expenditures for trustees' fees and for payments to Carol. These matters should be resolved by agreement. This may require mediation. The considerable legal fees involved in a trial far outweigh the expenses of a mediation and any compromises made by the parties at the mediation.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Remove the District Court case to the Probate Court. It is important that there not be different results for the same or similar issues that are in the cases currently in the Probate Court.
2. Require mediation. Point out the huge savings that will result from a mediation versus a trial. Possibly, inform the parties that the Court will rule on the no contest clause first if the matter is not settled in the mediation. Since this ruling could go either way both sides would have considerable incentive to settle. A ruling in favor of the no contest clause would essentially make the matters moot and the plaintiffs would take nothing and lose their inheritance.

DEFENDANT DARLENE PAYNE SMITH’S MOTION TO DISMISS FOR LACK OF SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION AND FAILURE TO STATE A CLAIM

Pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) and (6), Defendant Darlene Payne Smith (the “Defendant” or “Smith”) files her Motion to Dismiss the Verified Complaint for Damages (the “Complaint”) of Plaintiffs Candace Louise Curtis (“Curtis”) and Rik Wayne Munson (“Munson”) (collectively, the “Plaintiffs”) for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction and Failure to State a Claim, and would respectfully show the Court the following:

I.
INTRODUCTION

This is the most recent in a series of lawsuits^{1/} involving the Brunsting siblings, all of which emanate from a state court probate proceeding, In re: Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, which is pending under Cause No. 412.249 in Probate Court No. 4, Harris County, Texas (the “Brunsting

¹ In addition to the core probate proceeding, Curtis has previously filed a similar action against her sister, and others, in the Southern District of Texas (Case No. 4:12-cv-00592; Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al.), which was ultimately remanded to the Probate Court No. 4 upon agreement of the parties. Curtis’ brother, Carl, has filed both a malpractice suit in Harris County District Court against his now-deceased parents’ estate planning counsel (Cause No. 2013-05455; Carl Henry Brunsting, et al. v. Candace L. Kunz-Freed, et al.) and a separate lawsuit against Curtis and the other Brunsting siblings in Harris County Probate Court No. 4 (Cause No. 412.249-401; Carl Henry Brunsting, et al. v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et al.). For a more detailed account of the Brunsting siblings’ litigation history, Defendant incorporates by reference the factual recitations contained in pages 2-7 of defendants Candace Kunz-Freed and Albert Vacek, Jr.’s Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction [ECF No. 20].

Probate Case”). Curtis is one of five sibling-beneficiaries in the Brunsting Probate Case and Munson is Curtis’s domestic partner and paralegal. Defendant Smith is a probate attorney who previously represented one of the other sibling-beneficiaries (i.e., Carole Brunsting) in the Brunsting Probate Case. See Complaint (“Compl.”) at ¶¶32, 213 & 215. Defendant withdrew as counsel in early 2016.

Apparently dissatisfied with the rulings and administration of Harris County Probate Court Number 4, Plaintiffs have taken out their frustration by suing each Judge (i.e., the Hon. Christine Riddle Butts and Hon. Clarinda Comstock) and lawyer (i.e., Defendant Smith, Candace Kunz-Freed, Albert Vacek, Jr., Bernard Lyle Mathews, III, Neal Spielman, Bradley Featherston, Stephen A. Mendel, Jason Ostrom, Gregory Lester and Jill Willard Young) who has had any contact with the Brunsting Probate Case, as well as certain Probate Court No. 4 administrative personnel (i.e., substitute court reporter Tony Baiamonte). Plaintiffs purport to assert claims under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 18 U.S.C. 1691 et seq. (“RICO”) premised on 40 alleged “predicate acts” by some or all of this group of probate practitioners, Judges and court personnel, who Plaintiffs caustically describe as the “Harris County Tomb Raiders” or “Probate Mafia.”^{2/}

Plaintiffs also purport to assert “non-predicate act” claims for civil damages against Defendant Smith (collectively, the “Non-Predicate Act Claims”) for (1) “Conspiracy to violate 18 USC §§242 and 2, & 42 U.S.C. §§1983 and 1985,” (2) “Aiding and Abetting Breach of Fiduciary, Defalcation and Scierter,” (3) “Aiding and Abetting Misapplication of Fiduciary, Defalcation and Scierter,” and (4) “Tortious Interference with Inheritance Expectancy.” See Compl. at ¶¶159-166.

² Plaintiffs allege that the “Harris County Tomb Raiders” or “Probate Mafia” is a “secret society” of probate practitioners, court personnel, probate judges, and other elected officials who are running a “criminal theft enterprise,” or “organized criminal consortium,” designed to “judicially kidnap and rob the elderly” and other heirs and beneficiaries of their “familial relations and inheritance expectations.” See id. at ¶¶57, 71, 76.

Plaintiffs' conclusory, conspiracy-theory-laden Complaint is not anchored to any cogently pleaded facts connecting Defendant Smith (or any of the defendants) to any of the myriad federal or state statutory provisions referenced therein. In fact, Plaintiffs' 59 page, 217 paragraph Complaint contains only one reference to any specific conduct by Defendant Smith – that she filed an objection to a motion for protective order on behalf of Carole Brunsting in the Brunsting Probate Case. See Compl. at ¶128. That is it.

The circumstances where an attorney can be liable to a non-client for litigation conduct incident to the execution of her professional duties to a client are extremely limited,^{3/} and Plaintiffs have failed to allege any such facts here.

Plaintiffs' Complaint is inherently implausible, and should be dismissed for the following procedural, jurisdictional and substantive reasons:

1. The Court Should Dismiss Plaintiffs' Claims Pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction – The Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiffs' claims for the following reasons:

- Plaintiffs' Claims are Not Ripe – Ripeness is a component of subject matter jurisdiction. See Lopez v. City of Houston, 617 F.3d 336, 341 (5th Cir. 2010). Where, as is true here, a plaintiff's claimed injury is contingent upon the occurrence of uncertain future events that may not occur as anticipated (i.e., an unfavorable outcome in a pending probate proceeding), "the claim is not ripe for adjudication." Id. at 342.
- Munson Lacks Article III Standing – Standing is a component of subject matter jurisdiction. Carr v. Alta Verde Indus., 931 F.2d 1055, 1061 (5th Cir. 1991). To establish Article III standing, a plaintiff must establish an "injury-in-fact," which entails "a direct stake in the outcome." See Sierra Club v. Cedar Point Oil Company, Inc., 73 F.3d 546, 555-56 (5th Cir. 1996). Munson is not a beneficiary in the Brunsting Probate Case, has no direct stake in this action and has not suffered an injury-in-fact sufficient to confer Article III standing.
- Attorney Immunity Bars Plaintiffs' State Law Claims for Civil Damages – Immunity from suit is jurisdictional. Higgins v. Montgomery Cnty. Hosp. Dist., No. H-10-3787,

2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 81402, at *5 (S.D. Tex. Jul. 26, 2011). Under Texas law, attorneys are immune from suit by non-clients (i.e., the Plaintiffs) for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation. Cantey Hanger, LLP, 467 S.W.3d at 481. Because Smith is alleged only to have filed an opposition to a motion on behalf of her client in pending state court litigation, she remains immune from Plaintiffs' state law claims for civil damages (i.e., Claims 45, 46 and 47).

2. Plaintiffs Have Failed to State a Claim Upon Which Relief Can be Granted, and Their Claims Should be Dismissed – Each of Plaintiffs' claims is implausible and should be dismissed pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(6) for the following reasons:

- Plaintiffs Lack RICO Statutory Standing – Plaintiffs lack statutory standing to prosecute their civil RICO claims because they have not pled, and cannot establish, (1) a direct, concrete financial injury to their business or property, and (2) proximate causation (i.e., that the alleged injury was proximately caused by the alleged RICO predicate act(s)). Price v. Pinnacle Brands, Inc., 138 F.3d 602, 607 (5th Cir. 1998).
- Plaintiffs Have Failed to Plead Facts Establishing Any of the Substantive Elements of a RICO Violation – Despite its length, Plaintiffs' Complaint consists of nothing more than a formulaic and conclusory recitation of statutory elements couched as factual allegations. Ferrer v. Chevron Corp., 484 F.3d 776, 780 (5th Cir. 2007). Plaintiffs offer no factual support for any of their conclusions, and have failed to plausibly allege any actual (1) conduct or participation (2) of an enterprise (3) through a pattern (4) of racketeering activity. St. Paul Mercury Ins. Co. v. Williamson, 224 F.3d 425, 445 (5th Cir. 2000). Plaintiffs' RICO claims therefore should be dismissed. See Anderson v. United States HUD, 554 F.3d 525, 528 (5th Cir. 2008) (“a complaint must do more than name laws that may have been violated by the defendant; it must also allege facts regarding what conduct violated those laws.”).
- Plaintiffs Have Failed to Plead a Viable Claim Under 42 U.S.C. §1983 (“Section 1983”) – Plaintiffs' Section 1983 claim must be dismissed because they fail to identify any Constitutionally-protected rights which have been violated, or plead any facts demonstrating that Defendant is a state actor. See Cornish v. Carr. Servs. Corp., 402 F.3d 545, 549 (5th Cir. 2005).
- Plaintiffs Have Failed to Plead a Viable Claim Under 42 U.S.C. §1985 (“Section 1985”) – Plaintiffs' Complaint does nothing more than reference Section 1985 and conclusorily state that it has been violated. Because Plaintiffs have not alleged any facts which would plausibly suggest (1) that they are members of a protected class, (2) that they have been deprived of any Constitutionally-protected rights, (3) that a conspiracy existed, (4) that Defendant engaged in any overt acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, or (5) the existence of any class-based discriminatory animus, their claim should be dismissed. United Bhd. of Carpenters & Joiners v. Scott, 463 U.S. 825, 828-29 (1983).

- 18 U.S.C. §242 (“Section 242”) Does Not Provide for a Private Right of Action – Section 242 is the criminal analogue to Section 1983 and does not provide for a private right of action. Johnson v. Kegans, 870 F.2d 992, 1005 n.4 (5th Cir. 1989).

II.

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

A. Plaintiffs’ Claims Should be Dismissed for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

1. Standard of Review.

FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) governs challenges to a court’s subject-matter jurisdiction. “Under Rule 12(b)(1), a claim is properly dismissed for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction when the court lacks the statutory or constitutional power to adjudicate the claim.” In re FEMA Trailer Formaldehyde Prods. Liab. Litg., 668 F.3d 281, 286 (5th Cir. 2012). Plaintiffs’ claims are not justiciable because (1) they are not ripe and, even if they were, (2) Munson lacks Article III standing and (3) Defendant is immune from each of Plaintiff’s state law Non-Predicate Act Claims for civil damages.

2. Plaintiffs’ Purported Injuries are Speculative, Contingent and Not Ripe.

“Ripeness is a component of subject matter jurisdiction, because a court has no power to decide disputes that are not yet justiciable.” Lopez v. City of Houston, 617 F.3d 336, 341 (5th Cir. 2010). “A court should dismiss a case for lack of ‘ripeness’ when the case is abstract or hypothetical,” Monk v. Huston, 340 F.3d 279, 282 (5th Cir. 2003), or where “further factual development is required.” New Orleans Pub. Serv., Inc. v. Council of City of New Orleans, 833 F.2d 583, 587 (5th Cir. 1987). That is, “if the purported injury is ‘contingent [on] future events that may not occur as anticipated, or indeed may not occur at all,’ the claim is not ripe for adjudication.” Lopez, 617 F.3d at 342 (quoting Thomas v. Union Carbide Agric. Prods. Co., 473 U.S. 568, 580–81 (1985)).

Here, Plaintiffs' alleged injuries are contingent upon what they view as the presumptive outcome of pending litigation – the Brunsting Probate Case. See Compl. at ¶¶213 (stating that Curtis is being deprived of her “beneficial interests” in the Brunsting Family Trusts), ¶213 (alleging that Munson’s efforts to “obtain justice” in the Brunsting Probate Case have been frustrated). But the future outcome of the Brunsting Probate Case is unknown and, because Plaintiffs’ purported injuries are “contingent [on] future events that may not occur as [Plaintiffs] anticipate[,]” their claims are not ripe and should be dismissed. See Lopez, 617 F.3d at 342.

3. Munson Has No Direct Stake in the Outcome of this Case and Lacks Article III Standing.

Standing is a component of subject matter jurisdiction. See Carr v. Alta Verde Indus., 931 F.2d 1055, 1061 (5th Cir. 1991). To establish Article III standing, a plaintiff must demonstrate: (1) an injury in fact, (2) causation, and (3) redressability. Okpalobi v. Foster, 244 F.3d 405, 425 (5th Cir. 2001). The requirement of an “injury in fact” is intended to limit access to the courts only to those who “have a direct stake in the outcome.” See Sierra Club v. Cedar Point Oil Company, Inc., 73 F.3d 546, 555-56 (5th Cir. 1996).

The general theory underlying the Complaint is that Defendant (and the rest of the “Probate Mafia”) have engaged in conduct which has frustrated the direction and outcome of the Brunsting Probate Case. See generally Complaint. But Munson is not a beneficiary in the Brunsting Probate Case and admittedly lacks any tangible interest in the outcome of those proceedings. See ECF No. 33 at ¶69 (“One thing [the parties] appear to agree on is that Munson is not a party to any of the prior lawsuits, nor is he a beneficiary of the Brunsting Family of Trusts.”). Munson’s only connection to any of the conclusory events in the Complaint is that he purportedly provided “paralegal” services to Curtis in connection with other pending litigation. Munson’s disappointment or frustration with the status, or results, of litigation in which he provided paralegal services is not a concrete injury in fact, and he lacks Article III standing.

4. Plaintiffs’ State Law Non-Predicate Act Claims are Barred by Attorney Immunity.

“Immunity from suit is jurisdictional and, therefore, is properly decided pursuant to a Rule 12(b)(1).” Higgins v. Montgomery Cnty. Hosp. Dist., No. H-10-3787, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 81402, at *5 (S.D. Tex. Jul. 26, 2011). Under Texas law, “attorneys are immune from civil liability to non-clients for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.” Cantey Hanger, LLP, 467 S.W.3d at 481 (internal quotations omitted). “Even conduct that is ‘wrongful in the context of the underlying suit’ is not actionable if it is ‘part of the discharge of the lawyer’s duties in representing his or her client.’” Id. (quoting Toles v. Toles, 113 S.W.3d 899, 910-11 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2003, no pet.)).

Attorney immunity is not merely a defense to liability. See Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 346-48 (5th Cir. 2016). Rather, “attorney immunity is properly characterized as a true immunity from suit[.]” Id. This is true even where a plaintiff labels an attorney’s conduct as “fraudulent.” See Byrd, 467 W.W.3d at 483. The only exceptions to an attorney’s immunity from suit are if the attorney has engaged in conduct that is “entirely foreign to the duties of an attorney,” or if the conduct “does not involve the provision of legal services” See id. at 482.

Here, Plaintiffs’ Complaint contains only one reference to any specific conduct by Defendant Smith – that she filed an opposition to a motion for protective order on behalf of her client in the Brunsting Probate Case. See Compl. at ¶128. Put differently, Plaintiffs allege only that Defendant was actively discharging her duties to her client in the context of active litigation. Defendant therefore remains immune from the non-client Plaintiffs’ claims for civil liability with respect to any claims arising under Texas law. For this reason, the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiffs' Non-Predicate Act Claims 45, 46 and 47, and those claims should be dismissed.

B. Plaintiffs' Claims Should be Dismissed for Failure to State a Claim Upon Which Relief May be Granted.

1. Standard of Review.

A motion to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) tests the formal sufficiency of the pleadings and is "appropriate when a defendant attacks the complaint because it fails to state a legally cognizable claim." Ramming v. United States, 281 F.3d 158, 161 (5th Cir. 2001). The court must accept the factual allegations of the complaint as true, view them in a light most favorable to the plaintiff, and draw all reasonable inferences in the plaintiff's favor, id., but need "not accept as true conclusory allegations, unwarranted factual inferences, or legal conclusions." Ferrer v. Chevron Corp., 484 F.3d 776, 780 (5th Cir. 2007) (internal citations omitted).

To avoid dismissal a plaintiff must allege "enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). Plausibility requires "more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). As framed by the Fifth Circuit, "a complaint must do more than name laws that may have been violated by the defendant; it must also allege facts regarding what conduct violated those laws." See Anderson v. United States HUD, 554 F.3d 525, 528 (5th Cir. 2008). "A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged." Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. "Where a complaint pleads facts that are merely consistent with a defendant's liability, it stops short of the line between possibility and plausibility of entitlement to relief." Id. (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570) (internal quotation marks omitted). "[D]ismissal is proper if the complaint lacks an allegation regarding a required element necessary to obtain relief.” Torch Liquidating Trust ex rel. Bridge Assocs. L.L.C. v. Stockstill, 561 F.3d 377, 384 (5th Cir. 2009) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

2. Plaintiffs Lack Statutory Standing Under RICO.

The standing provision of civil RICO provides that “any person injured in his business or property by reason of a violation of section 1962 of this chapter may sue therefor . . . and shall recover threefold the damages he sustains.” See 18 U.S.C. 1964(c) (emphasis added). To establish statutory standing, a RICO plaintiff must therefore establish both (1) an injury (2) that was proximately caused by a RICO violation (i.e., predicate act(s)). See Price v. Pinnacle Brands, Inc., 138 F.3d 602, 606 (5th Cir. 1998); Sedima, S.P. R.L. v. Imrex Co., Inc., 473 U.S. 479, 496 (1985) (“[a] plaintiff only has standing if, and can only recover to the extent that, he has been injured in his business or property by the conduct constituting the violation.”).

a. Plaintiffs Lack a Direct, Concrete Injury-in-Fact.

To satisfy the requirements for RICO statutory standing, a plaintiff’s injury must be “conclusive” and cannot be “speculative.” Gil Ramirez Grp., L.L.C. v. Houston Indep. Sch. Dist., 786 F.3d 400, 409 (5th Cir. 2015). “Injury to mere expectancy interests or to an ‘intangible property interest’ is not sufficient to confer RICO standing.” See id. (quoting Pinnacle Brands, 138 F.3d at 607).

Here, the face of the Complaint shows that Curtis has not alleged any direct, concrete financial injury to her business or property. Indeed, the Complaint identifies only “threats of injury,” and repeatedly and consistently characterizes Curtis’ supposed “injury” in terms of her “inheritance expectancy.” See, e.g., Compl. at ¶¶165-66, 213. Put differently, Curtis complains only that the “Probate Mafia’s” alleged conduct has interfered with, or threatened, her future anticipated expectancy interests in the Brunsting Probate Case. A clearer example of a speculative non-RICO injury is unimaginable. See Gil Ramirez Grp., L.L.C., 786 F.3d at 409 (“Injury to mere expectancy interests . . . is not sufficient to confer RICO standing.”)(emphasis added); Firestone v. Galbreath, 976 F.2d 279, 282 (6th Cir. 1992) (estate beneficiaries lacked standing under RICO because the alleged direct harm was to the estate, which flowed only indirectly to the beneficiaries).

And Munson’s purported “injury” is even more attenuated, because he lacks any expectancy interest in the Brunsting Probate Case. See ECF No. 33 at ¶69. Munson’s only claimed connection to this matter is that he purportedly provided paralegal services to Ms. Curtis over the past several years, and is dissatisfied with the results of the cases on which he worked. See Compl. at ¶215. This is not a concrete injury in fact under any calculus.

Because Plaintiffs have failed to plead facts plausibly showing that they incurred an injury sufficient to meet the RICO standing requirements, the Court can and should dismiss all claims against Defendant Smith.

b. Defendant Smith did not Proximately Cause Any of Plaintiffs’ “Injuries.”

To adequately plead standing, Plaintiffs must also establish that Defendant’s “predicate acts”—here, Smith’s alleged violations of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1512 and 1519⁴ – “constitute both a factual and proximate cause of the plaintiff’s alleged injury.” Whalen v. Carter, 954 F.2d 1087, 1091 (5th Cir. 1992). This requires Plaintiffs to show the “directness of the relationship between the conduct and the harm.” Hemi Grp., LLC v. City of New York, 559 U.S. 1, 9 (2010)(emphasis added) (internal citations omitted). Where the “link” between the alleged injury and predicate acts “is too remote, purely contingent, or indirect,” the RICO claim should be dismissed. Id.

18 U.S.C. §§ 1512(c) provides:

⁴ Plaintiffs have identified 45 separate “predicate acts” in the Complaint but only 2 (Claims 20 and 21) appear to be directed at Defendant.

(c) Whoever corruptly –

(1) alters, destroys, mutilates, or conceals a record, document or other object, or attempts to do so, with the intent to impair the object’s integrity or availability for use in an official proceeding; or

(2) Otherwise obstructs, influences, or impedes any official proceeding, or attempts to do so, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned for not more than 20 years, or both.

18 U.S.C. §§ 1519 in turn states:

Whoever knowingly alters, destroys, mutilates, conceals, covers up, falsifies, or makes a false entry in any record, document, or tangible object with the intent to impede, obstruct, or influence the investigation or proper administration of any matter within the jurisdiction of any department or agency of the United States or any case filed under title 11, or in relation to or contemplation of any such matter or case, shall be fined under this title, imprisoned not more than 20 years, or both.

Here, Plaintiffs’ Complaint contains no factual allegations which could plausibly demonstrate that Smith has violated either federal statute. The only “fact” involving any conduct by Smith is that she opposed a motion for protective order in pending litigation. See Compl. at ¶128. But this is the type of routine advocacy that an attorney is permitted – and indeed obligated – to engage in when representing a client in litigation, and cannot rise to the level of a predicate act under RICO. See, e.g., St. Gernain v. Howard, 556 F.3d 261, 262 (5th Cir. 2009) (attorney’s alleged violation of Rules of Professional Conduct in prior litigation is insufficient to implicate RICO). Because Plaintiffs have pleaded no facts plausibly demonstrating that Smith engaged in any predicate act, they have not, and cannot, adequately plead proximate causation and lack statutory RICO standing for this additional reason.

3. Plaintiffs Have Failed to Plead the Substantive Elements of a Civil RICO Claim.

Even if Plaintiffs had statutory standing to sue under RICO, which they clearly do not, their claims must still be dismissed because they have pleaded no facts plausibly supporting the substantive elements of their claim. Based only on Defendant Smith’s filing of an opposition to a motion for protective order in pending state court probate litigation, Plaintiffs have alleged violations of RICO sections 1962(c) and (d). These subsections state:

(c) It shall be unlawful for any person employed by or associated with any enterprise engaged in, or the activities of which affect, interstate or foreign commerce, to conduct or participate, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of such enterprise's affairs through a pattern of racketeering activity or collection of unlawful debt.

(d) It shall be unlawful for any person to conspire to violate any of the provisions of subsection . . . (c) of this section.

18 U.S.C. §§ 1962(c), (d).

To plead a violation of 20 U.S.C. §§ 1962(c) or (d), Plaintiffs must demonstrate: (1) conduct or participation (2) of an enterprise (3) through a pattern (4) of racketeering activity. Sedima, 473 U.S. at 496; St. Paul Mercury Ins. Co. v. Williamson, 224 F.3d 425, 445 (5th Cir. 2000). Plaintiffs have not done so here.

a. Plaintiffs Have Not Alleged the Existence of an “Enterprise.”

To state a claim under RICO, a plaintiff must first allege the existence of an “enterprise,” which RICO defines as “any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity.” See 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4). As the definition suggests, an enterprise can be either a legal entity or association-in-fact. See St. Paul Mercury Ins. Co., 224 F.3d at 445. Plaintiffs’ Complaint does not plausibly allege the existence of either.

(i) “Probate Court No. 4” is Not a Legal Entity.

Plaintiffs first allege that “Probate Court No. 4” is a legal entity enterprise within the meaning of 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4). See Compl. at ¶36. But, as is true with the entire Complaint, Plaintiffs fail to plead facts supporting this conclusory assertion. And it is well-established that a county government department (i.e., a county probate court) is not a legal entity that can sue or be sued separate and apart from the county itself. See TEX. LOC. GOV’T CODE § 71.001 (“A county is a corporate and political body.”); see Darby v. City of Pasadena, 939 F.2d 311, 313 (5th Cir. 1991); Crull v. City of New Braunfels, Texas, 267 F. App’x. 338, 341-42 (5th Cir. 2008). Because Plaintiffs’ assertion of a legal entity enterprise has no basis in law or fact, dismissal is appropriate.

(ii) Plaintiffs Have Not Alleged an Association-in-Fact Enterprise.

What Plaintiffs appear to be claiming is that the various individual judges, lawyers and court personnel whom they have sued (i.e., the “Harris County Tomb Raiders” or “Probate Mafia”) operate as an “association-in-fact” enterprise. See Compl. at ¶¶54-58. But this conspiracy-theory allegation is pure conjecture, and Plaintiffs again allege no facts which plausibly demonstrate the existence of the ominous “secret society” about which they complain. See id. at ¶58 (referencing “regular participants in this secret society.”).

When the alleged enterprise is an association-in-fact enterprise, the plaintiff must show evidence of: (1) an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering; (2) ongoing organization; and (3) members that function as a continuing unit as shown by a hierarchical or consensual, decision-making structure. See Delta Truck & Tractor, Inc. v. J.I. Case Co., 855 F.2d 241, 243 (5th Cir. 1988); Boyle v. United States, 556 U.S. 938, 943-45 (2009).

Again, Plaintiffs’ have alleged no facts which, if true, would satisfy any of these three requirements. Plaintiffs do not allege that the “Probate Mafia” maintains any existence separate and apart from what Plaintiffs have alleged to be a pattern of racketeering. They likewise do not allege that the “Probate Mafia” is an ongoing organization or that the various alleged members operate or function as a continuing unit. Simply put, Plaintiffs have again parroted legal conclusions but failed to support them with any concretely pleaded facts. Anderson v. United States HUD, 554 F.3d 525, 528 (5th Cir. 2008). For this reason, Plaintiffs have not plausibly pled the existence of an association-in-fact enterprise.

b. Plaintiffs Have Not Alleged a “Pattern” of Racketeering Activity.

“A pattern of racketeering activity consists of two or more predicate criminal acts that are (1) related and (2) amount to or pose a threat of continued criminal activity.” St. Germain, 556 F.3d at 263; H.J. Inc. v. Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., 492 U.S. 229, 239 (1989). To adequately allege a “pattern,” Plaintiffs must plead both that the acts are related to each other, and that those acts either constitute or threaten long-term criminal activity – thereby reflecting “continuity.” See H.J. Inc., 492 U.S. at 239.

Here, Plaintiffs’ Complaint conclusorily states in several instances that the Defendants have engaged in a “pattern of racketeering,” but fails to set forth any facts demonstrating such a pattern. The Complaint includes no facts demonstrating how the various alleged predicate acts are germane, or that they constitute or threaten long-term criminal activity. See, e.g., Allstate Ins. Co. v. Donovan, No. H-12-0432, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 92401, at *13 (S.D. Tex. 2012). Plaintiffs’ Complaint consists of nothing more than scatter-shot references to myriad “predicate act” statutes identified in RICO, followed by repetitive and conclusory assertions that one or more of the Defendants have purportedly violated these statutes “for the purpose of executing or attempting to execute a scheme and artifice to default and deprive” See, e.g., Compl. at ¶¶121-123, 125. Because Plaintiffs have alleged no facts which would plausibly demonstrate a single predicate act, let alone the required “pattern” of such acts, dismissal is appropriate.

c. Plaintiffs Have Not Plausibly Alleged a Conspiracy Under § 1692(d).

A claim under § 1962(d) is necessarily predicated upon a properly pleaded claim under subsections (a), (b), or (c). Because Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead violations of those other subsections, the § 1962(d) conspiracy allegation fails to state a claim. Nolen v. Nucentrix Broadband Neflvorks, 293 F.3d 926, 930 (5th Cir. 2002) (affirming dismissal of § 1962(d) claim where plaintiff did not adequately plead § 1962(a) and (c) claims). Additionally, Plaintiffs’ conspiracy allegations are conclusory and lack supporting factual details. See Lovick v. Ritemoney Ltd, 378 F.3d 433, 437 (5th Cir. 2004) (holding that courts need not rely on “conclusional allegations or legal conclusions disguised as factual allegations” in considering a motion to dismiss). Plaintiffs’ bald insistence that Defendant Smith (or any of the defendants) conspired to participate in a criminal enterprise does not make it so, and is insufficient to support a RICO claim.

4. Plaintiffs’ Non-Predicate Act Claims Alleging Violations of Sections 1983, 1985 and 242 Should All be Dismissed.

In addition to their RICO claim, Plaintiffs have also asserted four “non-predicate act” claims^{5/} against Defendant for civil damages. The first such claim (Claim 44) alleges violations of Sections 1983, 1985 and 242. See Compl. at ¶159. Each of these claims is without merit, and is addressed in turn below.

a. Plaintiffs’ Section 1983 Claim Should be Dismissed.

Section 1983 “provides a federal cause of action for the deprivation, under the color of law, of a citizen’s ‘rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws’ of the United States.” Livadas v. Bradshaw, 512 U.S. 107, 132 (1994). To state a claim under Section 1983, a plaintiff must allege facts that show that he has been deprived of a right secured by the Constitution and laws of the United States and that the deprivation occurred under color of state law. See Flagg Bros, Inc. v. Brooks, 436 U.S. 149, 155 (1978); Cornish v. Carr. Servs. Corp., 402 F.3d 545, 549 (5th Cir. 2005).

⁵ This section addresses only those causes of action listed under the “Non-Predicate Act Civil Claims for Damages.” While none of these claims specifically mention Smith, in an abundance of caution, she responds to each such claim that globally references the “Defendants.” To the extent Plaintiffs also seek individual liability against Smith based on their predicate act claims under 18 U.S.C. §§ 1512 and 1519 (see Claims 20 and 21), neither criminal statute creates a private right of action and those claims also should be dismissed. See Gipson v. Callahan, MO-97-CA-160, 1997 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23139, at *17 (W.D. Tex. 1997) (no private right of action under § 1512); Peavey v. Holder, 657 F. Supp. 2d 180, 191 (D.D.C. 2009) (no private right of action under § 1519).

(i) Plaintiffs Do Not Identify Any Particular Constitutionally-Protected Rights.

Plaintiffs' Section 1983 claim should be dismissed in the first instance because they have not even identified in the Complaint any particular Constitutionally-protected rights that have allegedly been violated. See Graham v. Connor, 490, U.S. 386, 394 (1989). True to form, Plaintiffs have instead vaguely and generally stated only that they have been deprived of unspecified "rights, privileges, and immunities secured and protected by the Constitution . . ." and leave it to the Court and the Defendant to speculate as to which one(s). See Compl. at ¶159. For this reason alone, Plaintiffs Section 1983 claims should be dismissed.

(ii) Plaintiffs Have Not Alleged State Action.

The requirement that a deprivation occur under color of state law is also known as the "state action" requirement – and Plaintiffs cannot meet it here. See Bass v. Parlwood Hasp., 180 F.3d 234, 241 (5th Cir. 1999). Smith is a private individual, and Plaintiffs have not alleged otherwise. A private party such as Smith will be considered a state actor for Section 1983 purposes only in rare circumstances. See Gordon v. Neugebauer, 57 F.Supp.3d 766, 773 (N.D. Tex. 2014). First, the plaintiff can show that the private actor was implementing an official government policy. See Rundus v. City of Dallas, Tex., 634 F.3d 309, 312 (5th Cir. 2011). Plaintiffs have not identified any official government policy that caused an alleged deprivation of their civil rights, and the first narrow exception is therefore inapplicable here.

Alternatively, a plaintiff can show that a private entity's actions are fairly attributable to the government. Id. This is also known as the "attribution test." The Supreme Court has articulated a two-part inquiry for determining whether a private party's actions are fairly attributable to the government: (1) "the deprivation [of plaintiffs constitutional rights] must be caused by the exercise of some right or privilege created by the State or by a rule of conduct imposed by the state or by a person for whom the State is responsible” and (2) “the party charged with the deprivation must be a person who may fairly be said to be a state actor.” Lugar v. Edmondson Oil Co., 457 U.S. 922, 937 (1982); see also Bass, 180 F.3d at 241.

The Supreme Court utilizes three different tests for determining whether the conduct of a private actor can be fairly attributable to a state actor under the second prong of the attribution test: (1) the nexus or joint-action test, (2) the public function test, and (3) the state coercion or encouragement test. See Richard v. Hoechst Celanese Chern. Grp., Inc., 355 F.3d 345, 352 (5th Cir. 2003); Lewis v. Law-Yone, 813 F.Supp. 1247, 1254 (N.D. Tex. 1993) (describing the three tests as applicable to the resolution of the second prong of the attribution test articulated by the Supreme Court in Lugar).

Under the “nexus test,” a private party may be considered a state actor “where the government has ‘so far insinuated itself into a position of interdependence with the [private actor] that it was a joint participant in the enterprise,’” and the actions of the private party can be treated as that of the state itself. Bass, 180 F.3d at 242; see also Blum v. Yaretsky, 457 U.S. 991, 1004 (1982). Plaintiffs have pled no facts which would suggest that any state governmental entity has “insinuated itself into a position of interdependence” with Defendant Smith. Indeed, Plaintiffs fail to plead any facts which would show that Smith ever interacted or communicated with the any state governmental entity regarding the filing of an opposition to a motion for protective order on behalf of her client. Plaintiffs therefore have failed to plead facts that would satisfy the nexus test for state action under Section 1983.

Under the “public function test,” a “private entity may be deemed a state actor when that entity performs a function which is traditionally the exclusive province of the state.” Bass, 180 F.3d at 241-42. Here, Plaintiffs’ Complaint is devoid of any facts showing that the representation of beneficiaries in probate litigation is a function that traditionally is the exclusive province of the state, and Plaintiffs therefore have failed to plead facts that would satisfy the public function test for state action under Section 1983.

Under the “state coercion test,” “a State normally can be held responsible for a private decision only when it has exercised coercive power or has provided such significant encouragement, either overt or covert, that the choice must in law be deemed to be that of the State.” Bass, 180 F.3d at 242. State coercion or compulsion can be found where the plaintiff establishes that the private defendants were engaged in a conspiracy with state officials. See Tebo v. Tebo, 550 F.3d 492, 496 (5th Cir. 2008).

To establish such a conspiracy, the plaintiff must show that the private and public actors entered into an agreement to commit an illegal act. Id. At the motion to dismiss stage, the plaintiff must “allege specific facts to show an agreement.” See id. (quoting Priester v. Lowndes Cnty., 354 F.3d 414, 421 (5th Cir. 2004)). Here, Plaintiffs have not included any facts in their Complaint which would suggest that Defendant Smith entered into any agreement with, or was acting at the behest of, any government official when she prepared an opposition to a motion for protective order on behalf of her client. There are simply no facts pleaded which would, if true, show the existence of such an agreement. Plaintiffs thus have failed to plead facts showing that Defendant Smith was coerced or encouraged by any governmental entity sufficient to satisfy the state coercion test. Priester, 354 F.3d at 420 (conspiracy alleges that are “merely conclusory, without reference to specific facts,” will not survive a motion to dismiss).

Because Plaintiffs have failed to establish the necessary state action, their Section 1983 claim should be dismissed.

b. Plaintiffs' Section 1985 Claim Should be Dismissed.

To state a §1985 claim, a plaintiff must plead: (1) a conspiracy involving two or more persons, (2) to deprive, directly or indirectly, a person or class of persons of equal protection of the laws, (3) that one or more of the conspirators committed an act in furtherance of that conspiracy (4) which causes injury to another in his person or property or a deprivation of any right or privilege he has as a citizen of the United States, and (5) the conspirators' action is motivated by "some racial, or perhaps otherwise class-based, invidiously discriminatory animus behind the conspirators' action." United Bhd. of Carpenters & Joiners v. Scott, 463 U.S. 825, 828-29 (1983); Wong v. Stripling, 881 F.2d 200, 202 (5th Cir. 1989). Plaintiffs' §1985 claim fails for several reasons.

Plaintiffs have not alleged any facts to support any of these elements. Plaintiffs identify no specific "right of privilege" that has been deprived. See Compl. at ¶159 (generally and vaguely alleging the deprivation of "rights, privileges, and immunities secured and protected by the Constitution and laws of the United States."). Plaintiffs likewise fail to plead with particularity a conspiracy or any overt acts. Compare Taylor v. Fed. Home Loan Bank Bd., 661 F. Supp. 1341, 1346 (N.D. Tex. 1986) (plaintiff must plead existence of conspiracy and overt acts with particularity), with Compl. at ¶129 ("Defendants . . . did willfully and knowingly conspire together to participate, and did participate, in a scheme or artifice . . ."). Finally, the Complaint is devoid of any factual allegations demonstrating that Plaintiffs are members of a protected class, or that any of the alleged "conspiracy" and "overt acts" were motivated by class-based discriminatory animus. Simply put, Plaintiffs have once again conclusively alleged a violation of the law, without stating the basis for the alleged violation. See Anderson, 554 F.3d at 528 ("a complaint must do more than name laws that may have been violated by the defendant; it must also allege facts regarding what conduct violated those laws.").

For these reasons, Plaintiffs' Section 1985 claim should be dismissed.

c. Section 242 Does Not Provide for a Private Right of Action.

Section 242 is the criminal analogue to Section 1983 and does not provide for a private right of action. Johnson v. Kegans, 870 F.2d 992, 1005 n.4 (5th Cir. 1989). Plaintiffs' claim that Defendant has conspired to violate Section 242 therefore should be dismissed without further inquiry.

5. Plaintiffs' Remaining Non-Predicate Act Claims (Claims 45, 46 and 47) are all Barred by Attorney Immunity.

Plaintiffs' remaining Non-Predicate Act Claims, which allege "aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty," "aiding and abetting misapplication of fiduciary" and "tortious interference with inheritance expectancy," all arise under Texas law and, for the reasons more fully stated in Section II(A)(4) of this Motion, are barred by attorney immunity. See Compl. at ¶¶160-66.

III.
CONCLUSION

Accordingly, Defendant respectfully requests that the Court grant her Motion to Dismiss and dismiss Plaintiffs' claims with prejudice, and for such other and further relief, at law or in equity, to which Defendant may show herself to be justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

I. Nature and Stage of the Proceedings

1. Plaintiffs brought the above titled action pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §1964(c) alleging Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act violations of 18 U.S.C. §1962(c) and 18 U.S.C. §1962(d), both individually and as private attorneys general on behalf of the public trust, on July 5, 2016 in the Southern District of Texas.
2. On October 31, 2016, Defendant Jason Ostrom filed a Motion to Dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt 78).

II. Contextual Summary

3. Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis (Curtis) lives in California and is a beneficiary of inter vivos trusts having a situs in Houston, Texas.
4. Other beneficiaries of the trusts include Plaintiff Curtis’ siblings: Carl Brunsting, Carole Brunsting, and Defendants Amy Brunsting and Anita Brunsting. (Dkt 33-1, 33-2 and 33-3)

5. Neither Plaintiff Curtis nor any of her siblings is an heir to, and none has inheritance expectancy, from the “Brunsting Estates” (Dkt 41-3 and 41-4)¹.

III. History of “The Trust”

6. In 1996 Elmer Brunsting and his wife Nelva Brunsting created the original Brunsting Family Living Trust for their benefit, for the benefit of their five primary issue, as well as for their remaindermen grandchildren and great grandchildren. (Dkt 34-1)

7. The Brunstings restated their Trust in 2005 (Dkt 33-2) removing Anita Brunsting as successor trustee and appointing Carl and Amy Brunsting as successor co-trustees, and naming Candace Curtis as alternate.

8. The Brunstings amended their restatement in 2007 (Dkt 33-3), to remove Amy Brunsting as a successor co-trustee, appointing Candace in her place, and naming Frost Bank as the alternate. It would appear from this sequence of events that Elmer and Nelva sought to prevent what has since occurred.

9. Elmer Brunsting was declared incompetent in June 2008 and on July 1, 2008 the first illicit successor trustee appointment to the Brunsting Trust was apparently drafted and notarized by Candace Kunz-Freed, claiming a change in jointly selected successor trustees had been made by Nelva Brunsting alone. (Exhibit 1) That instrument portends to have placed Anita Brunsting back in a trustee position.

10. Elmer Brunsting passed on April 1, 2009. At the death of Elmer Brunsting the inter vivos “family” trust became irrevocable and its assets were divided between an irrevocable decedent’s trust and a revocable survivor’s trust (Dkt 34-2 Articles III & VII).

¹ See Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406 regarding the Brunsting inter vivos Trusts

11. First named successor co-trustee Carl Brunsting fell ill with encephalitis on or about July 3, 2010 and by August 25, 2010 the extortion instrument² had been drafted and notarized by Candace Freed, naming Anita and Amy Brunsting successor co-trustees.

IV. A History of the Litigation

12. Candace Curtis v Anita and Amy Brunsting is a breach of fiduciary action seeking accounting and disclosures, filed in the Southern District of Texas on February 27, 2012, (Exhibit 2) and was dismissed under the Probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction March 8, 2012. Plaintiff Curtis filed a timely notice of appeal.

13. On March 9, 2012 Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed a Petition to take depositions before suit in the Harris County District Court styled, “In Re: Carl Henry Brunsting. (Exhibit 3)

14. On January 9, 2013 the Fifth Circuit issued a unanimous opinion with Order for Reverse and Remand published Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406 (Dkt 34-4).

15. On January 29, 2013 Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed a suit in the Harris County District Court against Defendants Vacek & Freed, in the name of the “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” raising only trust related issues. (Dkt 34-5)

16. In late 2013 Plaintiff Curtis enlisted the assistance of Houston Attorney Jason Ostrom.

17. Immediately upon appearing as Plaintiff Curtis’ representative in the federal lawsuit, Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592, Defendant Jason Ostrom arranged a remand to the Harris County Probate Court to consolidate Plaintiff Candace Curtis’ lawsuit with that of her brother Plaintiff Carl Brunsting, (Dkt 26-1) allegedly to afford complete relief to the parties.

18. It should be noted that Ostrom amended Curtis’ federal complaint to add Carl Henry Brunsting as an “Involuntary Plaintiff”, in order to pollute diversity so he could perfect a remand to state court to consolidate the first filed Plaintiff, Candace Curtis, with later filed state court Plaintiff Carl Brunsting, where federal plaintiff Curtis was named a Defendant only. (Dkt 34-7) (see also Dkt 57-1 and 57-2)

² The alleged August 25, 2010 “Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Testamentary Power of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement” a.k.a. 8/25/2010 QBD.

19. Defendant Ostrom thereafter abandoned “Plaintiff Curtis” and “Curtis v Brunsting” in the probate court record, pleading only under the heading of “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” (Exhibits 4 and 5 attached).

V. Statement of the Issues

1. Plaintiffs have not adequately pleaded the necessary predicate acts;
2. The plaintiffs have not stated a RICO claim under section 1962(c);
3. Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead with particularity their fraud-based predicate acts as required by Federal Rule 9(b);
4. Plaintiffs have failed to plead reliance in connection with their fraud related claims;
5. Plaintiffs failed to plead a cognizable RICO enterprise;
6. Plaintiffs enterprise allegations are too vague and conclusory
7. Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed because Plaintiffs' allegations do not satisfy RICO's proximate cause standard.

VI. The Argument

20. The RICO complaint articulates, with specificity, more than 40 events, each of which is listed as a RICO predicate act at 18 U.S.C. §1961(1) and each Defendant is accused of in-concert aiding and abetting. It is unnecessary for Plaintiffs to plead that each defendant personally committed two or more predicate acts.

*To be convicted of conspiracy to violate RICO under § 1962(d), the conspirator need not himself have committed or agreed to commit the two or more predicate acts, such as bribery, requisite for a substantive RICO offense under § 1962(c). Section 1962(d)-which forbids "any person to conspire to violate" § 1962(c)-is even more comprehensive than the general conspiracy provision applicable to federal crimes, § 371, since it contains no requirement of an overt or specific act to effect the conspiracy's object. Presuming Congress intended the "to conspire" phrase to have its ordinary meaning under the criminal law, see Morissette v. United States, 342 U. S. 246, 263, well-established principles and contemporary understanding demonstrate that, although a conspirator must intend to further an* endeavor which, if completed, would satisfy all of the elements of a substantive criminal offense, it suffices that he adopt the goal of furthering or facilitating the criminal endeavor, and he need not agree to undertake all of the acts necessary for the crime's completion. Salinas' contrary interpretation of § 1962(c) violates the foregoing principles and is refuted by Bannon v. United States, 156 U. S. 464, 469. Its acceptance, moreover, is not required by the rule of lenity, see United States v. Shabani, 513 U. S. 10, 17. Even if Salinas did not accept or agree to accept two bribes, there was ample evidence that the sheriff committed at least two predicate acts when he accepted numerous bribes and that Salinas knew about and agreed to facilitate the scheme, and this is sufficient to support Salinas' conviction under § 1962(d). Pp. 61-66. United States v Salinas 654 F.2d 319

21. It is also only necessary to show the defendant associated with the criminal venture, purposefully participated in the criminal activity, and sought by his actions to make the venture successful. United States v. Landerman, 109 F.3d 1053, 1068 n.22 (5th Cir. 1997). Jason Ostrom's conduct inarguably meets and exceeds this criterion.

22. A defendant associates with a criminal venture if he shares in the criminal intent of the principal, and the defendant participates in criminal activity if he has acted in some affirmative manner designed to aid the venture. Landerman, 109 F.3d at 1068 n.22. The level of participation may be of relatively slight moment. Leos-Quijada, 107 F.3d at 794. Also, it does not take much evidence to satisfy the facilitation element once the defendant's knowledge of the unlawful purpose is established. United States v. Bennett, 75 F.3d 40, 45 (1st Cir. 1996).³

23. Jason Ostrom's overt acts clearly intended to convert the Brunsting trusts into assets of a probate estate by masquerading Curtis v Brunsting behind an "estate" label.

VII. Res Judicata and Collateral Estoppel

1. The Brunsting Trusts are not a Probate Matter

24. The Brunsting Trusts are not assets belonging to the Estates of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting and are not subject to probate administration.

³ US Attorneys' Criminal Resource Manual CRM 2474

25. That finding of fact and conclusion of law was settled by the Justices of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals⁴ when Plaintiff Curtis' original petition survived the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction.

26. Moreover, the "Estate" inventory (Dkt 41-7) approved March 27, 2013, contains only an old car and the claims pending against Vacek and Freed in the Harris County District Court and was followed immediately by two drop orders. (Dkt 41-5 and 6).

27. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals on review held that Curtis v Brunsting was a matter relating only to an inter vivos trust not in the custody of a state court, that the assets in the inter vivos trust were not assets belonging to any "Estate" and were not subject to probate administration. (Dkt 34-4)

28. Defendant Ostrom, (Dkt 78) like Defendants Vacek & Freed (Dkt 19 and 20), Bobbie Bayless (Dkt 23), Jill Willard Young (Dkts 25, 38), Anita Brunsting (Dkt 30) Amy Brunsting (Dkt 35), Steven Mendel/Bradley Featherston (Dkt 36), Neal Spielman (Dkt 39 and 40), Christine Riddle Butts, Clarinda Comstock and Tony Baiamonte (Dkt 53), claim the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act action before this Honorable Court arises from a "Probate Case" or "Probate Matter". However, the so called "Probate Matter" does not speak to anything but the Brunsting Trusts.

29. The Fifth Circuit found that Plaintiff Curtis' federal lawsuit was exclusively related to the Brunsting inter vivos Trusts, that those trusts were not in the custody of any state court, that trust assets were not property of any estate and that even though the wills had been since filed and there was an ongoing probate of the estate, the assets in an inter vivos trust are not property belonging to an estate and would not be subject to probate administration. Jason Ostrom's remand to state court did not change that.

30. The Circuit Court also noted that the only heir to the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting was the Brunsting Trust.

31. The Circuit Court also reiterated the long standing doctrine of custodia legis, citing to the United States Supreme Court in *Marshall v. Marshall*⁵ for the proposition that no court can assume in rem jurisdiction over a res in the custody of another court. (Dkt 34-4)

32. Two actions were filed in state courts subsequent to Curtis reverse and remand back to the federal Court. Both state court suits were brought in the name of the "Estate of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting" and both suits raised only claims relating to the Brunsting trusts, then in the custody of a federal Court.

33. Federal Plaintiff Curtis is not an heir to any estate and neither are the other trust beneficiaries. The trust is the only heir to any estate and alleged trespass against the trust is against the named beneficiaries, not against any estate. Plaintiff Curtis is a real party in interest in the Brunsting Trusts, but not in any estate.

34. Defendant Ostrom admits to causing the case of Curtis v Brunsting 5:12-cv-592 to be remanded to Harris County Probate Court. However, Mr. Ostrom characterizes the remand as "remanding the case back to Harris County Probate Number 4", (Dkt 78 Page 4 of 24 unnumbered paragraph 7), as if to imply Plaintiff Curtis was some kind of escapee being returned to the custody of Harris County Probate Number 4, when Plaintiff Curtis had never been to Harris County Probate Court and had no claims pending there.

35. Plaintiff Curtis retained Defendant Jason Ostrom in the federal court matter under the letterhead of Ostrom/Sain. After effecting a remand to state probate court Ostrom pled exclusively under the heading “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”, which Plaintiff Curtis’ lawsuit is not.

VIII. Sufficiency of the Pleadings

36. Defendant Ostrom claims Plaintiffs fail to plead a cognizable RICO claim, enterprise, fraud based acts, reliance or proximate cause.

37. Such assertions can only be ground upon an unfamiliar view of the law, as surely Defendant cannot honestly plead ignorance of his acts or the facts when his proclaimed station requires him to be knowledgeable of the records and pleadings in the cases he claims to be an attorney in.

38. Plaintiffs more than adequately plead Harris County Probate Court as both the RICO enterprise and a victim of the racketeering activity.

39. In Cedric Kushner Promotions, Ltd. v. King, 533 U.S. 158, 164 (2001), the Supreme Court stated:

The Court has held that RICO both protects a legitimate “enterprise” from those who would use unlawful acts to victimize it, United States v. Turkette, 452 U.S. 576, 591 (1981), and also protects the public from those who would unlawfully use an “enterprise” (whether legitimate or illegitimate) as a “vehicle” through which “unlawful . . . activity is committed,” National Organization for Women, Inc., 510 U.S. [249,] 259 (1994).

40. Plaintiffs plead cognizable predicate acts with the necessary particularity and Plaintiffs plead acts demonstrative of conspiracy and of aiding and abetting with more particularity in each reply to motions to dismiss.

41. This Probate Bully Mob of RICO Defendants fully intended to trap the Brunsting siblings in a cycle of vacuous paper exchanges to maximize attorney billing profits while resolving absolutely nothing on the public record, in order to protect the racketeering activity from discovery and investigation by legitimate law enforcement resources.

42. Each of the “RICO Defendants” aided and abetted the conspiracy in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§2 and 1962(d) and now come before this Honorable Court claiming their attempt to bust the Brunsting trusts for their own personal gain is a bitter sibling dispute over the administration of their parents’ estate. Nothing could be further from the truth.

43. While real damages are difficult to calculate without fiduciary disclosures, the additional injury resulting from five years of improperly motivated “litigation” posturing, directly and proximately caused by these Defendants illicit conduct, are tangible, concrete, calculable and a matter of public record.

44. Every one of the Brunsting beneficiaries has been injured by the fraud perpetrated on the federal and state courts, upon the Brunsting family and upon Plaintiffs by these Defendants.

45. Jason Ostrom was instrumental in the plot to treat the Brunsting Trusts as if they were a probate asset and his feigned ignorance of the legal precedents set by pro se Curtis in this extended Brunsting Trusts litigation, is in direct conflict with his fiduciary obligation to know.

46. Defendant Jason Ostrom’s feigned ignorance of law and fact are not defenses.

47. Defendant Ostrom also makes dubious statements regarding Plaintiff Munson’s participation in protecting Plaintiff Curtis’ property interest and those of the Brunsting trusts.

48. That participation is common knowledge and a matter of public record.

49. The name Rik Munson appears for the first time at Docket entry 9 in Curtis’ original federal lawsuit and appears a total of ten times in the Official record on Appeal to the Fifth Circuit in 2012. (CA No. 12-20164)

IX. Amendment and Adoption by Reference

50. Pursuant to the authority provided by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(b) and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a)(1), Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by reference into Plaintiffs' original complaint (Dkt 1), the Addendum of Memorandum and the pleadings subsumed therein, (Dkt 26) and all of Plaintiffs' Replies to Defendants Motions, as if fully expressed in said Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 33, 34, 41, 45, 57, 61, 62, 65, 69, this reply, the replies yet unfiled and the attached exhibits as if fully expressed therein;

51. Plaintiffs further adopt and incorporate by reference all of the Defendants' Motions and pleadings and the claims stated therein, as exhibits in support of Plaintiffs' Complaint, as if originally attached thereto, including but not limited to Docket entries 19, 20, 23, 25, 30, 35, 36, 38, 39, 40, 53, 78, 79, 81, 83, 84 and those yet unfiled as if fully attached as exhibits thereto.

X. Conclusion

52. Defendant Jason Ostrom told the Honorable Judge Kenneth Hoyt in his application for approval of his First Amended Complaint that the purpose for a remand to state court was to consolidate with Plaintiff Carl Brunsting in order to afford complete relief to the parties.

53. Defendant Ostrom deprived Plaintiff Curtis of a federal judicial forum and access to the only Court of competent jurisdiction under false pretexts, by presenting unopposed motions to amend Plaintiff Curtis' federal complaint and to remand to Harris County Probate Court.

54. The Brunsting Trusts are the only heir to the "Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting". Trust assets are not property belonging to the "Estates", and are not subject to probate administration, yet each of these Defendants insist this RICO lawsuit arises out of a dispute between siblings over inheritance expectancies and the administration of an estate and others have pled Plaintiffs are disgruntled litigants seeking vengeance for being on the losing end of fully litigated state court determinations.

55. For the last five years, these Defendants have each participated in denying Plaintiff Curtis and each of the Brunsting siblings the enjoyment of their parents' benevolence. Each has engaged in gaming the judicial process, posing as advocates, to maximize fees and resolve nothing, while holding resolution of the Brunsting trusts hostage under a probate administration pretext.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Rule 12(b)(6) Motion to Dismiss filed by Defendant Jason Ostrom October 31, 2016, (Dkt 78) and hold this Defendant to answer.

Appt of Succ. Trustees

APPOINTMENT OF SUCCESSOR TRUSTEES

WHEREAS, NELVA ERLEEN BRUNSTING, also known as NELVA E. BRUNSTING, is a Founder of the Brunsting Family Living Trust dated October 10, 1996, as amended, (the "Trust Agreement"); and,

WHEREAS, Pursuant to Article IV, Section B, of the Brunsting Family Living Trust entitled "Our Successor Trustees," an original Trustee will have the right to appoint his or her own successor or successors to serve as Trustees in the event that such original Trustee ceases to serve by reason of death, disability or for any other reason, as well as specify conditions relevant to such appointment; and,

WHEREAS, ELMER H. BRUNSTING is no longer able to manage his financial affairs, as is evidenced by the physicians' letters attached. Therefore, pursuant to Article IV, Section B, of the Brunsting Family Living Trust Agreement, the remaining original Trustee, NELVA E. BRUNSTING, continues to serve alone.

WHEREAS, the said NELVA E. BRUNSTING is desirous of her right as original Trustee to designate, name and appoint her own successors to serve as Trustees in the event that she ceases to serve by reason of death, disability or for any other reason, as well as specify conditions of such appointment;

NOW, THEREFORE, KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS:

NELVA E. BRUNSTING makes the following appointment:

IF, NELVA E. BRUNSTING, fail or cease to serve by reason of death, disability or for any other reason, then the following individuals will serve as successor Co-Trustees:

CARL HENRY BRUNSTING and ANITA KAY BRUNSTING

CARL HENRY BRUNSTING and ANITA KAY BRUNSTING shall each have the authority to appoint his or her own successor Trustee by appointment in writing.

If a successor Co-Trustee should fail or cease to serve by reason of death, disability or for any other reason, then the remaining successor Co-Trustee shall serve alone. However, if neither successor Co-Trustee is able or willing to serve, then CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS shall serve as sole successor Trustee. In the event CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS is unable or unwilling to serve, then THE FROST NATIONAL BANK shall serve as sole successor Trustee.

In order to maintain the integrity of the Trust Agreement and to meet my estate planning desires and goals, my Trustees shall comply with the directive set forth below to assure compliance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) of 1996.

1. Successor Trustee Required to Provide an Authorization For Release of Protected Health Information

Each successor Trustee (or Co-Trustee) shall be required to execute and deliver to the Co-Trustee (if any) or next successor Trustee an "Authorization for Release of Protected Health Information" pursuant to the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA") and any other similarly applicable federal and state laws, authorizing the release of said successor's protected health and medical information to said successor's Co-Trustees (if any) and to all alternate successor Trustees (or Co-Trustees) named under this document or any subsequent documents signed by the Founders, to be used only for the purpose of determining in the future whether said successor has become incapacitated (as defined in the Trust Agreement).

If said successor is already acting in the capacity of Trustee (or Co-Trustee) and fails to so execute and deliver such Authorization within thirty (30) days of actual notice of said requirement, or if an event has occurred which triggers said successor's power to act but said successor has not yet begun to act in said capacity and fails to so execute and deliver such Authorization within thirty (30) days of actual notice of said requirement, then for purposes of the Trust Agreement, said successor shall be deemed incapacitated.

"Actual notice" shall occur when a written notice, signed by the Co-Trustees (if any) or next successor Trustee, informing said successor of the need to timely execute and deliver an authorization as set forth above (and, in the case where said successor has not yet begun to act, informing him or her of the event that has triggered said successor's power to act), is (i) deposited in the United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the last address of said successor known to the Co-Trustees or next successor Trustee or (ii) hand delivered to said successor, provided such delivery is witnessed by a third party independent from the Co-Trustees or next successor Trustee within the meaning of Internal Revenue Code Sections 672(c) and 674(c) and said witness signs a statement that he or she has witnessed such delivery.

2. Obtain the Release of Protected Health Information

The Trustee is empowered to request, receive and review any information, verbal or written, regarding Founder's physical or mental health, including, but not limited to, protected health and medical information, and to consent to their release or disclosure. The Founder has signed on this same date or an earlier date an "Authorization For Release of Protected Health Information," in compliance with HIPAA, immediately authorizing the release of any and all health and medical information to the Trustee (or next successor Trustee, even if not yet acting) for the purposes of determining the Founder's incapacity (or for other stated purposes therein).

In the event said authorization cannot be located, is by its own terms no longer in force or is otherwise deemed invalid in whole or in part, the Founder hereby grants the Trustee (or next successor Trustee, even if not yet acting) the power and authority, as Founder's legal representative, to execute a new authorization on Founder's behalf, immediately authorizing the release of any and all health and medical information for the purpose of determining the Founder's incapacity (and for the purpose of carrying out any of the Trustee's powers, rights, duties and obligations under this agreement), naming the Trustee (or next successor Trustee even if not yet acting) as the Founder's "Personal Representative," "Authorized Representative" and "Authorized Recipient."

3. Determination of "Incompetence" or "Incapacity"

For purposes of the Trust Agreement, and notwithstanding any other conflicting provisions contained in the Trust Agreement or any previous amendments thereto, the term "incompetency" and/or "incapacity" shall mean any physical or mental incapacity, whether by reason of accident, illness, advanced age, mental deterioration, alcohol, drug or other substance abuse, or similar cause, which in the sole and absolute discretion of the Trustee makes it impracticable for a person to give prompt, rational and prudent consideration to financial matters and, if said disabled person is a Trustee (including an appointed Trustee who has yet to act), (i) a guardian of said person or estate, or both, of said person has been appointed by a court having jurisdiction over such matters or (ii) two (2) attending physicians of said person, who are licensed to practice and who are not related by blood or marriage to such person, have stated in writing that such incompetency or incapacity exists.

If said disabled person is a Trustee (including an appointed Trustee who has yet to act), upon the court determination of the person's competency or capacity or upon the revocation of the writings of the two (2) attending physicians above or upon written determination of competency or capacity to give prompt, rational and prudent consideration to financial matters by two (2) other attending physicians, who are licensed to practice and who are not related by blood or marriage to such person, subject to written notice being given to the then acting successor Trustee, the original Trustee (including an appointed Trustee who has yet to act) removed for "incompetency" or "incapacity" shall be reinstated as Trustee.

Any third party may accept physicians' writings as proof of competency or capacity or incompetency or incapacity as set forth above without the responsibility of further investigation and shall be held harmless from any loss suffered or liability incurred as the result of good faith reliance upon such writings.

In addition to any "Authorization for Release of Protected Health Information" executed by the Founder, the Founder hereby voluntarily waives any physician-patient privilege or psychiatrist-patient privilege and authorizes physicians and psychiatrists to examine them and disclose their physical or mental condition, or other personal health or medical information, in order to determine their competency or incompetency, or capacity or incapacity, for purposes of this document. Each person who signs this instrument or an acceptance of Trusteeship hereunder does, by so signing, waive all provisions of law relating to disclosure of confidential or protected health and medical information insofar as that disclosure would be pertinent to any inquiry under this paragraph. No Trustee shall be under any duty to institute any inquiry into a person's possible incompetency or incapacity (such as, but not limited to, by drug testing), but if the Trustee does so, the expense of any such inquiry may be paid from the Trust Estate of said person's trust or, if no such trust exists, the Trust Estate of the Trust.

It is the Founder's desire that, to the extent possible, a named successor Trustee be able to act expeditiously, without the necessity of obtaining a court determination of a Founder's incapacity or the incapacity of a preceding appointed successor Trustee (including if that preceding appointed successor Trustee has not yet acted). Therefore, if an Authorization for Release of Protected Health Information executed by a Founder, or an appointed successor Trustee (even if not yet acting), or by a "personal representative" or "authorized representative" on behalf of a Founder or such an appointed successor Trustee, is not honored in whole or in part by a third party such that physicians' writings cannot be obtained as necessitated by this subparagraph, then the Trust Protector named under the Trust Agreement (if any), or if there is no such Trust Protector provided under the Trust Agreement then the next succeeding Trustee (even if not yet acting) who is independent, that is not related to or subordinate to, said Founder or such appointed successor Trustee within the meaning of Internal Revenue Code Section 672(c), may declare in writing said Founder or such appointed successor Trustee to be incapacitated; provided, however, the Trust Protector or next succeeding Trustee making such declaration shall have first made good faith efforts to obtain the physicians' writings described above, and the provisions above relating to reinstatement upon two (2) physicians' written determination of competency or capacity shall continue to apply.

In the event the Trust Agreement does not provide for an Independent Trustee as set forth in the above paragraph, such an Independent Trustee shall be elected by a majority vote of the then current adult income beneficiaries of the trust (or by the legal guardians of all minor or disabled current income beneficiaries) and such Independent Trustee shall not be related to nor subordinate to any of the beneficiaries participating in the said vote within the meaning of Internal Revenue Code 672(c). In the event that there are only two (2) beneficiaries, one of which is acting as Trustee, the remaining beneficiary may appoint such an Independent Trustee who is neither related to nor subordinate to such beneficiary as those terms are defined in and within the meaning of Internal Revenue Code 672(c).

The Founder has signed on this same date or on an earlier date an "Authorization for Release of Protected Health Information," in compliance with HIPAA, immediately authorizing the release of health and medical information to the Trustee (or next successor Trustee, even if not yet acting), so the Trustee may legally defend against or otherwise resist any contest or attack of any nature upon any provision of the Trust Agreement or amendment to it (or defend against or prosecute any other legal matter within his or her powers set forth in the Trust Agreement). In the event said authorization cannot be located, is by its own terms no longer in force or is otherwise deemed invalid or not accepted in whole or in part, the Founder hereby grants the Trustee (or next successor Trustee, even if not yet acting) the power and authority, as the Founder's legal representative to execute a new authorization on the Founder's behalf, even after Founder's death, immediately authorizing the release of any and all health and medical information for the purpose of determining the Founder's incapacity (and for the purpose of carrying out any of the Trustee's powers, rights, duties and obligations under the Trust Agreement naming the Trustee (or next successor Trustee, even if not yet acting) as the Founder's "Personal Representative," "Authorized Representative" and "Authorized Recipient."

This Appointment of Successor Trustees is effective immediately upon execution of this document by the Founder, with the said successor Trustees to act at such times and in such instances as provided in the Brunsting Family Living Trust dated October 10, 1996, as amended.

All other provisions contained in the Brunsting Family Living Trust October 10, 1996, as amended, are hereby ratified and confirmed and shall remain in full force and effect except to the extent that any such provisions are amended hereby or by previous amendments or appointments still in effect.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 4:12-cv-00592
JUDGE KENNETH M. HOYT

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

PLAINTIFF'S FIRST AMENDED PETITION

I. PARTIES

1. Plaintiff, Candice Louis Curtis is a citizen of the State of California.
2. Defendant Anita Kay Brunsting is a citizen of the State of Texas, who has answered and appeared herein.
3. Defendant Amy Ruth Brunsting is a citizen of the State of Texas, who has answered and appeared herein.
4. Necessary Party and involuntary plaintiff is Carl Brunsting, individually and as Executor of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, who is a citizen of the State of Texas and is expected to waive the issuance of citation. He is being added to effectuate complete relief regarding the claims and to avoid the risk of inconsistent judgments being rendered.
5. Necessary Party is Carole Ann Brunsting, who is a citizen of the State of Texas, and who can be served with citation at 5822 Jason St., Houston, Texas 77074. She is being added to effectuate complete relief regarding the claims and to avoid the risk of inconsistent judgments being rendered.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6. This Court had jurisdiction of the state law claims alleged herein pursuant to 28 USC § 1332(a)(1) – 28 USC § 1332(b), and 28 USC § 1332(C)(2) in that this action is between parties who are citizens of different states and the amount in controversy exceeds the sum of $75,000.00, exclusive of interests and costs. Jurisdiction may be destroyed if all necessary parties are joined.
7. The Res in this matter includes assets belonging to the Brunsting Family Living Trust (“Trust”) and assets belonging to the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased, under the care and control of Necessary Party Carl Brunsting.

III. NATURE OF ACTION

8. This action arises out of the misappropriate and mismanagement of assets that belonged to Nelva Brunsting during her life and of assets that belonged to the Brunsting Family Trust, and the execution of invalid documents seeking to amend the Brunsting Family Trust.

IV. CAUSES OF ACTION

9. Breach of Fiduciary Duty. Defendants Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting are Co-Trustees of the Trust and owed to Plaintiff, Carl Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting, a fiduciary duty, which includes : (1) a duty of loyalty and utmost good faith; (2) a duty of candor; (3) a duty to refrain from self-dealing; (4) a duty to act with integrity of the strictest kind; (5) a duty of fair, honest dealing; and (6) a duty of full disclosure. Defendants have violated this duty by engaging in self-dealing, by failing to disclose the existence of assets to Plaintiff, by failing to account to Plaintiffs for Trust assets and income, by failing to place Plaintiff’s interests ahead of their own, and by making distributions that deviate from the strict language of the Trust. Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages, together with pre- and post-judgment interest and costs of court.

10. Fraud. Defendants Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting made misrepresentations of material facts with the intent that Plaintiff rely upon them, and Plaintiff did rely upon such misrepresentations to her detriment. Such misrepresentations included statements regarding the Trust, Trust assets, and her right to receive both information and Trust assets. On information and belief, Defendants made fraudulent misrepresentations to Nelva Brunsting upon which she relied to her detriment and to the ultimate detriment of her Estate. Plaintiff seeks actual and exemplary damages, together with pre- and post-judgment interest both on behalf of herself, and on behalf of the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, Deceased.
11. Constructive Fraud. Constructive fraud exists when a breach of a legal or equitable duty occurs that has a tendency to deceive others and violate their confidence. As a result of Defendants' fiduciary relationship with Plaintiff and with Nelva Brunsting, Defendants owed Plaintiff and Nelva Brunsting legal duties. The breaches of the fiduciary duties discussed above and incorporated herein by reference constitute constructive fraud, which caused injury to both Nelva Brunsting's Estate and Plaintiff. Plaintiff seeks actual damages, as well as, punitive damages individually and on behalf of Nelva Brunsting's Estate.
12. Money Had and Received. Defendants have taken money that belongs in equity and good conscience to Plaintiff, and has done so with malice and through fraud. Plaintiff seeks her actual damages, exemplary damages, pre- and post-judgment interest and court costs.
13. Conversion. Defendants have converted assets that belong to Plaintiff as beneficiary of the Brunsting Family Trust, assets that belong to the Brunsting Family Trust, and assets that belonged to Nelva Brunsting and that should be a part of her Estate. Defendants have wrongfully and with malice exercised dominion and control over these assets, and has damaged Plaintiff, the Brunsting Family Trust, as well as the Estate of Nelva Brunsting by so doing. Plaintiff seeks actual damages, exemplary damages, pre- and post-judgment interest and court costs, both individually and on behalf of the Decedent's Estate.

14. Tortious Interference with Inheritance Rights. A cause of action for tortious interference with inheritance rights exists when a defendant by fraud, duress, or other tortious means intentionally prevents another from receiving from a third person an inheritance or gift that he would otherwise have received. Defendants herein breached their fiduciary duties and converted funds that would have passed to Plaintiff through the Brunsting Family Trust, and in doing so tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's inheritance rights. Plaintiff seeks actual damages as well as punitive damages.
15. Declaratory Judgment Action. The Brunsting Family Trust was created by Nelva and Elmer Brunsting, and became irrevocable upon the death of Elmer Brunsting. After his death, Nelva executed a Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Power of Appointment ("Modification Documents"), which attempted to change the terms of the then-irrevocable Trust. Upon information and belief, Nelva did not understand what she was signing when she signed the Modification Documents, and signed them as a result of undue influence and/or duress. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that the Modification Documents are not valid, and further that the in terrorem clause contained therein is overly broad, against public policy and not capable of enforcement. Plaintiff further seeks a declaration as to her rights under the Brunsting Family Trust. Plaintiff contends and will show that she has brought her action in good faith.
16. Demand for Accounting. Plaintiff seeks a formal accounting from Defendants in compliance with the Texas Property Code.

V. JURY DEMAND

17. Plaintiff hereby makes her demand for a jury trial in this matter.

VI. PRAYER

18. WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that upon final trial in this matter, she will take judgment for her actual and exemplary damages, actual and exemplary damages will be awarded to the Estate of Nelva Brunsting, that pre- and post-judgment interest and costs of court will be assessed against the Defendants, and that she be granted such other and further relief to which she may show herself justly entitled.

1. Plaintiffs filed 18 U.S.C. 1962(c) and 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) claims along with civil rights, common law breach of fiduciary and other claims on July 5, 2016.

2. On November 2, 2016, Defendant Bernard Lisle Mathews III filed a motion to dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt 81)

I. INTRODUCTION

3. In its purest form this lawsuit is about property and the intentions of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting that their worldly possessions pass to their issue without conflict, complications, or excess costs. In pursuit of that goal Elmer and Nelva Brunsting purchased a trust and estate plan package as both a product and a service of Albert Vacek, Jr.

4. According to assurances that Vacek gives his customers, his trust package was supposed to avoid what Vacek calls “the three evils”. Those evils include “probate”, “guardianship” and “taxes”.

5. Vacek partner, Candace Kunz-Freed, began drafting instruments undermining the Brunsting trust as soon as Elmer Brunsting weakened (see Dkt 26-11 and 26-14) and then continued the erosion with each subsequent “Hurrah”¹, the next being the encephalitis and coma suffered by Carl Brunsting.

¹ In legal parlance a.k.a. a “qualifying event”

II. NATURE AND STAGE OF THE PROCEEDING

6. Plaintiffs in the above titled action, brought 18 U.S.C. §1964(c) Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization and other claims, both individually and as private attorneys general on behalf of the public trust, on July 5, 2016 in the Southern District of Texas.

7. On November 2, 2016, Defendant Bernard Mathews filed a Motion to Dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt #81).

III. SUMMARY OF THE CASE

8. Plaintiff Candace Louise Curtis (Curtis) lives in California and is a beneficiary of inter vivos trusts having a situs in Houston, Texas. Other beneficiaries of the trusts include Plaintiff Curtis' siblings: Carl, Carole, and Defendants Amy and Anita Brunsting, and also includes the remaindermen grandchildren and great grandchildren of Grantors Elmer and Nelva Brunsting, et al., per stirpes.

9. In 1996, Plaintiff Curtis' parents, Elmer Brunsting and Nelva Brunsting, created the original Brunsting Family Living Trust for their benefit, for the benefit of their five primary issue and for the benefit of the remaindermen grandchildren and great grandchildren. (Dkt 33-1)

10. The Brunstings restated their Trust in 2005 (Dkt 33-2) and amended the restatement in 2007. (Dkt 33-3)

11. Elmer Brunsting was declared incompetent in June 2008 and passed on April 1, 2009.

12. At the death of Elmer Brunsting the inter vivos "family" trust became irrevocable and divided its assets among an irrevocable decedent's trust and a revocable survivor's trust. (Dkt 33-2, Articles III and VII)

13. Nelva Brunsting passed on November 11, 2011 and a number of instruments surfaced that had been drafted after Elmer Brunsting became incompetent and after he passed, claiming changes had been made to irrevocable trusts. The 8/25/2010 QBD (Dkt 26-14)² (also called the extortion instrument) and the several appointments of successor trustee are just such instruments (Dkt 26-14)³

14. The acting trustees, Anita and Amy Brunsting, conducted themselves in complete secrecy. After Nelva Brunsting passed they refused to answer, account or provide disclosures and after two unsuccessful demand letters⁴ advising Anita and Amy Brunsting to do the right thing, Plaintiff Curtis brought suit in the Southern District of Texas.

15. On March 6, 2012, Defendant Bernard Matthews filed an “emergency motion” for removal of lis pendens.⁵ In the opening paragraph of his "emergency motion" Defendant Bernard Mathews states:

[Note: This Motion is brought subject to the Trustees contention that this Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction due to the fact that Texas Probate Code §115.001 (7) confers exclusive jurisdiction over matters related to questions “arising in the administration or distribution of a trust” to the State District Court, and by analogy this case should not be considered under the Probate Exception to Federal Court Jurisdiction, Marshall v. Marshall, 126 S.Ct. 1735, 1748 (2006). These issues will be raised by a separate Motion to Dismiss under FRCP 12(b)]

16. Mathews also attached a perjured affidavit signed and sworn to by Amy Brunsting to his March 6, 2012 “emergency motion”⁶ and on March 8, 2012, Curtis’ complaint was dismissed sua sponte under the Probate Exception to Federal Diversity Jurisdiction, due to the Court's reliance upon the assertions made by officer of the Court, Bernard Mathews.

IV. STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES

1. Plaintiffs do not have an actual case or controversy with Mathews;
2. Plaintiffs do not state a claim against Mathews;
3. Mathews only handled an emergency motion for removal of lis pendens;
4. Mathews has immunity from civil accountability to his tort victims because he is an attorney.

V. PLAINTIFFS' REPLY

17. Candace Curtis v Anita and Amy Brunsting (4:12-cv-592) began in the federal Court in the Southern District of Texas on February 27, 2012, seeking equitable relief in the form of accountings, answers to information requests and monetary damages for known acts and omissions.

18. Plaintiff Curtis' original lawsuit alleged that all the information in the case was uniquely in the possession of the Defendants and included an affidavit with exhibits showing exactly where the case was at that point in time.

19. The federal Court dismissed an application for injunction filed with the original complaint due to want of service on the Defendants, and in the Order the Court expressed concern over whether or not the Court had subject matter jurisdiction. (4:12-cv-592 Dkt 8)

20. Defendant Bernard Mathews appears to have intentionally manipulated the Court's previous expression of concern over whether the Court had subject matter jurisdiction, knowingly misstating Texas Property Code §115.001 to be the Probate Code, and then bootstrapping a Route Test theory that was very harshly reversed by the Supreme Court on the second page of the Marshall v. Marshall opinion he cited as his authority.⁷

“Nevertheless, the Ninth Circuit in the instant case read the probate exception broadly to exclude from the federal courts' adjudicatory authority "not only direct challenges to a will or trust, but also questions which would ordinarily be decided by a probate court in determining the validity of the decedent's estate planning instrument." 392 F.3d 1118, 1133 (2004). The Court of Appeals further held that a State's vesting of exclusive jurisdiction over probate matters in a special court strips federal courts of jurisdiction to entertain any "probate related matter," including claims respecting "tax liability, debt, gift, [or] tort." Id., at 1136. We hold that the Ninth Circuit had no warrant from Congress, or from decisions of this Court, for its sweeping extension of the probate exception". Marshall v Marshall 547 U.S. 293, 126 S. Ct. 1735, 1736

21. Curtis and Munson spent the next 14 months on an appeal before returning to the federal Court, more than four years ago. For this Court's perusal, Plaintiffs attach the "Appellants Opening Brief on Appeal", as it speaks directly to the root of matters presently before this Honorable Court. (Exhibit 1)

22. Defendant Mathews is currently listed as a staff attorney on the vacek.com web site (Exhibit 2) and was listed as a staff attorney with Vacek and Freed when he filed his disingenuous motion under the letterhead of Green and Mathews (4:12-cv-592 Dkt 10).

1. Not a Probate Matter

23. Plaintiff Curtis' federal appeal distinguished the Brunsting Trust from the Brunsting Estate.

24. According to the Fifth Circuit, the Brunsting Trusts are not assets belonging to any estate and are not subject to probate administration.

25. On March 2, 2012, a mere four days before his "emergency motion", Mathews filed a complaint in the Harris County District Court, on behalf of Plaintiff Reginald Parr. Reginald D.

⁷ Marshall v Marshall 547 U.S. 293, 126 S. Ct. 1735, 1736

Parr vs. Sherry Evon Dunegan CA 201213022. In that case Mr. Parr was suing Ms. Dunegan for breach of fiduciary in the administration of a Texas trust drawn up by the law firm of Vacek and Freed.

26. It would necessarily follow that an attorney preparing a complaint for the Harris County District Court, involving a substantively identical case to that of Plaintiff Curtis, would know that trusts are not heard exclusively in the probate court, and would know the difference between the Property Code and the Estate Code (which Mathews called the "Probate Code").

27. If Mathews read the Supreme Court opinion in Marshall v. Marshall before citing to that authority and signing his pleading, he would also know his Route Test assertions were patently disingenuous.

2. Lis Pendens

28. Defendants filed their "emergency" motion claiming to be trustees; that the property to which the lis pendens related was to be liquidated in order to distribute proceeds to the heirs, and that Plaintiff's only intent was to frustrate that sale.

29. The lis pendens at issue was amongst the papers filed with the Court, but was never on file with the County Recorder as to frustrate any sale.

30. The house itself was sold like it was on fire and neither Plaintiff Curtis nor siblings Carl or Carole have ever received any distribution of proceeds from the sale of that house.

31. After Bernard Mathew's "Emergency Motion" resulted in the improper dismissal of Plaintiff Curtis' action, Mathews immediately interfered with all three of Curtis' subpoenas for records, including the email records of Nelva Brunsting, Exxon Stock transfer records from Computershare, and Bank of America transaction records, all of which loom large in rebutting Anita and Amy's fact claims.

3. Mathew's Email: "Intend to Move this to Probate"

32. Subsequent to the dismissal of Plaintiff Curtis' federal lawsuit, Mathews emailed Bobbie Bayless, Carole Brunsting and Candace Freed, providing accounting spreadsheets that were shockingly revealing.

33. This email (Exhibit 3) was the first real indication of what is later revealed to be a concerted effort, with the sole purpose of converting Plaintiff Curtis' trust related breach of fiduciary claims into estate claims.

34. Mathews, and every other defendant attorney, has actively engaged in trying to accomplish what Vacek assures his customers his estate plans will avoid, "probate".

VI. AMENDMENT AND ADOPTION BY REFERENCE

35. Pursuant to the authority provided by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(b) and 15(a)(1), Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by reference into Plaintiffs' original complaint (Dkt 1), the Addendum of Memorandum and the pleadings subsumed therein, (Dkt 26) and all of Plaintiffs' Replies to Defendants Motions, as if fully expressed in said Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 33, 34, 41, 45, 57, 61, 62, 65, 69, 85. this reply and the attached exhibits, as if fully expressed therein;

36. Plaintiffs further adopt by reference all of the Defendants' Motions and pleadings, the claims stated therein and the exhibits attached, as exhibits in support of Plaintiffs' Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 19, 20, 23, 25, 30, 35, 36, 38, 39, 40, 53, 78, 79, 81, 83, and 84, as if fully attached as exhibits thereto.

VII. CONCLUSION

37. Bernard Mathew's "Emergency Motion" was disingenuous in its expressions of both law and fact, and was filed for the improper purpose of manipulating the Court's stated hesitancy over whether or not it had subject matter jurisdiction, thus achieving an improper dismissal.

38. This conduct multiplied the litigation for Plaintiff Curtis resulting in a 14-month delay and additional costs, and has exacerbated injury to the beneficiaries and the Brunsting Trust res.

39. Bernard Mathew's participation appears innocuous in a context vacuum, however, in hindsight, that conduct would appear to be part and parcel of the scheme and artifice to deprive.

40. Plaintiffs do have an actual controversy with Vacek and Freed staff attorney Bernard Mathews and have specifically articulated adequate in-concert aiding and abetting events and conspiracy claims that include Mr. Mathews.

41. Whether or not Mr. Mathew's conduct can be regarded as conduct normally associated with his role as an attorney in the larger view, is a valid subject for judicial consideration.

42. The entire Brunsting family has been victimized by this long con scheme fashioned by Albert Vacek Jr. and furthered by a probate court protected bully mob.

43. Only attorneys stand to benefit from embroiling the Brunsting siblings in probate court where nothing can, has been, or will be resolved without an agreement involving a flow of private wealth to public actors, with no judicial resolution of any substantive issues.

44. Bernard Mathews, and every other attorney involved in this dispute since, has demonstrated an intention to interfere with the Brunsting Beneficiaries' Trust Property interests under the guise of administering a probate estate, and have interfered with those interests.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Rule 12(b)(6) and Rule 12(b)(1) Motion to Dismiss filed by Defendant Bernard Mathews November 2, 2016, and hold Mr. Mathews to answer.

NOTICE OF CORRELATIVE ACTION AND NEWLY DISCLOSED EVIDENCE

On March 9, 2012, Plaintiff-Appellant's brother, Carl Brunsting, filed a Verified Petition to Take Depositions Before Suit, in the District Court for Harris County Texas, No. 2012 14538. That Petition identifies the above named Defendant-Appellees, Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting, along with the law firm of Vacek and Freed, as having potentially adverse interests to that of Carl Brunsting.

Counsel for Carl Brunsting is Bobbie Bayless of Bayless and Stokes, Houston, Texas.

On April 2, 2012, the Houston firm of Vacek and Freed filed the Will of Elmer Brunsting [#412248] and a purported Will for Nelva Brunsting [#412249] with the Harris County Clerk, with application for No Administration.

On or about April 5, 2012, Curtis received a number of documents by email, addressed to Carl Brunsting c/o Bobbie Bayliss, Candace Curtis, and their sister Carole Brunsting, sent from Defendants' counsel Bernard Mathews, in "connection with litigation brought by Ms. Curtis and threatened by Carl Brunsting." These documents were offered to satisfy accounting requirements under the Texas Property Code and included spreadsheets labeled as Schedules A through J.

These "take my word for it documents" seem to indicate that more than half a million dollars in assets may have been self-dealt, commingled, or otherwise misappropriated, in the fifteen months prior to the death of Nelva Brunsting, and that Defendants have not kept accurate books and records.

It should be noted here that misappropriation of fiduciary in excess of $200,000.00 is a class “A” felony in Texas, and that an elderly victim adds a class level enhancement.

On May 18, 2012, the Harris County District Court entered an Order authorizing Carl Brunsting to proceed with depositions.

STATEMENT REGARDING ORAL ARGUMENT

Curtis requests oral argument pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 34(a)(1) and Fifth Circuit Rule 28.2.3, only to the extent it would aid the Court in understanding the factual background of this case and clarify the legal issues presented.

Appellant suggests that the issues presented can be determined upon the record, pursuant to Fed. R. App. P. 34(a)(3), and that oral argument would not benefit the panel, as the parties' positions are clear and the record is uncomplicated.

STATEMENT OF JURISDICTION

This Appeal is from an Order [481-482] dismissing four civil tort causes of action, entered by the Honorable Kenneth Hoyt of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, on March 8, 2012. A timely Notice of Appeal [493-494] was filed on March 12, 2012. The District Court was asked to exercise jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332. This Court has appellate jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291.

STATEMENT OF THE ISSUES

1. To what extent, if any, does the probate exception to federal subject matter jurisdiction apply to causes of action for breach of fiduciary, fraud, conversion, and other civil torts that occur in fiduciary relations related to trusts, wills or estates?
2. To what extent, if any, can the probate exception to federal subject matter jurisdiction be applied where there is no probate?
3. To what extent, if any, can the probate exception to federal subject matter jurisdiction be applied to trust related controversies, given the fact that modern trusts are created for the dual purposes of minimizing death tax obligations and avoidance of probate?
4. Does a sua sponte order dismissing Plaintiff's action on jurisdictional grounds deny due process to Plaintiff, who received no notice of motion and no meaningful opportunity to be heard?

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The record will show that Plaintiff, Candace Curtis (Curtis), and Defendants, Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting (Anita and Amy), are siblings.

The record will further show that their father, Elmer H. Brunsting, died April 1, 2009, and their mother, Nelva Brunsting, died November 11, 2011. Subsequent to their Mother's death, Defendants refused to communicate in a satisfactory manner, if at all, and provided no meaningful information after receiving demand letters Curtis sent to Defendants officially demanding an accounting, a list of assets, and copies of trust documents and records. Curtis also requested that Defendants file the Decedents' Wills and that they not dispose of property without prior notice [67-68] [71-74].

On February 27, 2012, Curtis filed a pro se complaint [5-17] in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas alleging the civil torts of breach of fiduciary, extrinsic and constructive fraud, and intentional infliction of emotional distress, claiming that Defendants, acting as trustees, failed to notice her of any actions affecting her beneficial interests and refused to provide copies of non-protected trust instruments and accountings for the trust assets, or to report on any other acts of administration.

Curtis also filed an application for injunction [15] seeking to enjoin Defendants from further actions involving trust property until a true and complete accounting, list of assets, copies of trust documents, and reports of transactions had been disclosed, or upon further order of the Court.

At the time Curtis filed her complaint in the federal court, neither Decedent's will had been filed, and no probate or other proceeding had been commenced in any court. [6]

Also filed amongst Plaintiff's papers were copies of common law lis pendens public notices.

Curtis's application for injunction was properly denied on February 28, 2012, pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 65(b), as defendants had not yet been served.

In the order denying injunction [431] the Court expressed that it may not have subject matter jurisdiction, but did not articulate a reason, and did not invite briefs on any specific subject.

Following a telephone hearing on March 7, 2012, regarding defense motion for removal of a lis pendens notice, the Court issued an Order dismissing Plaintiff's complaint under the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction, citing to Marshall v Marshall 547 U.S. 293, 126 S. Ct. 1735. [*481]

STATEMENT OF FACTS

As the District Court correctly noted, Curtis has always maintained that the claims raised below are civil torts for personal injury, seeking monetary damages from Defendants in personam.

By Affidavit [18-31] in support of her complaint Curtis states that she has never received a true and complete accounting, has not received copies of trust documents relating to any now-existing trust in which she has a beneficial interest, has not received prior notice of actions affecting her beneficial interests, and has made the requisite written demands upon the fiduciary defendants prior to bringing court action.

All of the information necessary to the protection of Plaintiff's rights and beneficial interest is uniquely in the possession and under the control of Defendants.

“Silence can only be equated with fraud when there is a legal duty to speak, or when an inquiry left unanswered would be intentionally misleading... We cannot condone this shocking conduct.... If that is the case we hope our message is clear. This sort of deception will not be tolerated and if this is routine it should be corrected immediately.” U.S. v. Tweel, 550 F2nd 997, 299-300.

Amy and Anita have the obligation to provide material information that they have secreted or otherwise withheld Curtis has the equitable right to demand the information from the Defendants, Amy and Anita. Amy and Anita have the equitable duty to disclose and to account, and have no lawful reason for withholding or concealing the information. Amy and Anita have refused or otherwise failed to meet the fiduciary obligations owed to Curtis and are thus liable for breach of fiduciary and associated civil torts. There is no valid constitutional, statutory or other rational reason why the federal court cannot take cognizance of these civil tort causes of action.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

“[a] trial court abuses its discretion when it bases its decision on an erroneous view of the law or a clearly erroneous assessment of the evidence.” United States v. Caldwell, 586 F.3d 338, 341 (5th Cir. 2009).

This Court is asked to review the District Court’s dismissal of Plaintiff’s four civil causes of action de novo.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

1. There is no probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction over an inter partes tort action, where a federal court is not asked to probate or annul a will or take jurisdiction over property in the possession of a state court.
2. The theory that one may be estopped from pursuing tort remedies by a probate exception where there is no probate is self-defeating. Where there is case or controversy, and the jurisdictional requisites of diversity and amount in controversy are met, the federal courts have subject matter jurisdiction of torts whether there is a probate or not.

3. As it is the primary purpose for creation of a trust to avoid probate and reduce estate tax liabilities, it is irrational and a cruel irony that a competent federal tribunal would be barred from protecting the rights of one's beneficiaries because of some fictitious relationship between ministerial estate functions performed by ecclesiastical courts and controversies heard exclusively before courts of Chancery at Westminster.
4. The Sua sponte dismissal of Plaintiff's action, without notice and opportunity to be heard, is denial of Due Process.

ARGUMENT

NATURE OF THE CLAIM

The probate exception does not apply to inter partes civil tort claims seeking purely monetary damages from defendants in personam¹.

The District Court's Order of Dismissal [*481] at item II states:

“The plaintiff's dispute arises out of the administration of the family Trust.”

¹ Resting upon the authorities contained in the Brief for Petitioner Vicky Lynn Marshall No. 04-1544 before the United States Supreme Court Marshall v Marshall 547 U.S. 293, 126 S. Ct. 1735. Argument & Summary of Argument Pages 9-18 and authorities cited.

And at item III:

“... However, in her pleadings, the plaintiff asserts that she is suing her sisters individually and severally as co-trustees for the Trust because they have failed... “to meet their first obligation under that power...””

The “Nature of the Claim” test has always been the choice of the Fifth Circuit, and these conclusions are not wholly relevant to application of the probate exception. Since there is no dispute that Curtis’s suit seeks monetary damages from defendant trustee’s in personam, questions surrounding distribution are moot. The Trust is not liable.

“...an officer may be held liable in damages to any person injured in consequence of a breach of any of the duties connected with his office...The liability for nonfeasance, misfeasance, and for malfeasance in office is in his 'individual', not his official capacity...”
70 Am. Jur. 2nd Sec. 50, VII Civil Liability.

THE ROUTE TEST

Defendant’s Emergency Motion for Removal of lis pendens [434] states:

“[Note: This Motion is brought subject to the Trustees contention that this Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction due to the fact that Texas Probate Code §115.001 (7) confers exclusive jurisdiction over matters related to questions “arising in the administration or distribution of a trust” to the State District Court, and by analogy this case should not be considered under the Probate Exception to Federal Court Jurisdiction, Marshall v. Marshall, 126 S.Ct. 1735, 1748 (2006). These issues will be raised by a separate Motion to Dismiss under FRCP 12(b)”

First impression seemed to indicate that Defendant’s motion for removal of lis pendens should have been filed with the court Defendants claimed to be the court having exclusive jurisdiction. This appears to be the same error to which the District Court fell victim.

Under closer scrutiny it becomes clear that Defendant's counsel, Bernard Mathews, misstated Texas Property Code §115.001, claiming it to be the Probate Code, and then bootstrapped to the Supreme Court what appears to be the Ninth Circuit's holding, that was very harshly reversed by the Supreme Court on the second page of the Marshall opinion.²

It is not Texas Probate Code §115.001, rather Texas Property Code §115.001, that grants original and exclusive jurisdiction over the administration of trusts, and that grant of jurisdiction is to the District Court not the Probate Court. The District Court is a court of general, not special, jurisdiction.

“Nevertheless, the Ninth Circuit in the instant case read the probate exception broadly to exclude from the federal courts' adjudicatory authority "not only direct challenges to a will or trust, but also questions which would ordinarily be decided by a probate court in determining the validity of the decedent's estate planning instrument." 392 F.3d 1118, 1133 (2004). The Court of Appeals further held that a State's vesting of exclusive jurisdiction over probate matters in a special court strips federal courts of jurisdiction to entertain any "probate related matter," including claims respecting "tax liability, debt, gift, [or] tort." Id., at 1136. We hold that the Ninth Circuit had no warrant from Congress, or from decisions of this Court, for its sweeping extension of the probate exception". (emphasis Curtis)

The District court dismissed Curtis's action a priori on the assertion of Defendants' counsel without an FRCP 12(b) motion or jurisdictional hearing, even though Defendants' own exhibits [473] show that the property subject to lis pendens was not property of a probate estate but of a resulting Trust.

Even if Defendants' counsel had stated the Texas statutes honestly, the Supreme Court in Marshall expressly dispels Defendants' route test assertions. In view of the very compelling brief filed by the petitioner before the Supreme Court in that case, it is difficult to envision an application of the probate exception where, as here, there is no probate.

“Texas courts have recognized a state-law tort action for interference [37] with an expected inheritance or gift, modeled on the Restatement formulation. See King, 725 S. W. 2d, at 754; Brandes v. Rice Trust, Inc., 966 S.W.2d 144, 146-147 [499] (Tex. App. 1998). n5 It is clear, under Erie R. Co. v. Tompkins, 304 U.S. 64, 58 S. Ct. 817, 82 L. Ed. 1188 (1938), that Texas law governs the substantive elements of Vickie's tortious interference claim. It is also clear, however, that Texas may not reserve to its probate courts the exclusive right to adjudicate a transitory tort. We have long recognized that "a State cannot create a transitory cause of action and at the same time destroy the right to sue on that transitory cause of action in any court having jurisdiction." Tennessee Coal, Iron & R. Co. v. George, 233 U.S. 354, 360, 34 S. Ct. 587, 58 L. Ed. 997 (1914). Jurisdiction is determined "by the law of the court's creation and cannot be defeated by the extraterritorial operation of a [state] statute . . ., even though it created the right of action." Ibid. Directly on point, we have held that the jurisdiction of the federal courts, "having existed from the beginning of the Federal government, [can] not be impaired by subsequent state [38] legislation creating courts of probate." McClellan v. Carland, 217 U.S. 268, 281, 30 S. Ct. 501, 54 L. Ed. 762 (1910) (upholding federal jurisdiction over action by heirs of decedent, who died intestate, to determine their rights in the estate (citing Waterman, 215 U.S. 33, 30 S. Ct. 10, 54 L. Ed. 80)).” Marshall v Marshall 547 U.S. 293, 126 S. Ct. 1735, 1744.

TEXAS STATUTORY PROBATE JURISDICTION

The correct jurisdictional statement for probate is found at Texas Probate

Code §4:

§ 4. Jurisdiction of County Court With Respect to Probate Proceedings

The county court shall have the general jurisdiction of a probate court. It shall probate wills, grant letters testamentary and of administration, settle accounts of personal representatives, and transact all business appertaining to estates subject to administration, including the settlement, partition, and distribution of such estates. Acts 1955, 54th Leg., p. 88, ch. 55, eff. Jan. 1, 1956. Amended by Acts 1993, 73rd Leg., ch. 957, § 4, eff. Sept. 1, 1993.

TEXAS STATUTORY TRUST JURISDICTION

The correct jurisdictional statement for trusts is found at Property

Code § 115.001:

§ 115.001. JURISDICTION. (a) Except as provided by Subsection (d) of this section, a district court has original and exclusive jurisdiction over all proceedings concerning trusts, including proceedings to:

- (1) construe a trust instrument;
- (2) determine the law applicable to a trust instrument;
- (3) appoint or remove a trustee;
- (4) determine the powers, responsibilities, duties, and liability of a trustee;
- (5) ascertain beneficiaries;
- (6) make determinations of fact affecting the administration, distribution, or duration of a trust;
- (7) determine a question arising in the administration or distribution of a trust;

(b) The district court may exercise the powers of a court of equity in matters pertaining to trusts.

CUSTODIA LEGIS AND THE LAW OF COMITY

The District Court's Order of Dismissal [481] points to distribution in dismissing the action under the probate exception and further comments thusly:

“Responding to the defendants’ motion, the plaintiff seeks to satisfy the jurisdictional issue of the amount in controversy by stating that the res is the Trust.”

The trial Court construes derivative rights for the primary premise of Curtis's action, borrowing from arguments made by Defendants, which appear nowhere in Curtis's pleadings. Fraud, intentional infliction of emotional distress and breach of fiduciary duties are civil torts, distinct from in Rem actions.

The incorporeal res of the complaint, as first stated in paragraph 3 therein [*6], includes only the body of rights harmed, or in jeopardy, resulting from the breach of fiduciary obligations on the part of Defendants. The second reference to “res” in the same paragraph of Curtis’s complaint is a notice that federal jurisdiction was not precluded by doctrines of Comity or Custodia legis, as no prior action had been commenced in any other court, and Curtis fails to find “in rem” custody of property to be a formative factor in probate exception test analysis in any other context.

THE FIFTH CIRCUIT AND THE PROBATE EXCEPTION

In Breaux et al., v. Dilsaver 254 F.3d 533 (5th Cir. 2001) the court held that civil tort claims against administrators in their individual capacity do not fall within the probate exception. The court reasoned that because plaintiff's claim did not challenge the validity of probate proceedings, did not seek to recover property from either estate, and did not require that a federal court assume control of estate property or interfere with state probate proceedings, that it was outside the probate exception to diversity jurisdiction. The court held in the opening paragraph:

This diversity suit arises from Appellants' claim that the Appellee committed fraud and breached his fiduciary duties while serving as administrator of two decedents' estates. The district court dismissed the suit, concluding that the probate exception to federal jurisdiction prevented it from hearing the case. We disagree: that the suit is against the administrator only in his personal capacity and does not require federal interference in any state probate proceeding. As the suit does not fall within the probate exception, we reverse and remand. Breaux et al., v. Dilsaver 254 F.3d 533 (5th Cir. 2001)

HISTORY OF PROBATE AND TRUSTS IN ENGLAND

Justice Ginsberg authored the opinion of the Supreme Court in Marshall and she begins with the following quote:

In Cohens v. Virginia, Chief Justice Marshall famously cautioned: "It is most true that this Court will not take jurisdiction if it should not; but it is equally true, that it must take jurisdiction, if it should We have no more right to decline the exercise of jurisdiction which is given, than to usurp that which is not given." 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 264, 404, 5 L. Ed. 257 (1821). 1821). [14] Among [490] longstanding limitations on federal jurisdiction otherwise properly exercised are the so-called "domestic relations" and "probate" exceptions. Neither is compelled by the text of the Constitution or federal statute. Both are judicially created doctrines stemming in large measure from misty understandings of English legal history..."

DISPUTES OVER LEGACIES

The Surrey Council of England³ presents a history of Probate in England and Wales from the early 13th century until the Court of Probate Act of 1857.

"Since the church had little jurisdiction over real estate there are few references in church records to land disputes. Whilst the church had some authority over litigation before the interregnum, disputes were often considered a matter for the King's court not the ecclesiastical ones, and after the interregnum any land or property disputes were usually conducted in Chancery (eg in "Bleak House" by Charles Dickens)."

The Surrey Council does not mention trusts in their published history of probate. Seagle⁴ gives a history of the creation of trusts as follows:

"The evasion of feudal dues and burdens began in the second half of the fourteenth century when the great landowners hit upon the idea of conveying the legal titles to their lands to groups of friends, with the understanding, however, that they would hold the land to certain uses of the grantor. Since the group of "feoffees to uses" as it was called, could renew itself, the feudal burdens which attached only on death could be avoided. Feudalism, it is true, was a chain of holding, and they lost in relation to their subtenants, but gained immeasurably more, in view of the vastness of their holdings, in relation to the greatest lord of all, who was the king. The common-law courts recognized only the legal title, but the Court of Chancery, being a court of conscience, stood ready to see to it that the feoffees discharged the obligations of the uses. Henry VIII tried to end the process of evasion by extorting from a rather reluctant Parliament the Statute of Uses in 1535. But it was not long before this was evaded by a ridiculously transparent device. Estates were now conveyed to A for the use of B. The Statute of Uses executed the first use, for it provided that when one stood seized of land to the use of another, the feoffee should be deemed the legal owner. It was held, however, that the statute did not execute the second use! It has been well said that “by this means a statute made upon great consideration, introduced in a solemn and pompous manner, has had no other effect than to add at most three words to a conveyance.⁵ The double use became what was called a trust, and the protection of the rights of the cestui que trust became the most important function of the Court of Chancery.”

By these histories the common thread between probate and trust is the Court of Chancery. Trust matters were always heard in Chancery, while probate matters were heard in the ecclesiastical courts. However, all disputes arising under probate were heard in Chancery.

It thus appears that the probate exception nomenclature is a misnomer properly referring only to administrative functions that do not, as a matter of law, present a controversy⁶ and this is the sole reason for the lack of federal statutory subject matter jurisdiction in regard to the probate of a will, the administration of an estate and any other matter that does not present the requisite elements of case or controversy.

THE PROBATE EXCEPTION AFTER MARSHALL

Article III of the United States Constitution,⁷ 28 U.S.C. §1331 and 28 U.S.C. §1332, defines modern federal diversity jurisdiction.⁸ There is nothing in the language of these provisions that explicitly bar federal courts from hearing probate related claims.

The Supreme Court has:

“...never recognized a "probate exception" to federal jurisdiction - i.e., a blanket jurisdictional bar that is uniquely applicable to probate-related claims." To the contrary, throughout its history, this Court repeatedly has held that there is broad federal jurisdiction over all kinds of probate related claims, including claims to decedents' estates by heirs, legatees and creditors.

In the occasional case where the Court held that there was no jurisdiction over a particular probate-related claim, it did so because a statutory jurisdictional requisite was not met - for example, because the parties were not diverse or because the plaintiff had not pled a case "at common law or in equity" - not because a non-statutory subject-matter exception precluded the exercise of federal jurisdiction.”⁹

⁷ Section 1, cl. 2 reads in pertinent part: “The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution [and] the Laws of the United States.”

The district courts shall have original jurisdiction of all civil actions where the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $ 75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and is between (1) Citizens of different States; (2) citizens of a State and citizens or subjects of a foreign state; (3) citizens of different States and in which citizens or subjects of a foreign state are additional parties; and (4) a foreign state, defined in section 1603(a) of this title as plaintiff and citizens of a State or of different States.

⁹ Please see Brief for Petitioner Vickie Lynn Marshall in the Supreme Court of the United States No. 04-1544 - Summary of Argument page 9

Recently, in Marshall, the Supreme Court revisited the probate exception, cautioning against its expansive application and stating that the probate exception is "narrow," and should not be used as an excuse for federal courts to decline to exercise jurisdiction over actions merely because they involve a probate-related matter.

Amongst the relevant progeny of Marshall are Lefkowitz v. Bank of New York, 528 F.3d 102, 104 (2d Cir. 2007), and Wisecarver v. Moore, 489 F.3d 747 (6th Cir.2007) each of which specifically describes Curtis's four causes of action as outside the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction. Following in the wake of Marshall, the Lefkowitz court stated the exception thusly:

“While the issues involved in Plaintiff's remaining claims undoubtedly intertwine with the litigation proceeding in the probate courts, in addressing the claims, the federal court will not be asserting control of any res in the custody of a state court. A federal court properly “exercise[s] its jurisdiction to¹⁰ adjudicate rights in [property in the custody of a state court] where the final judgment does not undertake to interfere with the state court's possession save to the extent that the state court is bound by the judgment to recognize the right adjudicated by the federal court.” Marshall, 126 S.Ct. at 1747 (citing Markham, 326 U.S. at 494, 66 S.Ct. The probate exception can no longer be used to dismiss “widely recognized tort[s]” such as breach of fiduciary duty or fraudulent misrepresentation merely because the issues intertwine with claims proceeding in state court. Accordingly, these claims may not be dismissed under the probate exception.” (Emphasis added) Lefkowitz v. Bank of New York, 528 F.3d 102, 104 (2d Cir. 2007)

¹⁰ Marshall, 126 S.Ct. at 1748

In Wisecarver v. Moore, 489 F.3d 747 (6th Cir.2007), a case uniquely similar to the case in point in both fact and law, Plaintiffs raised 12 causes of action. The District Court dismissed the case under the probate exception to diversity. Wisecarver appealed the dismissal. Counts one through three were abandoned on appeal and of the nine remaining claims, five were dismissed and four were reversed and remanded. Most of the five tort claims were dismissed because the relief requested sought a probate related remedy, not because the causes themselves were within the dominion of probate per se. The Wisecarver court's legal reasoning concluded that:

12

Therefore, to the extent that Plaintiffs' claims seek in personam jurisdiction over the Defendants, and do not seek to probate or annul a will, the probate exception does not apply. Turning to the complaint, Plaintiffs allege, in relevant part:

13

Loretta Moore and Evelyn Page exercised undue influence on Floyd C. McCamy, and procured from Floyd C. McCamy his signature on testamentary documents The plaintiffs, upon information and belief, allege that the defendants obtained a Power of Attorney from the deceased prior to his death and used that Power of Attorney for their benefit. The defendants . . . failed to use good faith in exercising the authority granted by the power of attorney.

14

The defendants . . . through the use of their fiduciary and confidential relationship, with Floyd C. McCamy, prior to his death, persuaded him at a time when he was both physically and mentally incompetent, to execute a Will leaving his entire Estate to them even though the bulk of his Estate had come from the family of the plaintiffs and the deceased, Floyd C. McCamy, had stated his intent to leave the Estate to the plaintiffs.

15

[Defendants] . . . used their relationship with Mr. McCamy and his frail, weak and deteriorating physical and mental condition to create animosity towards the plaintiffs and to exercise dominion and control over McCamy.

16

[B]y virtue of the confidential and fiduciary relationship and the defendants' dominance over Floyd C. McCamy, defendants procured a Will from him which was not the intent or desire of Floyd C. McCamy and was designed solely for the benefit of the defendants . . .

[D]efendants . . . manipulated Floyd C. McCamy by means of undue pressure and undue influence in order to cause Floyd C. McCamy to execute a Will whereby the defendants were materially benefited [sic].

18

Defendants . . . by way of conversion, have retained money and personal property of the deceased and have exercised dominion and control over such property as their own to [the] exclusion of the rightful owner. . . .

19

Liberally construed, Plaintiffs' claims for breach of fiduciary duty, breach of confidential relationship, undue influence, and fraud are not barred by the probate exception because they seek in personam jurisdiction over the Defendants and do not seek to probate or annul a will. Instead, these claims allege that the Defendants received assets from McCamy during his lifetime by misusing the Power of Attorney executed by McCamy in their favor and that Plaintiffs were damaged as a result. Moreover, these assets were allegedly transferred during McCamy's lifetime and were therefore not part of his estate at his death. Thus, these assets were not subject to the probate court's disposition of McCamy's estate. See Lamica v. Pierre, No. 5:05-CV-964, 2006 WL 3423861 (N.D.N.Y. Nov. 28, 2006) (finding probate exception inapplicable to claims relating to property transferred before decedent's death).

20

Since Marshall, other circuit courts considering similar claims have also held that causes of action alleging breach of fiduciary duties, fraud, and undue influence do not necessarily fall within the scope of the probate exception. See Campi v. Chirco Trust UDT, No. 05-55595, 2007 WL 628049, at *1 (9th Cir. Feb. 27, 2007) (cause of action alleging fraud, undue influence, and breach of fiduciary duties regarding property removed from a trust and never probated not barred by probate exception); Jones v. Brennan, 465 F.3d 304, 307-308 (7th Cir.2006) (breach of fiduciary duty claim regarding guardian's mismanagement not barred by probate exception). These decisions follow Marshall's in personam/in rem distinction and find that the principles underlying the probate exception are not implicated when federal courts exercise jurisdiction over claims seeking in personam jurisdiction based upon tort liability because the claims do not interfere with the res in the state court probate proceedings or ask a federal court to probate or annul a will.

21

Even though these claims in this case seek in personam jurisdiction, a majority of the relief that Plaintiffs seek would involve disturbing McCamy's estate, which has already been probated. For instance, Plaintiffs seek: (1) an order enjoining Defendants' disposition of assets received from McCamy's estate, (2) an order divesting Defendants of all property retained by them, which should be turned over to Plaintiffs as the heirs, next of kin, and intended beneficiaries of the deceased, and (3) a declaration that McCamy's probated will be declared invalid and that Defendants be denied any of the benefits of McCamy's will. Granting this relief is precisely what the probate exception prohibits because it would require the district court to dispose of property in a manner inconsistent with the state probate court's distribution of the assets. Marshall, 126 S.Ct. at 1748.

22

However, Plaintiffs also seek two forms of relief which would not implicate the probate exception. First, they seek an accounting of assets received during the last two years of McCamy's life. As mentioned above, the removal of these assets from McCamy's estate during his lifetime removes them from the limited scope of the probate exception. Second, they seek a monetary judgment in an amount to be determined in relation to the assets so removed.

23

Plaintiffs' remaining claims, those seeking money damages and other remedies relating to the procurement and promotion of a false will, are barred by the probate exception. These claims challenge the validity of McCamy's will and would require the district court to "disturb or affect the possession of property in the custody of a state court" because the state court already probated McCamy's estate. Jones, 465

F.3d at 307-08. These claims clearly involve the probate or annulment of a will and thus are barred by the probate exception.

24

AFFIRMED in part and REVERSED in part. Wisecarver v. Moore, 489 F.3d 747 (6th Cir.2007)

Although the Wisecarver Court makes a valid distinction as it relates to estates, Curtis questions whether a trust distribution remedy remains a valid factor in determining application of the probate exception in the wake of Marshall.

PROBATE EXCEPTION SUMMARY

The “nature of the claim” test has always been the choice of the Fifth Circuit. Breach of fiduciary causes were not excluded under the probate exception in the Fifth Circuit, even before Marshall, so long as the relief sought was in personam, and granting it would not interfere with state probate proceedings.

The absence of custodia legis negates application of the law of “Comity”.

The “route test” can no longer be used to exclude federal subject matter jurisdiction after the Supreme Court’s holding in Marshall.

The civil torts complained of in the Court below are not ancillary to probate and, thus, the Seventh Circuit’s Practical Test does not apply, nor do any of the three abstention doctrines. Like the “route test” Curtis believes application of the Seventh Circuit’s “ancillary to probate” or “practical test” may not be wholly viable after Marshall, and that trust matters are not barred by any so-called probate exception.

BREACH OF FIDUCIARY IS A VIOLATION OF PUBLIC POLICY

Curtis alleges Defendants have failed to fully disclose all material facts affecting her beneficial interest, refused to provide non-privileged documents and information as requested, appear to have mismanaged assets, may have engaged in self-dealing, co-mingling and use of fiduciary property to the injury of Curtis and for their own benefit, have failed to file true, complete, accurate and timely accountings, appear to have failed to maintain accurate books and records, have refused to disclose acts of administration, appear to have caused tax liabilities in a manner violative of trust terms, have shown bias and hostility towards Curtis, appear to have trespassed upon the Elmer Brunsting irrevocable decedents trust, to which Defendants are most likely not the proper co-trustees, and appear to have failed to protect assets in which Curtis has a beneficial interest.

Where there is a claim of breach of fiduciary regarding any transaction, and the appearance of a conflict of interest is shown, the presumption of impropriety applies and the burden of bringing forth proof that the actions were fair, necessary or justified is upon the fiduciary. The federal courts are not foreclosed from addressing these kinds of public policy concerns whether civil, criminal or both.

DUE PROCESS

Due Process unquestionably requires both notice and a meaningful opportunity to be heard. The burden of establishing jurisdiction of any court over either person or subject matter is upon the Plaintiff. However, Defendants never filed a motion challenging jurisdiction under Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(b). The Court never invited briefs on application of the probate exception to this case, there was no jurisdictional hearing, and there are no transcripts of any conference or hearing.

The Court's a priori order, issued sua sponte, denied Curtis Due Process, as Curtis has a right to notice and a meaningful opportunity to be heard on any jurisdictional challenge, prior to the Court's dismissal of the action.

For purposes of a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction as a matter of law, the factual allegations of the complaint are presumed to be true and all reasonable inferences are to be made in favor of the plaintiff. Whisnant v. United States, 400 F.3d 1 177, 1 179 (9th Cir. 2005)

However, where the jurisdictional issue is bound up with the merits, the entire factual dispute is appropriately resolved by the proceeding on the merits. Augustine v. United States, 704 F.2d 1074, 1077 (9th Cir. 1983)

Justice Ginsberg authored the Supreme Court's opinion in Marshall and ends that 12 page instrument with the following quote:

“Rather than preserving whatever vitality that the "exception" has retained as a result of the Markham dicta, I would provide the creature with a decent burial in a grave adjacent to the resting place of the Rooker-Feldman doctrine. [46] See Lance v. Dennis, 546 U.S. 459, 126 S. Ct. 1198, 163 L. Ed. 2d 1059 (2006) (Stevens, J., dissenting).”

CONCLUSION

Breach of fiduciary, extrinsic and constructive fraud, and intentional infliction of emotional distress clearly fall outside what remains of the so-called “probate exception” to federal subject matter jurisdiction, whether or not the obligations breached interweave with trust or estate matters.

The Federal Court is only excluded from exercising the limited ministerial functions of probate courts, and those limits are consistent with what is expressed in Texas Probate Code §4.

The Federal Court has statutory jurisdiction to hear this controversy, and has the equitable jurisdiction to provide any relief that could be obtained from the Texas District Court under Texas Property Codes § 114.008 and § 115.001, including interpreting trust provisions, enjoining trustees from acting, compelling trustees to account, replacing trustees, dissolving a trust, distributing trust assets and any other relief that could be obtained from the Texas State District Court.

Wherefore, Plaintiff-Appellant Curtis herein respectfully moves this court to issue an order reversing the District Court’s dismissal of her four causes of action, and remand to the District Court for further proceedings consistent with this Court’s learned opinion.

Further, Curtis asks this Court for instruction to the U. S. District Court, to reconsider her application for injunction with a proper view of the law and in light of the fact Defendants have been served.

Curtis also asks that Defendants' counsel Bernard Mathews be ordered to show cause why he should not be held in contempt and sanctioned for perpetrating a fraud upon the District Court, and further order that Defendants are to bear the costs associated with this appeal.

Respectfully submitted,

Re: Brunsting Family Living Trust

Dear Ms. Bayless, Curtis and Brunsting:

I represent Anita and Amy Brunsting in their capacity as Successor Trustees of the Brunsting Family Living Trust, and its sub-trusts (collectively, the "Trust"), in connection with litigation brought by Ms. Curtis and threatened by Carl Brunsting.

I have had previous contact with Ms. Curtis and Ms. Brunsting, but have not had occasion to discuss this matter with Ms. Bayless, as yet. I am hoping to have a frank discussion with her after the dissemination of the materials being forwarded to you with this letter.

Requests for an accounting have been received from Ms. Curtis. Forwarded with this letter is an accounting in the format required by Texas Trust Code §113.152. In addition, schedules for related matters are included for historical purposes.

I am also attaching a recent appraisal for the farm land in Iowa, and the appraisal and contract for the residential property in Houston.

The trustees have made every effort to provide you with a complete and accurate picture of the assets and liabilities of the Trust. It is not practical to copy and supply to all of you the supporting documents, but a date and time can be arranged at my offices, or the offices of Vacek & Freed, PLLC, to assemble all supporting documentation for your review. My only request is that we do this one time for all of you.

I am cognizant of the hearing set for April 13, 2012 in the Harris County District Court. I am hopeful that we can avoid proceeding on that hearing through cooperation and communication. If a meeting with the trustees would assist in this regard, I am happy to assist in arranging that.

17-20360.3052

As you may know, Ms. Bayless has requested that the original pour-over will of Nelva Brunsting be filed with the probate court. This has been done along with the will of Elmer Brunsting. Should we not be able to move forward on resolving questions and issues in connection with Trust administration, I will be moving to transfer the District Court matter, seeking authority for pre-suit discovery, to the Probate Court, under the cause number assigned to Nelva's will. I will all also be opposing the discovery on grounds that it is unnecessary and a burden on the Trust and the beneficiaries. If any discovery is authorized, I will request the opportunity to depose Carl Brunsting first, to determine that he has truly authorized this action against his sisters.

Obviously, I am hoping that family order can be restored, and we can work through this without court intervention.

Please let me know if you are unable to open the attachments associated with the e-mail of this letter, or want to have hard copies sent to you (please provide the address you would like me to use).

Please also contact me if you have any questions following your review of these materials, or want to schedule some form of follow up."

I. Introduction

1. On July 5, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a complaint into the Southern District of Texas, individually and as private attorneys general, alleging a public corruption conspiracy under the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act, 18 U.S.C. §§1961-1968, and the right of private claims provided for at 18 U.S.C. §1964(c). (Dkt 1)

2. On November 7, 2016, Defendant Gregory Lester filed a Motion to Dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt 83)

II. The Issues

- A. Plaintiffs have not adequately pleaded the necessary predicate acts.
- B. The Plaintiffs have not stated a RICO claim under section 1962(c).
 - 1. Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead with particularity their fraud-based predicate acts as required by Federal Rule 9(b).
 - 2. Plaintiffs have failed to plead reliance in connection with their fraud related claims.
- C. Plaintiffs have failed to plead a cognizable RICO enterprise.
 - 1. Plaintiffs have failed to plead reliance in connection with their fraud related claims.
 - 2. Plaintiffs' enterprise allegations are too vague and conclusory.
 - 3. Plaintiffs' alleged enterprise lacks continuity.
- D. Plaintiffs have failed to adequately plead a pattern of racketeering activity.
- E. The Plaintiffs have not stated a RICO claim under section 1962(d).
 - 1. Plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed because Plaintiffs' allegations do not satisfy RICO's proximate cause standard.
- F. Plaintiffs' claims for "Hobbs Act," "wire fraud," "fraud under 18 U.S.C. §1001" and "Honest Services" fail because those statutes do not create private causes of action.
 - 1. The Hobbs Act does not create a private cause of action.
 - 2. The Wire Fraud statute does not create a private cause of action.
 - 3. The claim for "Fraud under 18 U.S.C. §1001" is not a private cause of action.
 - 4. The claim for "Honest Services" is not a private cause of action.
 - 5. Plaintiffs rely on impermissible collective pleading.

III. Plaintiffs' Argument

3. Defendant challenges the sufficiency of the RICO Complaint on all of the usual substantive ground, in every subdivision of the nine necessary pleading elements for 18 U.S.C. 1962(c) and 18 U.S.C. 1962(d) claims, but fails to consider the ambit of federal “aiding and abetting” and “conspiracy” statutes.

4. Defendant asks the Court to take a disjointed view of the mosaic as if its parts were somehow unrelated, but Defendants are each charged with “participation” in the affairs of an enterprise through “in-concert aiding and abetting”. Plaintiffs need only show that Defendant performed an act in furtherance of the goals of the enterprise.

Participation

5. Gregory Lester is charged with participation in the affairs of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity involving the commission of two or more predicate acts. Mr. Lester’s Motion admits there are almost fifty predicate acts claims, but argues that none specifically relate to him.

6. Mr. Lester’s Motion actually admits to his participation and, while claiming Plaintiffs’ Addendum of Memorandum is “replete with inaccuracies”, Mr. Lester’s introduction claims Plaintiff Candace Curtis is a disgruntled sibling in a probate case.

7. The record will show that Candace Curtis is a Plaintiff in a federal breach of fiduciary lawsuit, involving only the Brunsting Trusts¹ (Exhibit 1), that the case was dismissed under the probate exception, (Exhibit 1 entry 14) and appealed to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals,

¹ Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592 filed TXSD 2/27/2012 and 704 F.3d 406.

(Exhibit 1 entry 16) where the dismissal was reversed and remanded back to the U.S.D.C. (Dkt 34-4)²

8. Back in the U.S.D.C. “Plaintiff Curtis” obtained a preliminary injunction to prevent wasting of trust assets.³ On that very same day, federal Plaintiff Candace Curtis was named a “Nominal Defendant” in a state probate court suit styled “Carl Henry Brunsting Individually and as Executor for the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting”, (Dkt 33-6) hereinafter “The Probate Matter”.

9. “The Probate Matter” raises only claims relating to the Brunsting Trusts. It should be noted that the Brunsting Trusts were in the custody of a federal Court when the state court claims were filed.

10. The record will also show that Defendant Jason Ostrom filed an unopposed motion to remand Curtis v Brunsting to state probate court, to be consolidated with the “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” 412,249, where federal “Plaintiff Curtis” was named “Defendant Curtis”.

11. Curtis v Brunsting, in the Fifth Circuit, soured the market for looting inter vivos trusts under the pretext of probate administration and these Defendant “legal professionals” are a bunch of disgruntled members of a probate bully mob seeking vengeance for being on the losing end of a fully litigated Federal Fifth Circuit determination, that inter vivos trusts are not assets of a probate estate and are not subject to their degenerate version of probate administration.⁴

12. Mr. Lester’s participation involved drafting a false report for a purpose other than that for which it was authorized and Mr. Lester’s participation is easily shown by the documented sequence of events and his own admissions.

IV. The Report of Temporary Administrator Gregory Lester

13. The “Report of Temporary Administrator Pending Contest”, (Dkt 83-2) was filed in the “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” 412249 on January 14, 2016.

14. The “Report” is not a report but a caricature of the racketeering conspiracy itself. It is a confession of the intention of all of these Defendants, as exemplified by the public record, to redirect the Brunsting inter vivos trust assets into a probate court, where there is not, and has never been, in Rem jurisdiction over the Brunsting Trusts.

15. The manifest purpose for the “Report” was to further the artifice initiated by Bayless when she filed exclusively trust related lawsuits in state courts, in the name of an estate, on January 29, 2013 and April 9, 2013.

16. Gregory Lester and Jill Willard Young agreed to further that plan on and before September 10, 2015⁵. Part of that scheme was to bully the beneficiaries of the Trusts into a sham mediation, staged for the sole purpose of extracting attorney fees from the Brunsting Trusts. (Dkt 26-16)

17. The “Report”, when compared to the record, displays numerous misstatements and contradictions, while merely posing as a report on the validity of “Estate” claims, as hereinafter more fully appears.

18. The “Report” never once mentions the Wills of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting and never once identifies an heir nor any assets belonging to the “Estates”.

19. In evaluating the “Estate” claims, the substance of the “Report” mentions Trustees and the Brunsting Trusts one-hundred fifty-five (155) times, while the words “Estate” (7) and probate (17) appear only in non-substantive contexts.

⁵ This is the hearing referred to by Defendant Neal Spielman on March 9, 2016 (Dkt 26-16) and Plaintiffs have been unable to obtain a transcript or an explanation from Mr. Baiamonte for the lack thereof.

20. It has already been shown that the approved inventories (Dkt 41-7) contain only one-half of an old car and the pending claims against Candace Freed in the District Court, but neither is mentioned in the “Report”.

21. The “Report” never mentions the merits of the “Estate” claims, but focuses entirely on claims relating to beneficiaries of the heir-in-fact “Trust”, which had already been held in the Fifth Circuit not to be property belonging to the “Estates”. (Dkt 34-4)

22. It should also be noted that administration of both Estates had been dropped on April 4, 2013, (Dkt 41-5 and 41-6) just five days before “The Probate Matter” involving only the Brunsting Trusts was filed. (Dkt 34-7)

23. In the Addendum to the report, later filed by Mr. Lester, (Exhibit 2) he states the following (emphasis added):

Trustees of the Brunsting Family Living Trust

On July 1, 2008 an Appointment of Successor Trustees was executed by Nelva Erleen Brunsting, also known as Nelva E. Brunsting, pursuant to Article IV. Section B. of the Brunsting Family Living Trust. This document appointed Carl Henry Brunsting and Anita Kay Brunsting as successor co-trustees if Nelva E. Brunsting fails or ceases to serve. If either Carl Henry Brunsting or Anita Kay Brunsting should fail or cease to serve, then the remaining successor trustee would serve alone. If neither successor co-trustee is able or willing to serve, then The Frost National Bank shall serve as the sole successor trustee. A copy of the Appointment of Successor Trustees is attached hereto as the first exhibit to first supplement.

24. What the instrument actually says is (emphasis added):

“If a successor Co-Trustee should fail or cease to serve by reason of death, disability or for any other reason, then the remaining successor Co-Trustee shall serve alone. However, if neither successor Co-Trustee is able or willing to serve, then CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS shall serve as sole successor Trustee. In the event CANDACE LOUISE CURTIS is unable or unwilling to serve, then THE FROST NATIONAL BANK shall serve as sole successor Trustee.”

Defendant Exhibit A

25. Defendant's Exhibit A (Dkt 83-1) is the Order Appointing Temporary Administrator Gregory Lester.

26. The appointment was made pursuant to Estates Code 452.051 which reads:

SUBCHAPTER B. TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATION PENDING CONTEST OF A WILL OR ADMINISTRATION

Sec. 452.051. APPOINTMENT OF TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATOR. (a) If a contest related to probating a will or granting letters testamentary or of administration is pending, the court may appoint a temporary administrator, with powers limited as the circumstances of the case require.

(b) The appointment may continue until the contest is terminated and an executor or administrator with full powers is appointed.

(c) The power of appointment under this section is in addition to the court's power of appointment under Subchapter A.

Added by Acts 2009, 81st Leg., R.S., Ch. 680 (H.B. 2502), Sec. 1, eff. January 1, 2014.

Amended by:

Acts 2015, 84th Leg., R.S., Ch. 949 (S.B. 995), Sec. 44, eff. September 1, 2015.

27. In the Order the Probate Court found that it had jurisdiction and venue over the Decedent's Estate and appointed Mr. Lester "Temporary Administrator" with limited powers to evaluate all claims filed against 1) Candace Freed 2) Anita Kay Brunsting, 3) Amy Ruth Brunsting, and 4) Carole Ann Brunsting, (Dkt 83-1 Numbered paragraph 1) and report to the Court regarding the merits of those claims.

28. The cestui que (beneficiary) is "the Trust" and the Trust is the only heir-in-fact to the Estates. Assets in the inter vivos trusts are not property belonging to the Estates and do not come within the purview of "probate administration".⁶

⁶ Curtis v Brunsting 704 F.3d 406, 410 (Jan 2-13)

29. Does the “Estate” have standing to bring claims against beneficiaries for trespass against the cestui que trust, committed during the life of a Grantor, or do those claims belong to the beneficiaries and the heir-in-fact Trust?

30. This question was settled in the Fifth Circuit in connection with the very Trusts at issue here, but was never considered in the report on the merits of any “Estate” claims.

V. The Report and the Extortion Instrument

31. The “Report” contains numerous assertions that misapplications of fiduciary are benign, justified, or can simply be “equalized” with more distributions of Brunsting Trust assets.

32. The “Report” ultimately concludes that if the Court were to rule on the “No Contest Clause” in the 8/25/2010 QBD, Curtis and her brother Carl would take nothing from the litigation.

33. The “Report” does not mention the controversy regarding the instrument, (Dkt 26-5 and 26-11) or which of the three alleged versions he selected for what reasons, or how it stretches beyond the limits stated in the report to reach to the irrevocable, un-amendable Trusts, or how any of that relates to property belonging to an Estate.

34. The “Report” contains warped conclusions, and while paraphrasing the irrevocable and unamendable trust provisions, the “Report” ultimately determines that changes alleged to have been made by Nelva alone were proper, “unless it can be shown Nelva was incompetent”. (Dkt 83-2 page 10)

35. The facts of record are that Nelva wrote to Candace Curtis in her own hand verifying that what Anita and Amy claim Nelva said and did (through the 8/25/2010 QBD) is “not true”. (Exhibit 3)

36. Nelva was not incompetent, the laws of the Trusts do not allow changes to be made by Nelva alone, no court of competent jurisdiction changed the trusts, and Nelva's state of mind at the time changes were made is irrelevant.

VI. Amendment and Adoption by Reference

37. Pursuant to the authority provided by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(b) and 15(a)(1), Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by reference into Plaintiffs' original complaint (Dkt 1), the Addendum of Memorandum and the pleadings subsumed therein, (Dkt 26) and all of Plaintiffs' Replies to Defendants' Motions, as if fully expressed in said Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 33, 34, 41, 45, 57, 61, 62, 65, 69, 85, 86, this reply, and the attached exhibits, as if fully expressed therein.

38. Plaintiffs further adopt and incorporate by reference all of the Defendants' Motions and pleadings, the claims stated therein and the exhibits attached, as exhibits in support of Plaintiffs' Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 19, 20, 23, 25, 30, 35, 36, 38, 39, 40, 53, 78, 79, 81, 83, and 84, as if fully attached as exhibits thereto.

VII. Conclusion

39. Plaintiffs have more than adequately pled person, enterprise, conspiracy, pattern and fraud with the necessary particularity, and with each response to Motions to Dismiss, Plaintiffs establish participation and continuity more fully.

40. Defendant may not assert opposing claims of fact under federal Rule 12(b)(6).

41. None of the Brunsting siblings are heir to the estates of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting, none have challenged either Will, and none have individual standing in the "Estates of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting". (Dkt 41-3 and 41-4)

42. Assets in the Brunsting inter vivos trusts are not assets belonging to any “Estate” and are not subject to probate administration. (Dkt 34-4) The Executor of the Estates has no standing to bring “Estate” claims relating to the inter vivos trusts in any probate court.

43. Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592 is a lawsuit involving only the Brunsting Trusts⁷.

44. Upon the death of Elmer Brunsting the family trust not only became irrevocable, but it became unamendable, and the Decedent’s Trust was created both irrevocable and unamendable. The only exception is “Court of Competent Jurisdiction”. The Brunsting trusts could not even be decanted without court intervention and were not lawfully decanted, amended or revoked.

45. There is no 8/25/2010 QBD as a matter of law and nothing in the Lester report can be defended against the record of proceedings or the law of the trust.

46. Gregory Lester should be held to defend his “Report” under oath, just as all of these Defendants should.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Motion to Dismiss filed by Defendant Gregory Lester November 7, 2016. (Dkt 83)

Respectfully submitted,

FIRST SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT OF TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATOR PENDING CONTEST

On January 14, 2016 the REPORT OF TEMPORARY ADMINISTRATOR PENDING CONTEST (the “Report”) was filed in the above styled Decedent’s estate. This is the first supplement to the Report.

Trustees of the Brunsting Family Living Trust

On July 1, 2008 an Appointment of Successor Trustees was executed by Nelva Erleen Brunsting, also known as Nelva E. Brunsting, pursuant to Article IV. Section B. of the Brunsting Family Living Trust. This document appointed Carl Henry Brunsting and Anita Kay Brunsting as successor co-trustees if Nelva E. Brunsting fails or ceases to serve. If either Carl Henry Brunsting or Anita Kay Brunsting should fail or cease to serve, then the remaining successor trustee would serve alone. If neither successor co-trustee is able or willing to serve, then The Frost National Bank shall serve as the sole successor trustee. A copy of the Appointment of Successor Trustees is attached hereto as the first exhibit to first supplement.

In all other respects the Report filed on January 14, 2016 remains the same.

Hi:

Sunday

It's almost 10pm but I'm not sleepy and my computer won't cooperate tonight.

So I heard you were concerned that any money you receive after I leave this mortal coil will be put in a trust and Anita would have to deal it out.

That's not true. You'll still get whatever share is yours. If you don't know how to manage money by now it's too late. I'm on alyqur quite a bit of the time now. Even sleep with it. The hum of the motor is rather soothing.

Had about 50 or so trickles this evening. Jim took care of taking the goodies out.

Our weather is still gorgeous but so very dry. Glad Jim met a farmer. I see farmers are doing better. In watching the Mule Series. Looks like your guys are winning.

Aren't those cards pretty? Could get them for me.
 (over) at home today, I'm going to get a lap desk. I guess

I'm too lazy to sit at the desk. I usually write while watching TV at night.

Wish I had your lovely handwriting. I started out left handed but my 1st gr.
teacher made me write right handed so I ~~was~~
~~was~~. blame her.

III. STANDARDS OF REVIEW

3. Plaintiffs incorporate and adopt by reference the Standards of Review in Section II of their Reply (Dkt 33) to the Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants Albert Vacek Jr. and Candace Kunz-Freed. (Dkt 19 & 20)

IV. PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT

Summary of Plaintiffs' Argument

4. An "Estate" is an abstraction of the mind that only exists in contemplation of rights in property. An "Estate" is not a legal entity and not a proper party to litigation. An estate can only act through its legal representative.

5. Fifteen Motions to Dismiss have been filed in this case and all fifteen motions claim "Probate Matter" or "Probate Case", yet there is not a single mention of the Wills of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting.

6. On January 12, 2005, the "Brunsting Family Trust" (Dkt 33-2) was restated. The Wills, signed at the same time, devise, bequeath and transfer all right, title and interest to property of any kind to the "Brunsting Trust". (Dkt 41-3 and 41-4)

7. Article III states in part:

"I direct that no action be required in the county or probate court in relation to the settlement of my estate other than the probate and recording of my Will and the return of an inventory, appraisalment and list of claims as required by law."

8. This list of acts was completed March 27, 2013 (Dkt 41-7) and “Probate” of the “Estates” was dropped from Calendar (Dkt 41-5 and 41-6) four days before Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed her “Probate Matter”. (Dkt 33-6)

9. Carl’s second application for letters testamentary was filed October 17, 2014, (Dkt 41-8) fourteen months after the Drop Order (Dkt 41-5 and 41-6), and five months after the remand of the “Trust Matter” from the federal Court.

The Assertion of Contrary Facts

10. In the second unnumbered paragraph on page 1 under “Introduction” Defendant makes the following fact claims:

“This is the most recent in a series of lawsuits involving the Brunsting siblings, all of which emanate from a state court probate proceeding, In re: Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, which is pending under Cause No. 412.249 in Probate Court No. 4, Harris County, Texas (the “Brunsting Probate Case”).”

11. Defendant goes on to add an entire paragraph in footnote 1 adopting the adverse statement of facts contained in Vacek and Freed’s Rule 12(b)(1) Motion to Dismiss. (Dkt 20)

12. However, Vacek and Freed’s Rule 12(b)(1) Motion to Dismiss adopts the statement of facts in their Rule 12(b)(6) Motion to Dismiss (Dkt 19), but those claims of fact are adverse to those contained in the complaint and may not be considered under 12(b)(6).

13. In order to overcome the presumptions in favor of the Plaintiffs’ claim of facts under 12(b)(1), a Defendant must support their claim of conflicting facts with matters outside the pleadings such as testimony and affidavits.

14. Defendant’s claims of contrary facts are not cognizable under Rule 12(b)(1), as there are no affidavits or exhibits attached to Docket entries 19, 20 or 84, and there are no references to the record of any proceedings. Defendant’s claims of contrary facts are not cognizable under Rule 12(b)(1) or 12(b)(6). Moreover, the asserted facts are patently false and cannot be defended against the public record.

V. The History and Nature of the Claims as Documented In the Public Record

15. A properly supported history of the “Series of lawsuits involving the Brunsting siblings” begins with:

1. Candace Louise Curtis vs. Anita and Amy Brunsting and Does 1-100, CA 4:12-cv-592 filed TXSD February 27, 2012. The docket sheet for that case is attached as Exhibit 1.¹ The CA 4:12-cv-592 matter was dismissed sua sponte under the “Probate Exception to Federal Diversity Jurisdiction” March 8, 2012. (Exhibit 1 entry 13)

2. On March 9, 2012, Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed a Petition to take depositions before Suit in the Harris County District Court. (Exhibit 2)

3. On January 9, 2013, The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in Case Number 12-20164, issued a unanimous Opinion with Reverse and Remand, published Curtis v Brunsting et al, 704 F.3d 406. (Dkt 34-4) The Circuit Court held: 1) Candace Louise Curtis vs. Anita and Amy Brunsting and Does 1-100, CA 4:12-cv-592 is a lawsuit relating only to the administration of inter vivos trusts, 2) assets in an inter vivos trust are not property belonging to an estate, 3) the Brunsting Trusts were not in the custody of a state court, 4) was not subject to probate administration and, 5) did not come within the purview of the probate exception to federal diversity jurisdiction. (Dkt 34-4)

4. On January 29, 2013, Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed malpractice and breach of fiduciary claims against Vacek and Freed in the Harris County District Court in the name of “Carl Henry Brunsting Independent Executor of the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting. (Dkt 33-9)

5. On April 9, 2013, the Honorable Kenneth Hoyt issued an injunction in Candace Louise Curtis vs. Anita and Amy Brunsting, CA 4:12-cv-592, (Dkt 26-2) and on the same date, April 9, 2013:

6. Defendant Bobbie Bayless filed lawsuits against Anita, Amy and Carole Brunsting, and Candace Curtis, in Harris County Probate Court Number 4. This is the phenomenon Defendants refer to as “The Probate Matter”. The “Probate Matter” docket sheets are attached as Exhibits 3, 4, 5 and 6.

7. Upon being named a Defendant in Bayless “Probate Matter” Carole retained Darlene Payne-Smith and on May 6, 2013 Payne-Smith filed a Counter suit against Carl Brunsting for interfering with Carole’s “Inheritance expectancy”.²

16. Carole Ann Brunsting has never had fiduciary duties in regard to the Brunsting Trusts.

17. Carole Brunsting held Nelva Brunsting’s Medical Power of Attorney and her duties were to Nelva’s personal and medical care. That role and the subsequent conduct of the Defendant “legal professionals” would be consistent with the unsuspecting sibling medical POA role in the classic hustle fully explained in “How to Steal your Family Inheritance”. (Exhibit 7)

18. Plaintiff Candace Curtis has been obstructed from the performance of her fiduciary duties, and the pursuit of claims belonging to the Trusts, by Trustees de son tort, Anita and Amy Brunsting and these other Defendants in concert efforts.

VI. STANDING

19. Defendant Darlene Payne-Smith argues that the matter before the Court is:

² Harris County Probate Document No. PBT-2013-146160

“the most recent in a series of lawsuits involving the Brunsting siblings, all of which emanate from a state court probate proceeding, In re: Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting”

The Brunsting Wills

20. Every one of these Defendants argued that the RICO action before the Court stems from a “Probate Matter” pending in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, and yet not a single one of those Motions (Dkt 19, 20, 23, 25, 30, 35, 36, 39, 40, 53, 78, 81, 83 or 84) mentions the Wills of Elmer or Nelva Brunsting. (Dkt 41-3 and 41-4)

21. Not a single one of the Motions identifies an heir to any estate and not a single one of the Motions identifies any assets belonging to an “Estate”.

22. The Will of Nelva Brunsting says in Articles II and III:

II.

“I give, devise and bequeath all of my property and estate, real, personal or mixed, wherever situated, to my revocable living trust; ...”

“All of such property and estate shall be held, managed, and distributed as directed in such trust. The exact terms of the BRUNSTING FAMILY LIVING TRUST will govern the administration of my estate and the distribution of income and principal during administration.”

III.

...”I direct that no action be required in the county or probate court in relation to the settlement of my estate other than the probate and recording of my Will and the return of an inventory, appraisalment and list of claims as required by law.”

23. Under Section H. “Protection of Beneficiaries”:

“No beneficiary will have the power to anticipate, encumber or transfer any interest in my estate. No part of my estate or any trust will be liable for or charged with any debts, contracts, liabilities or torts of a beneficiary or be subject to seizure or other process by any creditor of a beneficiary.”

24. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals did read the Wills and did determine that the only heir to the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting is “The Trust”.

25. Plaintiffs find no indication that any of the Brunsting siblings have challenged either Will, and it would necessarily follow that neither Carl Brunsting, nor any Brunsting sibling, has individual standing in any administration of the “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”, a.k.a. the “Brunsting Probate Matter”. Let us look at that opening paragraph again.

“This is the most recent in a series of lawsuits involving the Brunsting siblings, all of which emanate from a state court probate proceeding, In re: Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, which is pending under Cause No. 412.249 in Probate Court No. 4, Harris County, Texas (the “Brunsting Probate Case”).”

26. An “Estate”, is not a legal entity but an abstraction that only exists in contemplation of rights in property, in whatever form. A Decedent’s estate is the sum of the person’s assets – legal rights, interests and entitlements to property of any kind’ at the time of their death.

27. As noted by the Fifth Circuit and as can be seen in reading the Wills, the assets in the Brunsting Trusts are not assets belonging to either Founders Estate, and all of the Brunstings’ interest in property, whether real or personal, had been appointed and transferred to the Trust at the time of the Restatement in 2005.

28. As the assets in the Brunsting Trusts are not property belonging to an estate, those Trusts are not subject to probate administration.

Gaming the Judicial Process

29. Defendant Bayless filed her suit in Harris County Probate No. 4, in the name of Carl Henry Brunsting “Individually and as Executor of the Estates of Elmer and Nelva Brunsting” raising only trust related claims, knowing the Brunsting Trusts were in the custody of a federal Court and that a federal Court had issued an injunction involving the Brunsting trusts that same day.

30. Having begun depositions before suit more than a year earlier and having read the Wills, Bayless knew or should have known that Carl Brunsting had no individual standing in the administration of any estate.

31. Bayless would also know that the trust, not being an asset belonging to any estate, would not be subject to probate and, as the Wills bequeath and direct all rights in property to “the Trust” to be disposed of under the terms of the trust, it would follow Bayless knew the estate had no right of claims relating to Trust assets. In any event, she had a duty to know.

VII. ENTER THE VEXATIOUS MULTIPLIER - DARLENE PAYNE-SMITH

32. Bayless’ suit, brought in the name of Carl Brunsting individually, and in the name of the “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”, involving exclusively trust related claims, names all four of the other Brunsting siblings defendants, including federal Plaintiff Curtis.

33. Carole retained Defendant Darlene Payne-Smith and rather than point out the obvious, that the “Estate” owned no property, had no property interests in the Brunsting Trusts, and that Carl, not being an heir, had no individual standing to bring any “Probate Matter”, none-the-less filed a counter-suit against Carl Brunsting for tortious interference with “inheritance expectancy”, which is an interest none of the Brunsting siblings have in the probate of any “estate”.

34. The Brunsting trusts are the only real party in interest to all matters involving trust property, and all of the Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss have confessed to what they are charged with, attempting to loot an inter vivos trust under the pretext of administering a probate estate. In the process they have multiplied the litigation and the injuries exponentially.

Motions for Distributions in “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”

35. After Defendant Jason Ostrom arranged a remand of the federal case of Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592 to Harris County Probate, he immediately filed an unauthorized “Second Amended Complaint” (Dkt 34-9) in “Estate of Nelva Brunsting” and followed with application for a distribution of $45,000 to pay his fees (Dkt 62-1), also in “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”. That ridiculous excuse for litigation spawned a flurry of vexatious objections from all the other “Probate Matter’ poser advocates.

36. Rather than point out the obvious, that there are no assets in the “Estate”, all of the Defendant attorneys joined in with objections pointing to the trust this and the trust that, generating hundreds of pages, never once mentioning the wills, standing or identifying an heir. (Exhibits 8-10).

37. On page 1 and 2 of an objection to a second application for distribution filed by Defendant Ostrom in “Estate of Nelva Brunsting”, Defendant Payne-Smith had these alleged fact assertions to offer: (Exhibit 8) (emphasis added)

“1. Plaintiff, acting pro se, first filed her suit against her siblings, Anita Brunsting and Amy Brunsting, regarding the Trust in United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas.

Plaintiff’s Petition was filed in federal court in bad faith, without just cause, and frivolously as Plaintiff knew there was already litigation pending in this Court on the same and/or similar Trust issues and involving the same parties and did so without representation to the detriment of everyone else involved in this case. Plaintiff’s frivolous filing in federal court caused the other parties in this case to incur substantial unnecessary expenses defending against the suit, attending needless hearings in federal court on issues already before this Court, and responding to Plaintiff’s relentless and unsuccessful attempts to represent herself. Plaintiff wasted so much time and money attempting to represent herself in federal court that she was ordered by federal Judge Kenneth M. Hoyt to obtain legal counsel.”

“2. On April 19,2013, Judge Hoyt enjoined the Trustees from disbursing any funds from any Trust accounts without the Court’s permission. Plaintiffs suit was then transferred to this Court on June 4, 2014, pursuant to an Order of Remand entered by Judge Hoyt, and Plaintiff amended her Petition to include Carol Brunsting as a defendant. The injunction stands to this day.”

VIII. RICO - INJURY IN FACT, PROXIMATE CAUSE AND STANDING

February 2012 to August 2014 in the Federal Court

38. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that an estimated $20,000 in fees were paid to attorneys by Brunsting interests, in connection with the federal case of Curtis v Brunsting 4:12-cv-592, between February 2012 and the August 2014 mediation.³

February 2012 to August 2014 in State Courts

39. Plaintiffs are informed and believe that a very rough estimate of state court claims related fees incurred during this period, based on figures thrown out at the mediation in August 2014, $225,000 to Bayless from Carl’s pocket,⁴ $37,000 to Mills Shirley paid from the trust – 1/5 of which was Curtis’ property and, at a minimum, $30,000 more from each sibling during this same period of time, most likely on credit terms.

August 2014 to December 2016:

40. The estimated totals for state court actions between February 2012 and August 2014, as shown above, is approximately $412,000. That is approximately $13,733 per month for that thirty month period.

41. If we use that value as the basis and multiply by the 28 months between August 2014 and December 2016, our total for that period equals approximately $384,533.

³ These numbers do not reflect the federal appeal.

⁴ Carl Brunstings’ Deposition testimony (Exhibit 11 Carl deposition page 78 line14)

42. Thus, the total estimated attorney fees for the “Probate Matter”, which includes the Harris County District Court case, is $796,533. While grossly underestimated, this figure is more than absurd considering that nothing substantive was accomplished in any state court.

Injuries to Plaintiffs Curtis and Munson, are both Personal and Pecuniary

43. When Plaintiff Curtis was forced to file a pro se lawsuit in the Southern District of Texas to defend her rights in property from her sisters Anita and Amy Brunsting, She had to pay the filing and service of process fees. Neither Munson nor Curtis had ever filed a lawsuit in any court, but they did the best they could under the circumstances.

44. After the “breach of fiduciary” action was dismissed, Plaintiffs were forced to file a Fifth Circuit Appeal. Neither Munson nor Curtis had ever filed a federal appeal, did not know the process or the rules and neither knew anything about the probate exception. Plaintiffs thus agreed that one had to work to bring home the bacon and one would have to study, inform, write, and teach or in other words, “pull the plow”.

45. Curtis agreed that she had the more dependable income and would perform the bread winner function and that Munson had the better understanding of legal concepts and was thus the better suited to the legal research and writing function.

46. Munson was working at the time as both a performing artist and as a Systems Engineer, providing network support for the same Company where Plaintiff Curtis is employed as an accountant. Munson was eventually forced to resign from the network management obligations to focus on protecting Plaintiff Curtis’ property interests.

47. There are three conditions in the American system of jurisprudence where an opposing party can be awarded attorney fees under 28 U.S.C. §1927. First, a party who preserves or recovers a fund for the benefit of others (common fund) may recover attorneys' fees from the fund or from the other parties who benefit from the fund.⁵ Second, a party may recover attorneys' fees from an opposing party when the opposing party or the opposing party's attorney has disobeyed a court order,⁶ and third, a party may recover attorneys' fees from an opposing party when the opposing party acts in bad faith.⁷ All three of these criteria are met in this case.

48. If not for the conduct complained of against Vacek & Freed there would have been no litigation and if not for the participatory conduct of the rest of these defendants the legitimate Trust litigation would have long since been resolved.

49. The Honorable Kenneth Hoyt observed at the injunction hearing April 9, 2013, (Dkt 26-7, page 35 and 36) all that was needed to resolve the trust dispute was to distribute the assets to the beneficiaries, despite Defendants argument that the state court lawsuits were an obstacle to that end.

50. Given that Defendants, Anita and Amy Brunsting have clearly failed to honor the obligations of the office of trustee, are accused of malfeasance in the conduct of trust business, have conflicts of interest, and have refused or otherwise failed to pursue claims belonging to the Trusts, Plaintiff Curtis has assumed her proper station as successor trustee, in law and in fact.

51. Plaintiffs Curtis and Munson, through their active defense of the Brunsting Trust interests and the pursuit of claims belonging to the Brunsting Trusts have assumed the vacant office and are entitled to recover fees and costs.

IX. AMENDMENT AND ADOPTION BY REFERENCE

52. Pursuant to the authority provided by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 10(b) and 15(a)(1), Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by reference into Plaintiffs' original complaint (Dkt 1),

⁵ Mills v. Electric Auto-Lite Co., 396 U.S. 375, 390-97 (1970). The Supreme Court in Mills defined the term "common fund" as a fund for the benefit of an entire class, such as an estate.

⁶ Toledo Scale Co. v. Computing Scale Co., 261 U.S. 399, 426-28 (1923); see Alyeska, 421 U.S. at 258 (noting that award of attorneys' fees may be part of sanction imposed on party or party's attorney for disobeying court order).

⁷ Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Wilderness Society, 421 U.S. 240, 257-59 (1975)

the Addendum of Memorandum and the pleadings subsumed therein, (Dkt 26) and all of Plaintiffs' Responses to Defendants' Motions, as if fully expressed in said Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 33, 34, 41, 45, 57, 61, 62, 65, 69, 85, 86, 87 and this response, as if fully expressed therein.

53. Plaintiffs further adopt and incorporate by reference all of the Defendants' Motions and pleadings, the claims stated therein and the exhibits attached, as exhibits in support of Plaintiffs' Complaint, including but not limited to Docket entries 19, 20, 23, 25, 30, 35, 36, 38, 39, 40, 53, 78, 79, 81, 83, and 84, as if fully attached as exhibits thereto.

X. CONCLUSION

54. As of the filing of this response, the Complaint consists of the entire record before the Court and those Public Records this Honorable Court has been respectfully requested to take judicial notice of under Federal Rule of Evidence §201.

55. The Complaint contains satisfactory allegations with sufficient evidentiary support for the court to conclude 1) predicate acts have been articulated that establish a pattern of racketeering activity, 2) the Probate Court is both the enterprise and a victim of the racketeering conspiracy, 3) Legitimizing the theft of Brunsting Trust assets was the object of the racketeering conspiracy, 4) Defendants each participated in furthering the success of the racketeering conspiracy 5) Plaintiffs were injured in their business and property interests directly and proximately caused by the racketeering conspiracy 6) the racketeering activity is ongoing and continuous and the Brunstings are only one of many families victimized by the racketeering activities, 7) without the intervention of this Court the conduct complained of will continue unabated and other members of society will suffer injury directly and proximately caused by the same persons, the same racketeering conduct and 8) Plaintiffs claims are over-ripe for remedy.

56. Plaintiffs have sufficiently pled that:

- (1) defendants:
- (2) through commission of two of the enumerated predicate acts,
- (3) which constitute a “pattern” of
- (4) “racketeering activity,”
- (5) directly or indirectly participates in the conduct of
- (6) an “enterprise,”
- (7) the activities of which affect interstate or foreign commerce, and that
- (8) Plaintiffs have been injured in their business and property interests by reason of such conduct.

57. It has already been shown that participants need not have personally committed any predicate acts and that aiding and abetting by providing substantial assistance to the perpetrators in furtherance of a racketeering conspiracy is sufficient.

Wherefore, Plaintiffs move this Honorable Court for an Order denying the Rule 12(b)(6) and Rule 12(b)(1) Motion to Dismiss filed by Defendant Darlene Payne-Smith filed November 10, 2016, and hold to answer.

Respectfully submitted, December 1, 2016

How to steal your family inheritance

Updated on August 2, 2014

Today I received an email asking if I "Want to legally hijack some major cash today?" Sounds intriguing, but as luck would have it, I just this week discovered an ingenious method of hijacking cash (as well as other assets). Ok, so it's not 100% legal. And it takes a little more than a day. But it's most definitely a hijack.

The idea is brilliant in its simplicity: Steal your own inheritance.

I'd like to take credit for it, I really would. Alas, my brain is not wired for financial intrigue. I don't have a criminal mind.

The beauty of this idea is that even the most diabolically challenged (like me) can pull it off.

Step One: The Trust

You will need the following: Two elderly parents, a lawyer, an unsuspecting sibling, and some patience.

First, set up your FAMILY TRUST. There are two components to the trust: financial and medical. Obviously, your interest is in the financial. So as you are sitting with the family and the attorney, "graciously" allow your unsuspecting sibling (US) to be named as the person in charge of medical decisions for your parents. Since parents always want to be fair, they will naturally assign you to the lead financial role. Everyone will be happy. Especially you.

Now in this initial Trust document, there is a first position and a second position. Make sure you get the first financial position. Your US will be put in second position on the financial and you will be put in second position on the medical. This is all fair and square and makes the whole thing appear legit. Mom and Dad's future needs are now legally in the capable hands of their two devoted children. There are two decision makers for medical, two for financial. Lovely.

Read this Blog Before Your $ Gets Stolen

- Inheritance Heisters: Thieves with PhDs | A User's Guide to Guilt Free Thievery

Step 2: The Setup

The Trust may sit gathering dust for some time. That's to be expected. The provisions of the Trust do not come into play until one of the parents becomes ill or dies. This may take some patience on your part. But trust me, it will be well worth the wait.

Now let's say the "triggering event" is that one parent becomes very sick. For the sake of argument, we will say it's the father. Suddenly the Trust document comes down off the shelf. Time to double check who is really authorized to make decisions for Dad's healthcare. Chances are very good that by this time, Mom is pretty distraught and probably not in the best mental shape to be authorizing "chemical code" or "DNR" decisions with Dad's doctors.

This is where having your unsuspecting sibling (US) as the primary healthcare decision-maker on the Trust comes into play. He will be so focused on doing the right thing medically, that he will not be paying any attention whatsoever to the financial side of things. After all, Mom and Dad still have healthcare benefits to pay for Dad's expenses. They still have income coming in. There's really nothing happening at this point that affects the financial aspect of the Family Trust.

At least, that's what US thinks...

Step 3: The Old Switcheroo

While Mom and US are dealing with Dad, you'll be busy in your own way. You'll have several clandestine meetings with your attorney. He or she will give you the high sign when it's time to make your move.

Since it's your own family we're talking about, you will know when the perfect moment arrives. It is imperative to wait until both US and Mom are totally distracted with caring for Dad. Hopefully by this time Dad will be really, really ill. It helps if he needs hospice care, as implementing hospice requires Power of Attorney.

Now assuming your US is like most, he is dead serious about his care-taking duties. He knows hospice is needed. When your lawyer suggests that he (US, not the lawyer) should obtain Power of Attorney, he (US, not the lawyer) readily agrees.

However, to make this happen, Mom, who is still listed in the Family Trust, and is not sick or dead yet, needs to be disenfranchised from any and all decision-making power.

How do you accomplish this, you ask? The answer is simple. You get Mom declared mentally incompetent!

Step 4: Movin' On Up

If you play this step right you will actually be able to get your US to cooperate as your unwitting accomplice. Have your lawyer tell US that it's a "mere formality" to get Mom declared mentally incompetent. Convince him this formality is necessary for him to get Dad enrolled in hospice.

Your objective here is to get US to be the one to obtain the doctor's signature on a form declaring Mom mentally incompetent. Trust me. He will not suspect a thing. He'll do anything/everything he can in the interest of supporting Dad and Mom through this incredibly difficult time.

As soon as you get that signed piece of paper, grab it and run -- don't walk -- to the lawyer's office. You've now got what you need to rewrite the trust in your favor! See how easy that was?

Sing it Queen -- I got a one track mind!

Step 5: Grab those Assets

With Dad now on his deathbed, both Mom and US are 100% distracted. They will have no idea what you're masterminding over at the old attorney's office. It will be months before they find out -- and by then it will be too late. Hehe.

So here's how this works:. Now that Dad is out of the picture (figurately for now, literally in a matter of weeks or days), that leaves only Mom to contend with. Oh wait! Remember, we got Mom declared mentally incompetent. So that means that the original trust document is no longer valid. Mom is officially legally incapable of making financial decisions for herself. Luckily, she has you, her faithful Trust executor, to make them for her!

Oh my! And what a conscientious little trust administrator you are! You are so on top of things and so diligent about managing the Family Trust that you don't waste a second. No sirree. The minute you get get that "mental incompetence" declaration signed, you get the lawyer to rewrite any/all sections of the Trust document that don't suit your needs, and off you go!

Money for Nothing

Step 6: Laugh all the Way to the Bank

De facto, you are now the only person with any legal claim to the Trust. With the mere stroke of a pen, you've obliterated both Mom and US from the document. Instead of the Family Trust, you could just as well title the revised document The Bank of Me.

Now, at some point after Dad kicks, US will probably regain his mental equilibrium. This is not to be confused with Mom -- her mental competency is gone, baby gone. It's signed, sealed and delivered on that scrap of paper her doctor signed. But US will eventually start poking his nose around the finances. You see, being a true caretaker at heart, he's still got a vested interest in making sure Mom's taken care of, now that she's a widow. And that means both physically/emotionally and financially.

No worries, however. US can't touch you or Mom's money. He's been summarily written out of the Trust document. That lawyer the whole family worked with to write the original document? Sorry, brother. That lawyer now represents you and only you. Not Mom and not US. YOU are the Trust. They are -- well, they are toast.

OBJECTION TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR DISTRIBUTION OF TRUST FUNDS

COMES NOW, Carole Ann Brunsting ("Carole Brunsting"), daughter of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased ("Decedent"); a beneficiary of the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased ("Estate"); and a beneficiary of The Brunsting Family Living Trust ("Trust"), and files this Objection to Plaintiff's Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds filed by Plaintiff, Candace Louise Curtis ("Plaintiff"):

I.
BACKGROUND

1. Plaintiff first filed her suit against her siblings, Anita Brunsting, Amy Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting, regarding the Trust in United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas.¹ Plaintiff's suit was subsequently transferred to this Court on June 4, 2014, pursuant to an Order of Remand entered by the Federal Court.
2. Plaintiff's Petition was filed in bad faith, without just cause, and frivolously – especially with respect to filing her Petition in federal court knowing there was already litigation pending on the same issues in this Court.
3. On or about October 20, 2014, Plaintiff filed her Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds ("Motion") requesting that this Court authorize the payment of $24,171.26 out of the Trust for attorney's fees and expenses allegedly incurred by her in prosecuting her frivolous Petition. Plaintiff's Motion, like her Petition, is wholly without merit, filed in bad faith, and is detrimental to Carole Brunsting, who is defending against the lawsuits in this cause out of her own pocket. Plaintiff should not be able to use the Trust to bankroll the lawsuit she is pursuing in bad faith.

¹ Cause No. 4:12-CV-00592; Candace Louise Curtis v. Anita Kay Brunsting, et. al; In the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas.

1142014:0904:P0040

II. OBJECTIONS

4. Carole Brunsting objects to Plaintiff's Motion because (1) the Trust is currently the subject of this litigation; (2) Plaintiff's suit and Motion have been brought in bad faith and without just cause; (3) and Plaintiff has proffered no evidence that the attorney's fees and expenses allegedly incurred by her and subject of her Motion are reasonable and necessary. Accordingly, Plaintiff's Motion should be denied.

5. First, this case involves, in large part, questions regarding the administration and distribution of the Trust. Until the litigation pertaining to the Trust is resolved, distributions from the Trust should only be made for necessities, such as paying taxes on Trust assets. Plaintiff should not be allowed to fund her lawsuit pending against other Trust beneficiaries with Trust funds.

6. Second, Plaintiff's Petition was brought in bad faith, without just cause, and frivolously. Unless and until Plaintiff is found to have brought her lawsuit in good faith and with just cause, she is not entitled to the payment of her attorney's fees and expenses out of the Trust funds. To allow Plaintiff access to Trust funds to subsidize her lawsuit would substantially prejudice Carole Brunsting, who is defending against the lawsuits in this cause out of her own funds.

7. Finally, Plaintiff has not provided one document or invoice to support her Motion. Plaintiff seeks a distribution to pay her attorney's fees and expenses allegedly incurred in this proceeding in the amount of $24, 171.26, but there is no backup to support this amount. Carole Brunsting demands that the backup, including invoices, be produced by Plaintiff before the hearing on Plaintiff's Motion.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Carole Brunsting prays that the Court deny Candace Louise Curtis' Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds and for all other relief to which she may show herself justly entitled.

OBJECTION TO CARL BRUNSTING'S MOTION FOR DISTRIBUTION OF TRUST FUNDS

COMES NOW, Carole Ann Brunsting ("Carole Brunsting"), daughter of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased; a beneficiary of the Estate of Nelva E. Brunsting, Deceased; and a beneficiary of The Brunsting Family Living Trust ("Trust"), and files this Objection to Carl Brunsting's Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds filed by Plaintiff, Candace Louise Curtis ("Plaintiff").

I.
BACKGROUND

1. On or about April 9, 2013, Plaintiff, Carl Henry Brunsting ("Plaintiff"), filed his Petition for Declaratory Judgment for an Accounting, for Damages, for Imposition of a Constructive Trust, and for Injunctive Relief ("Petition") against his sisters, Amy Brunsting, Anita Brunsting, and Carole Brunsting, in various capacities. Plaintiff's lawsuit against Carole Brunsting was filed in bad faith, without just cause, and frivolously.
2. On or about November 7, 2014, Plaintiff filed his own Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds ("Motion") to pay his attorney's out of the Trust. Plaintiff's Motion, like his Petition, is wholly without merit, filed in bad faith, and is detrimental and unfairly prejudicial to Carole Brunsting, who is defending against the various lawsuits in this cause out of her own pocket. Plaintiff should not be able to use the Trust to bankroll the lawsuit he is pursuing in bad faith.

II.
OBJECTIONS

3. Carole Brunsting objects to Plaintiff's Motion because (1) the Trust is currently the subject of this litigation; (2) Plaintiff's suit and Motion have been brought in bad faith and without just cause; (3) and Plaintiff has proffered no evidence that the attorney's fees and expenses allegedly incurred by him and subject of his Motion are reasonable and necessary. In fact, Plaintiff has failed to produce a single invoice or proof of payment for attorney's fees and costs allegedly incurred by him. Accordingly, Plaintiff's Motion should be denied.

4. This case involves, in large part, questions regarding the administration and distribution of the Trust. Until the litigation pertaining to the Trust is resolved, distributions from the Trust should only be made for necessities, such as paying taxes on Trust assets. Plaintiff should not be allowed to fund his lawsuit pending against other Trust beneficiaries with Trust funds.

5. Second, Plaintiff's Petition was brought in bad faith, without just cause, and frivolously. Unless and until Plaintiff is found to have brought his lawsuit in good faith and with just cause, he is not entitled to the payment of his attorney's fees and expenses out of the Trust funds. To allow Plaintiff access to Trust funds to subsidize his lawsuit would substantially prejudice Carole Brunsting, who is defending against the lawsuits in this cause out of her own funds.

6. Finally, Plaintiff has not provided one document or invoice to support his Motion. Plaintiff seeks a distribution to pay his attorney's fees and expenses allegedly incurred in this proceeding in an unspecified amount of, but there is no backup to support a single penny sought by Plaintiff. Carole Brunsting demands that the backup, including invoices and any payments thereon, be produced by Plaintiff before the hearing on Plaintiff's Motion.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Carole Brunsting prays that the Court deny Carl Brunsting's Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds and for all other relief to which she may show herself justly entitled.

RESPONSE TO CANDACE'S MOTION FOR DISTRIBUTION OF TRUST FUNDS
RESPONSE TO CARL'S
MOTION FOR DISTRIBUTION OF TRUST FUNDS

Defendant Anita Kay Brunsting files this response to Candace Louise Curtis' Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds and this response to Carl Brunsting's Motion for Distribution of Trust Funds and would respectfully show the Court as follows:

I. Summary of the Argument

1. Distributions to pay legal-fee creditors are not authorized by the trust and, therefore, the motions must be denied.
2. Distributions to pay legal-fee creditors are prohibited by the trust and, therefore, the motions must be denied.
3. The Court lacks jurisdiction to decide the distributions for legal-fee creditor issue because there are no allegations of fraud, misconduct, or clear abuse of discretion with respect to Candace's and Carl's request that the trust pay their attorneys' fees.
4. If the Court finds the in terrorem clause is enforceable, then Candace and Carl have no right to any distribution from the trust.

12082014:1418:P0047

II. Argument & Authorities

Candace and Carl seek distributions from the trusts to pay their creditor-attorneys.

Neither Candace nor Carl cite any provision in the trust instruments that would allow for the requested distributions. This is a tacit admission that such distributions are not authorized by the trust instruments.

Neither Candace nor Carl cite any legal authority that would allow for the requested distributions. This is a tacit admission that such distributions are not permitted by any legal authority.

Since there is nothing in the trust instruments or in any legal authority that allows the requested distributions, the motions must be denied.

A. The Brunsting Family Living Trust.

With respect to distributions under the Brunsting Family Living Trust, the instrument provides:

i. Distributions of Net Income

Our trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall pay to or apply for the benefit of [the beneficiary] as much of the net income from [the beneficiary's] trust share as our Trustee deems advisable for the health, education, maintenance and support of [the beneficiary], for [the beneficiary's] lifetime.

ii. Distributions of Principal

Our trustee, in its sole and absolute discretion, shall pay to or apply for the benefit of [the beneficiary] as much of the principal from [the beneficiary's] trust share as our Trustee deems advisable for the health, education, maintenance and support of [the beneficiary], for [the beneficiary's] lifetime.¹

¹ Exhibit 1, Restatement of the Brunsting Family Living Trust, pages 10-1 to 10-12.

12082014:1418:P0049

Furthermore, the trust instrument prohibits the trust from being charged with a beneficiary's debt:

No beneficiary will have the power to anticipate, encumber or transfer any interest in the trust. No part of the trust will be liable for or charged with any debts, contracts, liabilities or torts of a beneficiary or subject to seizure or other process by any creditor of a beneficiary.²

Finally, the trust instrument provides:

All trusts created under this agreement shall be administered free from the active supervision of any court.³

B. The Qualified Beneficiary Designation.

With respect to distributions under the Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement ("QBD"), the instrument provides:

The Trustee, shall have the power, in such Trustee's sole and absolute discretion, binding on all persons interested now or in the future in this trust, to distribute or apply for the benefit for whom the trust was created (hereinafter the "primary beneficiary") and the primary beneficiary's issue or to a trust for their benefit, so much of the income and/or principal of the Trust Estate, and at such time or times as Trustee shall deem appropriate for such distributees' health, support, maintenance, and education.⁴

Furthermore, the QBD contains spendthrift provisions that prohibit the requested distribution:

³ Exhibit 1, Restatement of the Brunsting Family Living Trust, page 4-5.

⁴ Exhibit 2, Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement, pages 7-8.

[N]either the principal of these trusts nor any income of these trusts shall be liable for any debt of any beneficiary.⁵

The QBD stated purpose includes:

- (1) To protect trust assets and income from claims of and interference from third parties; and
- (2) To protect the beneficiary against claims of third parties.⁶

Finally, the QBD states:

It is the Trustor's intent that the terms of the Trust Agreement be carried out free from outside interference. Therefore, the purported exercise of any power granted under the Trust Agreement, whether by a Trustee, Special Co-Trustee, Trust Protector or a beneficiary, including a power of appointment, withdrawal, substitution, or distribution, shall be of no force and effect if such purported exercise was the result of compulsion. The purported exercise of a power shall be deemed to be the result of compulsion if such exercise is (i) in response to or by reason of any order or other direction of any court, tribunal or like authority having jurisdiction over the individual holding the power, the property subject to the power or the trust containing such property or (ii) the result of an individual not acting of his or her own free will.⁷

C. Attorneys Fees are not "Health, Education, Maintenance and Support."

Under both the Brunsting Family Living Trust and the QBD, the distributions are: (1) subject to the sole and absolute discretion of the trustee; and (2) as the trustee deems advisable for the health, education, maintenance and support of a beneficiary. Carl's and Candace's attorneys' fees sought in their motion are not for their health, education, maintenance and support.⁸ Accordingly, the requested distributions are not authorized by the trust.

⁵ Exhibit 2, Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement, page 25.

⁷ Exhibit 2, Qualified Beneficiary Designation and Exercise of Testamentary Powers of Appointment Under Living Trust Agreement, page 25.

D. The Requested Distributions Violate the Spendthrift Provisions.

The spendthrift provisions plainly state they are designed to prevent interference and claims of third parties. Candace's and Carl's attorneys are third parties. When the spendthrift provisions of the trust and the in terrorem provisions are analyzed together, it becomes abundantly clear that the trust was not intended to pay Candace's and Carl's attorneys fees in this case. Accordingly, the requested distributions are prohibited by the trust.

E. There is No Justiciable Case or Controversy with Respect to the Request Distribution.

In the case of Di Portanova v. Monroe, the First District Court of Appeals explained:

Under a discretionary trust, the beneficiary is entitled only to the income or principal that the trustee, in his discretion, shall distribute to the beneficiary. The beneficiary of a discretionary trust cannot compel the trustee to pay him or to apply for his use any part of the trust property, nor can a creditor of the beneficiary reach any part of the trust property until it is distributed to the beneficiary. A court cannot substitute its discretion for that of a trustee, and can interfere with the exercise of discretionary powers only in cases of fraud, misconduct, or clear abuse of discretion.

A court of equity has no right to interfere with and control, in any case, the exercise of a discretionary power, no matter in whom it may be vested; a corporate body or individuals, the aldermen of a city, the directors of a bank, a trustee, executor or guardian; and I add, that meaning and principle of the rule, and the limitations to which it is subject, are in all the cases to which it applies, exactly the same. The meaning and principle of the rule are, that the court will not substitute

⁸ Although defendant was unable to find a case directly on point, the case of Tedder v. Gardner Aldrich, LLP, 421 S.W.3d 651 (Tex. 2013) appears instructive. The Texas Supreme Court held that attorneys fees in a divorce proceeding were not "necessaries." Defendant recognizes that there is a difference between "necessaries" and the HEMS standard, but nevertheless believes the HEMS standard would not include plaintiffs legal fees in the case at bar.

its own judgment for that of the party in whom the discretion is vested, and thus assume to itself a power which the law had given to another[.]

In the absence of evidence of mala fides, the courts are disinclined to interfere where the trustee has been given discretionary powers The court will refuse to review his decision in the absence of a showing that he did not exercise his discretion in good faith or that his decision was unreasonable; for the trustee in such case stands in the position of an arbitrator.⁹

The First District Court of Appeals ultimately held that the ultimate issue decided by the trial court did not present a justiciable controversy for the trial court to resolve because the issue should have been left to the Trustees' discretion.¹⁰

Here, Candace and Carl ask this Court to usurp the powers of the trustees and substitute the court's discretion for that of the trustees in violation of the trust. The Court has no jurisdiction to make such determination, because there is no justiciable controversy for the trial court to resolve. There is no allegations of fraud, misconduct, or clear abuse of discretion with respect to Candace's and Carl's request that the trust pay their attorneys' fees.¹¹ Even if Candace and Carl made such allegations, there is no evidence to support such allegations.

F. No Contest Clause - Carl and Candace May Not Have An Interest.

Both Carl and Candace appear to concede that they have violated the trust's in terrorem clause. Both filed a declaratory judgment action asking this Court to rule that the trust's in terrorem clause is overly broad, against public policy, and not capable of enforcement, but neither challenges

⁹ Di Portanova v. Monroe, 229 S.W.3d 324, 330-331 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2006, pet. denied)(internal citations omitted).

¹⁰ Id. at 331.

¹¹ See Candace's Motion and Carl's Motion.

12082014:1418:P0053

that their acts to date violated the in terrorem clause.¹²

If it is determined that the trust's in terrorem clause is capable of enforcement, then Carl and Candace do not have an interest in the trust.

If Carl and Candace do not have an interest in the trust, then there is no right to a distribution. Thus, until the Court resolves the in terrorem clause issues, there cannot be distributions to Carl and Candace. Furthermore, even if the in terrorem clause issues are resolved in favor of Carl and Candace, the requested distributions cannot be made for the reasons discussed above.

III. Prayer

For these reasons, Defendant Anita Kay Brunsting prays that Candace's and Carl's motion for distribution of trust funds be denied and that Defendant Anita Kay Brunsting receive all other relief, general and special, legal and equitable, to which she or the trust may be entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

3 CARL H. BRUNSTING,
4 having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

5 E X A M I N A T I O N

6 BY MS. FOLEY:

7 Q. Hello, Mr. Brunsting. My name is Zandra
8 Foley, and I represent Candace Freed and her law firm
9 in this lawsuit. Could you please state your full name
10 for the record.

11 A. Carl Henry Brunsting.

12 Q. Okay. Have you ever given a deposition
13 before?

14 A. Not that I remember. I don't know, yeah.

15 Q. Okay. I'm sure your lawyer's already talked 16 to you about it, but I'm just going to go over a couple
17 of housekeeping rules. No. 1 is sometimes you're going
18 to be able to anticipate the question that I'm asking.
19 But I'm going to do my best to not talk over you.

20 A. Okay.

21 Q. And I just ask that you not talk over me, just 22 because there's a court reporter here who's taking 23 everything down, and we just want to make sure that the 24 record is clear.

25 The second thing is that if I ever ask you a

1 question that you don't understand, let me know that
2 you don't understand it --

3 A. Thanks.

4 Q. -- And I will be happy to rephrase it.

5 Also you're doing a good job right now
6 answering audibly, meaning you're saying "yes," "no."
7 Please continue to do that, because the court reporter
8 can't take down --

9 A. Right.

10 Q. It's harder to -- shaking heads, and "uh-huh"
11 and "huh-uh." And so sometimes I may even -- if you
12 just happen to say "uh-huh" or "huh-uh," then what I'll 13 do is I'll say, "Is that a 'yes' or a 'no'?"

14 A. Yeah, right.

15 Q. And if I do that, I'm not trying to be ugly.
16 I'm just trying to make sure we've -- we've got a clean
17 record.

18 The last thing is that if you need to take 19 a break for any reason at all, you just say so and 20 we'll take a break. The only thing that I ask is that 21 if there is a question that's on the floor, if you
22 could please answer that question first, and then --

23 A. Yeah.

24 Q. -- and then we can take the break, all right?

25 A. Um-hmm.

1 Q. Okay. What is your date of birth?

2 A. July 31st, 1957.

3 Q. Okay. And what are your parents' names?

4 A. Elmer and Nelva Brunsting.

5 Q. Okay. And I understand you have some sisters;
6 is that correct?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Okay. How many sisters do you have?

9 A. Four.

10 Q. Okay.

11 A. Yeah.

12 Q. And what are their names?

13 A. Candy, Carol, Amy, and Anita.

14 Q. Okay. Do you have any children?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. How many children do you have?

17 A. One.

18 Q. And what's your child's name?

19 A. Marca, M-A-R-C-A.

20 Q. Where does she live?

21 A. North Houston. I can't remember the name of 22 the town, but out in the country just west of Conroe
23 kind of.

24 Q. Okay. Have you ever been married before?

25 A. No.

1 Q. Okay.

2 A. I mean, other than this one? No.

3 Q. Right. Correct. Okay. But you are currently 4 married --

5 A. Yes, uh-huh.

6 Q. -- correct?

7 And what is your wife's name?

8 A. Drina.

9 Q. Okay. And how long have you been married?

10 A. Oh, I think 32 -- -3 years, yeah.

11 Q. Okay. Where did you grow up?

12 A. Born in Pryor, Oklahoma, and then moved to 13 Kansas City, Kansas; Kansas City, Missouri; and down to 14 Houston.

15 Q. Okay.

16 A. Yeah.

17 Q. Where did you go to high school?

18 A. In Westchester here in Houston.

19 Q. And after high school, what did you do?

20 A. Went to A&M for undergraduate, and then to 21 Rice for graduate school.

22 Q. What did you study at A&M?

23 A. Archi- -- environmental architecture or 24 environmental design. They didn't call it
25 architecture, but -- yeah.

1 Q. Okay. And did you get a BS --

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. -- a Bachelor of Science?

4 A. Yeah, yeah.

5 Q. What year did you come out of A&M?

6 A. I have to think about that. Sorry.

7 I was 21, so -- yeah. 1978, yeah. I
8 don't -- yeah.

9 Q. Okay. And then after you left A&M, where did 10 you go?

11 A. Rice.

12 Q. What did you study at Rice?

13 A. A Master's in Architecture.

14 Q. Okay. And how long did it take you to get out
15 of Rice?

16 A. Two years.

17 Q. After leaving Rice, what did you do?

18 A. We got married after Rice, yeah.

19 Q. Okay. Did you meet your wife at Rice?

20 A. No, no.

21 Q. Okay.

22 A. We met before that.

23 Q. Okay. Did you get -- become employed after 24 you graduated from Rice?

25 A. Yes, uh-huh.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

1 Q. And where is the first place that you worked?

2 A. Charles Tapley, Tapley Luna Architects in --
3 on Sunset here in -- in Houston, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. What did you do for them?

5 A. Architecture, yeah. I got registered, and,
6 you know, did a lot of residential things, but, yeah.

7 Q. Okay. How long did you work for that company?

8 A. I'd say 18 years or so.

9 Q. And after you left there, did you go work
10 somewhere else?

11 A. No, I worked for myself, yeah.

12 Q. Okay. What was the name of your business
13 called?

14 A. Carl Brunsting Architecture. I don't know
15 actually --

16 Q. Okay. Other than yourself --

17 A. -- yeah.

18 Q. I'm sorry. Go ahead.

19 A. I'm sorry. That's right.

20 Q. I'm sorry. I thought I interrupted you.

21 A. No, you're fine.

22 Q. Other than yourself, was there anybody else
23 who was employed by your architecture firm?

24 A. No, only a secretary. Nothing -- no, not that 25 I remember.

1 Q. Okay. Is that business still in existence
2 today?

3 A. No, uh-uh.

4 Q. When did you stop working under that business
5 name?

6 A. About five years ago.

7 Q. Okay. And why did you stop working?

8 A. My illness.

9 Q. Okay. How old is your daughter again? I'm
10 sorry.

11 A. I'd say 32, but I'm not sure.

12 Q. Okay. Okay. All right. Other than the -- 13 the two jobs we just talked about --

14 A. Um-hmm.

15 Q. -- have you worked anywhere else since getting 16 out of Rice?

17 A. Hmm-um.

18 Q. I'm sorry. Is that a "no"?

19 A. Um-hmm.

20 Q. Could you say "no"?

21 A. No, I didn't.

22 Q. Okay. Sure. And that's just --

23 A. Yeah.

24 Q. -- to keep the record clear.

25 A. I worked at Charles's and then was

1 self-employed, yeah.

2 THE REPORTER: I worked at what?

3 THE WITNESS: Charles Tapley -- Tapley

5 that, yeah.

6 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Okay. Okay. Now I want to
7 ask you some questions about the illness that you --
8 that you referred to.

9 What was your diagnosis?

10 A. I'll say encephalitis but I'm -- yeah.

11 Q. Okay. And what -- do you remember when you
12 first became ill?

13 A. About five years ago, and it just kind of hit
14 me.

15 Q. Okay. When -- when you say it kind of hit
16 you, what do you mean by -- by that?

17 A. That it just ended. I mean, I was nearly 18 dead, yeah.

19 Q. Okay. Were you hospitalized?

20 A. Yes, um-hmm.

21 Q. And do you know how long you were 22 hospitalized?

23 A. I don't know.

24 Q. Okay. Is that what also made you stop
25 working; you stopped working after you fell ill?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

13

1 A. Oh, yeah, yeah.

2 Q. Okay. Do you know if the encephalitis that
3 you were diagnosed was, was it viral or bacterial?

4 A. (Shook head.)

5 Q. You don't know? I'm sorry. Is that --

6 A. No, I don't know.

7 Q. Okay. Do you remember who treated you for 8 that illness?

9 A. Well, somebody in the Medical Center, but 10 mostly my wife did, yeah.

11 Q. Okay. Do you remember the name of any of your 12 doctors?

13 A. No.

14 Q. And what is your understanding of the -- the 15 -- the symptoms of your illness?

16 A. It unplugged my brain. I mean, they were 17 every -- yeah.

18 THE REPORTER: Repeat your answer?

19 THE WITNESS: It unplugged my brain, my 20 loss of memory and ability for -- yeah.

21 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Okay. What treatment did you
22 have to take after you got out of the hospital?

23 A. Exercising, good food, and -- yeah, just kind
24 of growing back and getting back again, yeah.

25 Q. Okay. Did you have to take medication?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

14

1 A. Probably, but I don't remember, yeah.

2 Q. Okay. Are you on any medication today?

3 A. Some vitamins and -- uh-huh.

4 Q. Other than vitamins, are you on any
5 prescription medication?

6 A. Hmm-um.

7 Q. I'm sorry. Is that a "no"?

8 A. No. No.

9 Q. Okay. And before today, have you been taking 10 prescription medication to treat your illness?

11 A. No. Not recently. Yeah.

12 Q. Okay. Are you currently seeing a doctor for 13 your illness?

14 A. (Shook head.)

15 Q. Is that a "no"?

16 A. No, uh-uh. Not -- not -- no, uh-uh.

17 Q. Okay. What type of, I guess -- well, strike
18 that. Do you currently still suffer from any symptoms
19 or injuries as a result of your illness?

20 A. There's some feeling that's coming back down 21 there where it was numb. My feet and my groin, and 22 again it's more normal now.

23 Q. Okay. And what about as far as like your -- 24 your mental faculties, have you been, I guess, told by 25 a doctor that you have effects as a result of your

1 illness?

2 A. I don't know if I've been told by the doctor,
3 but, yeah. I mean five years ago, I didn't know where
4 I was born and what had happened, and then my memory
5 came back through my life.

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. And now I'm designing things, and driving and 8 tasting things properly, yeah, because of treatment,
9 because of getting through it, yeah.

10 Q. Okay. And -- and you say "treatment." What 11 kind of treatment are you referring to?

12 A. Exercise and good food, yeah.

13 Q. Okay. But you're not -- you're not talking
14 about seeing a doctor or anything?

15 A. Not -- not recently, no, uh-uh.

16 Q. Okay. Do you remember when was the last time
17 you saw a doctor?

18 A. I don't know.

19 Q. Do you have any current plans today to see a 20 doctor in the future?

21 A. No, uh-uh.

22 Q. Do you remember what year it was that you
23 became ill?

24 A. Five years ago, so it was 2009. Yeah, 2009,
25 yeah.

1 Q. Okay. 2009 or 2010 --

2 A. Yeah.

3 Q. -- maybe?

4 A. Yeah. Not 2010, but 2009.

5 Q. 2009, okay.

6 Prior to 2009 --

7 A. Um-hmm.

8 Q. -- did you -- other than the job that you had 9 working for your own company --

10 A. Um-hmm.

11 Q. -- did you have any other income at that time?

12 A. No.

13 Q. Okay. Did your wife work?

14 A. Yeah, uh-huh.

15 Q. Okay. What did she do?

16 A. A nurse, uh-huh.

17 Q. Okay. And does she still work today?

18 A. Yes, she's just started again, yeah.

19 Q. Okay. After your illness, did you -- was 20 there -- well, strike that.

21 After your illness, did you receive income
22 from any other place?

23 A. No.

24 Q. So you didn't have any income after you became 25 ill?

1 A. No, uh-uh.

2 Q. Okay. After you became ill, did you receive
3 financial assistance from any of your family members?

4 A. Well, we just did, yeah.

5 Q. I'm sorry?

6 A. Yes, we did. Just got an inheritance from 7 Drina's dad who died.

8 Q. Okay. And when was that?

9 A. A few months ago now.

10 Q. Okay. Going back to after you fell ill --

11 A. Um-hmm.

12 Q. -- so back in 2009 --

13 A. Um-hmm.

14 Q. -- do you know whether or not somebody in your 15 family or otherwise provided you with financial 16 assistance after you fell ill?

17 A. No. No one did.

18 Q. No one did?

19 A. No.

20 Q. Okay. Do you know whether or not your mother
21 provided you any financial assistance after you fell
22 ill?

23 A. Not that I know of, no, but -- asked about my 24 mom. I'm sorry, no. Can't tell you about her.

25 Q. You can't tell me about her?

1 A. She was unhappy about -- she was glad to see
2 me getting back before she died, and just --

3 Q. Ok.

4 A. -- anyway.

5 Q. With respect to -- to your mother before
6 you --

7 A. Um-hmm.

8 Q. -- fell ill, do you have any -- or do you know
9 what her physical state was; was she healthy?

10 A. She was 88 and getting old, and could hardly 11 talk. But she had people -- somebody taking care of 12 her at home.

13 Q. Okay. Did you provide her with any financial 14 assistance?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Okay. Do you know if any of your other
17 siblings did?

18 A. I don't know.

19 Q. Okay. After you became ill in 2009 --

20 A. Um-hmm.

21 Q. And eventually you got out of the hospital,
22 correct?

23 A. Yeah. Sure. Oh, yeah.

24 Q. Okay. After you got out of the hospital, did
25 you go home to live?

1 A. Yes. Yeah.

2 Q. Okay. And do you still live -- live in the 3 same house that you went home to today?

4 A. Yeah, yeah.

5 Q. Okay. Was there ever a time that you actually
6 went to live with your -- your mother --

7 A. No.

8 Q. -- after your illness?

9 A. Actually, there was a little short time. I
10 can't remember, yeah.

11 Q. Okay. And do you remember why you went to go
12 live with your mom for that short time?

13 A. No. Drina had to go out of town or something.
14 I'm not sure.

15 Q. Okay. During the time that you were staying
16 with your mom, did you have an occasion to help her 17 with any of her finances or anything like that?

18 A. No, not at all.

19 Q. Okay.

20 A. I was just getting back myself, I mean --
21 yeah.

22 Q. Right. Was she taking care of you during that 23 time?

24 A. No, no. There was a sort of helper there that 25 was doing -- taking care of both of us, yeah.

1 Q. Okay. Who was that helper?

2 A. I don't know.

3 Q. Okay. Was it one or more than one person?

4 A. Actually, I don't know if there might have 5 been two, but it was one that was normally the one who 6 was there.

7 Q. Um-hmm. Okay. As a result of your illness,
8 did you have to have any type of surgery or anything
9 like that?

10 A. No. Well, what I've had recently. I just 11 can't remember. I'm sorry. No, I just had some little 12 minor things.

13 Q. Minor things like what?

14 A. (Pauses.)

15 Q. You can't recall?

16 A. I don't know what. No, uh-uh.

17 Q. Okay. And when you -- are -- are you thinking
18 of thing that happened in the hospital or...

19 A. No, afterwards. Treatment of -- yeah.

20 Q. Okay. Did -- did the helpers who kind of 21 helped you out around the house, did they ever come and 22 provide you with any treatment per doctor's orders?

23 A. Not at all, no.

24 Q. Okay.

25 A. They were maid -- not maids, but, yeah.

1 Q. Um-hmm. During the time that you were living
2 at home after your illness --

3 A. Um-hmm.

4 Q. -- other than your wife, did -- was there any 5 nurse who would come by your home to check on you?

6 A. No, not at all, huh-uh.

7 Q. What about any doctors' visits while you were 8 at home?

9 A. No.

10 Q. Okay. Do you recall if you saw more than one
11 doctor for your illness?

12 A. No, I don't.

13 Q. Okay. Do you recall any of the doctors you 14 saw?

15 A. Hmm-um.

16 Q. You don't recall their names?

17 A. No.

18 Q. During the time that you were staying with 19 your mother, were you the only one of your siblings,
20 say, staying with her at that time?

21 A. Um-hmm.

22 Q. And then other than the people that were kind
23 of helping out, was there anyone else living in the 24 house at that time?

25 A. No, uh-uh.

1 Q. Since you were ill and got out of the 2 hospital, did your mother ever provide you with any
3 gifts, financial gifts?

4 A. No, not that I know of, huh-uh.

5 Q. Do you know whether or not your mother
6 provided any of your other siblings with any gifts?

7 A. Not that I know of, no.

8 Q. Did your siblings ever come to -- to see you
9 after you got out of the hospital?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Okay. Did all of them or just some of them?

12 A. No, two that I remember when I was at my mom's
13 house. They came in, kind of checked in to --

14 Q. Okay. Do you remember which two that was?

15 A. Anita and Carol.

16 Q. Okay. And were you close to Anita and Carol?

17 A. No.

18 Q. Are you close to any of your sisters?

19 A. No.

20 Q. Well, are all of your sisters your biological 21 sisters?

22 A. No, the oldest one, Candy, was adopted.

23 Q. Okay.

24 A. Yeah. And the -- and the rest of them were,
25 yeah.

1 Q. Be- -- Before you fell ill --

2 A. Um-hmm.

3 Q. -- who was -- what -- did any one of the 4 siblings or you -- who was the main person caring for 5 your mom?

6 A. I don't know.

7 Q. Okay. Do you know Candace Freed?

8 A. Name is familiar. I don't know.

9 Q. Okay. Do you know this lady who's sitting 10 right besides me?

11 A. Hmm-um.

12 Q. Okay. Before you became ill, did you ever 13 have an opportunity to speak with any of your -- your 14 mom's lawyers?

15 A. (Shook head.)

16 Q. Is that a "no"? You have to say audibly.

17 A. Yeah, no, no. I'm sorry.

18 Q. Okay. Do you ever recall meeting with anybody
19 who claimed to be an attorney for your mother?

20 A. (Shook head.)

21 Q. Is that a "no"?

22 A. No. No.

23 Q. Sorry.

24 A. That's all right.

25 Q. And you under -- you understand that we're

1 here today because you filed a -- a lawsuit --

2 A. Um-hmm.

3 Q. -- against Ms. Freed and her firm, correct?

4 A. Um-hmm. Um-hmm.

5 Q. Why did you file that lawsuit?

6 A. Because of what she's doing that -- I don't 7 know. She's illegally doing -- trying to cover up what 8 the -- her side did, yeah.

9 Q. Okay. Any other reason?

10 A. (Shook head.)

11 Q. I'm sorry. That's a "no"?

12 A. No.

13 Q. Okay. What did you do, if anything, to 14 prepare for your deposition today?

15 A. Thought about getting back and thought about 16 what's happened, yeah.

17 Q. Okay. Did you -- other than your lawyer, did
18 you talk to anyone to prepare for your deposition
19 today?

20 A. With my wife, yeah.

21 Q. Okay. And what did y'all talk about?

22 A. What was done against me and my mom to -- to 23 handle things and -- sorry, let me think a minute.

24 Q. Sure.

25 A. (Pauses.)

1 Q. Can you -- can you recall anything specific
2 y'all spoke about?

3 A. Who?

4 Q. You and your wife to prepare for your
5 deposition today.

6 A. Not that I can specifically say, sorry.

7 Q. Okay. Do you remember how long you and your 8 wife talked about the deposition?

9 A. Oh, just recently. Yeah. I mean, I don't
10 know.

11 Q. I mean, how long was the conversation, if you
12 recall?

13 A. Oh, real short. Yeah.

14 Q. Okay. Other than your wife, did you speak to 15 anyone else --

16 A. No.

17 Q. -- to prepare for your deposition?

18 A. No.

19 Q. Okay. Did you review any documents to prepare 20 for your deposition?

21 A. Documents? No.

22 Q. Did you review any e-mails to prepare for your 23 deposition?

24 A. Notes about what had happened or what was 25 done, yeah.

1 Q. And whose notes were those?

2 A. Where they came from, I'm not sure. But Drina
3 gave them for -- to me, and about what was planned with 4 me and my mom being sick, going after...

5 Q. And what do you mean by "what was planned"?

6 A. Let me think about it for a minute.

7 Q. Sure.

8 A. I don't know that I can clearly say, but --

9 Q. Okay.

10 A. -- what my sisters did to get the inheritance
11 and leave me out of it. That was a change to the trust
12 where I was left out of it or essentially left out of 13 it.

14 Q. Okay. And which sister are you talking about?

15 A. Well, all three of the four of them. Not the 16 adopted one, but the -- Anita, Amy, and Carol.

17 Q. Okay. And these notes that you saw, were they 18 handwritten notes?

19 A. No.

20 Q. Were they typed out?

21 A. Yep. Yep.

22 Q. And were they notes between the sisters?

23 A. No.

24 Q. Do you know who -- who wrote the notes or 25 typed the notes?

1 A. Bobbie, from what she understood from what had
2 happened, yeah.

3 MS. BAYLESS: He's talking about the
4 pleadings.

5 A. Yeah. I'm sorry. Yeah.

6 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Any other documents you
7 reviewed to prepare for your deposition, other than the 8 notes we just talked about?

9 A. No.

10 Q. And so who exactly filed this lawsuit?

11 A. Drina. You mean filed our version of it?

12 Q. This lawsuit, yes, sir.

13 A. Yeah, yeah. Drina, my wife, yeah.

14 Q. Okay.

15 A. But I signed -- I mean, she -- you know, I had 16 to understand it and sign it more, yeah.

17 Q. Okay. Are you the executor of Ms. Brunsting's
18 estate?

19 A. I was, but I don't -- I don't think I am now,
20 so...

21 Q. But you're what now?

22 A. I was, but I'm not now. I don't think so.

23 Q. You're not the executor anymore?

24 A. No, I don't believe so. I don't know.

25 Q. Do you know who is?

1 A. No.

2 Q. I'm sorry, the answer.

3 A. No, I don't.

4 Q. Currently, do you have any responsibilities
5 with respect to your mother's estate?

6 A. (Shook head.)

7 Q. And I'm sorry, that's a --

8 A. No, no, no.

9 Q. And -- and currently do you know who, if 10 anyone, has any responsibility as an executor or 11 representative of your -- your mother's estate?

12 A. I think it -- no, I can't specifically say.

13 Q. Okay. Are you the independent executor of the 14 estates of Elmer H. Brunsting and Nelva E. Brunsting?

15 A. Was at one point, yeah, but not --

16 Q. Okay. But you're not anymore?

17 A. No. No.

18 MS. FOLEY: Let's go off the record a
19 second.

20 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record, 10:32.

21 (Break from 10:32 a.m. to 10:33 a.m.)

22 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record, 10:33.

23 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) You mentioned earlier you have 24 kind of started to remember things, and you're 25 designing?

1 A. Um-hmm.

2 Q. Are you currently working right now?

3 A. No, no. Just kind of going through college or 4 my first job of learning things again, yeah.

5 Q. Okay.

6 A. An architect, I'm doing a -- a little project
7 on a -- on a house where I can do wall sections and 8 details and --

9 Q. Um-hmm.

10 A. -- dimensions and -- anyway, yeah.

11 Q. Okay. Are you working with a therapist?

12 A. No, no. Just what I'm doing at home, yeah.

13 Q. Got you.

14 In the lawsuit -- in this current lawsuit, you
15 have not sued your sisters, correct; they're not 16 involved in this lawsuit?

17 A. I don't know specifically about the lawsuit.
18 They're responsible for what's happening to me in a bad
19 way, but I don't know.

20 Q. Okay. Well, let me ask it this way: Have you
21 taken any steps to -- have you -- have you filed suit
22 against your sisters?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. Okay.

25 A. Yeah.

1 Q. And that's another lawsuit, correct?

2 A. Yeah.

3 Q. They're not in this one, correct?

4 A. Um-hmm. I think it's -- I think it's two
5 separate ones, yeah.

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. The lawyer against the sisters, but I'm not
8 sure.

9 Q. Okay. And why did you file that lawsuit
10 against your sisters?

11 A. Because of what they did to try to get 12 inheritance with me being sick, yeah.

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. Being nearly dead, yeah.

15 Q. Got you.

16 And what evidence do you have that your 17 sisters did that?

18 A. Cut -- tried to cut me out of the inheritance,
19 yeah.

20 Q. And what evidence do you have that your 21 sisters tried to cut you out of your inheritance?

22 A. I can't say.

23 Q. What -- what do you mean by you can't say?

24 A. (Pauses.)

25 Q. Are you -- are you aware of any evidence

1 that's out there?

2 A. It would be over by now, if we'd -- if it had
3 been not messed up by them, yeah. My mom died a few
4 years ago, and hadn't been resolved because of what
5 they've blocked with trying to keep me and my adopted
6 sister out of it. Yeah.

7 Q. Okay. And you mentioned earlier that the --
8 they tried to cut you out of your inheritance. What 9 exactly do you mean by that?

10 A. They tried to have it -- I don't know. They 11 tried to cut me out of it. Tried to not get me -- let 12 me get any money from the inheritance.

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. They were unhappy that I was alive, yeah.

15 Q. They were unhappy that you were alive; is that 16 what you said?

17 A. Yes, yeah.

18 Q. Okay. You think they wanted you to die?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And why do you think that?

21 A. Because they -- last time I saw -- seen any of 22 them, they were unhappy to see me being alive, and, you
23 know, getting back.

24 Q. And when was the last time you saw them?

25 A. I don't know. I'd say three years ago might

1 have been -- I don't remember.

2 Q. Okay. Did you ever confront or talk to any of 3 them about this?

4 A. Not specifically, no.

5 Q. Why not?

6 A. Well, the last time I remember being with any 7 of them, they were -- my sister, Anita, lives down in 8 Victoria, came all the way here to see me, see my 9 sister Carol take me to see my mom. And Anita came in 10 to kind of see what was going on. And -- and mom was 11 sitting in this recliner about to die and couldn't even 12 talk. And Anita came in from Victoria to see what was 13 going on while Carol took me over there. And it was 14 like a big thing for them to perform and see where I
15 was, yeah.

16 Q. Okay. And -- and you didn't talk to any of 17 them at that time about --

18 A. Well, I --

19 Q. -- the way you felt?

20 A. Going over I talked to Carol a little bit.
21 She took me over -- she lived here in Houston, and took 22 me over there for this performance to -- you know, to 23 show that they were handling things so I could see my 24 nearly dead mom. Anita came all the way from Victoria
25 just to understand things. And she didn't talk the

1 whole time. And then, you know, Carol took me home.
2 And I didn't talk to her the rest of the way, because
3 she had acted so -- I saw what they were doing,
4 performing this thing to -- yeah, let me see Mom and
5 say that they were handling things. But Anita coming
6 all the way from Victoria just to understand it, rather 7 than... you know.

8 Q. Okay. So -- and as you said, they were trying 9 to cut you out of your inheritance. Did they actually
10 do that?

11 A. I don't think they -- they haven't, no.

12 Q. Okay. So you have not been cut out of your
13 inheritance?

14 A. Not yet, no.

15 Q. Do you -- do you expect that that's going to 16 happen?

17 A. No. Two things: The facts and the fact that 18 the -- the family owns the farm in Iowa, which is --
19 they couldn't get -- they couldn't sell it. Split it
20 up like they did socks -- stocks that they went into 21 and took hundreds of thousands of dollars, yeah.

22 Q. Okay. And which stocks are you referring to?

23 A. Oh, I think Exxon. I'm not sure, yeah.

24 Q. Do you know what percentage of the estate you
25 are supposed to inherit under the current will?

1 A. Well, it should have been one fifth, equally.
2 But they've done so much -- I don't know.

3 Q. Has -- has there been any distribution of any
4 part of the estate?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Okay. So you have received some?

7 A. No, I haven't received anything, no.

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. It's -- yeah.

10 Q. What distributions are you aware of?

11 A. Stocks from the -- the -- Amy, Anita, and 12 Carol have split up, yeah.

13 Q. Okay. Do you know when your mother hired
14 Ms. Freed and her law firm for services?

15 A. Hmm-um. (Shook head.)

16 Q. And I'm sorry, is that a "no"?

17 A. No.

18 Q. Okay. And so then you also then don't know
19 how she came to find them, correct?

20 A. No. No, I don't.

21 Q. Okay. And as -- I believe you said earlier
22 you've never been to any meetings with Ms. Freed or her
23 law firm with your mother, correct?

24 A. No.

25 Q. Okay. You've never attended any meetings

1 where your mother signed off on any documents, correct?

2 A. No. No.

3 Q. Okay. "No," you have not, correct?

4 A. That's right.

5 Q. You've also never been present for any
6 conversations that your mother had with Ms. Freed about 7 any of the documents she was signing, correct?

8 A. No, I haven't.

9 Q. Do you -- do you ever recall your mother
10 calling you for any input with respect to any of the 11 documents she was signing?

12 A. No.

13 Q. And that would be documents that were prepared
14 by her lawyers?

15 A. (Shook head.)

16 Q. Were you in --

17 A. Yes, yes, I mean --

18 Q. I mean -- that was -- I messed up that 19 question, that's why I'm --

20 A. Yes, no, I -- yes, I think so.

21 Q. Okay. So just so I can clean it up, you
22 were -- you were not present for any -- hang on a
23 second -- let me see what I'm saying now.

24 Okay. You don't recall your mother ever
25 calling you for any input with respect to any documents

1 that she was signing prepared by Ms. Freed or her firm?

2 A. No, I don't.

3 MS. BAYLESS: Can you -- I'm just going
4 to object to form. Can you narrow it down to time
5 frame?

6 MS. FOLEY: Okay.

7 MS. BAYLESS: I mean, we're talking about
8 different documents at different times.

9 MS. FOLEY: Sure. Well, I think he's 10 already said that from the time -- that he's never had 11 any conversations.

12 MS. BAYLESS: Well, if you'll just put 13 your question that way, then. I'm just saying --

14 MS. FOLEY: Um-hmm.

15 MS. BAYLESS: Are we talking about for 16 all time, or are we talking about these documents after 17 he was ill? I'm just trying to --

18 MS. FOLEY: Okay. Sure.

19 MS. BAYLESS: I don't understand your
20 question.

21 MS. FOLEY: Sure.

22 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Before you were ill, you'd 23 never been present for any meetings or conversations
24 your mother may have had with her attorneys at Vacek &
25 Freed, correct?

1 A. Not that I remember, yeah.

2 Q. Okay. And since you've been ill, after your
3 illness, you also never were present for any meetings
4 or conversations your mother had with the attorneys at
5 Vacek & Freed?

6 A. No, no.

7 Q. Before you were sick, you -- your mother never 8 called you to get your input or to talk to you about 9 any services she was receiving from Vacek & Freed?

10 A. Not that I remember, no.

11 Q. And since you were sick, your mother never 12 called you to confer with you --

13 A. No.

14 Q. -- about any conversations she may have had 15 with Ms. Freed or any other attorneys at her law firm?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Okay. You understand that part of this 18 lawsuit concerns the Brunsting Family Living Trust?

19 A. Um-hmm.

20 Q. You understand that?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Okay. And do you know what that is?

23 A. What the family owns, as far as, yeah, stocks
24 and the farm value, yeah.

25 Q. Okay. Do you know who told her to -- who told

1 your -- your parents to create such a trust?

2 A. No.

3 Q. Do you know who advised them to create such a
4 trust?

5 A. Um-hmm.

6 Q. I'm sorry. Is that --

7 A. No, I don't.

8 Q. Okay. And do you know when it was created?

9 A. (Shook head.)

10 Oh, I would say 2009. I'm not sure if 11 that's right or not.

12 Q. Okay.

13 A. Something close to that, yeah.

14 Q. One of the claims that you've made in this in 15 this positi- -- in this -- in this lawsuit is that 16 Ms. Brunsting, your mother, was misled about some of 17 the documents she was signing.

18 A. Um-hmm.

19 Q. Do you -- do you understand that to be the 20 case?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Okay. What documents do you believe your 23 mother was misled to sign?

24 A. I don't know.

25 Q. Okay. And what makes you believe your mother

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

39

1 was misled into signing those documents?

2 A. I can't say specifically.

3 Q. Okay. Do you have any evidence that Ms. Freed
4 or the law firm misled Ms. Brunsting into signing
5 documents?

6 A. Yes, I do. They faked her signature or 7 something like that, yeah.

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. I don't know if that's right, but yeah.

10 THE REPORTER: That's what?

11 THE WITNESS: I don't know if that's
12 right or not, but yeah.

13 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Okay. So -- so you're not 14 sure about that, correct?

15 A. Yeah.

16 Q. So then you don't have any evidence that 17 anybody at the law firm faked Ms. Brunsting's
18 signature, correct?

19 A. Let me think about that a minute.

20 Q. Sure.

21 A. Not that I can say, no.

22 Q. Okay. You al- -- one of the claims you also 23 make in this lawsuit is that Ms. Brunsting was unduly
24 influenced to sign certain documents. Do you
25 understand that to be one of your claims?

1 A. Yes, uh-huh.

2 Q. Okay. What evidence do you have that the law
3 firm or Ms. Freed unduly influenced Mrs. Brunsting?

4 A. I can't specifically say. Sorry.

5 Q. Okay. Have you ever seen any evidence to that 6 effect?

7 A. I think they faked her signature, but I'm not 8 really sure, yeah, if that's...

9 Q. And are you saying that because that's what 10 somebody told you?

11 A. No, that's what I'm looking at. I look at 12 Mom's signature, and it wasn't like she normally would 13 write things. It's like somebody signed it. But I'm 14 not sure if that's right now.

15 Q. Okay. Did your mother ever tell you that 16 somebody faked her signature?

17 A. No. No, uh-uh.

18 Q. So that's just your --

19 A. Yeah.

20 Q. -- your belief?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Okay. She -- with respect to your -- your 23 claim that she was misled and she was unduly
24 influenced --

25 A. Um-hmm.

1 Q. -- you -- you agree with me that you weren't
2 present during the time that she signed any of these
3 documents, correct?

4 A. Right.

5 Q. Okay. So then you have no evidence whatsoever
6 that that in fact occurred, correct?

7 A. No evidence, yes. I mean...

8 Q. Another claim that you're making in this 9 lawsuit is that Miss -- Mrs. Brunsting did not have the 10 capacity -- um-hmm -- to sign certain trust documents
11 and power of attorney. What evidence do you have that 12 Ms. Brunsting did not have capacity?

13 A. She was sitting in a chair and could hardly 14 move. She had somebody taking care of her, yeah.

15 Q. Okay.

16 A. I mean, she was almost -- yeah.

17 Q. Okay.

18 A. Could have been in a nursing home, but she was 19 taken at home with somebody who cared for her every 20 day, fed her and moved her from her chair to her bed
21 and -- yeah.

22 Q. And what time frame are you talking about?

23 A. I don't know. Five years ago or -- yeah. I
24 don't know. Mom died a few years ago, but -- yeah.

25 Q. And so that's just based on your observation,

1 correct?

2 A. What's that?

3 Q. That's based on what you observed, correct?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Okay. No doctor's ever told you that your
6 mother was incapacitated at that time, correct?

7 A. No, no. It's obvious that she was, but --
8 yeah.

9 Q. Okay. But no doctor ever told you that your 10 mother --

11 A. Not that I remember, no, uh-uh.

12 Q. -- was incapacitated?

13 A. No.

14 Q. And let me -- let me finish my questions,
15 because we're --

16 A. Sure.

17 Q. -- kind of talking over each other. And 18 I'll --

19 A. Sure.

20 Q. I'll try to let you finish your answer.

21 But just so we've got it clean, no doctor ever
22 told you your mother was incapacitated in the 2009 time
23 frame, correct?

24 A. Not that I remember, no.

25 Q. Okay. In fact, at that time, your mother was

1 still living at her house, correct?

2 A. Yes, uh-huh.

3 Q. Okay.

4 A. Being cared for, though, yeah.

5 Q. Right. But she was living at her house?

6 A. Yeah, yeah.

7 Q. She was -- you -- you were -- you would be
8 able to come over and speak to her, correct?

9 A. She couldn't talk, but, yeah.

10 Q. She couldn't talk?

11 A. No. Not that I remember, huh-uh.

12 Q. Okay. So your memory is that she couldn't 13 talk at all?

14 A. No. That's right, yeah. At least the last 15 few times I saw her, yeah.

16 Q. Okay. When was the last few times you saw 17 her?

18 A. I don't know, three, four years ago, yeah.

19 Q. Okay. What about in the 2009 time frame
20 before you fell ill; she was able to talk then,
21 correct?

22 A. Oh, yeah, yeah.

23 Q. Okay. And then in 2010 after you -- after you
24 became ill, she was able to talk at that time, correct?

25 A. Not that I remember right now.

1 Q. Okay. Other than what -- other than your view
2 of your mother, what other evidence do you have that 3 she was incapacitated from 2009 until the time she 4 passed away?

5 A. Evidence that I have that she was
6 incapacitated? Just not... you know, going over there
7 and seeing that she was in the same chair the whole
8 time and couldn't walk around, had somebody taking care
9 of her, yeah.

10 Q. Okay. And what do you mean by "in the" -- "in 11 the same chair the whole time"?

12 A. Oh, one of those big easy chairs, yeah. And 13 somebody had to get her up and move her into the bed
14 and kind of take care of her like.

15 Q. Okay. But you'll agree with me that just 16 because someone can't move around as well as they --

17 A. Um-hmm --

18 Q. -- could in the past, that doesn't mean that 19 they're mentally incapacitated, correct?

20 A. Well, not -- no, uh-uh, not completely. I
21 don't know.

22 Q. In -- in 2009, would you -- do you know if 23 your mother was seeing any doctors?

24 A. I don't know.

25 Q. Okay.

1 A. Because that was about the time that I was
2 getting ill, so, yeah.

3 Q. Okay. What about in 2010, do you know if your 4 mother was seeing any physicians at that time?

5 A. I don't know.

6 Q. What about 2011?

7 A. I don't know, yeah.

8 Q. And what about 2012?

9 A. I think she was, but I don't know what -- I
10 don't have any memory about that time, yeah --

11 Q. Okay.

12 A. -- about what happened.

13 Q. Okay. Eventually, Anita Brunsting, your 14 sister --

15 A. Um-hmm.

16 Q. -- became the trustee for the family trust.

17 A. (Nodded head.)

18 Q. Do you understand that to be the case?

19 A. Yes, yes.

20 Q. Okay. And in order to do that, there was a --
21 a document that was executed that stated such, correct?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. And that document was executed by your mother,
24 correct?

25 A. I don't know how that was done, but, yes.

1 Q. Okay. And the reason you don't know is
2 because you weren't there, correct?

3 A. Yeah, uh-huh.

4 Q. And you don't know what was explained to your 5 mother at the time --

6 A. No.

7 Q. -- that she signed it?

8 A. No. No.

9 Q. You don't know what discussions she may have 10 had with her attorneys about it, correct?

11 A. No, no.

12 Q. And -- and you don't know -- you don't have 13 any information as to why that was done, meaning that 14 Anita became the trustee, correct?

15 A. To go after the inheritance, yeah.

16 Q. Okay.

17 A. Because Dad was dead, and Mom was sick, and 18 they -- and they had the value of the farm and the 19 stocks.

20 Q. Okay.

21 A. And I was sick, so they were trying to get me
22 out of the inheritance, yeah.

23 Q. And why do you believe that?

24 A. Because of where we are right now, being a 25 legal problem because they tried to get me out of --

1 they were unhappy that I was surviving, yeah.

2 Q. Okay.

3 A. I'm sorry. I don't know a good way to put
4 that, but...

5 Q. Do you know whether or not Ms. Brunsting
6 actually requested that that happen, that Anita become 7 the trustee?

8 A. Not that I know of. I don't know.

9 Q. Okay. Do you agree that it's possible that 10 she in fact did want Anita to be the trustee?

11 A. No.

12 Q. Why not?

13 A. I don't know. I think Mom could have been 14 talked into it instead of -- because saying, "Oh,
15 Carl's about dead, and you've got to change this 16 thing." I don't know.

17 Q. Um-hmm. Do you know if that actually 18 happened?

19 A. I don't know. Not specifically, no.

20 Q. You understand that Anita was also named as 21 the power of attorney named to have power of attorney
22 over your mother, correct?

23 A. Um-hmm, um-hmm.

24 Q. Okay. And that was also in a document that 25 was -- that was done that was made possible because

1 your mother signed off on a document; you understand
2 that?

3 A. Somewhat, yes.

4 Q. Okay.

5 A. Anita, Amy, and Carol, yeah -- or Anita and 6 Amy, yeah.

7 Q. Okay. And again, you weren't present when 8 that document was signed, correct?

9 A. No, no, no.

10 Q. And you don't know what discussions were had 11 between your mother and her attorney about that 12 document, correct?

13 A. No, no.

14 Q. You don't know if your mother specifically
15 requested that document?

16 A. No, I don't.

17 Q. Do you -- is Anita and Amy, are they still the 18 trustees?

19 A. As far as I know, yes, uh-huh.

20 Q. Okay. You're aware that Carol was named
21 Nelva's healthcare power of attorney, correct?

22 A. Not specifically. I don't remember that, no.

23 Q. Okay.

24 A. I think you're right, but...

25 Q. All right. And of course if that occurred,

1 you understand that your mother would have signed off
2 on a document to that effect, correct?

3 A. I don't know.

4 Q. Okay. You don't have any information about 5 any healthcare power of attorney your mother may have 6 signed, correct?

7 A. (Shook head.)

8 Q. I'm sorry. Is that a "no"?

9 A. No, I don't, yeah.

10 Q. Okay. Do you know whether or not Carol was 11 assisting your mother in going to the doctor?

12 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

13 Q. Okay. Specifically in between 2009 until the 14 time of her death, do you know whether or not Carol
15 assisted your mother in going to the doctor?

16 A. I don't know, no.

17 Q. Do you know whether or not any of your sisters
18 were responsible for paying for your -- helping your 19 mom pay for her medical bills?

20 A. I don't know.

21 Q. And do you know what, if any, involvement
22 Ms. Freed may have had in assisting your mom with 23 having money so that she can pay her medical bills?

24 A. No, I don't.

25 Q. What is -- when's the last time you talked to

1 Candace Curtis?

2 A. I don't remember.

3 Q. Okay. I'm talking about your sister.

4 A. Oh, Can- -- oh, a couple of years ago, yeah,
5 she came in town for -- and yeah. Candy, I'm sorry,
6 yeah.

7 Q. Okay. So you call her Candy?

8 A. Yeah, yeah.

9 Q. Okay. What about Carol, when's the last time
10 you talked to Carol?

11 A. When she took me over to Mom's about -- just 12 before Mom had -- Mom died, yeah.

13 Q. And then I believe you said earlier you
14 haven't spoken to Amy or Anita in several years.

15 A. No, no.

16 Q. Okay.

17 MS. FOLEY: Let's take a -- take a short
18 break real quick.

19 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record, 10:57.

20 (Break from 10:57 a.m. to 11:02 a.m.)

21 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record, 11:02,
22 Tape 2.

23 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Hello, Mr. Brunsting. We're
24 back on the record here. We just took a short break,
25 and I saw you looking at some handwritten notes on the

1 break. Are those your notes?

2 A. Yeah.

3 Q. Can I take a look at them?

4 A. Sure. I didn't write any down. I just 5 brought a -- thought about writing something and 6 didn't, so...

7 Q. Um-hmm. And these are just notes that you've 8 taken about --

9 A. I do every day, yeah.

10 Q. Like a journal?

11 A. Yeah.

12 Q. Okay.

13 MS. FOLEY: We can take a break later.

14 MS. BAYLESS: I haven't even seen them.
15 I don't even know what we're talking about.

16 MS. FOLEY: Okay. Let's take a break
17 now, then.

18 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record, 11:03.

19 (Break from 11:03 a.m. to 11:04 a.m.)

20 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record, 11:04.

21 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Mr. Brunsting, we were just 22 talking about a journal that you keep, correct?

23 A. Yep.

24 Q. And is that a daily journal you keep?

25 A. Yeah, yeah.

1 Q. Why do you keep it?

2 A. Just so I know what I've done, and where we
3 went. You know, we did our school walk and -- and what
4 I'm working on, and what I've read recently. I mean,
5 like, pick up -- an architectural record has these 6 notes in it where you've got to get -- be AIA or 7 American Institute or -- or -- and so I read, and I
8 make a little note about it and yeah.

9 Q. Okay.

10 A. Just what I've done every day, yeah, a diary.

11 Q. And when -- were you reviewing any part of it
12 on the break?

13 A. Just --

14 Q. Were you --

15 A. No, I was going to, but I didn't.

16 Q. Okay. Did you -- do you write information in 17 your journal about this case?

18 A. No. Not specifically, no. It's just what I 19 do every day. And what -- what me getting back is 20 about -- about, yeah.

21 Q. Okay. How long have you been keeping the
22 journal?

23 A. Oh, I don't know. Four years, I mean,
24 something -- since I'm coming back from -- yeah.

25 Q. Okay. Do you write about your sisters in your

1 journal?

2 A. No. Um-hmm.

3 Q. Okay.

4 A. Just what happens every day, and what I've --
5 what we've done. Yeah.

6 Q. Um-hmm.

7 A. Like I look at the clock, and I see -- okay,
8 we just did our walk, and I -- I'm working on -- I'm 9 reading an AIA thing. And, you know, what I'm doing
10 every day, a diary.

11 Q. And do you use it to refresh your -- your 12 memory sometimes?

13 A. Just to -- not only refresh -- sometimes I do
14 read it, but, yeah, usually it's just to kind of record
15 just what's happened, yeah.

16 Q. Okay. And are you doing that at a direction
17 of a doctor or --

18 A. No, no, uh-uh.

19 Q. Okay. Do you recall if -- well, strike that.
20 Do you believe that there's any document that 21 Candace Freed or her law firm drafted that cut you out
22 of your inheritance?

23 A. Not that I know of, no.

24 Q. Okay. Do you recall whether or not your 25 mother gave you any gifts, financial gifts, in your

1 lifetime?

2 A. Not that I can remember, no.

3 Q. Okay. Do you know if she gave gifts to any of 4 your other siblings?

5 A. I don't know.

6 Q. Okay. What about to any of her grandchildren?

7 A. No.

8 Q. What about to your wife, do you know if your 9 mother ever gave financial gifts to your wife?

10 A. No.

11 Q. One of the things you've also claimed in your 12 lawsuit is that -- that my clients helped to implement
13 a scheme to change the terms of the family trust.

14 A. Uh-huh.

15 Q. What scheme are -- are you referring to?

16 A. To get me out of it, and -- me and my adopted
17 sister, Candy, out of it. Yeah.

18 Q. Okay. And what evidence do you have that my 19 clients, Ms. Brunsting's lawyer and law firm, were 20 involved in that scheme?

21 A. I don't know. I can't specifically say.

22 Q. Okay. Have you seen any such evidence?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. What evidence have you seen?

25 A. I can't say. Sorry.

1 Q. Okay. What can you tell me about the scheme?

2 A. That I got sick and my sisters decided how to
3 go in and get the inheritance in a way that left me out
4 of it.

5 Q. Okay.

6 A. And -- yeah.

7 Q. And you -- as we sit here today, you don't 8 have any evidence that my clients -- that that was 9 their point, too, was to cut you out of your 10 inheritance, do you?

11 A. Yes, I do. I just can't get specific about 12 what that is, yes.

13 Q. Okay. Well, can you speak generally about --
14 about what that is?

15 A. I was sick, and my mom was sick, and they took 16 advantage, and tried to get me out of the inheritance,
17 and that's why we're in this problem right now, of it
18 not being split five ways.

19 Q. Okay. And is that mainly based on what 20 your -- based on what you believe your sisters' goals
21 were?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Okay. That's not based on anything that
24 you've heard my clients say, correct?

25 A. Your clients are?

1 Q. Ms. Freed and her law firm, Ms. Brunsting's
2 lawyers.

3 A. (Shook head.)

4 Q. I'm sorry. Is that a -- is that a "no"?

5 A. When you say "Ms. Brunsting's," who do you
6 mean?

7 Q. Ms. Nelva Brunsting.

8 A. I don't know.

9 Q. Okay. Another thing you claim is that my 10 clients, the lawyer and the law firm, improperly 11 removed assets from Elmer and Nelva's estates from the 12 family trust. What evidence do you have that my 13 clients did that, meaning the lawyer or the law firm?

14 A. That they helped it happen. I'm not sure --
15 yeah.

16 Q. Okay. Do you know if they helped it happen?

17 A. Well, where we are right now, trying to get 18 this resolved in a good way, and...

19 Q. Well, I understand that. But do you know if 20 my client helped that happen?

21 A. Not that I can specifically say, no.

22 Q. But can you tell me what assets you believe
23 were improperly removed from the trust?

24 A. My access to the inheritance of the value of 25 the farm and stocks.

1 Q. And when you say your access, what do you mean
2 by that?

3 A. That we couldn't get this solved in a good way
4 where it was five -- it was split five ways.

5 Q. And you're -- and when you say "it was" -- "it
6 was split five ways," are you talking about all assets
7 or a specific asset?

8 A. Stocks, and the farm value is -- farm value is 9 more than the stocks were, and -- are -- and -- yeah.

10 Q. Okay.

11 A. Mom died, and it should have been split five 12 ways, but they put up -- tried to get me out of it,
13 so...

14 Q. Okay. But again, they have not been 15 successful at this point, correct?

16 A. No. No. They partially are. They both -- 17 the three of them got a bunch of inheritance out -- or 18 I mean stock money out, so...

19 Q. Okay. And you don't have any evidence that my 20 client had anything to do with that, do you?

21 A. Your client is who?

22 Q. The -- Miss -- Ms. Freed and her law firm.

23 A. I -- I don't know. Sorry.

24 Q. I'm sorry. I didn't...

25 A. I don't know.

1 Q. Okay. One of the things that you've alleged
2 in your petiti- -- your petition is that -- that there
3 were changes made to the trust documents that Nelva
4 Brunsting did not want made; do you recall that 5 allegation?

6 A. Yeah, that -- that -- not specifically, no.

7 Q. Okay. Do you believe that there were changes
8 made to the trust documents that Ms. Nelva Brunsting
9 did not want made?

10 A. Yeah. Yes. I think she was talked into 11 trying to get me out of the inheritance.

12 Q. Okay. What changes do you -- are you talking
13 about?

14 A. Nothing. I can't give you specifically, so...

15 Q. Okay. And -- and with respect to what you
16 said earlier, which is just your -- your sisters trying 17 to cut you out of the inheritance, again, you don't 18 have any evidence that Ms. Freed or -- or the law firm
19 was -- had a -- had an intent or a goal to cut you out
20 of your inheritance, do you?

21 A. Not any evidence, but I think that's what 22 happened, is they were trying to help what my sisters
23 were trying to do, which was keep me out of the 24 inheritance.

25 Q. Okay. You weren't -- you weren't privy to any

1 conversations Ms. Nelva Brunsting and her lawyers may
2 have had regarding changes to those documents, correct?

3 A. No.

4 Q. So you don't know if she actually requested
5 those changes?

6 A. No, uh-uh.

7 Q. Another allegation you've made in your --

8 A. Um-hmm.

9 Q. -- by filing this lawsuit is that Ms. Nelva
10 Brunsting's lawyers and her law firm, Candace Freed and 11 Vacek & Freed, took steps to undermine Ms. Nelva
12 Brunsting's control of her assets.

13 A. Um-hmm.

14 Q. Do you understand that allegation?

15 A. Yes, yeah.

16 Q. Okay. And what evidence do you have that 17 Ms. Freed and her law firm took steps to undermine 18 Ms. Nelva Brunsting's control of her assets?

19 A. Where we are right now without it being 20 solved, because they're trying to keep me out of it.

21 Q. Okay. And I understand where we are right
22 now. But what evidence do you have that my clients,
23 Ms. Freed and her law firm, has done anything like
24 that?

25 A. I don't know.

1 Q. Another thing you've claimed is that my
2 clients Miss -- Ms. Freed and her law firm has -- has 3 placed certain assets at risk of loss.

4 A. Certain assets -- assets?

5 Q. Yes. Um-hmm. Do you recall the allegation?

6 A. Yes, they tried to keep me out of it. But I
7 don't know how to specifically say what -- what they 8 did or how it was done, yeah.

9 Q. Okay. And with respect to the -- the assets
10 that -- that you've pled were at risk of loss, do
11 you -- which assets are you referring to?

12 A. Well, both stocks and the farm value, because 13 like I said, the farm value's probably two-and-a-half 14 million and the stocks were a million. And they've 15 gone into and gotten a bunch of the stocks, but they 16 couldn't sell the farm, so...

17 Q. Okay. And it's -- and what -- who is -- who 18 do you understand to have done that?

19 A. Anita and Amy -- Anita, apparently, yeah.

20 Q. Okay. And you don't have any evidence that -- 21 that my client had anything to do with transferring
22 stocks, correct?

23 A. Your client is who?

24 Q. Ms. Freed and her law firm.

25 A. That she helped them get me out or trying to

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

61

1 get me out of it? I'm sorry. Yeah.

2 Q. Okay. Specifically, though, what evidence do
3 you have that Ms. Freed and her law firm had anything
4 to do with transferring stock?

5 A. I can't say.

6 Q. Okay. And does that mean you don't know, or
7 you --

8 A. Yeah. I can't -- like I said, I can't say. I
9 don't know.

10 Q. Another thing you've alleged -- alleged in 11 this case is that Ms. Nelva Brunsting did not 12 understand the documents that were prepared for her --

13 A. Um-hmm.

14 Q. -- by Ms. Freed and her -- and her lawyers at 15 Vacek & Freed.

16 A. Um-hmm.

17 Q. Did you understand that allegation?

18 A. Yes, yeah.

19 Q. Okay.

20 A. I think Mom was talked into things, and --
21 because she was old and sick, yeah.

22 Q. Okay. What evidence do you have that
23 Ms. Brunsting was talked into things by either
24 Ms. Freed or Vacek & Freed?

25 A. I don't know.

1 Q. Okay. And again, whenever any such documents
2 were presented to your mother or discussed with your
3 mother by her attorneys, you weren't present for that,
4 correct?

5 A. No. No, uh-uh.

6 Q. Another thing you've alleged in this lawsuit
7 is that Ms. Freed and Vacek & Freed, the law firm,
8 failed to address Ms. Nelva Brunsting's lack of 9 capacity.

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Do you understand that allegation?

12 A. Yeah.

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. Mom and me, yeah.

15 Q. Okay.

16 A. Kept me out of it.

17 Q. And -- and what -- what do you mean by kept
18 you out of it?

19 A. That it was just done without notifying me or 20 my mom about what was happening, yeah.

21 Q. Okay. And how do you know your mother wasn't
22 notified?

23 A. I don't know.

24 Q. Okay. And you -- you said you also were not
25 notified.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

63

1 A. Yeah.

2 Q. And -- and what do you think that somebody
3 failed to notify you of?

4 A. What -- what they were planning to do. I
5 don't know, yeah.

6 Q. Okay. And specifically with respect to what
7 you've alleged in this suit, which is that Vacek &
8 Freed and -- and Candace Freed failed to address
9 Ms. Nelva Brunsting's lack of capacity --

10 A. Um-hmm.

11 Q. -- do you know when and if that ever came up?

12 A. Not specifically, no.

13 Q. Okay. Do you know what, if anything, was done
14 by Ms. Freed to address it?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Do you know if Ms. Freed had any conversations
17 with your sisters about Ms. Nelva Brunsting's capacity?

18 A. Not that I can say, no.

19 Q. Okay. And so then if there was any attempt 20 made by Ms. Freed or her law firm to address Ms. Nelva
21 Brunsting's capacity, you would not have any 22 information whatsoever about that, correct?

23 A. Not specific -- no, no.

24 Q. And forgive me for the pause. I'm just trying 25 to make sure I don't go over something I've already

1 been over.

2 A. Uh-huh.

3 Q. One of the allegations that you've made in the 4 case is that -- excuse me -- Ms. Freed and her law firm
5 failed to advise Elmer and Nelva of the terms of the 6 family trust and the proper administration --

7 A. Um-hmm.

8 Q. -- of the family trust.

9 A. Um-hmm.

10 Q. What evidence, if any, do you have that they 11 failed to provide such advice?

12 A. What we're in right now, we're trying to get
13 it resolved in a good way, five -- split five ways.
14 Instead of all this problem. I don't know.

15 Q. Okay.

16 A. I don't know how to say specifically.

17 Q. Okay. So you're saying that because there's a 18 dispute amongst you and your -- your sisters --

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. -- that's -- that's why you believe that --

21 A. Yeah, she was --

22 Q. -- your parents weren't provided proper
23 advice?

24 A. Yeah.

25 Q. Okay. Anything other than that?

1 A. Not that I can remember. Sorry.

2 Q. Another claim that you've made in this lawsuit
3 is that Ms. Freed and her law firm failed to protect 4 Nelva's rights with respect to the family trust.

5 A. Um-hmm.

6 Q. What do you mean by that exactly?

7 A. That she -- they -- she helped get it resolved
8 where I was going to be kept out of it and -- yeah.

9 Q. Okay. How so?

10 A. I can't say specifically. I don't know.

11 Q. Okay. What specific rights do you mean when 12 you say that Ms. Nelva Brunsting's rights were not 13 protected by Ms. Freed and her law firm?

14 A. Where we are right now, instead of having 15 resolved in a good way, yeah.

16 Q. Okay. So again, you're saying because you and 17 your sisters are having a dispute about the trust --

18 A. Yeah.

19 Q. -- and the assets --

20 A. Yeah.

21 Q. -- that that's why you believe that Ms. Nelva
22 Brunsting's rights aren't -- weren't protected?

23 A. That's right. It should have been split five 24 ways, and then it would be -- would be over by now,
25 yeah.

1 Q. Okay. And what you basing that on?

2 A. Pardon?

3 Q. What are you basing that on, that it should 4 have been split five ways?

5 A. Well, there are five kids.

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. And the value of the farm and stocks, and that
8 should have been after Mom died, all split, yeah.

9 Q. Okay. And is that based on something your mom
10 told you or --

11 A. No, it's just what it should be with five kids
12 and --

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. Mom and Dad are dead, and inheritance, yeah.

15 Q. But you understand that your parents could 16 have changed their mind about how they want to 17 distribute property after their death, correct?

18 A. I guess they could have, but I don't think
19 they did, yeah.

20 Q. Okay. Another allegation you've made in this 21 case is that Ms. Freed and her firm failed to advise 22 Nelva Brunsting that Ms. Freed and her firm were also 23 representing the trustees --

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. -- Amy and Anita; is that correct?

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. Okay. And how do you know that?

3 A. What happened without mom knowing it, I don't
4 know.

5 Q. How do you know -- how do you know your mother
6 did not know?

7 A. She was old and sick, and the -- it changed
8 from being split five ways to being this problem right
9 now, yeah.

10 Q. Okay. But again, you were never present for 11 any discussions your mom may have had --

12 A. No, no.

13 Q. -- with Ms. Freed --

14 A. No.

15 Q. -- or her law firm about that, correct?

16 A. No, no. Yeah.

17 Q. Okay. And so you agree then it's possible
18 that Ms. Freed and her law firm did in fact tell 19 Nelva -- Nelva Brunsting about the fact that she was 20 representing the trustees as well as Ms. Brunsting?

21 A. I don't know.

22 Q. Okay. And so -- but so what you're saying is 23 you can't say one way or the other, because you weren't
24 there, correct?

25 A. Yeah. Yes.

1 Q. What -- another allegation you have in your
2 lawsuit is that Ms. Freed and her law firm failed to
3 take steps to inform Nelva Brunsting of the objectives
4 of the current trustees.

5 A. Um-hmm.

6 Q. What objectives are you referring to?

7 A. Having it done five ways, and after Mom died,
8 it had -- I don't know what to say.

9 Q. Okay.

10 A. And where we are right now.

11 Q. Got you.

12 And I guess, do you have any evidence
13 that -- that Miss -- Ms. Freed or her law firm intended
14 to do anything, other than comply with what Ms. Nelva
15 Brunsting and Mr. Elmer Brunsting wanted?

16 A. Where we are right now, and that it's taking 17 so long to get through this, yeah.

18 Q. Okay. So again, the -- the fact of the 19 dispute --

20 A. Yeah, the dispute.

21 Q. -- is your evidence?

22 A. Yes, uh-huh.

23 Q. Okay.

24 MS. FOLEY: Did you ever dismiss the
25 conversion claim? You said in some interrogatories

1 that you would, but it's still in the petition.

2 MS. BAYLESS: You know, I did.

3 MS. FOLEY: Okay.

4 MS. BAYLESS: But I think that it's
5 referred to in one -- I think the word "conversion"
6 didn't get taken out in one paragraph.

7 MS. FOLEY: Yeah. Okay. So -- but it is 8 gone?

9 MS. BAYLESS: But it is; it's gone, yeah.

10 MS. FOLEY: All right.

11 MS. BAYLESS: Yeah. I saw that actually 12 when I was looking at this.

13 MS. FOLEY: Okay.

14 MS. BAYLESS: I just need to take it out
15 in the next amendment.

16 MS. FOLEY: Sure.

17 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Another allegation you've made
18 in your suit is that my clients, Ms. Freed and her law
19 firm, helped -- tried to help the trustees, meaning Amy
20 and Anita, hide their improper actions.

21 A. Um-hmm.

22 Q. What evidence do you have of that?

23 A. Where we are right now, having to get through 24 this instead of it being split up five ways.

25 Q. Okay. But other than that, do you have any

1 other evidence that -- that Ms. Freed or -- or her law
2 firm tried to hide any actions by Amy or Anita?

3 A. Not specifically, no, no.

4 Q. Okay. Because it -- it sounds like you -- you
5 believe that you are aware of what Amy and Anita were 6 trying to do, correct?

7 A. Yes. Yeah.

8 Q. Okay. And you understand that my client,
9 Ms. Freed and her law firm, have provided documents in 10 this case?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. Okay. Another claim that you've made in your 13 lawsuit here is that there are documents that were not 14 signed at Ms. Freed's law firm, but were made to appear
15 that they were. Do you recall that allegation?

16 A. No, I don't.

17 Q. Okay.

18 A. Sorry.

19 Q. Do you believe that occurred?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Why?

22 A. Tell me that again.

23 Q. Sure. That you believe that there's -- there
24 are documents that were not signed by your mother --

25 A. Yeah.

1 Q. -- in Ms. Freed's office that were made to
2 look like they were signed in her office.

3 A. Yes. Yeah, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. Why do you believe that?

5 A. There's a signature from Mom that didn't look
6 like hers at all, like it was --

7 Q. Okay.

8 A. -- mocked up. Yeah.

9 Q. Okay. Do you know what document that was?

10 A. No, uh-uh.

11 Q. Okay. And so I guess it's your belief that 12 somebody else completely signed the document?

13 A. Yes, uh-huh.

14 Q. Okay. And other than your looking at the 15 signature and coming to that conclusion, what other 16 evidence do you have that makes you believe that that's 17 not your mother's signature?

18 A. I don't know. It -- yeah, it doesn't look 19 like Mom -- I don't know -- Mom's handwriting. Like 20 somebody else faked it.

21 Q. That's what it looks like to you?

22 A. Yeah, uh-huh.

23 Q. Okay. Anything other than that that makes you
24 believe that that particular document was not signed by 25 your mother?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

72

1 A. No.

2 Q. Other than the one document we're discussing,
3 are there any other documents that you believe were not
4 signed by your mother?

5 A. Not that I can remember, no.

6 Q. Okay. So but you recall one, correct?

7 A. Well, no, there were several that were that 8 way, but -- yeah.

9 Q. Several documents?

10 A. Yeah. Uh-huh.

11 Q. Okay. I guess -- are you -- you're not 12 alleging that Ms. Freed signed those documents, are 13 you?

14 A. I don't know.

15 Q. You're not alleging that anybody at her law
16 firm signed those documents, are you?

17 A. No.

18 THE REPORTER: What was your answer?

19 THE WITNESS: No.

20 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) There's another allegation in 21 your lawsuit where you claim that Nelva Brunsting had 22 refused to sign a document that was prepared by the 23 trustee -- at the request of the trustees --

24 A. Um-hmm.

25 Q. -- and by my client and her law firm.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

73

1 A. Um-hmm.

2 Q. What document is that you're referring to?

3 A. Well, I have no -- I don't know. I don't know
4 specifically.

5 Q. I'm sorry?

6 A. I don't know. I just remember seeing her
7 signature didn't look like hers at all, so...

8 Q. Okay. Now -- now I'm talking about something
9 that's a little bit different, though. There's another
10 allegation in your lawsuit where you claim that 11 Ms. Nelva Brunsting had refused to sign some 12 documents --

13 A. Oh.

14 Q. -- that were prepared for her at the request
15 of Amy and Anita.

16 A. Uh-huh.

17 Q. Do you recall that allegation?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. What document are you referring to?

20 A. I don't know what specifically.

21 Q. Okay. What evidence do you have that 22 Ms. Nelva Brunsting refused to sign any document that 23 was prepared for her by Ms. Freed or her law firm?

24 A. Well, I think it's a fake signature, and how 25 it's gone instead of being -- I don't know.

1 Q. Okay. Kind of like what we -- we discussed
2 earlier?

3 A. No.

4 Q. Anything other than that?

5 A. Not that I can --

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. -- say. Sorry.

8 Q. Meaning, you weren't told by Nelva Brunsting
9 that she refused to sign any documents --

10 A. Oh, no, no.

11 Q. -- correct?

12 A. No.

13 Q. Okay. And were you -- I guess, were you told
14 by either Amy or Anita that Ms. Nelva Brunsting refused
15 to sign any documents that they requested for her?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Okay. Another thing -- some other things that 18 you complain about in your -- in your lawsuit is that 19 there were improper expenses, improper trustees' fees,
20 improper payments made to the trustees, Amy and Anita.
21 Do you recall that allegation?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Okay. Do you have any evidence whatsoever
24 that my client, Candace Freed and her law firm, had 25 anything to do with that?

1 A. I don't know.

2 Q. Okay. Do you know what, if any, power or 3 control Ms. Freed or her law firm may or may not have 4 over, for instance, taking money out of the -- the 5 trust assets and providing them to the trustees?

6 A. No, I don't.

7 Q. Okay. Do you know who is responsible for 8 paying trustee fees?

9 A. Trustee fees?

10 Q. Yeah.

11 A. I don't know. I'd say Anita, but I'm not 12 sure.

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. She's been the leader of the three of them.

15 Q. What do you mean by that?

16 A. I think she told Carol and Amy what to do to 17 get this all done.

18 Q. Okay.

19 A. For me and Candy to not get anything, so...

20 Q. Okay.

21 A. Although, they kind of considered maybe Candy
22 being involved.

23 THE REPORTER: Although they...

24 THE WITNESS: Considered Candy being
25 involved with -- yeah.

1 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Okay. But either way, you
2 don't have any evidence that my clients were involved
3 in that at all?

4 A. Your clients are who?

5 Q. Ms. Freed and her law firm.

6 A. (Nonverbal response.)

7 Q. I'm sorry. Was that a --

8 A. No.

9 Q. Okay. One of the claims you have in this
10 lawsuit is that my clients, Ms. Freed and her law firm,
11 made misrepresentations to Nelva Brunsting and Elmer
12 Brunsting.

13 A. Um-hmm.

14 Q. What specific misrepresentations do you
15 believe Ms. Freed and Mister -- I'm sorry -- Ms. Freed
16 and her law firm made to Nelva and Elmer Brunsting?

17 A. Specifically, I don't know. I just -- 18 generally, it was to try to...

19 Q. Generally what?

20 A. It was to try to get it over without me being 21 involved.

22 Q. Okay. But you don't have -- you don't -- 23 you're not aware of any misrepresentations made by 24 Ms. Freed or her law firm, correct?

25 A. No, not specifically, no.

1 Q. Okay. And -- okay.

2 In the -- in your lawsuit, you're -- you're
3 claiming damages in this case --

4 A. Um-hmm.

5 Q. -- correct?

6 A. Yeah.

7 Q. What is your understanding of your damages
8 that you've suffered as a result of this lawsuit?

9 A. What we're going through right now instead of 10 it being divided five ways.

11 Q. Okay. Anything else?

12 A. Not specifically, no.

13 Q. You've also asked for attorney's fees in this 14 case?

15 A. Yeah.

16 Q. Have you paid any -- your attorney any fees to 17 date?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Okay. How much have you paid her, if you
20 know.

21 A. A quarter of a million dollars.

22 Q. Okay. And the quarter of a million dollars
23 that you've paid to your attorney, has that all been 24 related to this lawsuit, or has it been related to 25 other lawsuits as well?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

78

1 A. I can't speak specifically, but about this
2 inheritance stuff, yeah.

3 Q. Okay. And as I understand it right now, you
4 have at least two lawsuits, correct?

5 A. Um-hmm.

6 Q. And one is against my client, Ms. Freed and 7 her law firm, correct?

8 A. Um-hmm.

9 Q. I'm sorry. That's a "yes"?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. And the other has to -- is -- is related to 12 your sisters, correct?

13 A. Yes, yes.

14 Q. Okay. Do you know if the $250,000 that you've 15 spent on attorney's fees is related to either suit or 16 both?

17 A. Both of them, I think.

18 Q. Ok.

19 A. Yeah.

20 Q. Okay. Do you know how much of those fees are 21 actually related to this lawsuit?

22 A. No, no, no.

23 Q. Okay. Have you ever heard of Rosewood Family
24 Physicians?

25 A. The name sounds familiar, but I don't remember

1 why.

2 Q. Okay. What about Clarence F. Kendall, II?

3 A. Um-hmm.

4 Q. No. Do you know -- do you know that to be a
5 doctor?

6 A. Yeah. Rosewood is that who was taking care of 7 Mom.

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. Yeah.

10 Q. All right. What about Dr. Robert White, do
11 you know who that is?

12 A. (Shook head.)

13 Q. What about Medical Chest Associates PA; is 14 that somebody you may have seen?

15 A. I may have, but I'm not sure.

16 Q. Okay. Or your mom, maybe?

17 A. Could be. I don't know.

18 Q. Okay. What about G. Thomas Keith; do you know
19 who that is?

20 A. (Shook head.)

21 Q. What about Dr. A.J. Jane?

22 A. (Shook head.)

23 Q. You don't know who that is?

24 A. (Shook head.)

25 Q. And could you --

1 A. No, I don't.

2 Q. Okay. What about Rudolph and Sri Kumala
3 Shahendra?

4 A. No.

5 Q. Do you know who that is?

6 They live on Pinerock Lane.

7 A. Oh, really? Say the name again.

8 Q. Sure. I could barely pronounce it, but it's 9 Rudolf and Srikumala Suhendra, which -- it's spelled
10 S-R-I-K-U-M-A-L-A, and their last name is Suhendra.

11 A. Mom lives on Pinerock. I don't know why --
12 who those people are.

13 Q. Okay. Possibly neighbors --

14 A. Yeah.

15 Q. -- of your mom?

16 A. Uh-huh.

17 Q. But you don't know them?

18 A. No, no. I mean, it was 40 years ago when I
19 lived there, and so I don't know --

20 Q. Okay.

21 A. -- who her neighbors were, yeah.

22 Q. What about Tio Vasquez, do you know who that 23 is?

24 A. (Shook head.)

25 Q. Do you know if he was one of the caregivers

1 who took care of your mom?

2 A. I don't know. Oh, that sounds familiar, but I
3 don't know, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. What about Robert Cantu?

5 A. I don't know.

6 Q. You don't know who he is?

7 A. Um-hmm.

8 Q. Do you know if he may have been one of the 9 caregivers who took care of your mom?

10 A. I don't know. Yeah.

11 Q. Okay. Do you know who Stan McCormick is?

12 A. Um-hmm.

13 Q. I'm sorry. Is that a "no"?

14 A. No.

15 Q. Do you know who Judy Lennox is?

16 A. No.

17 Q. What about Charles Gerhart?

18 A. No.

19 Q. What about Charles -- Dr. Charles Kevorkian?

20 A. No.

21 Q. Is he not one of your medical providers,
22 Dr. Kevorkian?

23 A. Not that I remember, no.

24 Q. Okay. You provided some responses to 25 interrogatories in discovery in this case. One of the

1 statements you've made is that your mother would
2 sometimes become disoriented.

3 A. Um-hmm.

4 Q. When would this happen?

5 A. At the end of her life, yeah.

6 THE REPORTER: Can you repeat your
7 answer?

8 THE WITNESS: At the end of her life.

9 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Okay.

10 A. And she couldn't talk, and she kind of -- you
11 could see her thinking about things, but couldn't talk,
12 I guess.

13 Q. But you don't know how long that was going on?

14 A. No, I don't know. A year or two.

15 Q. Okay. And do you know if she was seeing a 16 doctor for that?

17 A. Pardon?

18 Q. Do you know if she was seeing a doctor for 19 that?

20 A. Oh, I'm sure she was.

21 Q. But you don't know?

22 A. No, not specifically.

23 Q. Do you know if your mom had any medical 24 conditions, like specific diagnoses?

25 A. I couldn't say specifically, but she was

1 unable to move almost, and had to be cared for. Yeah.

2 Q. Okay.

3 A. But cared for at home. She had somebody to 4 feed her and take her here and...

5 Q. Had she suffered any significant -- for 6 instance, like a heart attack, or stroke, or anything
7 like that?

8 A. Not that I know of.

9 Q. In some of your responses, you talk about a
10 safe deposit box. Did your mom have a safe deposit
11 box?

12 A. I don't remember. I'm -- I'm sure she did,
13 though. Yes, yes.

14 Q. Okay.

15 A. I don't specifically remember. Sorry.

16 Q. Do you know what she kept in the safety
17 deposit box?

18 A. No.

19 Q. Do you know if anything has been taken or 20 removed from that safety deposit box?

21 A. I don't know.

22 Q. Did your mom have savings bonds?

23 A. (Nodded head.)

24 Q. Is that a "yes"?

25 A. No. I'll just say, yes, I think so. Yeah.

1 Q. Okay. Do you know what happened to those
2 savings bonds?

3 A. No, uh-uh. In her -- the stock's in her --
4 and the farm value are what the inheritance was about,
5 yeah --

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. -- or is about, yeah.

8 Q. Are you aware of a conference call that took 9 place between your sisters and Ms. Freed and her law
10 firm?

11 A. No.

12 Q. You don't know anything about that?

13 A. No.

14 Q. Another allegation that you may have made
15 about the documents in this case is that you believe 16 that there were some documents that were notarized by 17 Ms. Freed and her law firm, even though Ms. Nelva
18 Brunsting was not present when they were notarized --

19 A. Um-hmm.

20 Q. -- or did not sign when they were notarized.

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Do you understand that allegation?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. Okay. Do you know what documents you're 25 talking about or what documents you saw?

1 A. Changing the inheritance. I don't know what
2 they're called. Sorry.

3 Q. Okay. What about the document that made you
4 believe that it was notarized at Ms. Freed's law firm
5 but not signed by Ms. Brunsting at the law firm?

6 A. The fake signatures that was there, yeah.

7 Q. Okay.

8 A. And Mom wouldn't have wanted to do this. I
9 don't know. Sorry.

10 Q. Okay. Anything else?

11 A. No.

12 Q. There's a statement in your discovery
13 responses that says that the -- you believe that 14 representations by Ms. Freed and her law firm were made
15 in presentations at Elmer and Nelva Brunsting's church.

16 A. I don't specifically remember that. Sorry.

17 Q. Okay. So you're not aware of any speech or 18 presentation Ms. Freed or her law firm may have done at 19 your parents' church?

20 A. No, not that I know of, no.

21 Q. Okay. Which church did they go to?

22 A. A Methodist church, Chapelwood United -- 23 Chapelwood Methodist.

24 Q. Did you go to that same church?

25 A. Yes, uh-huh.

1 Q. Another allegation -- well, I don't know.

2 MS. FOLEY: Are you still making
3 allegations of criminal misconduct, Bobbie?

4 MS. BAYLESS: No.

5 MS. FOLEY: Okay.

6 MS. BAYLESS: Sorry, I didn't know you
7 were talking to me.

8 MS. FOLEY: No, that's okay.

9 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) There's an allegation that you
10 have in your claims that your -- your sisters were 11 making improper personal -- payments for personal 12 expenses.

13 A. Um-hmm.

14 Q. Do you recall that allegation?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. What kind of things were they spending money
17 on that you claim are improper personal expenses?

18 A. I can't say specifically. I don't know.

19 Q. Okay. What documents have you looked at to -- 20 to come to that determination?

21 A. What's been taken out of -- I can't be 22 specific about it, but what's been taken out of 23 inheritance and spent.

24 Q. Okay. But you don't know what they were spent 25 on?

1 A. No. Well, one of them I do. She built a new
2 house, Amy.

3 Q. Okay. And do you remember what time frame you
4 believe she did that?

5 A. I don't know. A few years ago. I'm not for
6 sure.

7 Q. Was it before or after your mom had passed
8 away?

9 A. I don't know. I'd say a little bit after.
10 I'm not real sure.

11 Q. Okay. Are you aware of any funds or money
12 that was spent on your mom's care while she was at 13 home?

14 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

15 Q. Do you know where the money came from that 16 paid for that care, the care that she received while 17 she was at home?

18 A. From Mom's accounts or whatever. I'm not
19 sure.

20 Q. Okay. You're not sure where the money came 21 from?

22 A. No, I'm not. No, I'm not.

23 Q. Do you know -- so then you don't know who paid 24 for the -- for that care that she received while she 25 was at home, correct?

1 A. Well, I think she did for a while, and then
2 she couldn't, and somebody else took care of it, I'm
3 not sure.

4 Q. Do you know who that was?

5 A. No, uh-uh. I would say Anita, but I'm not
6 sure. I shouldn't keep saying that. Sorry.

7 Q. Okay. Do you know how long she was receiving
8 care at home?

9 A. No.

10 Q. There's also an allegation that you believe 11 that your mother did not know that documents were 12 prepared to disinherit your daughter.

13 A. Oh, yes.

14 Q. Okay. Do you recall that allegation?

15 A. Yeah.

16 Q. Okay. What evidence did you have that 17 Ms. Nelva Brunsting did not know documents were 18 prepared to disinherit your daughter?

19 A. I can't say. I don't know.

20 Q. Okay. Have you seen any documents that were 21 prepared that would disinherit your daughter?

22 A. No, not that I can remember.

23 Q. Okay. Had you ever had any discussions with 24 your -- with your mom or -- or anybody else about your 25 mom or your dad possibly disinheriting your daughter?

1 A. No, no, no.

2 Q. Okay. Other than the two lawsuits, the one
3 you have against Ms. Freed and her law firm, and the 4 one you have against your sisters, do you have any 5 other lawsuits pending right now related to your
6 inheritance?

7 A. Not that I'm aware of. Sorry.

8 Q. With respect to the lawsuit that you have 9 against your sisters, have any of them filed any claims
10 against you?

11 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

12 Q. There's another allegation that you've made
13 which is that Nelva Brunsting was bullied.

14 A. Um-hmm.

15 Q. Okay. What evidence do you have that
16 Ms. Brunsting was bullied by anyone?

17 A. What's happened and -- yeah.

18 Q. Okay. You don't have any evidence that my 19 clients, Ms. Freed and her law firm, bullied Ms. Nelva
20 Brunsting, do you?

21 A. Not evidence, I don't. Sorry.

22 Q. Okay.

23 A. Not that I can get specific about.

24 Q. I'm sorry. What now?

25 A. Not that I can get specific about.

1 Q. Okay. Well, what about even generally?

2 A. Yeah, they...

3 Q. You don't have anything?

4 A. Not that I can say, no.

5 Q. And I just have to ask this: You say not that 6 you can say. What -- what do you mean by that, because 7 you're under oath to tell the truth, so you can -- I
8 mean, if you have evidence, I mean, this is my only
9 time to get it.

10 A. I think she was -- I'm sorry, handled by my 11 sisters in trying to get me out of this. I don't know
12 what to say specifically.

13 Q. Okay. So it's -- it's related to -- to what 14 you -- what you believe your sisters were trying to do,
15 correct?

16 A. Yeah, it's -- the inheritance, yeah.

17 Q. Okay.

18 A. It should have been five ways, but they tried
19 to keep me out of it.

20 Q. Okay. But you don't have anything specific 21 that you're aware of --

22 A. Not that I can say.

23 Q. -- that Miss -- let me finish the question --
24 that Ms. Freed and her law firm were involved in that,
25 correct?

1 A. Yes, they were, but I can't be specific about
2 it. Yeah.

3 Q. Okay.

4 A. That's why we're here instead of it being
5 over, anyway.

6 Q. When you said, "That's why we're here," what 7 are you referring to?

8 A. Miss -- Mom died a few years ago, and it
9 should have been over by then and split five ways --

10 Q. Okay.

11 A. -- instead of this legal problem.

12 Q. Well, let -- let me ask this: Did the other
13 lawsuit that you have going, you filed that lawsuit,
14 correct?

15 A. I don't remember.

16 Q. Okay.

17 A. Yes, I'm sure yeah.

18 Q. And then you were the one who filed this 19 lawsuit, correct?

20 A. Um-hmm, we did, yes. Uh-huh, yes.

21 Q. Meaning you and your wife, correct?

22 A. Yes, uh-huh.

23 Q. Okay. And as far as you know sitting here
24 today, your other sisters have not filed a lawsuit?

25 A. I don't know.

1 Q. According to your discovery responses and as
2 you've discussed here, there were -- and I'm reading
3 from one of your answers -- approximately almost 3,000
4 shares of Exxon stock that was transferred, correct?

5 A. As far as I'm aware, yeah.

6 Q. Okay. Do you know where there was -- where it
7 was transferred to?

8 A. Yeah. To Anita's control, but I'm not sure
9 who -- how it was handled.

10 Q. Okay. And again, you don't have any evidence
11 that my client, Ms. Freed or her law firm, participated
12 in that transfer --

13 A. No.

14 Q. -- of stock?

15 A. I don't have any evidence of that.

16 Q. Okay. And then you also mention the -- the 17 Chevron stock, correct?

18 A. Um-hmm.

19 Q. Was that also transferred to someone?

20 A. From what I understand, yes.

21 Q. Do you know who it was transferred to?

22 A. No.

23 Q. And you don't have any evidence or information
24 or facts to show that my clients, Ms. Freed and her law
25 firm, participated in the transfer of any of that

1 stock?

2 A. I don't have any -- not that I can be specific
3 about, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. And you also seem to be complaining
5 about some money that Carol spent with respect to a
6 joint account she had with your mother; is that
7 correct?

8 A. Um-hmm.

9 Q. And do you know what those expenditures were 10 for?

11 A. Expensive car and wasted -- I don't know.
12 Yeah, that's the only one I know about, yeah.

13 Q. A car?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. A car for herself?

16 A. Yes. Uh-huh, yeah.

17 Q. What kind of car?

18 A. Oh, some -- I don't know.

19 Q. Okay.

20 A. Some $40,000 car. Yeah, I don't know what she 21 has.

22 Q. Anything else that you're -- that you believe
23 Carol spent that money on?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. What?

1 A. Her horses and her cats, yeah. I mean, she's 2 got like 50 quarter horses and 100 cats that she takes 3 care of.

4 Q. Okay. And what role, if any, do you know
5 is -- or have evidence that my client played in Carol
6 spending that money?

7 A. I don't know.

8 Q. Do you know whether any of that money was 9 spent -- and according to your interrogatory responses,
10 it's about $150,000 that she spent.

11 A. Okay.

12 Q. Does that sound about right to you?

13 A. Yeah.

14 Q. Do you know how much of that money was spent 15 on your mother?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Do you know if any of that money was spent on
18 your mother?

19 A. No, I don't know specifically, no.

20 Q. You also claim that about $155,000 were paid
21 to family members or paid for family obligations. Do
22 you recall that allegation?

23 A. Not specifically.

24 Q. Okay. And so then do -- do you have any 25 recollection of where you believe that money came from,

1 any -- where that money was taken from and spent?

2 A. Out of Mom's money and spent -- I'm not sure,
3 for Amy, Anita, and Carol. But I'm not sure, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. Then also with respect to -- to your
5 damages, you complained of missing savings bonds. You
6 understand that allegation?

7 A. Um-hmm.

8 Q. I'm sorry. Is that a "yes"?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Okay. And do you know how much in savings
11 bonds is missing?

12 A. No.

13 Q. Are -- do you know that the savings bonds
14 actually existed?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. You -- you had seen them before?

17 A. Well, yes, uh-huh.

18 Q. Okay. Do you know where they were kept?

19 A. No. I would say Wells Fargo, but I don't know
20 if that's right now.

21 Q. Okay. Have you done any -- made any effort to 22 check at Wells Fargo to see if those savings bonds are 23 there?

24 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

25 Q. And then another complaint you have on -- on

1 the damages side of things is that there's $830,000 of
2 income that came into the estate that's unaccounted
3 for.

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Do you recall that allegation?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Okay. And have you still not been able to 8 determine what happened to the $830,000?

9 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

10 Q. Okay. Do you know when the $830,000 came --
11 became missing?

12 A. No. Not specifically, no.

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. Over the last two -- two years. I'm not sure.

15 Q. Okay.

16 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: There's around five
17 minutes.

18 MS. FOLEY: Five minutes?

19 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Yes, ma'am.

20 MS. FOLEY: You can go ahead and change
21 right now.

22 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record, 12:01.

23 (Break from 12:01 p.m. to 12:19 p.m.)

24 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record, 12:19,

25 Tape 3.

1 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) All right. Mr. Brunsting, do
2 you know -- have you ever seen any documents or letters
3 that Ms. Nelva Brunsting may have written or drafted
4 about any of the claims that you're making in this 5 lawsuit?

6 A. No.

7 Q. Okay. I understand that in the -- in the 8 past, I believe it was some of your sisters maybe have 9 hired private investigators to follow people, follow
10 you.

11 A. Um-hmm.

12 Q. Have you employed any private investigators?

13 A. No.

14 Q. Okay. And have you been provided any, I
15 guess, sur- -- surveillance videos or recordings that 16 any private investigator may have taken of you?

17 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

18 Q. Okay. Have you -- are -- are you aware of any 19 recordings any of your sisters may have done of -- of 20 any phone calls with you?

21 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

22 Q. And have you recorded any phone calls with 23 your sisters?

24 A. No.

25 Q. Do you know whether or not your mother

1 assisted you in -- assisted you by paying any of your
2 medical bills when you were -- when you fell ill?

3 A. No.

4 Q. Okay. Would it surprise you if she did?

5 A. Yeah.

6 Q. Why would that surprise you?

7 A. I don't -- I don't think -- I don't know.

8 Q. Okay. Let me ask you this: Do you believe
9 you have the mental capacity to serve as the executor
10 of your parents' estate?

11 A. I don't know.

12 Q. Okay.

13 A. I think we could do that together, but I don't
14 know.

15 Q. Okay. Have you ever gone to see a doctor
16 about that?

17 A. No. Not specifically, no.

18 Q. Okay. Has anyone ever challenged you on that 19 issue, meaning has anyone ever claimed that they did 20 not believe you had the capacity to serve as the 21 executor of your parents' estate?

22 A. No.

23 Q. Are you having to, I guess, perform any duties
24 related to your status as the executor of your parents'
25 estate?

1 A. Doing this and -- and just getting it all
2 resolved. I don't know what to say.

3 Q. Okay. When you say "doing this," what do you
4 mean by that?

5 A. This interview and...

6 Q. Okay. Did -- did someone, either any of 7 the -- your -- your siblings or the Court, tell you
8 that you had to file this lawsuit against Ms. Freed and 9 her law firm?

10 A. No.

11 Q. Was that solely your decision?

12 A. Our decision, yes.

13 Q. And when you say "our," you mean you and your 14 wife?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. You haven't met with any doctors who have 17 questioned you about your capacity to serve as the 18 executor of your parents' estate?

19 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

20 Q. Another claim that you've made in this lawsuit
21 is that Nelva Brunsting requested that you be 22 reinstated as the successor trustee. Do you understand
23 that claim?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Okay. How do you know that?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

100

1 A. Because I was taken out of it, and then Mom
2 wanted me to get the -- get it back again, yeah.

3 Q. How do you know she wanted you to get it back
4 again?

5 A. I don't know.

6 Q. Did she tell you that?

7 A. No, no.

8 Q. Did someone else tell you that that's what she 9 wanted?

10 A. No, not that I know of.

11 Q. Is that just kind of what you assume based 12 on...

13 A. What's happened, yeah.

14 Q. Okay. And -- and did you convey this to your 15 sisters, Anita and Amy?

16 A. No.

17 Q. You didn't tell them?

18 A. No. Of course, no.

19 Q. Why not?

20 A. They were on the other side. I wouldn't tell
21 them anything. I mean, I don't know.

22 Q. Do you recall what your -- what your final
23 prognosis was when you left the hospital?

24 A. Encephalitis, but -- yeah.

25 Q. Okay. And did they tell you how long it would

1 take you to recover?

2 A. No, no.

3 Q. Okay. Did they tell you to follow up --
4 follow up with any specialist?

5 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

6 Q. Okay. I'm going to show you some -- some 7 documents, and some of them I have copies of and some 8 of them I don't.

9 MS. BAYLESS: Okay.

10 MS. FOLEY: So we're going to mark this
11 as Exhibit No. 1.

12 This is your copy.

13 MS. BAYLESS: Okay.

14 (Exhibit No. 1 was marked.)

15 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) And Exhibit No. 1 is --

16 MS. FOLEY: Sorry. I'm reaching over
17 you.

18 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Exhibit No. 1 is the general
19 dural -- durable power of attorney of Nelva E.
20 Brunsting, and it's Bates labeled CHB6953 through 21 CHB6979, and also V&F 000174 through -200.

22 Have you ever seen this document before?

23 A. Not that I'm aware of.

24 Q. Okay.

25 A. Oh, wait a minute.

1 Q. Sure. Go ahead and take your -- take your
2 time looking at it.

3 A. Like I said, not that I'm aware of.

4 Q. Okay. If you would look at the third to the 5 last page, so it's Page No. 25 of the document, and 6 it's Bates-labeled CHB6977 --

7 A. Um-hmm.

8 Q. -- and V&F -198.

9 A. Yeah.

10 Q. All right. And do you -- do you see at the -- 11 at the bottom of that page, there's a signature line.

12 A. Um-hmm.

13 Q. And underneath, it's typed "Nelva E.
14 Brunsting."

15 A. Um-hmm.

16 Q. And then there's a signature on top of that 17 line.

18 A. Um-hmm.

19 Q. Do you believe that that's Ms. Brunsting's
20 signature?

21 A. I don't know.

22 Q. Okay. Have you -- have you talked to a
23 handwriting expert --

24 A. No.

25 Q. -- about her signatures?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

103

1 Okay. Now I'm going to hand you -- and
2 this is one I only have one copy of. This is "The 3 Re-" -- "The Restatement of the Brunsting Family
4 Trust" --

5 A. Um-hmm.

6 Q. -- "Family Living Trust." I'm sorry.

7 MS. FOLEY: Oh, do you have two? Yeah, I
8 have two.

9 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) And it's Bates-labeled CHB317
10 through CHB403. So I have two copies.

11 MS. FOLEY: So I'm going to hand you a 12 copy, so you can look at it first and then if you can 13 give it to Mr. Brunsting.

14 MS. BAYLESS: Do we want to mark it?

15 MS. FOLEY: Huh?

16 MS. BAYLESS: Do you want to mark it?

17 MS. FOLEY: Yeah, we can mark it. We can
18 mark this as Exhibit No. 2.

19 (Exhibit No. 2 was marked.)

20 MS. FOLEY: Let me make sure I have the 21 same thing. Hold on.

22 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) I'm handing you Exhibit 2, and 23 I'm going to let you take a look at that.

24 A. Um-hmm.

25 Q. And let me know if you've ever seen that

1 document before.

2 A. Yes, I think I have.

3 Q. Okay. If you will flip over to Page -- excuse
4 me.

5 It's 14-6 if you look at the bottom middle 6 number, but then the CHB number is -315. So it's 7 the -- literally the second-to-last page of the 8 document.

9 A. You said 315?

10 Q. 315, yes, sir.

11 A. I don't have that in this stack.

12 Q. I'm sorry. Not 315. These are the same
13 documents labeled differently. But it's the 14 second-to-last page of the document.

15 A. Oh, -4-0 -- 402?

16 Q. Yes, 402.

17 A. Yeah.

18 Q. And do you see the -- the signature lines
19 there?

20 A. Yeah, yeah, yeah.

21 Q. And do you see that there's a signature line
22 on that -- on that page for Nelva Brunsting?

23 A. Um-hmm.

24 Q. Can you tell me if that appears to be Nelva
25 Brunsting's signature?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

105

1 A. I think it is, yeah.

2 Q. Okay.

3 A. I -- I don't know, though. Yeah.

4 Q. Okay.

5 A. Yeah, put down I don't know, yeah.

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. You know what...

8 Q. Now I'm going to hand you what we're going to 9 mark as Exhibit No. 3.

10 (Exhibit No. 3 was marked.)

11 MS. FOLEY: I have a copy for you.

12 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) And Exhibit No. 3 for the 13 record is Bates-labeled CHB -- excuse me. CHB979
14 through CHB1015.

15 A. Um-hmm.

16 Q. Do you think you've ever seen this document
17 before?

18 A. Yes, I think I have. I don't know if it's -- 19 it's this share thing, and I remember seeing that 20 somewhere.

21 Q. Okay. If you would flip to the very last page
22 of this document --

23 A. Um-hmm.

24 Q. -- and you see that there's a signature block
25 for Nelva E. Brunsting?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

106

1 A. Um-hmm.

2 Q. And her signature appears twice on -- on this
3 page?

4 A. Um-hmm.

5 Q. Do you believe that that appears to you to be 6 Nelva Brunsting's signature?

7 A. I don't know.

8 Q. Okay. Now I'm going to hand you what we're
9 going to mark as Exhibit No. 4.

10 (Exhibit No. 4 was marked.)

11 MS. FOLEY: And I only have one copy of 12 it.

13 MS. BAYLESS: Okay.

14 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) If you could take a look --
15 look at Exhibit No. 4, and if you could, could you read
16 off the Bates-label number that's in the bottom right
17 corner, the CHB number?

18 A. CHB444.

19 Q. Thank you, sir.

20 A. Okay.

21 Q. Have you ever seen that document before?

22 A. Not that I'm aware of.

23 Q. And do you see that there's a signature line
24 for Nelva E. Brunsting on that document?

25 A. Yep.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

107

1 Q. Does that appear to you to be Ms. Brunsting's
2 signature?

3 A. No, I don't think so.

4 Q. Okay. And why don't you think that that one
5 is her signature?

6 A. Because it looks like the same as Elmer's
7 instead of it being different signatures.

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. It's like the same person wrote those -- both 10 of them in there.

11 Q. Okay.

12 A. I don't know if that's right, though.

13 Q. Anything else about it that makes you not 14 believe that it's Ms. Nelva E. Brunsting's signature?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Okay.

17 (Exhibit No. 5 was marked.)

18 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) All right. Now I'm going to 19 hand you what we're going to mark as Exhibit No. 5.
20 And for the record, this Exhibit No. 5 is Bates-labeled
21 CHB447 --

22 A. Um-hmm.

23 Q. -- through CHB452.

24 And if you could, take a look and see if 25 you've ever seen this document before.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

108

1 A. Not that I remember, no.

2 Q. Okay. If you would look on the very -- or 3 second-to-last page of this document, and that is 4 Bates-labeled CHB451 --

5 A. Um-hmm.

6 Q. -- and if you see there at the bottom of that
7 page, there is a signature line for Nelva E. Brunsting,
8 and a signature on top of that.

9 A. Um-hmm.

10 Q. Do you believe that based on what you're 11 looking at, that that looks like to you Nelva E.
12 Brunsting's signature?

13 A. I can't say. Sorry.

14 Q. Okay. Now I'm going to hand you what we're
15 going to Bates-label -- excuse me -- as Exhibit No. 6,
16 which is Bates-labeled CHB453.

17 (Exhibit No. 6 was marked.)

18 A. Um-hmm.

19 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Have you ever seen this
20 document before?

21 A. Not that I remember, no.

22 Q. Okay. And if you look down towards the bottom
23 of the --

24 A. Yeah.

25 Q. -- near the bottom of the page, there's a

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

109

1 signature line for Nelva E. Brunsting --

2 A. Yeah.

3 Q. -- and a -- a signature on top of that line.

4 Does that appear to you to be the signature of Nelva E.
5 Brunsting?

6 A. I -- I don't know.

7 Q. You don't know. Okay.

8 And now I'm going to hand you Exhibit Number
9 -- actually, I'm going to hand you what we're going to 10 mark as Exhibit No. 7, and it is Bates-labeled CHB454
11 through CHB464.

12 (Exhibit No. 7 was marked.)

13 MS. FOLEY: I only have one copy of that 14 one.

15 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) If you could take a look at 16 that document, and let me know if you've seen it
17 before.

18 A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

19 Q. Okay. If you look to the 20 second-to-the-last -- I think it's the second-to-last 21 page that has the signature line on it.

22 Do you see the signature line on that
23 document?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. And based on the -- the signature that shows

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

110

1 Nelva E. Brunsting, do you believe that that is
2 Ms. Brunsting's signature?

3 A. I don't know.

4 Q. Okay. Thank you, sir.

5 Another claim that you've made in this
6 lawsuit is that Ms. Freed and her law firm made oral
7 misrepresentations to Nelva E. Brunsting when preparing 8 documents that -- that she signed.

9 A. Um-hmm.

10 Q. Do you recall that allegation?

11 A. I remember the -- I recall the -- I -- I
12 remember, yeah, a little bit about that.

13 Q. Okay. What oral misrepresentations do you
14 believe Ms. Freed and her -- and/or her law firm made 15 to Ms. Brunsting?

16 A. I don't know.

17 Q. Are you aware of any mis- -- specific 18 misrepresentations that you believe Ms. Freed and her
19 law firm made to Nelva E. Brunsting?

20 A. Not that I can say specifically, no.

21 Q. Okay. And what about generally?

22 A. I -- I can't answer.

23 Q. Okay. Is it because you don't recall
24 anything, or you don't know of anything?

25 A. I don't know who -- which lawyer was that?

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

111

1 Q. Her name is Candace Freed.

2 A. Yeah. Candace Freed, yeah.

3 Q. And so you -- so you don't -- you're not aware
4 of any?

5 A. No, not -- not that I know of.

6 Q. Okay. Now I'm going to hand you what we're
7 going to mark as Exhibit No. 8.

8 (Exhibit No. 8 was marked.)

9 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) And Exhibit No. 8 for the 10 record is labeled CHB14489. And for whatever reason, 11 CHB14490. And if you could take a look -- you can take 12 a minute to look through --

13 A. Um-hmm.

14 Q. -- this e-mail.

15 A. (Reviewing document.)

16 What would you like to know about this?

17 Q. Okay. Have you had time to look at it?

18 A. Yeah.

19 Q. Okay. In May of -- of 2010, you had an e-mail
20 address of "cbarch-" --

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. -- "-@sbcglobal.net" --

23 A. Yeah.

24 Q. -- is that correct?

25 A. Yes.

1 Q. Okay. And do you still have that e-mail
2 address?

3 A. I don't know actually, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. Haven't e-mailed in a while?

5 A. No, not -- at all, the last few years. Sorry.

6 Q. Okay. Okay.

7 Have you ever -- do you recall this e-mail?

8 A. Yeah.

9 Q. Okay. And if you look at the e-mail that's in 10 the middle of the first page --

11 A. Yeah, uh-huh.

12 Q. And this is an e-mail from Candace Curtis,
13 correct?

14 A. Yeah.

15 Q. And is that your sister?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And in the first paragraph, the -- at the end,
18 the last sentence of the first paragraph, the last --
19 I'm sorry, the last line of the first paragraph, it
20 reads: "How is her mental state," question mark.

21 A. Yeah.

22 Q. "'Oh piffle' could mean several different
23 things." And then you respond to this e-mail, correct?

24 A. (Pauses.)

25 Q. If you look at the e-mail --

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

113

1 A. Yeah.

2 Q. -- that's directly on top of that one?

3 A. Okay, yeah.

4 Q. That's your -- that's from you, correct?

5 A. Yeah.

6 Q. And you are responding to her question -- to 7 Candace's question, correct?

8 A. Yes, uh-huh. She was wondering what was 9 happening with Mom, yeah.

10 Q. Okay. So she's talking about Ms. Brunsting,
11 correct?

12 A. Yes, uh-huh.

13 Q. And you -- you write a long paragraph here.
14 But if you go to the -- one, two, three, four -- fourth
15 line down, and the -- there's a sentence that starts
16 towards the end of the fourth line that says: "Her
17 mental state seems generally fine or normal to me, more
18 forgetful for sure...she is worn out, getting groceries
19 is a big deal for her."

20 Did I read that correctly?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Okay. So in May of 2010, you believe that 23 your mom's mental state was generally fine or normal,
24 correct?

25 A. Yeah, okay.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

114

1 Q. Okay.

2 A. Physically a problem, but yeah, uh-huh.

3 Q. Okay. And you don't recall that changing
4 prior to you getting ill, do you?

5 A. What's that?

6 Q. Her mental state.

7 A. It happened about the same time. I don't
8 know, yeah.

9 Q. Okay. Do you know -- because I -- well, I
10 think actually you've already testified that you got -- 11 you became ill in 2009; is that correct?

12 A. Um-hmm.

13 Q. Okay. So this is 2010, which is later?

14 A. Um-hmm, yeah.

15 Q. Okay. And how sure are you that you became 16 ill in 2009?

17 A. How sure am I?

18 Q. Yeah.

19 A. Oh, what happened five years ago was -- yeah.

20 Q. You think it could have been 2010?

21 A. No, I think it was -- I don't know.

22 Q. Okay. You just can't remember?

23 A. Yeah.

24 Q. Okay. But before you became ill --

25 A. Um-hmm.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

115

1 Q. -- it's your belief that your mother's mental
2 state was fine or normal, correct?

3 A. Yeah, yeah.

4 Q. Okay. And forgive me. I'm skipping over
5 stuff, because I've already asked you about it, so --
6 as not to keep you here too long.

7 Are you aware that your -- one of your
8 sisters or your sisters called the Adult Protective
9 Services on your behalf?

10 A. Called them?

11 Q. Yes.

12 A. I don't know.

13 Q. Do you recall hearing anything about that?

14 A. No, not that --

15 Q. Anybody from Adult Protective Services ever
16 contact you?

17 A. Not that I remember, no.

18 MS. FOLEY: Okay. Let's take another
19 break here.

20 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record, 12:46.

21 (Break from 12:46 p.m. to 12:58 p.m.)

22 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: On the record, 12:58.

23 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) Okay. Mr. Brunsting, I just 24 have a few more questions for you --

25 A. Um-hmm.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

116

1 Q. I'm going to hand you what we're going to mark
2 as Exhibit No. 9.

3 (Exhibit No. 9 was marked.)

4 Q. (BY MS. FOLEY) If you would take a look at 5 Exhibit No. 9...

6 A. (Reviewing document.)

7 Q. Have you seen Exhibit No. 9 before?

8 A. Not that I remember, but I should have, yes.

9 Q. Okay. If you'd flip over to the third page --

10 A. Um-hmm.

11 Q. -- of Exhibit No. 9...

12 A. Um-hmm.

13 Q. For the record, Exhibit 9 is CHB1 through -3, 14 with --

15 A. Um-hmm.

16 Q. -- Attachment CHB3-1 and CHB3-2.

17 A. Um-hmm.

18 Q. But if you go to CHB3, Page 3 of the document,
19 there is a signature line for Carl Brunsting and a 20 signature on top. Do you see that?

21 A. Um-hmm.

22 Q. Is that your signature?

23 A. Yes. Un-huh.

24 Q. Okay. And based on this agreement, it looks 25 like you paid a $30,000 advance retainer; is that

1 correct?

2 A. Um-hmm.

3 Q. And then you also agreed to an hourly rate for 4 Ms. Bayless of $350 an hour?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Okay. And -- and as you said earlier, you
7 have been paying her her fees; is that correct?

8 A. Yeah, or we have. Yeah.

9 Q. Okay. Sure.

10 A. Sorry.

11 Q. But earlier you -- you mentioned that part of 12 the income that you have been receiving here lately
13 dealt with some inheritance money --

14 A. Um-hmm.

15 Q. -- as a result of the death of -- a death in 16 your wife's family; is that correct?

17 A. Yes, uh-huh.

18 Q. How much was that inheritance?

19 A. I don't want to say.

20 Q. You said, you don't want to say?

21 A. Yeah.

22 Q. Why not?

23 A. I don't -- the number wrong, yeah.

24 Q. Oh, you don't have the number?

25 A. No, no.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

118

1 Q. Ok.

2 A. Several hundred thousand, but I don't know how 3 many.

4 Q. Okay. When -- have you talked to Carol
5 Brunsting about this lawsuit?

6 A. No.

7 Q. Have you talked to Candy about this lawsuit?

8 A. No. A little bit, yeah. No, not -- not about 9 this lawsuit, no.

10 Q. Okay. When did you talk to her?

11 A. A couple of years ago or -- I don't know when 12 that was, but we saw her when she came into town.
13 Sorry.

14 Q. Okay. Y'all talked about this lawsuit?

15 A. No, not that I remember, no.

16 Q. Are you sure about that?

17 A. Yeah, yeah.

18 Q. Back in October of 2010, Miss -- I think the 19 evidence is going to show in this case that Ms. Freed,
20 the lawyer for -- for Nelva Brunsting, sent an e-mail
21 to your sisters --

22 A. Um-hmm.

23 Q. -- regarding a meeting to discuss issues
24 concerning Ms. Brunsting's capacity.

25 A. Um-hmm.

1 Q. And I believe you testified earlier you don't
2 recall hearing anything about that.

3 A. That's right.

4 Q. Okay. During that time in October of 2010,
5 were you still suffering from encephalitis?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Okay. And so if you would have been invited
8 to participate in that phone call, would you have been 9 able to?

10 A. I don't know at that time. I don't know.
11 Yeah.

12 Q. Okay. And you said earlier -- you testified
13 earlier that it has some effect on your brain; is that
14 correct?

15 A. Yeah, yeah. The first part of it, I didn't --
16 yeah, I wouldn't have been able to be on the phone
17 with...

18 Q. Okay. And if -- if you were -- if during that 19 time period that you were suffering from encephalitis,
20 if something would have happened to Ms. Brunsting at 21 that time, do you believe that you would have had the 22 capacity to serve as her executor?

23 A. No.

24 Q. Okay.

25 A. At that time, no.

CARL H. BRUNSTING

2/3/2015

120

1 Q. Would you have been able to act as her power
2 of attorney at that time?

3 A. At that time, no.

4 Q. Okay. Would you have been able to -- would 5 you have been able to manage her finances during the 6 time that you were suffering from encephalitis?

7 A. No.

8 Q. Would you have been able to take care of the 9 finances of the trust at that time?

10 A. No, uh-uh.

11 Q. Mr. Brunsting, do you believe that you have 12 the capacity here today to testify in this deposition?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. Okay. And have you understood all my 15 questions here today?

16 A. More or -- yes, I have.

17 Q. Okay. And to the extent you didn't, did you 18 ask me to rephrase or...

19 A. I'm sorry?

20 Q. To the extent that you did not understand me, 21 did you ask me to rephrase the question and reask the
22 question?

23 A. Not that I can remember. Sorry.

24 Q. You don't remember doing that?

25 A. No.

1 Q. Okay. But did you understand all my questions
2 today?

3 A. More than -- yeah.

4 Q. Okay. All right.

5 A. More...

6 Q. What were you about to say?

7 A. More than I could have a couple of years ago
8 or getting back from my illness.

9 Q. Got you. Got you.

10 MS. FOLEY: All right. I think I'll pass
11 the witness.

12 MS. BAYLESS: We'll reserve our 13 questions.

14 MS. FOLEY: Okay.

15 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Off the record, 1:05.

DEFENDANT DARLENE PAYNE SMITH’S REPLY TO PLAINTIFFS’ RESPONSE TO DEFENDANT’S MOTION TO DISMISS FOR LACK OF SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION AND FAILURE TO STATE A CLAIM

Pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(b)(1) and (6), Defendant Darlene Payne Smith (the “Defendant” or “Smith”) files her Reply to Plaintiffs Candace Louise Curtis (“Curtis”) and Rik Wayne Munson’s (“Munson”) (collectively, the “Plaintiffs”) Response to Defendant’s Motion to Dismiss the Verified Complaint for Damages for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction and Failure to State a Claim (the “Motion”), and would respectfully show the Court the following:

I.
INTRODUCTION

On December 1, 2016, Plaintiffs filed their Response to Defendant’s Motion to Dismiss. See generally, ECF No. 38 (the “Response”). Consistent with the Complaint under review, Plaintiffs’ Response fails to provide a cogent response to any of independently dispositive bases for dismissal outlined in Defendant’s Motion. The Response instead consists of nothing more than a timeline of the Brunsting siblings’ various lawsuits, followed by a series of legal conclusions couched as fact.

For the following reasons, and those more fully-stated in Defendant’s Motion, Plaintiffs’ claims should be dismissed with prejudice.

II.
OBJECTION TO PURPORTED AMENDMENT OF COMPLAINT

Initially, Defendant objects to Plaintiffs' attempt to use the Response as a vehicle to "amend" their Complaint. Specifically, in Paragraphs 52 through 54 of the Response, Plaintiffs purport to "adopt and incorporate by reference" into the Complaint the entire record in this case. See Response at ¶¶52-54. FED. R. CIV. P. 10 permits, in some circumstances, the incorporation by reference of certain information. However, "an incorporation by reference is always accompanied by the requirement that it be done with a degree of specificity and clarity which would enable a responding party to easily determine the nature and extent of the incorporation." See, e.g., Morrison v. Office of the United States Tr. (In re Morrison), 375 B.R. 179, 193 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 2007). Where, as here, use of the incorporation by reference tool fails in this regard, the Court maintains authority to take appropriate action to regulate its use. See id.

Plaintiffs' amorphous incorporation of the "entire record before the Court," which encompasses many thousands of pages, without specifying which portions allegedly cure the numerous pleading defects highlighted by Defendants' Motion, does not comport with the purpose and function of Rule 10 and should be stricken.

III.
JURISDICTIONAL BASES FOR DISMISSAL

A. Plaintiffs' Claims are Not Ripe.

In her Motion, Defendant argued that Plaintiffs' claims must be dismissed because they are not ripe. Ripeness is a component of subject matter jurisdiction. See Lopez v. City of Houston, 617 F.3d 336, 341 (5th Cir. 2010). That is, because Plaintiffs' alleged injuries are contingent upon the occurrence of uncertain future events that may not occur as anticipated (i.e., an unfavorable outcome in a pending probate proceeding), the Court lacks jurisdiction to hear those claims. Id. at

342. Plaintiffs have responded with only a conclusory statement that the claims are “over-ripe for remedy.” see Response at ¶55. Because Plaintiffs have failed to offer any argument or support demonstrating how their claims – all of which are premised on an unfavorable future outcome in the pending Brunsting Probate Case – are ripe for adjudication, dismissal is appropriate.

B. Munson Lacks Article III Standing.

In the Response, Plaintiffs appear to argue that Munson elected to quit his job in order to focus full time on legal research and writing in connection with Curtis’ multiple pending lawsuits. See Response at ¶¶44-46. Setting aside whether Munson is engaging in the unauthorized practice of law, his decision to do so is not a concrete “injury in fact” for standing purposes because it does not alter the fact that he is not a beneficiary of any of the Brunsting Trusts and has no direct stake in the outcome of this lawsuit. Plaintiffs have offered no authority to the contrary. Munson therefore lacks standing and all of his claims should be dismissed.

C. Attorney Immunity Bars Plaintiffs’ Claims.

The Response, much like the Complaint, contains only two references to any alleged conduct by Defendant Smith^{1/} – and both Defendant-specific references pertain to core litigation conduct incident to Defendant’s execution of her professional duties to her client (Carole Ann Brunsting) in the Brunsting Probate Case. See Response at ¶¶7, 33 (alleging that Defendant, on behalf of her client, filed a counterclaim against Carl Brunsting); ¶¶36-37 (alleging that Defendant, on behalf of her client, filed an objection to Plaintiff Curtis’ request to distribute Brunsting Trust funds to pay her attorney’s fees for separate litigation against her siblings).^{2/} As outlined in ¹ As noted in the Motion, Defendant Smith had very limited involvement in one of the Brunsting series of lawsuits. She represented Plaintiff Curtis’ sister – Carole Brunsting – in the Brunsting Probate Case until she withdraw as counsel in early 2016. Defendant Smith was not involved in the remaining Brunsting lawsuits in any respect.

² The filing at issue is attached to Plaintiffs’ Response. See ECF No. 89-8.

Defendant's Motion, the circumstances where an attorney can be liable to a non-client for litigation conduct incident to the execution of her professional duties to a client are extremely limited. Under Texas Law, attorneys retain complete immunity from suit for civil liability to non-clients for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation. See Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 483 (Tex. 2015); Troice v. Proskauer Rose, L.L.P., 816 F.3d 341, 348 (5th Cir. 2016). Because that is all that has been alleged here, Defendant remains immune from Plaintiffs' claims.

IV.
SUBSTANTIVE BASES FOR DISMISSAL

Defendant additionally moved for dismissal under Rule 12(b)(6) and the Response likewise does not address any of the substantive arguments raised that motion. Instead, the Response purports to "incorporate by reference" the entire record in this suit, provides a bullet-point list of the elements of Plaintiffs' RICO claim and then conclusively states that "Plaintiffs have sufficiently pled" each of those elements. See Response at ¶¶55-56. It is well established that the Court "not accept as true conclusory allegations, unwarranted factual inferences, or legal conclusions." Ferrer v. Chevron Corp., 484 F.3d 776, 780 (5th Cir. 2007). Because the Complaint (and the Response) consist of nothing more than fantastical and conclusory assertions couched as facts, the Complaint should be dismissed.

V.
CONCLUSION

Accordingly, Defendant respectfully requests that the Court grant her Motion to Dismiss and dismiss Plaintiffs' claims with prejudice, and for such other and further relief, at law or in equity, to which Defendant may show herself to be justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

By: /s/ Barry Abrams

Having considered the arguments and the applicable law, the Court grants V&F's Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim (Doc. #19), Bayless's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #23), Young's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #25), Anita's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #30), Amy's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #35), Mendel & Featherston's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #36), Spielman's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #39), Harris County Defendants' Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #53), Ostrom's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #78), Mathews' Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #81), Lester's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #83), and Smith's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #84). As such, Plaintiffs' Motions for Consolidation are denied as moot. The Court also denies Young's Motion for Sanctions.

I. Background

Plaintiffs' Complaint appears to relate to a probate matter in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, which the Plaintiffs generically call "Curtis v. Brunsting." Specifically, Plaintiffs assert almost fifty "claims" against more than fifteen defendants—including eleven lawyers, two judges, and one court reporter. These purported "claims" consist of fantastical allegations that some or all of the Defendants are members of a secret society and "cabal" known as the "Harris County Tomb Raiders," or "The Probate Mafia." Plaintiffs' claims rest on the assertion that this purported shadow organization engages in "poser advocacy" as an "exploitation opportunity" to "hijack" "familial wealth." And, as far as the Court can tell, this "poser advocacy" allegedly occurred in the matter of "Curtis v. Brunsting."

II. Legal Standard

“Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2) requires only 'a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.’” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 1964–65 (2007). In considering a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss a complaint, courts generally must accept the factual allegations contained in the complaint as true. Kaiser Aluminum & Chem. Sales, Inc. v. Avondale Shipyards, Inc., 677 F.2d 1045, 1050 (5th Cir. 1982).

The court does not look beyond the face of the pleadings in determining whether the plaintiff has stated a claim under Rule 12(b)(6). Spivey v. Robertson, 197 F.3d 772, 774 (5th Cir. 1999). “[A] complaint attacked by a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss does not need detailed factual allegations, [but] a plaintiff’s obligation to provide the ‘grounds’ of his ‘entitle[ment] to relief’ requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.” Twombly, 127 S. Ct. at 1964–65 (citing Sanjuan v. Am. Bd. of Psychiatry & Neurology, Inc., 40 F.3d 247, 251 (7th Cir. 1994)) (citations omitted). And, “[f]actual allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level.” Twombly, 127 S. Ct. at 1965. The supporting facts must be plausible—enough to raise a reasonable expectation that discovery will reveal further supporting evidence. Id. at 1959.

“A document filed pro se is ‘to be liberally construed,’ . . . and ‘a pro se complaint, however inartfully pleaded, must be held to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers.’” See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007). Nevertheless, the requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleadings to allege facts that set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 901 F.2d 387, 390-91 (4th Cir. 1990).

III. Analysis

A. Failure to State a Claim

Plaintiffs' Complaint, even when liberally construed, completely fails to plead anything close to a plausible claim for relief against any of the alleged Defendants. In fact, Plaintiffs' allegations cannot be characterized as anything more than fanciful, fantastic, and delusional. Plaintiffs' allegations consist entirely of outlandish and conclusory factual assertions accompanied by a formulaic recitation of the elements of numerous causes of action unsupported by the alleged facts. Further, most of Plaintiffs alleged "claims" are either based on statutes that do not create a private cause of action, or simply do not exist under Texas or Federal law.

In regards to Plaintiffs' alleged RICO claim, Plaintiffs fail to plead any facts establishing they have standing under § 1964(c) to assert civil RICO claims against any of the Defendants because Plaintiffs fail to plead facts showing a recognizable injury to their business or property caused by the alleged RICO violations. See 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c) ("[a]ny person injured in his business or property by reason of a violation of [RICO] may sue"); Allstate Inc. Co. V. Plambeck, 802 F.3d 665, 676 (5th Cir. 2015) (citing Bridge v. Phoenix Bond & Indemn. Co., 553 U.S. 639, 654 (2008)) (stating that to plead standing a plaintiff "must show that the [RICO] violation was a but-for and proximate cause of the injury"). Plaintiffs have also failed to plead any facts establishing a plausible claim that any of the Defendants engaged in a "racketeering activity" sufficient to trigger the RICO statute. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' RICO claim fails as a matter of law.

As Plaintiffs' Complaint is completely devoid of any well-pleaded facts establishing a single plausible claim for relief against any of the named Defendants, the Court grants V&F's, Bayless's, Young's, Anita's, Amy's, Mendel & Featherston's, Spielman's, Ostrom's, Mathews', Lester's, and Smith's Motions to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim.

B. Immunity

i. Attorney Immunity

Under Texas law, “attorneys are immune from civil liability to non-clients ‘for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.’” Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) (quoting Alpert v. Crain, Caton & James, P.C., 178 S.W.3d 398, 405 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2005, pet. denied)). Plaintiffs’ allegations against Defendants Young, Smith, Bayless, Spielman, Mendel & Featherston, and Mathews’ (“Attorney Immunity Defendants”), at best, assert wrongdoing based solely on actions taken during the representation of a client in litigation. Such claims are clearly barred by attorney immunity. Accordingly, all of the Attorney Immunity Defendants’ Motions to Dismiss are also granted on this ground.

ii. Judicial Immunity

Judicial Immunity entitles judges to absolute immunity from suit for acts undertaken in their judicial capacity, even if they are done maliciously or corruptly. Price v. Porter, 351 F. Spp’x 925, 927 (5th Cir. 2009) (citing Mireles v. Waco, 502 U.S. 9, 10 (1991)). The sole exception is when a plaintiff alleges that a judge acted without jurisdiction or in a nonjudicial role. Id. Here, the allegations against Judges Butts and Comstock concern only actions taken in their judicial capacity. Accordingly, Judicial Immunity completely forecloses Plaintiffs’ claims against Judge Butts and Judge Comstock.¹

¹ In regards to Tony Baiamonte, a contract court reporter that was hired to steno-graphically record a single hearing in a probate proceeding, there are simply no factual allegations made against him within the complaint. Accordingly, it is difficult to determine whether immunity applies. Regardless, without any factual assertions as to Mr. Baiamonte, the Plaintiffs fail to

C. Frivolous Complaint

As laid out above, Plaintiffs' allegations are frivolous because Plaintiffs have completely failed to allege any facts supporting the delusional scenario articulated in their Complaint, much less facts giving rise to a plausible claim for relief.

“District Courts have the inherent authority to dismiss a pro se litigant's frivolous or malicious complaint sua sponte even when the plaintiff has paid the required filing fee.” Fitzgerald v. First East Seventh Street Tenants, 221 F.3d 362, 363–64 (2d Cir. 2000); Pillay v. INS, 45 F.3d 14, 16–17 (2d Cir. 1995); Holman v. Wooten, No. 4:09–1634–CWH, 2010 WL 691263, at *2 (D.S.C. Feb.24, 2010); Larrimore v. Bank of New York Mellon, No. 4:09–1647–TLW–TER, 2009 WL 4920776, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 11, 2009); McCracken v. Natale, No. 04 Civ. 5456, 2008 WL 5274317 (E.D.N.Y. Dec.17, 2008). The Supreme Court, while never having directly ruled on the matter, has also stated (albeit in dicta) that federal courts have the inherent power to dismiss frivolous lawsuits. See Mallard v. United States District Court for the Southern District of Iowa, 490 U.S. 296, 307–308, 109 S.Ct. 1814, 104 L.Ed.2d 318 (1989) (“Statutory provisions may simply codify existing rights or powers. Section 1915(d), for example, authorizes courts to dismiss a ‘frivolous or malicious’ action, but there is little doubt they would have power to do so even in the absence of this statutory provision.”).

As Plaintiffs' allegations are undeniably legally insufficient to create a plausible claim, they are clearly frivolous (and borderline malicious). Along with Plaintiffs' absolute failure to plead a plausible claim for relief, most of the defendants are also entitled to attorney, judicial, or qualified immunity. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claims are also dismissed via this Court's inherent ability to dismiss frivolous complaints.

state a plausible claim against him. Accordingly, Harris County Defendants' Motion to Dismiss is also granted on that ground.

D. Sanctions

Plaintiffs' passionate pleas to this Court during the December 15, 2016 Motion Hearing suggest that Ms. Curtis and Mr. Munson do not understand the legal shortcomings of their Complaint. The Court will therefore give Plaintiffs, as pro se litigants, the benefit of the doubt, and credit their filing of this lawsuit to their misunderstanding of applicable legal rules. Accordingly, the Court denies Young's Motion for Sanctions. That being said, Plaintiffs should now realize that all claims brought in this litigation—or any new claims relating to the subject matter of Plaintiffs' Complaint—lack merit, and cannot be brought to this, or any other court, without a clear understanding that Plaintiffs are bringing a frivolous claim. Accordingly, the Court cautions Plaintiffs from additional meritless filings.

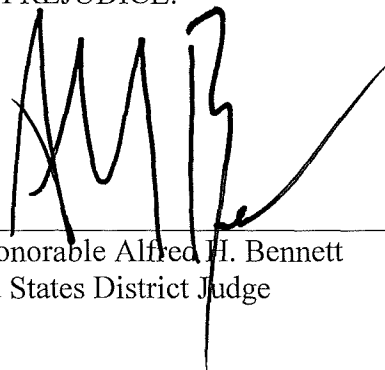

IV. Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, Defendants' Motions to Dismiss are GRANTED, Young's Motion for Sanctions is DENIED, Plaintiffs' Motions for Consolidation are DENIED as moot, and all of Plaintiffs' claims are DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

It is so ORDERED.

Notice of Appeal – #92

If the appellant fails to comply with the following requirements, then the Clerk of Court will submit a certificate of noncompliance to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

FILING FEE:

A filing fee is required to proceed on appeal. If the filing fee has not already been paid, then it must be paid or a motion to proceed in forma pauperis must be filed, unless appellant is an United States government agency.

TRANSCRIPTS:

If hearings were held in this case and the transcripts were not already produced, then transcripts must be ordered. Pursuant to FRAP 10(b)(1), a transcript order form must be filed within 14 days of the filing of the notice of appeal. Under Fifth Circuit Rule 10, the appellant's order of the transcript must be made on a DKT-13 Transcript Order form. The DKT-13 must be filed regardless of whether there were hearings or transcripts needed. A link to the DKT-13 form and instructions for ordering transcripts are available on the court's website at www.txs.uscourts.gov/page/OrderingTranscripts.

If there were no hearings or no transcripts are needed, file the DKT-13 form with the appropriate box marked to indicate so. For cases where transcripts are needed, prepare a separate DKT-13 for each reporter from whom you are ordering transcripts. All transcripts for electronically recorded proceedings may be ordered on one form. Each form should indicate the exact dates of the proceedings to be transcribed by that reporter.

This case had hearings. Reporter(s): H. Alcaraz, K. Metzger.

EXHIBITS:

The Fifth Circuit requires exhibits admitted into evidence be included in the electronic record for transmission to the Fifth Circuit. Exhibits in the custody of the court will be electronically filed by court staff. Exhibits previously returned to the parties must be immediately electronically filed in this case by the attorney, using event Exhibits in the Trial Documents category in ECF.

Date: May 30, 2017.

Bayless’s (“Bayless”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #23), Defendant Jill Willard Young’s (“Young”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #25), Defendant Anita Brunsting’s (“Anita”) Motion to Dismiss for Plaintiffs’ Failure to State a Claim (Doc. #30), Defendant Amy Brunsting’s (“Amy”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #35), Defendants Stephen A. Mendel and Bradley E. Featherston’s (collectively, “Mendel & Featherston”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #36), Defendant Neal Spielman’s (“Spielman”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #39), Spielman’s Motion to Dismiss Based on Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction (Doc. #40), Defendants Judge Christine Riddle Butts, Judge Clarinda Comstock, and Tony Baiamonte’s (collectively, “Harris County Defendants”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #53), Defendant Jason Ostrom’s (“Ostrom”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #78), Defendant Bernard Lilse Mathews, III’s (“Mathews”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #81), Defendants Gregory Lester’s (“Lester”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #83), Defendant Darlene Payne Smith’s (“Smith”) Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #84), Plaintiffs’ Responses to said Motions (Docs. ##33, 34, 41, 45, 57, 62, 69, 85, 86, 87, 89), and various Defendants’ Replies to Plaintiffs’ Responses (Docs. #55, 63, 90).

Also before the Court are Young's Motion for Sanctions (Doc. #72), Plaintiffs' Motion for Consolidation (Doc. #43), Plaintiffs' Second Motion for Consolidation (Doc. #61), Young's Response in Opposition to Plaintiffs' Motions for Consolidation (Doc. #70), and Harris County Defendants' Response to Plaintiffs' Motions for Consolidation (Doc. #79).

Having considered the arguments and the applicable law, the Court grants V&F's Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim (Doc. #19), Bayless's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #23), Young's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #25), Anita's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #30), Amy's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #35), Mendel & Featherston's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #36), Spielman's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #39), Harris County Defendants' Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #53), Ostrom's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #78), Mathews' Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #81), Lester's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #83), and Smith's Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #84). As such, Plaintiffs' Motions for Consolidation are denied as moot. The Court also denies Young's Motion for Sanctions.

I. Background

Plaintiffs' Complaint appears to relate to a probate matter in Harris County Probate Court No. 4, which the Plaintiffs generically call "Curtis v. Brunsting." Specifically, Plaintiffs assert almost fifty "claims" against more than fifteen defendants—including eleven lawyers, two judges, and one court reporter. These purported "claims" consist of fantastical allegations that some or all of the Defendants are members of a secret society and "cabal" known as the "Harris County Tomb Raiders," or "The Probate Mafia." Plaintiffs' claims rest on the assertion that this purported shadow organization engages in "poser advocacy" as an "exploitation opportunity" to "hijack" "familial wealth." And, as far as the Court can tell, this "poser advocacy" allegedly occurred in the matter of "Curtis v. Brunsting."

II. Legal Standard

“Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2) requires only 'a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.’” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 1964–65 (2007). In considering a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss a complaint, courts generally must accept the factual allegations contained in the complaint as true. Kaiser Aluminum & Chem. Sales, Inc. v. Avondale Shipyards, Inc., 677 F.2d 1045, 1050 (5th Cir. 1982).

The court does not look beyond the face of the pleadings in determining whether the plaintiff has stated a claim under Rule 12(b)(6). Spivey v. Robertson, 197 F.3d 772, 774 (5th Cir. 1999). “[A] complaint attacked by a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss does not need detailed factual allegations, [but] a plaintiff’s obligation to provide the ‘grounds’ of his ‘entitle[ment] to relief’ requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do.” Twombly, 127 S. Ct. at 1964–65 (citing Sanjuan v. Am. Bd. of Psychiatry & Neurology, Inc., 40 F.3d 247, 251 (7th Cir. 1994)) (citations omitted). And, “[f]actual allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level.” Twombly, 127 S. Ct. at 1965. The supporting facts must be plausible—enough to raise a reasonable expectation that discovery will reveal further supporting evidence. Id. at 1959.

“A document filed pro se is ‘to be liberally construed,’ . . . and ‘a pro se complaint, however inartfully pleaded, must be held to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers.’” See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007). Nevertheless, the requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleadings to allege facts that set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 901 F.2d 387, 390-91 (4th Cir. 1990).

III. Analysis

A. Failure to State a Claim

Plaintiffs' Complaint, even when liberally construed, completely fails to plead anything close to a plausible claim for relief against any of the alleged Defendants. In fact, Plaintiffs' allegations cannot be characterized as anything more than fanciful, fantastic, and delusional. Plaintiffs' allegations consist entirely of outlandish and conclusory factual assertions accompanied by a formulaic recitation of the elements of numerous causes of action unsupported by the alleged facts. Further, most of Plaintiffs alleged "claims" are either based on statutes that do not create a private cause of action, or simply do not exist under Texas or Federal law.

In regards to Plaintiffs' alleged RICO claim, Plaintiffs fail to plead any facts establishing they have standing under § 1964(c) to assert civil RICO claims against any of the Defendants because Plaintiffs fail to plead facts showing a recognizable injury to their business or property caused by the alleged RICO violations. See 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c) ("[a]ny person injured in his business or property by reason of a violation of [RICO] may sue"); Allstate Inc. Co. V. Plambeck, 802 F.3d 665, 676 (5th Cir. 2015) (citing Bridge v. Phoenix Bond & Indemn. Co., 553 U.S. 639, 654 (2008)) (stating that to plead standing a plaintiff "must show that the [RICO] violation was a but-for and proximate cause of the injury"). Plaintiffs have also failed to plead any facts establishing a plausible claim that any of the Defendants engaged in a "racketeering activity" sufficient to trigger the RICO statute. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' RICO claim fails as a matter of law.

As Plaintiffs' Complaint is completely devoid of any well-pleaded facts establishing a single plausible claim for relief against any of the named Defendants, the Court grants V&F's, Bayless's, Young's, Anita's, Amy's, Mendel & Featherston's, Spielman's, Ostrom's, Mathews', Lester's, and Smith's Motions to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim.

B. Immunity

i. Attorney Immunity

Under Texas law, “attorneys are immune from civil liability to non-clients ‘for actions taken in connection with representing a client in litigation.’” Cantey Hanger, LLP v. Byrd, 467 S.W.3d 477, 481 (Tex. 2015) (quoting Alpert v. Crain, Caton & James, P.C., 178 S.W.3d 398, 405 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2005, pet. denied)). Plaintiffs’ allegations against Defendants Young, Smith, Bayless, Spielman, Mendel & Featherston, and Mathews’ (“Attorney Immunity Defendants”), at best, assert wrongdoing based solely on actions taken during the representation of a client in litigation. Such claims are clearly barred by attorney immunity. Accordingly, all of the Attorney Immunity Defendants’ Motions to Dismiss are also granted on this ground.

ii. Judicial Immunity

Judicial Immunity entitles judges to absolute immunity from suit for acts undertaken in their judicial capacity, even if they are done maliciously or corruptly. Price v. Porter, 351 F. Spp’x 925, 927 (5th Cir. 2009) (citing Mireles v. Waco, 502 U.S. 9, 10 (1991)). The sole exception is when a plaintiff alleges that a judge acted without jurisdiction or in a nonjudicial role. Id. Here, the allegations against Judges Butts and Comstock concern only actions taken in their judicial capacity. Accordingly, Judicial Immunity completely forecloses Plaintiffs’ claims against Judge Butts and Judge Comstock.¹

¹ In regards to Tony Baiamonte, a contract court reporter that was hired to steno-graphically record a single hearing in a probate proceeding, there are simply no factual allegations made against him within the complaint. Accordingly, it is difficult to determine whether immunity applies. Regardless, without any factual assertions as to Mr. Baiamonte, the Plaintiffs fail to

C. Frivolous Complaint

As laid out above, Plaintiffs' allegations are frivolous because Plaintiffs have completely failed to allege any facts supporting the delusional scenario articulated in their Complaint, much less facts giving rise to a plausible claim for relief.

“District Courts have the inherent authority to dismiss a pro se litigant's frivolous or malicious complaint sua sponte even when the plaintiff has paid the required filing fee.” Fitzgerald v. First East Seventh Street Tenants, 221 F.3d 362, 363–64 (2d Cir. 2000); Pillay v. INS, 45 F.3d 14, 16–17 (2d Cir. 1995); Holman v. Wooten, No. 4:09–1634–CWH, 2010 WL 691263, at *2 (D.S.C. Feb.24, 2010); Larrimore v. Bank of New York Mellon, No. 4:09–1647–TLW–TER, 2009 WL 4920776, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 11, 2009); McCracken v. Natale, No. 04 Civ. 5456, 2008 WL 5274317 (E.D.N.Y. Dec.17, 2008). The Supreme Court, while never having directly ruled on the matter, has also stated (albeit in dicta) that federal courts have the inherent power to dismiss frivolous lawsuits. See Mallard v. United States District Court for the Southern District of Iowa, 490 U.S. 296, 307–308, 109 S.Ct. 1814, 104 L.Ed.2d 318 (1989) (“Statutory provisions may simply codify existing rights or powers. Section 1915(d), for example, authorizes courts to dismiss a ‘frivolous or malicious’ action, but there is little doubt they would have power to do so even in the absence of this statutory provision.”).

As Plaintiffs' allegations are undeniably legally insufficient to create a plausible claim, they are clearly frivolous (and borderline malicious). Along with Plaintiffs' absolute failure to plead a plausible claim for relief, most of the defendants are also entitled to attorney, judicial, or qualified immunity. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claims are also dismissed via this Court's inherent ability to dismiss frivolous complaints.

state a plausible claim against him. Accordingly, Harris County Defendants' Motion to Dismiss is also granted on that ground.

D. Sanctions

Plaintiffs' passionate pleas to this Court during the December 15, 2016 Motion Hearing suggest that Ms. Curtis and Mr. Munson do not understand the legal shortcomings of their Complaint. The Court will therefore give Plaintiffs, as pro se litigants, the benefit of the doubt, and credit their filing of this lawsuit to their misunderstanding of applicable legal rules. Accordingly, the Court denies Young's Motion for Sanctions. That being said, Plaintiffs should now realize that all claims brought in this litigation—or any new claims relating to the subject matter of Plaintiffs' Complaint—lack merit, and cannot be brought to this, or any other court, without a clear understanding that Plaintiffs are bringing a frivolous claim. Accordingly, the Court cautions Plaintiffs from additional meritless filings.

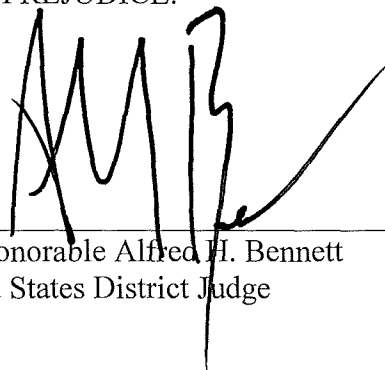

IV. Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, Defendants' Motions to Dismiss are GRANTED, Young's Motion for Sanctions is DENIED, Plaintiffs' Motions for Consolidation are DENIED as moot, and all of Plaintiffs' claims are DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

It is so ORDERED.

08:50:02 1 (Call to Order of the Court.)

08:59:34 2 THE COURT: Good morning. Thank you. Please have a
3 seat.

09:00:53 4 Cause number 16-CV-1969, Candace Curtis versus --
5 et al., versus Candace Freed, et al. Come on up.

09:01:09 6 You can stay there. I can hear your -- there's a
7 microphone there for you.

09:01:15 8 All right. Counsel, please announce your appearances
9 for the record.

09:01:21 10 MR. HARRELL: Bob Harrell representing Jill Young.

09:01:23 11 MS. HEDGE: Good morning, Your Honor. Laura Beckman
12 Hedge. I represent the Honorable Judge Christine Riddle Butts, 13 Judge Clarinda Comstock and Toni Biamonte.

09:01:36 14 MS. FOLEY: Your Honor, Zandra Foley and Cory Reed.
15 We represent Candace Kunz-Freed, Al Vacek and Vacek & Freed.

09:01:41 16 THE COURT: Who's Mr. Reed?

09:01:42 17 MR. REED: Your Honor, right here.

09:01:44 18 THE COURT: Very well.

09:01:44 19 MS. BAYLESS: Bobbie Bayless, Your Honor. I'm here on 20 behalf of myself.

09:01:48 21 MR. REID: Your Honor, Eron Reid for Neal Spielman.

09:01:51 22 MR. GREENE: Adraon Greene, Your Honor, for Stephen
23 Mendel and Bradley Featherston.

09:01:57 24 MR. MUNSON: I'm Rik Munson, pro se plaintiff.

09:01:59 25 MS. CURTIS: Candace Curtis, pro se plaintiff.

09:02:03 1 THE COURT: Very well.

09:02:07 2 Anyone else?

09:02:11 3 (No response.)

09:02:19 4 THE COURT: Are you here on a case I just called?

5 Make your --

09:02:22 6 MR. OSTROM: I am, Your Honor.

09:02:23 7 THE COURT: Make your appearance for the record.

09:02:23 8 MR. OSTROM: Jason Ostrom representing Jason Ostrom, 9 pro se.

09:02:26 10 THE COURT: Very well.

09:02:31 11 This is your initial conference. Give me the status
12 of the case in 90 seconds from your version.

09:02:41 13 MR. MUNSON: Well, we filed a RICO complaint alleging 14 a number of predicate acts and aiding and abetting, and we are 15 here today for a status conference. We did not -- somehow 16 didn't manage to get together on the Rule 26(f). It wasn't for 17 lack of some of us trying.

09:02:56 18 So we're here for status for -- for docket control
19 order, and there are pending motions, motions to dismiss,
20 motions to strike, motions for consolidation.

09:03:06 21 THE COURT: On the motions to dismiss, have you
22 responded to each and every one?

09:03:10 23 MR. MUNSON: Yes, I have. All the ones that have been 24 filed, I have responded to.

09:03:13 25 THE COURT: Okay. So they're ripe.

09:03:15 1 Ma'am, anything from you?

09:03:18 2 MS. CURTIS: No.

09:03:18 3 THE COURT: Very well.

09:03:19 4 Mr. Harrell, let's start with you.

09:03:22 5 MR. HARRELL: Judge, so yes, we have filed motions to 6 dismiss. I think all of us feel very strongly that this case
7 should be dismissed. We've also filed a motion for stay, and we 8 would ask the Court to stay the expenditure of more money on 9 this case until we know we have a real case here. And in our 10 motions to dismiss, we've shown that there's jurisdictional 11 issues under RICO and also that this case is just -- it is 12 clearly a frivolous case.

09:03:56 13 I won't re-argue our motions here, but I think all of 14 us feel very strongly that this is not the typical motion to 15 dismiss that everybody just files. We feel very seriously that 16 these are motions to dismiss that should be granted to put an 17 end to this.

09:04:13 18 THE COURT: I believe I was told that there are 19 approximately 12, 11 motions to dismiss. How many?

09:04:23 20 MR. HARRELL: Yes, Your Honor.

09:04:24 21 THE COURT: Are they ripe, ready to go from --

09:04:27 22 MR. HARRELL: I believe so.

09:04:28 23 THE COURT: All right. Ms. Hedge, anything from you?

09:04:31 24 MS. HEDGE: I don't have anything to add, Your Honor.

09:04:33 25 THE COURT: All right. Anyone else?

09:04:34 1 (No response.)

09:04:35 2 THE COURT: All right. Oh, you said a motion to stay.
3 Why is it necessary at this point to enter a motion to stay?

09:04:47 4 MR. HARRELL: Judge, we think it's -- we think that is 5 the best way to do things because we feel confident that the 6 Court will dismiss this case.

09:04:59 7 THE COURT: Well, what currently is happening that 8 you're seeking a stay from? Is there ongoing discovery that 9 you're seeking a stay from?

09:05:06 10 MR. HARRELL: There's no ongoing discovery. We would 11 just ask that discovery not start, and so -- I guess that's 12 really what we're asking is before we get into discovery, let's 13 determine whether this Court has jurisdiction and whether this 14 case should survive the motions to dismiss.

09:05:27 15 THE COURT: So there is nothing that you're -- you
16 just want a stay in general. There's nothing that you're 17 currently specifically seeking a stay from, such as discovery or 18 anything like that?

09:05:37 19 MR. HARRELL: That's correct, Your Honor.

09:05:38 20 THE COURT: Very well.

09:05:45 21 Well, if the motions to dismiss are ripe, it seems 22 that the most logical thing to do, before we get too far down
23 the road in this case, is to get those sorted out.

09:06:02 24 MR. MUNSON: I agree.

09:06:02 25 THE COURT: And so I'm not prepared to hear all these

1 motions to dismiss this morning and a response, so I think it
2 probably would be appropriate to set a date to do so, and then
3 have everyone come back when I can devote a significant amount
4 of time to hearing everyone out and, obviously, hearing your 5 response.

09:06:26 6 Other than that, is there anything else that we think
7 that we need to take care of today, sir?

09:06:32 8 MR. MUNSON: We need a docket control order, but they 9 don't want to have one, apparently.

09:06:37 10 THE COURT: Well, I tell you what. Why don't we do it
11 this way: Why don't we set a date certain for the motions to 12 dismiss --

09:06:45 13 MR. MUNSON: Okay.

09:06:45 14 THE COURT: -- and in the event that the motions to 15 dismiss are denied, then we can have a docket control order
16 entered at the conclusion of that hearing.

09:06:59 17 MR. MUNSON: That's fine.

09:07:00 18 THE COURT: All right.

09:07:01 19 MR. MUNSON: I think that's fine.

09:07:01 20 THE COURT: All right. How soon can we get back? Can 21 we do this sometime next month?

09:07:09 22 MR. HARRELL: Yes, Your Honor. The way we look at it,
23 the sooner the better, Judge.

09:07:13 24 MR. MUNSON: We just need time to get a rate on 25 transportation. We just need time to get a rate on

1 transportation. If we book too short, it costs a lot of money
2 more.

09:07:21 3 THE COURT: Yeah. That was my next question. Where 4 are you coming in from?

09:07:25 5 MR. MUNSON: The Bay Area, California.

09:07:27 6 THE COURT: Okay. All right. What -- what type of 7 time lead do you need?

09:07:36 8 MS. CURTIS: Three weeks, 21 days -- 21 days.

09:07:39 9 THE COURT: So 30 days out would be good?

09:07:41 10 MR. MUNSON: That's fine.

09:07:41 11 THE COURT: All right. Let's find -- yes, sir?

09:07:46 12 MR. MUNSON: There's also motions to dismiss due 13 November 7th or answers. One of the other. So I don't know if 14 that's a consideration or not.

09:07:53 15 THE COURT: Well, yeah, because I want to try to get
16 it all in one swoop.

09:07:56 17 MR. MUNSON: Okay. So they should probably answer
18 those first.

09:07:58 19 Well, they're due to answer or move to dismiss by the 20 7th.

09:08:02 21 THE COURT: Hold on. I'm -- they filed a motion to 22 dismiss. Is there a response due November the 7th?

09:08:08 23 MS. CURTIS: No, there is a motion -- there is a
24 motion to dismiss or an answer due on the 7th.

09:08:12 25 THE COURT: Oh, I see. Someone hadn't answered as of 1 yet?

09:08:15 2 MR. MUNSON: That's correct.

09:08:16 3 THE COURT: I would assume they didn't make their
4 appearance this morning. Is that correct?

09:08:20 5 MS. CURTIS: I believe that's right, Your Honor. They 6 have not made their appearances.

09:08:26 7 THE COURT: But they have been properly served?

09:08:32 8 MR. MUNSON: Yes. They asked for --

09:08:33 9 THE COURT: An extension?

09:08:34 10 MR. MUNSON: Yes, and we didn't oppose it.

09:08:38 11 THE COURT: All right. Well, I really don't want to 12 hold up everybody for that because if they answer and then file
13 a motion to dismiss, we might be looking at, you know, early
14 next year, and I -- let's --

09:08:52 15 MR. MUNSON: Let's do it first.

09:08:53 16 THE COURT: -- let's do this. And -- all right. Look
17 at your calendars. December the 9th, 10:00 a.m.

09:09:11 18 MR. MUNSON: This room?

09:09:11 19 THE COURT: Yes, sir, this courtroom.

09:09:13 20 MR. MUNSON: Thank you.

09:09:13 21 THE COURT: December the 9th, 10:00 a.m. Does it work
22 for everybody?

09:09:22 23 (No response.)

09:09:22 24 THE COURT: All right. Hearing no objection, December
25 the 9th, 10:00 a.m., will be the oral hearings on all pending

1 motions to dismiss with responses filed. And, obviously, if you
2 have not filed a reply to the response, you have plenty of time
3 to get that done.

09:09:44 4 And given that you've already filed your response, I
5 will assume that there are no discovery issues, especially if 6 we're talking jurisdictional issues and things of that nature.

09:09:53 7 Sir, ma'am, anything else?

09:09:55 8 (No response.)

09:09:58 9 THE COURT: Are you an attorney?

09:09:59 10 MR. MUNSON: No, sir.

09:10:00 11 THE COURT: Are you an attorney?

09:10:01 12 MS. CURTIS: No, sir.

09:10:06 13 THE COURT: I don't want to call it a word of -- well,
14 it's a word of caution. You have the right to represent 15 yourself, and as you look across the room, you see a table full 16 of attorneys. While you have the right to represent yourself,
17 and there is some leniency in regards to making sure you adhere 18 to the rules of procedure and evidence, you are obligated to 19 educate yourselves on the proper procedure and rules for not 20 only pleadings, but argument in this case.

09:10:45 21 I have, on my website, some do's and dont's, so please
22 go take a look at that. If for any reason you have any 23 questions, call Ms. Edwards, who is my case manager, ahead of 24 time, and we will be happy to provide you any information that 25 you need such that you can come in and effectively participate

1 in the proceedings as pro se plaintiffs. Understood?

09:11:12 2 MR. MUNSON: I understand that. Thank you very much.

09:11:13 3 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

09:11:13 4 Ma'am, anything else --

09:11:15 5 MS. CURTIS: I understand.

09:11:15 6 THE COURT: -- from you?

09:11:16 7 MS. CURTIS: No.

09:11:16 8 THE COURT: Very well.

09:11:17 9 Counsel, anything else?

09:11:19 10 ALL DEFENSE COUNSEL: No, Your Honor.

09:11:21 11 THE COURT: Have a good weekend. You're excused.

09:12:04 12 Ms. Hedge, you'll have to just take one of the 13 attorney ready rooms and keep it for yourself.

09:12:09 14 MS. HEDGE: I know, Your Honor. Bring a pillow and a 15 blanket.

09:12:12 16 THE COURT: That's right.

09:12:12 17 (Proceedings concluded at 9:12 a.m.)

18 -o0o-

19 I certify that the foregoing is a correct transcript

2 MR. ABRAMS: Barry Abrams. Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Did I miss anyone's motion to
4 dismiss?

5 MS. FOLEY: Your Honor, Zandra Foley. We also had a
6 motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction that 7 was filed separately from the motion to dismiss for failure to 8 state a claim.

9 THE COURT: Very well.

10 Anyone else on this side, did I miss your motion
11 that was under consideration for today?

12 MS. BECKMAN HEDGE: Laura Beckman Hedge, Your Honor.
13 The defendants, Judge Butts, Judge Comstock, and Toni Biamonte
14 joined in the motion that you mentioned earlier that Jill
15 Willard Young filed, striking -- motion to strike plaintiffs'
16 addendum of memorandum in support of RICO complaint.

17 THE COURT: Very well.

18 MS. BECKMAN HEDGE: Thank you.

19 THE COURT: Well, to be most efficient, we have a lot
20 of 12(b)(6) motions, which I assume making similar arguments.
21 There may be individual facts for each defendant. So, why
22 don't we pick someone to present a motion, perhaps the first
23 one that was filed, and then we can move from that and you can 24 tell me if there are specifics, but you do not need to reurge
25 the essence of the legal arguments in the first motion. That

1 way we can save a little time.

2 Mr. Harrell, I see you rising to your feet.

3 MR. HARRELL: Yes, Your Honor. If it please the 4 Court, we're prepared to give an overview of the motions and
5 the law. And if it please the Court, our lawyer, Rafe
6 Schaefer, would like to make that presentation.

7 THE COURT: All in accord with that? Any objections
8 from any of the defendants? Very well.

9 MR. SCHAEFER: Thank you, Your Honor. My name is Rafe
10 Schaefer with Norton Rose Fulbright, along with Bob Harrell.
11 We represent Defendant Jill Willard Young, who is in the 12 courtroom here today, who is an attorney with the law firm of 13 MacIntyre, McCulloch, Stanfield and Young here in Houston. She 14 practices probate law.

15 Plaintiffs in this matter have sued, as you can 16 see, more than 15 defendants who are lawyers, judges, other
17 legal professionals, like court reporters, and other 18 participants in a probate matter who practice in Harris County
19 Probate Court No. 4.

20 Plaintiffs' claims in their complaint consist of 21 an allegation that the defendants collectively are members of a
22 secret society and what plaintiffs call a cabal that they call 23 Harris County Tomb Raiders Association. They also call it the 24 Harris County Probate Mafia.

25 Plaintiffs' allegation comes down to a RICO

1 claim, and plaintiffs allege that the folks in this courtroom
2 are members of a shadow organization that engage in poser
3 advocacy. And plaintiffs appear to say that poser advocacy is 4 the fake practice of law by the attorneys and lawyers -- or the 5 attorneys and judges and court reporters in this room that's 6 designed to, in plaintiffs' words, highjack familiar wealth
7 from decedent's estates in the probate system.

8 Effectively, Your Honor, the best I can tell,
9 plaintiffs allege that the folks in this room are in this 10 probate mafia and they engage in the fake practice of law in 11 Probate Court No. 4 to generate attorneys' fees, which 12 plaintiffs say defund the estates in the probate court. And 13 that's plaintiffs' theory of the case and theory of how they're 14 entitled to damages.

15 Against Ms. Young, plaintiffs purport to allege 16 ten causes of action. They allege a RICO cause of action;
17 three claims for honest services fraud; a claim for wire fraud;
18 a claim for fraud under 18 U.S.C. Section 1001; a Hobbs Act
19 claim; and three conspiracy claims.

20 Now, those claims all fail for three very simple
21 reasons. The first reason they fail is a reason that applies
22 to everyone in this room; and that is, that plaintiffs have 23 simply failed to state a claim on which relief can be granted
24 under Twombly and Iqbal and the plausibility standard of Rule
25 12, but also just that plaintiffs' complaint itself is

1 delusional and fanciful and this Court should use its inherent
2 powers to dismiss that complaint.

3 The second basis and the second reason
4 plaintiffs' complaint should be dismissed also applies to 5 everyone in this room, and it's that plaintiffs have failed to 6 show they have standing to sue for RICO and the other causes of 7 action that they've sued for are criminal causes of action that
8 aren't privately actionable in federal court. And we've cited
9 a lot of case law, that they can't bring it. And so the only 10 claim that they really can bring is the RICO claim, and they've 11 alleged no direct injury that would give them standing to sue.

12 The third reason why plaintiffs' complaint should 13 be dismissed against Ms. Young is -- particularly Ms. Young and 14 some other folks in here, but Ms. Young is protected by Texas's
15 attorney immunity doctrine, which I'll talk about very briefly,
16 Your Honor. I mentioned plaintiffs' allegations. They appear
17 to relate to a probate matter in Harris County Probate Court
18 No. 4. Plaintiffs call that the Curtis v. Brunsting matter.
19 They don't ever mention a cause number. I think, Your Honor, 20 since they've sued Ms. Young, the only matter Ms. Young was 21 ever involved in that involved plaintiff Curtis is the matter
22 of In re: Estate of Nelva Brunsting, which is in Probate Court
23 No. 4.

24 But Plaintiff Munson wasn't a party to that 25 matter. He wasn't a beneficiary to that estate. He doesn't

1 have any relationship to Ms. Young. He doesn't appear to have
2 standing to sue at all in this matter.

3 In the Brunsting matter, Ms. Young, my client,
4 was an attorney for Temporary Administrator Lester, who is also 5 a defendant here today. Temporary Administrator Lester was 6 appointed by Probate Court No. 4 to prepare a single written
7 report. Ms. Young assisted him as his attorney in preparation
8 of that single report, and that's all she did. All of the 9 actions taken by Ms. Young in that probate matter were in her 10 role as attorney to Ms. -- I'm sorry, to Mr. Lester. The 11 plaintiffs don't dispute that. Ms. Young never had a fiduciary 12 relationship with either plaintiff. Plaintiffs don't dispute
13 that.

14 In fact, nowhere in their entire complaint do
15 plaintiffs allege Ms. Young committed a single wrongful act or 16 did anything other than act as an attorney for Temporary 17 Administrator Lester.

18 So, I want to go through very briefly, Your 19 Honor, the three bases for dismissal that I mentioned earlier.
20 The first is that plaintiffs' complaint doesn't state a claim
21 for relief. And that's under Twombly and Iqbal, but also just 22 that it's delusional, Your Honor, and that this Court should 23 use its powers to dismiss that. Under Rule 12, as this Court
24 knows, plaintiffs' complaint must be dismissed under Twombly
25 and Iqbal if it's too implausible to state a claim for relief.

1 This means that the Court should ignore all legal conclusions
2 in the complaint, and it has to look at whether the 3 well-pleaded facts permit the Court to infer more than the mere
4 possibility of misconduct.

5 Here there is nothing in the complaint but
6 boilerplate legal conclusions, Your Honor. There are no
7 allegations of wrongful acts by Ms. Young. There are no
8 allegations of wrongful acts, you know, pleaded with any sort
9 of specificity that can identify an alleged actual wrongful act
10 by plaintiffs, other than plaintiffs' allegation that there's 11 this probate mafia engaging in poser advocacy, but there's no
12 actual examples of what that is or how that took place.

13 THE COURT: Is the operative complaint Document No. 1?

14 MR. SCHAEFER: Yes, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Very well.

16 MR. SCHAEFER: Other courts in this district have 17 dismissed RICO cases very similar for this exact same reason.
18 There's a matter that we cited to in our motion to dismiss
19 called Freeman v. Texas, which is a 2008 case decided by Judge
20 Rosenthal, where Judge Rosenthal dismissed is a complaint
21 alleging a probate court was a RICO enterprise comprised of 22 judges who, quote, conspired against pro se litigants that 23 virtually looted the pro se litigant's homestead through a 24 probate proceeding. And the Court -- Judge Rosenthal held that 25 even if all of those allegations were true, they failed to

1 state a racketeering activity because plaintiff hadn't alleged
2 sufficient facts to raise a colorable claim that any violation
3 of any of the predicate RICO acts had actually occurred. So,
4 the Court held in light of the absence of any well-pleaded
5 facts sufficient to state a RICO claim, that claim was
6 dismissed.

7 The same is true here, Your Honor. But in 8 addition to just being implausible on its face, the complaint
9 is frivolous and delusional, and just a facial reading of the 10 complaint shows the Court that that's true. And this Court has 11 inherent authority to dismiss a pro se litigant's frivolous or 12 malicious complaint.

13 To determine whether a complaint is frivolous or 14 malicious, a court has to look at the complaint and see whether 15 the allegations are clearly baseless, which means the 16 allegations are fanciful, fantastical, or delusional. Here,
17 again, plaintiffs allege that the folks in this courtroom are 18 members of a secret society called the Harris County Tomb
19 Raiders that defraud estates through poser advocacy by all
20 these mafia members -- probate mafia members. Your Honor,
21 these allegations are fanciful and delusional.

22 I would direct you to a very recent decision from 23 an order from Judge Hoyt, who considered an almost identical
24 case, called Sheshtawy versus Conservative Club of Houston. We 25 have cited that. I have the order, if you would like to see a

1 copy of it.

2 There the Court was considering, you know, almost
3 identical allegations, Your Honor, although dealing with 4 Probate Court No. 1 instead of Probate Court No. 4. And the 5 Court held in that order that the allegations that Probate
6 Court No. 1 in Harris County and all the litigants and parties
7 in that court were a RICO enterprise. The Court said that 8 legal theory is, quote, "pure zanyism." The same is true here.
9 We've cited the Sheshtawy order in our briefing. You now have 10 a copy of it. This allegation, too, is pure zanyism. It's 11 fanciful, it's delusional, and it fails to state a claim for 12 relief that can be granted by this Court.

13 The second basis that -- for why plaintiffs'
14 claim fails, is they don't have standing to sue on any of the 15 causes of action they've alleged. First, I want to talk about 16 RICO. And, again, this applies to everyone in this courtroom.
17 Plaintiffs don't have standing to bring suit under RICO,
18 because RICO requires a direct injury in order for a party to 19 sue. A plaintiff can only sue if they can show some RICO
20 violation was a direct and but for cause of the injury. The 21 court in Sheshtawy, in that same order I just handed to you,
22 Your Honor, held that plaintiffs had failed to show they had 23 standing to bring a RICO case because, quote, "Routine
24 litigation conduct cannot become a basis for a RICO suit."

25 That's all that's going on here. Ms. Young

1 represented Temporary Administrator Lester, who was appointed
2 by the Court. But even if they alleged real allegations of 3 wrongdoing, their assertion that the way there's damage is 4 through this poser advocacy that defunds estates, it's not 5 actionable by them individually as potential beneficiaries of 6 the estate. There's a Sixth Circuit case that we've cited to 7 titled Firestone, Your Honor. And in that case the 8 beneficiaries of the Firestone Tire family estate asserted RICO
9 claims against the executor of the estate and the trustee of 10 the estate. And the Sixth Circuit affirmed the district
11 court's dismissal, saying that those plaintiffs, the 12 beneficiaries, didn't have standing to sue. The alleged RICO
13 harm was that the executor of the estate and the trustee of the 14 estate had lowered the value of the estate, such that when the 15 estate paid out, the beneficiaries of the estate didn't get as 16 much money as they should have.

17 The Court said this is basically like a
18 corporate -- like a corporate -- corporation versus shareholder
19 lawsuit, and there aren't derivative claims here where 20 shareholders can bring the claims. The injury is to the 21 estate. Like when a corporation is injured, the injury is to 22 the corporation. The shareholders to a corporation can't bring 23 suit for an injury that happens to the corporation, just like 24 the beneficiaries of an estate can't bring suit for harm to the 25 estate.

1 Here it couldn't be more clear. The allegation
2 is all of these people engaged in this advocacy that lowered
3 the value of the estate. If that is a real harm that is really
4 actionable, it's the estate's claim. It's not these 5 individuals' claim.

6 And then, again, for everyone in this room, Your
7 Honor, the other claims asserted by plaintiffs, the Hobbs Act
8 claim, wire fraud, fraud under 18 U.S.C. Section 1001, honest
9 services fraud, none of those causes of action create -- I'm 10 sorry, none of those statutes create private causes of action.
11 They're all federal criminal statutes that can only be brought 12 by the government. We've cited a plethora of case law in our 13 motion to dismiss, showing that plaintiffs can't bring those 14 claims. That hasn't been responded to. And they should be 15 dismissed.

16 The third reason that is particular to Ms. Young 17 for why plaintiffs' claims should be dismissed is that 18 Ms. Young is protected by Texas's attorney immunity doctrine.
19 Under Texas law, an attorney is immune from civil liability to 20 a non-client, quote, "for actions taken in connection with 21 representing a client in litigation even when that conduct is 22 wrongful conduct in the underlying litigation." That's a Texas
23 Supreme Court case that held that, Cantey Hanger versus Byrd.
24 Here, again, there's no allegation that Ms. Young did anything
25 other than assist Temporary Administrator Lester in his

1 preparation of this report. That is action she took as an
2 attorney for someone else. She didn't owe a fiduciary duty to
3 plaintiffs. She is immune from suit under Texas's attorney
4 immunity doctrine.

5 Your Honor briefly mentioned earlier the motion
6 for sanctions that we had filed. Actually in the Sheshtawy
7 matter that I mentioned to you, the Court yesterday -- Judge
8 Hoyt yesterday issued an order granting sanctions against the 9 plaintiffs in that matter. We served plaintiffs with our 10 motion for sanctions on September 27th, 2016. Under Rule 11,
11 the safe harbor provision, we waited until October 27th, 2016,
12 to file that motion. Plaintiffs haven't even bothered to 13 respond to that motion. Thus, we ask that when this Court
14 dismisses plaintiffs' complaint, it also grant the motion for 15 sanctions.

16 THE COURT: Very well.

17 MR. SCHAEFFER: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Let's start from my right. Counsel, are 19 there any individual arguments that need to be made on behalf
20 of your client other than what have been asserted by way of 21 this general background?

22 MR. ABRAMS: The only factual point --

23 THE COURT: Name and client.

24 MR. ABRAMS: Thank you, Your Honor. Barry Abrams for 25 Darlene Payne Smith. The only factual point I want to make is

1 there's one -- only one paragraph in the complaint mentioning
2 Ms. Smith. And the conduct attributed to Ms. Smith was 3 opposing a motion for protection, which is conduct as a lawyer
4 in a litigated matter that falls within the immunity. That's 5 the only factual allegation with regard to Ms. Smith. I join
6 in all the other arguments counsel has made.

7 THE COURT: Very well.

8 Ms. Bayless?

9 MS. BAYLESS: Yes, Your Honor. Bobbie Bayless on my 10 own behalf.

11 The only point I will make is that factually the 12 only allegation made against me -- I represent one of the 13 Brunsting siblings. And the only allegation made against me is 14 that I withdrew or passed a hearing on a motion for partial 15 summary judgment that I had filed on my client's behalf when he 16 resigned as executor. So, not only did it need to be passed,
17 because at that point there was a vacancy in that position and 18 it would have only been a partial hearing on a partial motion
19 for summary judgment on only his individual claims and not the 20 estate's claims until that vacancy could be filled, but it's 21 also my own motion and I can pass at any time I want to. And 22 that is the allegation against me.

23 THE COURT: Very well. Ms. Hedge?

24 MS. BECKMAN HEDGE: Yes, Your Honor. May I approach
25 the lecturn?

1 THE COURT: Yes.

2 MS. BECKMAN HEDGE: Thank you. Laura Beckman Hedge.
3 I represent Judge Comstock, Judge Butts, and Toni Biamonte.

4 Your Honor, there's -- I want to talk about some 5 specific things to my clients and then there's just a few other
6 additional arguments that I would like to add to what's already
7 been discussed that hasn't actually been covered, but that I
8 would want the Court to consider in its ruling.

9 The claims that have been made against the judges
10 and against the court reporter who -- Toni Biamonte, Your 11 Honor, was a substitute court reporter, not the one that's 12 normally assigned to this probate judge, but actually covered a 13 single hearing and for that has been sued in this case.

14 They have all been accused of being blatantly 15 corrupt, conspiring to loot assets, exploiting the elders of 16 society, and unjustly enriching the attorneys in this case.
17 The predicate acts that have been alleged in this case against 18 the judges is referral of a case to what the plaintiffs refer 19 to Judge Davidson as an extortionist, thug mediator, and 20 removing a motion for summary judgment from a hearing docket.

21 With regard to Mr. Biamonte, he has been alleged 22 to have knowingly and willfully destroyed some unidentified
23 material evidence. Your Honor, when a response was filed to 24 our motion to dismiss, the grounds that were given why
25 Mr. Biamonte was sued was because they were not satisfied with

1 his response concerning the unavailability of a transcript from 2 the single hearing that he recorded. They said that he was
3 sued because he didn't respond to their e-mail. Clearly that 4 is frivolous, and I would argue sanctionable, Your Honor, for 5 bringing him into this lawsuit.

6 The plaintiffs have sued my clients for at least
7 15 different claims. With respect to the subject matter
8 jurisdiction argument, counsel's already covered the fact that 9 there was no direct injury. You must have a tangible financial 10 loss. Even the plaintiffs have stated in their pleadings that 11 they are suing for threats of injury to property rights of what 12 Ms. Curtis has, as she has defined, an expectancy interest.

13 Mr. Munson has no expectancy interest, period.
14 He has identified himself as the domestic partner of 15 Ms. Curtis.

16 Further, Your Honor, they have alleged fraud,
17 various counts of fraud. They are unspecified. And under Rule 18 9(b), it requires specificity. They have to state the who,
19 what, when, where, and how. They have a 59-page complaint, 217
20 paragraphs. They have not been specific and have not met the 21 requirements. There has not been any unlawful act alleged.
22 There are no facts supporting any actionable predicate act.
23 The numerous claims they've made are generalized, and they are 24 not predicate acts of racketeering activity. The claims
25 against my client to which I would refer, and I'm not going to

1 list them all by name, I'll just refer to them by number,
2 Claims 12, 38, 23, 44, 46, and 47.

3 The judges, Your Honor, have a unique immunity in 4 this case, and that is judicial immunity. There is case law
5 cited in our motion concerning judicial immunity. The 6 plaintiffs have attempted to get around the judicial immunity
7 argument, because they know it's a winner, by trying to contend
8 that the actions were nonjudicial. However, when you look at 9 the acts they've actually complained of, they are clearly
10 judicial. The factors that are considered are: Is the action
11 normally performed by a judge? Did the act occur in the 12 courtroom? Does the controversy center on a pending case
13 before a judge? Does the act arise from an exchange with the 14 judge in his or her official capacity?

15 Now, importantly, Your Honor, those factors are 16 construed broadly in favor of immunity, and not all of them are 17 required. In fact, just one factor alone would be sufficient
18 for a finding of judicial -- that there was a judicial act.

19 The only two exceptions to judicial immunity are:
20 Number one, if it's nonjudicial; or, number two, if the 21 judicial act was taken in a complete absence of jurisdiction.
22 There has been no allegation that any of the actions taken were 23 done in a complete absence of jurisdiction. And there's 24 certainly no facts supporting that.

25 Additionally, Your Honor, the judges are entitled

1 to the Eleventh Amendment protection and governmental immunity
2 for claims for them acting in their official capacity. The
3 Fifth Circuit in Kirkendall versus Grambling at 4 F.3d 989,
4 that involved a case of RICO violations against three judges
5 and the court's secretary. The court in that case found that 6 they were entitled to judicial immunity and that the court's
7 secretary was entitled to quasi-judicial immunity. The court
8 in that case rejected the plaintiffs' arguments that immunity
9 did not apply as frivolous.

10 The actions complained of, Your Honor, concerning 11 the judges, that they have obstructed justice by removing the 12 summary judgment motion from the calendar and creating what 13 they call stasis, for conspiring to redirect the litigation
14 away from the public record to a staged mediation, which, Your 15 Honor, actually never took place. Those actions that I've just 16 described, those are functions normally performed by a judge.
17 Clearly what they are complaining about are judicial acts.

18 Your Honor, I want to turn now to Toni Biamonte,
19 the substitute court reporter. He is entitled to official 20 immunity. He is entitled to that because they have sued him as 21 the, quote, "official court reporter for the probate court."
22 They have not alleged that he's been sued in any individual
23 capacity. When you sue an official in their official capacity, 24 it is the same as suing the county. And Harris County cannot 25 be liable for a RICO violation. And the reason for that is

1 because, number one, they cannot form the mens rea to commit a
2 criminal act, and intent is required under RICO. And, number
3 two, because RICO is punitive in nature. And municipal 4 entities have common law immunity from punitive damages.

5 In fact, Your Honor, it was mentioned a minute
6 ago that Judge Hoyt issued an order yesterday of sanctions.
7 And I just want to direct the Court to one thing in particular.
8 And I do have a copy of that order, if it please the Court.

9 And, Your Honor, I apologize. We do not have a
10 copy of that for the plaintiffs. But I can get that for them
11 as soon as the hearing is over.

12 MR. SCHAEFER: Your Honor, Rafe Schaefer. I've got a 13 copy. I can pass one on.

14 MS. BECKMAN HEDGE: Your Honor, what I would just like 15 to point the Court to, on the first page of the order granting 16 sanctions, when the Court granted it, it said it's based on the 17 following findings of fact and conclusions of law. And the one 18 paragraph in here that I want to my highlight for the Court is 19 Paragraph 18. And I just want to read two sentences out of 20 that.

21 "This motion for a new trial comes on the 22 backdrop of additional claims that were frivolous and that 23 Mr. Cheatham and Mr. Gabel" -- those were the lawyers for the 24 plaintiffs, Your Honor -- "should have known lacked basis.
25 Those include the following: One, there was no basis for

1 breach of a fiduciary duty claim against opposing attorneys,
2 such as CCJ attorneys; two, there is a litigation privilege in
3 Texas for opposing attorneys like CCJ attorneys with no general
4 fraud exception; three, that the honorable judges and court
5 coordinator are entitled to immunity; four, Harris County, as a
6 governmental entity, cannot be liable under RICO."

7 Your Honor, there is precedent. As I just read,
8 even Judge Hoyt agrees, that there is immunity that applies and 9 that Harris County cannot be liable. And, therefore, Toni
10 Biamonte in this case cannot be liable.

11 Finally, Your Honor, there is another immunity
12 that applies here and that is called qualified immunity. It
13 requires the plaintiff to allege that there has been a
14 constitutional violation. There has been no such allegation
15 made and certainly no facts to support it. In, Bagby versus 16 King, a case out of the Western District of Texas, the court
17 there held that the claims against the judges, the district
18 clerk, the appeals court clerk were barred by judicial or 19 qualified immunity. In that particular case, Your Honor, there 20 were allegations regarding the way that the case had been 21 handled and the disposition of the cases.

22 Finally, Your Honor, with respect to the failure
23 to state a claim, which is applicable to all of the defendants
24 here, a few additional points I just want to add. One is that 25 the plaintiffs have failed to allege a conspiracy. They have

1 used only conclusory language throughout their complaint. The 2 civil conspiracy that they have alleged is a derivative tort.
3 It requires an agreement to commit predicate acts. There are 4 no allegations of any agreement and certainly no facts to 5 support that.

6 Additionally, Your Honor, they have failed to 7 allege the existence of an enterprise or of an association, in 8 fact, also required for a RICO violation. They contend that 9 Probate Court 4 is an enterprise because it's involved in 10 various aspects of interstate and foreign commerce by a 11 adjudicating suits involving persons and property outside of 12 Texas. A conclusion, Your Honor. There is no facts to support
13 that there is an enterprise in Probate Court 4. It is not a 14 legal entity and cannot be an enterprise.

15 Additionally, Your Honor, they have also not pled
16 that there has been any pattern of racketeering activity. They 17 only make conclusory allegations.

18 Thank you, Your Honor. I appreciate your time.

19 THE COURT: Continuing to move to my left as to 20 defendants as to specific facts or arguments that need to be 21 articulated on behalf of the defendants that you represent -- I 22 don't need to hear a repeat. If you want to adopt what has 23 been said, note that; and if there's anything additional that 24 you need to say, let me know that. So, first, counsel.

25 MR. REID: Your Honor, Eron Reid for Neal Spielman.

1 My client represented Amy Brunsting in the Probate Matter 4.
2 The only allegations -- the specific factual allegations him
3 are for his conduct in the March 9th status conference hearing.
4 That's the only additional thing I would add is covered under
5 the attorney immunity.

6 THE COURT: Very well. Hold it. Anything else?

7 MR. REID: Nothing other than I adopt everything else.

8 THE COURT: Very well.

9 Counsel?

10 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yes, sir --

11 THE COURT: Hold on.

12 UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I'm sorry.

13 THE COURT: I'm going to go here, across the front.

14 MR. GREENE: Your Honor, Adraon Greene for Defendants
15 Stephen Mendel and Bradley Featherston. The only thing we 16 would like to add, Your Honor, is our clients also represented
17 Mrs. Anita Brunsting as of November 2014. All of the acts
18 alleged against my clients arose from that representation,
19 specifically disseminating -- the dissemination of voice
20 recordings, which they're required to do under the Texas Rules
21 of Civil Procedure, because those voice recordings are 22 witness -- are witness statements.

23 The objection that was filed to trust
24 distributions, which the court in the probate court sustained,
25 because the court found that that request for a distribution

1 was not for the health, education, maintenance, and support of
2 any trustee, instead it was for a request to pay attorney's
3 fees.

4 And, finally, the last act was simply to schedule
5 mediation, which obviously pursuant to the representation of 6 Mr. Brunsting, they thought that was the appropriate thing to 7 do. Otherwise, Your Honor, we adopt all the previously made
8 arguments.

9 THE COURT: Very well. Coming around this way.

10 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Me?

11 THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

12 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Amy Brunsting.

13 THE COURT: Why don't you have that mike -- there you
14 go. Thank you.

15 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Amy Brunsting. There are just two 16 issues that haven't been addressed yet. The first one is 17 regarding the recordings on the phone. The plaintiff has not 18 shown any evidence or provided any facts that show that I had 19 any knowledge or handling or anything to do with those 20 recordings. Yet I'm accused of doing wiretapping and 21 possessing these things, and I have never seen them. So,
22 there's no basis in fact on that.

23 And the other one is that they refer to a heinous
24 extortion instrument, which in reality is a qualified 25 beneficiary trust that was prepared for my mother by her and

1 her attorneys. I had no authority -- I had no business doing
2 any of the preparation of that document at all. That was done
3 while my mother was alive. And that was her private affairs.

4 On my mother's death, my sister Anita and I
5 became trustees of the Brunsting Family Trust, and that is the 6 only reason that I'm being involved in all of this. But prior 7 to that time, I had no fiduciary responsibility towards the 8 plaintiff. One of the plaintiffs, I've never met before,
9 Mr. Munson. Until this case happened, I had never met him, had 10 any kind of dealings with him. I have no fiduciary
11 responsibility to him that I know of. I've never had any kind
12 of business dealings with him at all. And they cannot -- or 13 have not explained how -- with any kind of facts, as to how I'm 14 connected to him.

15 THE COURT: And you represent yourself?

16 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Yes, sir.

17 THE COURT: Very well. Ma'am?

18 MS. ANITA BRUNSTING: Anita Brunsting, representing 19 myself. And I adopt what's been said.

20 THE COURT: Very well.

21 Counselor?

22 MR. OSTROM: Yes, Your Honor. I've got two clients,
23 myself and Mr. Lester. I'm going to break them out separately.
24 With regard to myself, I'm a little different situated than the 25 other parties to this proceeding, because I, in fact, was the

1 attorney for Ms. Curtis in the underlying proceeding.

2 The other unique part about it, is that I was 3 terminated before most of the alleged predicate acts that she
4 complains of. So, my termination of role and role in the case
5 has ceased and her facts really don't go to me. To the extent
6 that the facts do go to me, it involves the movement of the 7 case and filing the pleading in Probate Court 4 that asserts
8 claims as to a trust and the defects in a trust. That's 9 important, because we're talking about damage under RICO and 10 her claims, as I understand, still exist. The same claims that 11 she believes she's been harmed or deprived of are still 12 currently pending. They're active claims. The same -- the 13 pleadings she complains that I didn't adequately represent her 14 in support of a conspiracy with the other counsel assert the 15 same claims, and it's still pending. So, I can't see how she 16 can indicate that I've harmed her in any way.

17 With regard to Mr. Lester, we adopt, and myself,
18 we adopt the arguments already presented. Thank you.

19 THE COURT: Very well.

20 MR. MATHEWS: Your Honor, Bernard Mathews, Your Honor.
21 I guess I am alleged to be -- oh, I'm sorry.

22 THE COURT: No, no. Microphone.

23 MR. MATHEWS: You can't hear.

24 I guess I'm alleged to be one of the card
25 carrying members of the probate mafia in Houston, which I would

1 have to say I would be proud to be a part of in this particular
2 case, because all I can see is hardworking attorneys and court
3 officials trying to bring some resolution to this very bitter
4 dispute between the siblings of this trust.

5 I personally had about two months of involvement
6 in this case back in 2012 when I represented Anita and Amy
7 Brunsting. I made an appearance in Judge Hoyt's court with 8 respect to a motion to lift a lis pendens so a fair market
9 value sale could occur, and then later communicated some 10 financial information to Ms. Bayless. I'm had no direct
11 representation of the defendants, and I had nothing whatsoever
12 to do with the probate proceedings in Court 4.

13 So, I would then, again, adopt the attorney
14 immunity doctrine on behalf of both Ms. Brunstings here and all
15 the other arguments which have been made.

16 THE COURT: Thank you, counselor.

17 MS. FOLEY: Zandra Foley for Candace Freed and Al
18 Vacek. They are the lawyers who drafted the trust agreements 19 in this case, and so they were not a part of any lawsuit in 20 Probate Court 4. They are not a party, and they never 21 represented any of the parties in Probate Court 4. So, I adopt 22 the arguments that have been made everyone else. However, with 23 respect to the immunity, that wouldn't apply to my clients.
24 But something kind of similar would, and that is the Barcelo
25 case, Barcelo versus Elliot, which is a Texas Supreme Court

1 case from 1996. And that case essentially held that
2 beneficiaries are not permitted to sue the estate planning
3 lawyer, simply because it relies on the age old rule of 4 privity. Meaning you have to have privity with the lawyer in 5 order to sue them. And so that argument is a little bit
6 different.

7 The only other thing I'll mention is that 8 specifically with respect to Mr. Munson, in response to our 9 motion to dismiss the plaintiff, in Paragraph 69, specifically
10 states, "One thing plaintiffs and defendants appear to agree on 11 is that Munson is not a party to any of the prior lawsuits nor 12 is he a beneficiary of the Brunsting family trust, and that" -- 13 and he's quoting our motion -- "it is inconceivable that he 14 could be injured as a result of V & F's," that's Vacek and 15 Freed, "drafting of the estate planning documents." And based 16 on that admission and all the other arguments, we believe that 17 these claims should be dismissed.

18 THE COURT: Very well. And?

19 MR. FEATHERSTON: Your Honor, I'm Brad Featherston.

20 THE COURT: Very well. And?

21 MR. MENDEL: I'm represented by Mr. Greene, Your 22 Honor.

23 THE COURT: Very well.

24 All right. You heard the motions to dismiss, the 25 presentation, Ms. Curtis; is that correct?

1 MS. CURTIS: Yes.

2 THE COURT: That gives you the opportunity to respond
3 to any of the arguments that you've heard regarding why your
4 case -- why your cause of action should be dismissed. If you
5 want to stand at the table, that's fine, but just pull the mike
6 up, so that we can hear you.

7 And, first of all, just to get this clear, so I
8 understand, are you a licensed attorney?

9 MS. CURTIS: No, sir.

10 THE COURT: Okay. So, you're just an individual 11 representing yourself and you filed this law enforcement on 12 behalf of yourself?

13 MS. CURTIS: Yes, I did.

14 THE COURT: Very well. You may proceed.

15 MS. CURTIS: I'd like for Mr. Munson to respond to 16 these, if it's okay.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Now, Mr. Munson, are you an 18 attorney?

19 MR. MUNSON: No, sir.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Munson cannot represent you.
21 He's not an attorney. And so to the extent that there is a 22 response by you, it has to come from you. And Mr. Munson, to 23 the extent that he has causes of action, he can assert those or 24 respond to those on his own behalf, but he's not allowed to 25 speak for you. Do you understand?

1 MS. CURTIS: Yes.

2 THE COURT: All right. So with that being said, do
3 you have anything you wish to say to me?

4 MS. CURTIS: Okay. May I wait until he's done?

5 THE COURT: Yes.

6 MS. CURTIS: Okay.

7 THE COURT: And you're Mr. Munson?

8 MR. MUNSON: Yes, sir, I am.

9 THE COURT: And, Mr. Munson, you're going to come up
10 to the podium. Very well. And you told me you're not an 11 attorney, correct?

12 MR. MUNSON: No, sir.

13 THE COURT: And you're representing yourself in this 14 matter?

15 MR. MUNSON: Yes, sir.

16 THE COURT: Very well.

17 MR. MUNSON: I'm representing myself, and I'm a 18 private attorney general representing the public interests as 19 well.

20 THE COURT: What does that mean, a private attorney
21 general?

22 MR. MUNSON: Well, the RICO statutes under 1964(c)
23 provide a private cause of action for private plaintiffs. 1963
24 is the cause of action for public prosecutors. The Congress
25 when they drafted the RICO statutes mentioned in the

1 legislative committee reports, that they didn't believe that --
2 and it's in all kinds of case law, that they didn't believe
3 that the public prosecutor resources were adequate to address
4 organized crime. They didn't say why they didn't think they
5 were adequate, and I'm not going to address those issues.

6 THE COURT: But that's what your explanation as to 7 what private attorney general is for --

8 MR. MUNSON: A private attorney general is someone who 9 advances a matter in the public interest.

10 THE COURT: All right. So, now in regards to the 11 arguments articulated on behalf of the defendants who are 12 seeking motions to dismiss, what is your response on behalf of 13 yourself, not on behalf of Ms. Curtis, because you cannot 14 represent --

15 MR. MUNSON: I'm aware of that. Okay.

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. MUNSON: But they are the same issues, technically 18 speaking.

19 THE COURT: Very well.

20 MR. MUNSON: All of these defendants have entered 21 plenary admissions in this matter, and you've heard them all
22 repeat them today. They insist a probate matter, that this 23 arises from a probate matter. Curtis v. Brunsting in the Fifth 24 Circuit, that's -- I'm been in Texas for five years. And when 25 I see the Brunsting Trust, there is no probate. If we read the

1 wills, which none of these defendants who claim probate even 2 bother to do, you'll find out that everything that the will
3 authorized to be done was completed five days before the 4 so-called probate matter was filed. The inventory was 5 submitted on April 4th. It was approved and filed with a drop
6 order on April 5th. Five days later, the same day Judge Hoyt
7 issued an injunction to Mrs. Curtis in the probate -- in the 8 trust related case in the federal court, Bobbie Bayless filed
9 her probate matter.

10 Now, nothing in the so-called probate matter
11 addresses anything but the trust, and none of the claims
12 contained in the so-called probate matter are contained in the 13 list of inventory and assets. There is no probate matter.
14 Curtis v. Brunsting is related to the Brunsting Trust. It is 15 not property belonging to the estate of Nelva Brunsting or 16 Elmer Brunsting. That was settled by the Fifth Circuit Court
17 of Appeals. And I don't think we're going against the Fifth
18 Circuit in regard to that judgment in this case.

19 I'm not here to try the case, but there is no
20 probate matter, because there's no jurisdiction in the probate
21 court. We have two problems with 12(b)(6) and 12(b)(1). The 22 first one is 12(b)(6) relies upon --

23 THE COURT REPORTER: Can you slow down?

24 MR. MUNSON: Okay. Have to rely upon the statement of 25 facts made in the complaint. All of the defendants offer a

1 contrary view of the facts. They're not allowed to do that
2 under 12(b)(6). They can do that under a factual challenge
3 under 12(b)(1), but they have to support it with affidavits and 4 documents outside the record. They do none of those things.

5 So, the whole idea of immunity is based upon
6 subject matter jurisdiction. Nothing in the probate court
7 involved anything but the Brunsting Trust. If you were to ask
8 these defendants to identify a probate claim pending in the 9 probate matter, the only thing that comes out of their mouth is 10 trust. The trust is not an asset belonging to the estate. I
11 have no have interest in the probate. There was no probate.
12 It was completed before the probate matter was filed. I have 13 no interest in the trust. However, I have an interest in my 14 household.

15 Plaintiff Curtis and I are domestic partners.
16 And this case is robbing assets from my home and redirecting
17 them to courts in Texas in order for her to defend her property
18 interest. It is not an expectancy. It is a property right.
19 The expectancies come from the estate. Now, I heard one of the 20 lawyers mention Foster (phonetic). There was a will challenge
21 in Foster. There's no will challenge in the Brunsting case.
22 If you read the wills, none of the five Brunstings are heirs to 23 the estate. Only the trust is an heir to the estate. The 24 Fifth Circuit did read the will. But none of these defendants
25 in their 200 some pages of motions to dismiss, they all say

1 probate matter, probate matter, probate matter. Not one of 2 them mentions the will. The reason for that is to give the lie
3 to the claim that it's a probate matter.

4 They also claim they have no idea what Curtis v.
5 Brunsting is. Curtis v. Brunsting is the case that was in 6 possession of the Brunsting Trust, beginning on 2-12-20 --
7 2-27-2012 and continuing until this remand to the so-called 8 probate matter. You cannot remand a plaintiff for 9 consolidation with a case where she is a defendant. Dicey's
10 rules of parties to action number five says that a plaintiff
11 cannot be a defendant in the same action.

12 Bobbie Bayless named plaintiff Curtis a 13 defendant in the probate matter. The whole notion that she 14 could be remanded to probate to consolidate with Carl Brunsting
15 in non-litigation, where she was a defendant, is a false
16 thesis.

17 Under 12(b)(6) the Court is compelled to accept
18 the facts in the complaint. Under 12(b)(1), they can't 19 challenge those facts without support. They've done neither 20 one of those. And yet they come in here insisting a completely
21 different set of facts. Their immunity claims are based upon
22 the notion of subject matter jurisdiction. There is no subject
23 matter jurisdiction over the Brunsting Trust in the probate
24 court. The Fifth Circuit is controlling. They address that.
25 It's only seven pages. But I don't think any of these people

1 ever read it. I'm not sure they've ever read anything, because 2 they keep repeating themselves like they're broken records.
3 And yet, there is no probate matter.

4 There was never about a probate matter after the 5 inventory and listed claims were submitted and the matter
6 dropped. In fact, it was a year later that the Brunsting case
7 was remanded to probate and suddenly became the estate of Nelva
8 Brunsting, which the Fifth Circuit said it's not. It was six
9 months later that Carl Brunsting applied for letters
10 testamentary the second time. That's October 17th, 2014. So
11 when it was filed, he filed it individually, but he has no
12 standing as an heir of the estate and as executor for the 13 estate, which was closed, and he had no letters testamentary
14 for.

15 This is all just one big scam from chumming to 16 bring in people who want to protect their assets, to promising
17 them peace of mind, and then deciding which ones would be 18 subject to redirection to the probate for now to be looted.
19 And the defendants all object to the record of proceedings.
20 But the record of proceedings is conclusive. We believe that 21 on the record this case is subject to -- you know, is ripe for 22 summary judgment on the pleadings, but we also know there is 23 more that we can obtain by discovery.

24 There's lots of obfuscation in terms of the 25 accounting for the Brunsting Trust. All of these lawyers have

1 gotten in the way. And if we look at the transcript of the 2 March 9th, I was personally present and witnessed that little
3 charade, I was so offended by the conduct. These grinning
4 jackals, like we're going to rip you off and what are you going
5 to do about it. That's what your misplaced notions of immunity
6 have generated, a bunch of people who have no concern for the 7 administration of justice or the rule of law, and that's what 8 this case is about. It's about public corruption, and that's 9 why I'm here as a private attorney general.

10 THE COURT: I only have one question. You stated that 11 you were a domestic partner to Ms. Curtis?

12 MR. MUNSON: Yes.

13 THE COURT: As to a domestic partner, what legal 14 rights under Texas law does that give you a connection with the 15 issues in this case? I just want to -- because I assume when 16 you say "domestic partner," you didn't use the word "husband"
17 or --

18 MR. MUNSON: No, or spouse.

19 THE COURT: Or spouse.

20 MR. MUNSON: No.

21 THE COURT: You just said "domestic." So, what legal 22 rights does that give you?

23 MR. MUNSON: I believe I addressed that in the Docket
24 89, where I mentioned Judiciary Rule 1927. It's codified at 28
25 U.S.C. 1927. And it gives you three instances in which

1 Mrs. Curtis is entitled to compensation for her expenses.
2 Okay? And I have been asked by Mrs. Curtis to step in as act
3 as the trust protector and to assist her in trying to figure
4 out this very, very intentionally convoluted case. I mean,
5 they made a mess of the finances, claimed to have them
6 straightened out and then dumped everything in a big box for --

7 THE COURT: Hold on. Because I want to make sure
8 we're --

9 MR. MUNSON: Okay.

10 THE COURT: -- we're on the same page.

11 MR. MUNSON: Okay.

12 THE COURT: You acknowledged early on before you began
13 your remarks, that you cannot represent -- legally represent 14 Ms. Curtis, only an attorney can do that or only Ms. Curtis can 15 do that.

16 MR. MUNSON: Yes -- well --

17 THE COURT: Let me finish. In connection with your 18 interest in -- if I heard you correctly, and correct me if 19 I'm wrong, you stated that you were a domestic partner to 20 Ms. Curtis. And I'm trying to get an understanding as to what 21 you are asserting by --

22 MR. MUNSON: We have shared finances.

23 THE COURT: Don't interrupt me --

24 MR. MUNSON: Sorry.

25 THE COURT: -- by asserting that you are a domestic

1 partner to Ms. Curtis. So, what --

2 MR. MUNSON: We have a joint household. We have
3 joined financial considerations. I don't handle any of the 4 finances. I have renters, but I don't collect any of the 5 rents. I have Mrs. Curtis do all of that. Okay? She's my 6 partner. She handles that part of it. I'm a saxophone player.

7 THE COURT: When you say "partner" --

8 MR. MUNSON: Yes, domestic partner. We sleep in the 9 same bed. We live together.

10 THE COURT: Well, I'm not trying to get that familiar.
11 But partner also has a commercial context to it. So, you're 12 not business partners?

13 MR. MUNSON: No, no, no, not specifically. We do have 14 some plans that are being interfered with, but we're not able 15 to pursue those at the moment.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Now I understand. Thank you, sir.

17 MR. MUNSON: And as far as these attorneys claiming 18 that no one can assist without -- I think it was Docket Entry
19 90, the one -- the document filed untimely, just before this 20 hearing, where they bring up the mention of this unlicensed
21 practice of law. I would love to hear a definition of that, as 22 well as a definition of probate from these defendants. Because 23 my understanding is that I do have standing. And I'm relying 24 on Supreme Court precedent. I did draft all of the drafts for 25 all of the motions in this case, because Mrs. Curtis works in

1 the daytime. So, I've been involved in this for five years.
2 I've had my time redirected to this matter, and it is all one
3 big public corruption fraud.

4 THE COURT: Thank you, sir.

5 Ms. Curtis?

6 MS. CURTIS: I just know that I'm here today because 7 all of these people are standing between me and my property.
8 And I've been trying to get it and get information about it
9 since right after my mother passed away on November 11th, 2011.
10 As far as I'm concerned, all five of the Brunsting siblings are 11 victims here, because there's attorneys here that have extended
12 them credit to continue to avoid their responsibility.

13 I was directed to hire an attorney, because my 14 domestic partner was in a coma and I could not prepare for a 15 hearing in October of 2013 properly. So, I failed miserably,
16 and Judge Hoyt directed me to hire an attorney so the discovery
17 process could go forward. And after he got out of the 18 hospital, it was a couple of months before he could even think
19 straight. When you have open heart surgery, it's a serious 20 matter. And we looked high and low to find an attorney to 21 represent me, and couldn't until finally we contacted 22 Mr. Ostrom, who convinced us that he would be the person to 23 take this over and immediately proceeded to do things against 24 my instructions, not keep me informed of what was going on and 25 then somehow managed to get me out of the federal court into

1 the probate court where there is no jurisdiction and there
2 wasn't.

3 So, I was stuck in a nightmare for two and a half
4 years and I couldn't get out. I tried to file summary judgment
5 and declaratory judgment motions, which I filed, but I couldn't
6 get a hearing for those. But they could hear whether they were 7 going to have another mediation, so that they could unentrench
8 me from my belief that this property belonged to me and they 9 were holding it. So, that's why I'm here today.

10 Mr. Munson has been helping me since the very 11 beginning. I've known him for almost ten years now, and that 12 was my only choice.

13 THE COURT: The defendants in this case have made some 14 very specific legal arguments as to why your case should be 15 dismissed as to their various clients, from judicial immunity
16 to failure to state a claim and a host of issue legal issues
17 that you heard in between. So, in regards to a response to 18 those specific legal assertions by these defendants, judicial 19 immunity, failure to state a claim, do you have any specific 20 response other than what you've put on paper already?

21 MS. CURTIS: Well, I believe that if there's no
22 jurisdiction, there are no judges, there are no lawyers, and 23 there is no litigation. And if there is no litigation, then 24 there is no immunity. And I don't believe that there is 25 litigation relating to the trust in Probate Court No. 4.

1 Although, the report from Greg Lester, which was supposed to
2 evaluate the merits of the claims in state court, said nothing
3 about the estate of Nelva Brunsting. All they talked about is 4 the trust and how Ms. Curtis and her brother Carl are going to 5 be disinherited by the no contest clause in this mysterious
6 qualified beneficiary designation, that they can't even produce
7 the original signed document of and for which there are three 8 different signature pages.

9 So, I'm here because I was at wit's end. I was 10 stuck in probate court and being pushed towards a mediation
11 where they were going to unentrench me from going after what 12 belongs to me, what my parents gave to me that is mine now and 13 they're holding it.

14 THE COURT: Thank you. And just by way of 15 housekeeping, just I'm trying to get a better sense of the 16 players on the chess board, are you related to these two ladies
17 over here?

18 MS. CURTIS: These are my two youngest sisters.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And so --

20 MS. CURTIS: Carl is my brother, who was represented
21 by Bobbie Bayless.

22 THE COURT: Is he here?

23 MS. CURTIS: No.

24 THE COURT: Okay. So, you have -- all right. Very 25 well. Thank you.

1 What I would like to do -- what I'm going to do,
2 I'm going to wade into the specific motions to dismiss, to get
3 an understanding as to who is going to remain in this case,
4 maybe none of you, maybe all of you, I don't know. I'm going
5 to -- I wanted to hear your oral arguments. And you cited some 6 additional considerations for me to look at, and so I'm going 7 to do that. Once I made a determination as to what motions to 8 dismiss -- how to dispose of them, being granted, being denied,
9 then we can, if necessary, make a plan going forward as far as 10 some type of managed discovery. Right now I think that would 11 be unwieldy given the number of players on this chess board
12 and also given the fact that some of you may not be here --
13 some of the defendants may not be here. Some of the -- you
14 know, one of the ones that I was troubled by, and I'm going to 15 get a better explanation for it -- and obviously this is oral 16 argument and everything is short-circuited to that, but the 17 court reporter. And to the extent that someone is sitting 18 there just taking down a record, I'm not sure of the legal 19 causes of action to which that person may have subjected 20 himself. And as to some of the attorneys, I'll look at that,
21 as well as the judges, that's separate and apart. But, for 22 instance, the court reporter, who was a substitute court
23 reporter, as described, just sticks out, and I just wanted to 24 see exactly what his involvement was in the case. No need to 25 comment.

1 And so I just need to dive -- lawyers,
2 representatives say something in court and my review may reveal
3 a different determination, and so that's what I need to do.
4 But because of that alert going off, that maybe there's someone
5 who doesn't belong here, we're going to keep -- we're going to 6 hold off on discovery. Because I don't want people to 7 participate in discovery if they're not going to be here for 8 the long-haul. I think that manages the cost for everyone and 9 conserves resources for the individual clients. So, I think
10 that's the best way to proceed.

11 Now, having said that, that puts on me a burden
12 of being timely and making sure that these motions to dismiss
13 are disposed of such that the plaintiffs, if this case goes 14 forward, are entitled to some type of discovery for the 15 remaining defendants on the causes of actions that remain.
16 And, so, we cannot delay that process forever, if it's going to 17 go forward. So, I will endeavor to be efficient as I can in 18 getting these motions to dismiss disposed of, so we'll know
19 who's left on the board, and then we can move forward with some 20 type of managed discovery plan that makes sense. That's what 21 I'm going to do.

22 I assume, before I walked out here, that that 23 covered all of the motions to dismiss. Were there any other
24 motions to dismiss that were not addressed today? All right.

25 Are there any other motions that were not

1 addressed today that needed to be addressed?

2 Mr. Munson, Ms. Curtis, any other motions,
3 pending motions on my docket? All right.

4 So let me again address the motions that have
5 been presented. Anything else that we need to address before
6 we adjourn today, starting on my right?

7 MR. ABRAMS: No, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: No?

9 MS. BAYLESS: Well, I do have this question. My name
10 came up a lot more than I expected it to in this hearing, and 11 some things were said which I did not realize were allegations,
12 this allegation that there's no probate proceeding when there
13 is. I don't know if the Court wants to entertain some brief --

14 THE COURT: No.

15 MS. BAYLESS: Okay.

16 THE COURT: I don't want any additional briefing.

17 MS. BAYLESS: All right. Well, thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: To the extent that I dig into this and I
19 determine that additional briefing is necessary on a specific 20 point, my clerk will contact you and ask for it. But as a 21 general rule, I don't want you to submit additional briefing on 22 what you've already briefed. There may be something that I'll 23 dig into that I will ask for additional briefing on, but as of 24 right now, there's no need to submit additional briefing.

25 Anything else from this side?

1 MR. HARRELL: No, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Very well.

3 MS. BECKMAN HEDGE: Nothing, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Ms. Curtis, anything else?

5 MS. CURTIS: No, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: Mr. Munson?

7 MR. MUNSON: I would like leave, sir -- I'm sorry. I
8 would like leave to file a brief on the public attorney
9 general.

10 THE COURT: Not necessary. During your presentation
11 you made some specific cites. We have a record. So, I will 12 check that. If it's turns out that I have additional 13 questions, I will have my clerk contact you for additional 14 information. Anything else, Mr. Munson?

15 MR. MUNSON: Yeah, we do have a private attorney
16 general statute in California. It's government code -- it's 17 California Business and Professions Code 17204 and 17535, which 18 also address the issues.

19 THE COURT: So, in regard -- and since you cited that 20 to me, I'm just going to ask the question, we're sitting in a 21 Federal District Court in Texas. How does the California
22 statute work in this case?

23 MR. MUNSON: It mimics the Supreme Court on the 24 subject.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Very well.

1 Anything else, issues from this side of the room
2 that the Court needs to be aware of before we adjourn? Yes,
3 ma'am.

4 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Amy Brunsting. I just wanted to 5 clarify how many siblings were involved. Candy is the oldest.
6 There's another one --

7 THE COURT REPORTER: Can she use the microphone?

8 THE COURT: Hold on. Use the microphone.

9 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Sorry. There's five siblings in 10 our family. Candy is the oldest. Carole Brunsting is next.
11 Carl Brunsting is the third. I'm the fourth, Amy Brunsting,
12 and Anita Brunsting. So, we're the five siblings. I think
13 only four of them were mentioned. Just clarity.

14 THE COURT: You said Candace Brunsting?

15 MS. AMY BRUNSTING: Candace -- Candy Curtis, I'm
16 sorry.

17 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Very well. Thank you.

18 Any other clarifications, any other additional 19 information that I need? Over there?

20 MR. MUNSON: Standing of a private attorney general
21 under civil rights is different than under RICO. RICO is the 22 only situation where a private attorney general does not also 23 have to be an attorney.

24 THE COURT: Thank you, sir.

25 All right. We are adjourned. You are excused.

1 Happy holidays to you.

2 (Concluded at 1:00 p.m.)

3 * * *

4 I certify that the foregoing is a correct transcript from the
5 record of proceedings in the above-entitled cause, to the best
6 of my ability.
